Flames Fanned By the Wind Are Rushing Rapidly Toward the Summit.

Hundreds of Men in Desperate Battle to Check the Blaze in Canyon.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SANTA CRUZ, Oct. 18.—[Exclusive Dispatch. While Santa Clara county and the people of the [illegible] part of this county are [illegible] the big summit fires near [illegible], the people of this section of the county are rallying to the scene of the Zayante fire, nine miles above the city, which today took a new lease of life and has become desperately threatening.

The mountain division of the Southern Pacific has been closed to travel because of the flames jumping the [illegible] burning along both sides of the right-of-way. Noon trains arrived through smoke and fire. Trains that did not arrive and the San [illegible] train was held here, traffic being diverted by the way of Watsonville Junction.

Tonight a Deputy State Forester with 30 men arrived on the evening train and was immediately taken to [illegible], this side of the clay pit of the Santa Cruz Portland Cement Company, where they joined other fighters. Tonight they are cutting wide fire breaks from Eaton Gulch to Zayante to keep the flames from moving southward and taking Mount Hermon, where there are scores of cottages.

HOLIDAY FOR MARS.

England Asks Germany to Join in a Rest from Ship Building.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, Oct. 18.—The invitation of Germany to indulge in a naval holiday was repeated today by Winston Spencer Churchill, first Lord of the Admiralty who in the name of the British government made a specific order to delay the fulfilment of Great Britain's naval construction programme next year if Germany would consent to do the same.

FRIEDMANN COMING BACK.

Doctor of the Turtle-Serum Fame Wants to Know How His Patients Are Getting On.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BERLIN, Oct. 18.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Dr. Friedrich Franz Friedmann, with Prof. Carl Ludwig Schleich, a physician of high standing, is quietly practicing with his turtle serum for tuberculosis in his little clinic here. Dr. Friedmann said today that he will return to the United States and take Dr. Schleich with him in the near future. He says he is anxious to see his American patients, the reports from whom have been very pleasing.

Dr. Friedmann says that 400 patients in Germany and abroad have been treated with his vaccine and the results have been such that he is convinced that the world will in time recognize the value of his discovery.

WIRELESS TO AFRICA.

Kaiser Will Have Direct Communication With His Colonies Early Next Year.

[BY CABLE AND DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BERLIN, Oct. 18.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Postoffice Department announces that Germany will have a regular wireless service with all her African colonies by May 15, 1914. The German Telefunken Company is working day and night on the erection of five towers of 400 feet in height and one of 828 feet. This latter will be the highest wireless station in the world except the one on the Eiffel tower in Paris. It will be used in communication with South, West and East Africa and the United States.

ALL RUSSIA SEETHING.

Strike Started Over Ritual Case.

Labor Bodies in Big Cities Make Common Cause With Beilis.

Syndicalism Is Obtaining a Stranglehold on Industries of England.

General Lockout Threatened by Employers to End the Union Tyranny.

[BY CABLE AND DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, Oct. 18.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A Russian correspondent of the Jewish Chronicle writes that a strike movement in sympathy with Beilis is in progress in many industrial centers, especially among the workmen of St. Petersburg and Warsaw. In the latter city the police dispersed a great pro-Beilis labor demonstration. Protests against the case are also being actively signed in all the universities and by students at large.

"The authorities," says the correspondent, "are unable to control the frequent outbursts of the high schools against the ritual accusation.

"Protests of the press are also assuming unprecedented proportions. The best writers in Russia in the greatest organs, with the exception of the Novoe Vremya, devote long articles to ridiculing the trial and proving the absurdity of the case.

"It comes out that all the arguments for the prosecution fall to pieces. Not only is Beilis able to prove an alibi, but it appears that the main plea of the authorities that he is an orthodox Jew, is incorrect. All his fellow-workmen will depose that he used to work Saturdays.

"It is also established as a fact that the anti-Beilis experts derived all this information, not from personal study of the case, but from the works of Rohling and Lutostansky.

"Tcheberkova's story of what her children were supposed to have seen at Beilis's house on the eve of the murder is proved to be pure invention. The mysterious Jew from Galicia, Ettinger, who is regarded by the authorities as one of the principal accomplices of Beilis, came to Kiev to deny the whole fabrication about his personality.

"All right-minded persons now see clearly that the Tcheberkova woman, who has already contradicted her evidence on four different occasions, and her gang, were the authors of the crime and that Yaschinsky was murdered because he intended to betray them to the police.

"The mother of the murdered boy is no longer anxious to claim pecuniary compensation from Beilis, although real Russians insist on it. Every hope is expressed that the jury will deliver a verdict which will crush the anti-Semites.

"Conductors of the Kiev tramways have resolved to contribute part of their wages to Beilis's family. Odessa orthodox Jews proclaimed a day's fast on the opening of the trial and Kiev Jews resolved not to attend any places of amusement during the trial. At Warsaw and other towns prayers for Beilis are read daily."

LABOR WAR ACUTE IN GREAT BRITAIN.

[BY CABLE AND DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, Oct. 18.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Labor troubles are as numerous and acute as ever in the United Kingdom, despite the recent advances in wages and the reports of settlements with strikers. At this moment the unrest in the shipyards and the shipping industry is the most menacing of recent developments.

"Syndicalism," according to the chief organ of the cotton trade at Manchester, "is getting a firm grip on the cotton operatives," and the boilermakers, the most turbulent element in that part of the field, seem bent upon breaking away from the conservative counsels of their trade-union officials.

Matters have reached a serious pass in the cotton world, where a general lockout is threatened by the owners next Saturday. A decision to this effect has been reached by the Federation of Master Cotton Spinners, the principal organization of employers.

More than 100,000 persons are in the service of the federation, which represents a capital of $200,000,000 and 40,000,000 spindles. Yarn being plentiful, manufacturing probably could be continued for a fortnight after the mills closed down, but not longer. Closing the weaving sheds would add largely to the unemployed.

The difficulty arose because the workers at Beehive mill, Bolton, accused an overseer of high-handed action toward an operative and refused to work with the overseer.

In the shipyards the trade-union leaders confess they cannot keep their men up to their agreement with the employers, the men swearing they "will do as they please." The dispute is over the sharing of riveting squad earnings. Conferences for an adjustment during the last four weeks have accomplished nothing. A big crop of trouble is outstanding.

WAR CABINET OF MILITANTS IS SHATTERED AND SCATTERED.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, Oct. 18.—The order for the deportation of Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, coming on top of the publicly announced defection of Mr. and Mrs. Pethick Lawrence from all forms of militancy, has caused consternation among the militant suffragettes here. The headquarters of the Women's Social and Political Union were kept open tonight, but only members of the rank and file reported. In the absence of officials few of them cared to talk for publication. The famous war cabinet of the militant organization has been scattered by illness and prison bars. "General" Mrs. Flora Drummond is seriously ill. Miss Sylvia Pankhurst, Miss Annie Kenney, Miss Kerr and Mrs. Saunders are in jail, while others are absent in the country.

MRS. PANKHURST IN NEW YORK CITY

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, foremost of English militant suffragettes, who reached America today on the liner Provence to appeal for the sympathy and support of the American people in the "revolution" for which she says she is fighting, is a prisoner tonight at Ellis Island under order of deportation, awaiting the issue of an appeal which is expected to be decided tomorrow at Washington.

With Miss Rheta Childe Dorr, another of the arriving English militants, who was "voluntarily detained" that she might be with her leader, Mrs. Pankhurst occupies the commissioner's suite of two rooms in the Administration building.

Mrs. Pankhurst was detained by an immigration inspector on her arrival here and was at once taken before a special board of inquiry which, after examining her, decided that because she had been convicted abroad for acts involving moral turpitude she was an undesirable alien. The board therefore ordered her exclusion.

An appeal was immediately entered and Immigration Commissioner Caminetti is to hear argument in her case tomorrow in Washington.

Mrs. Pankhurst's representative here expressed confidence that whatever might be done about the appeal, the English militant would be released under bond for three weeks, so that she might fill her speaking engagements here. Mrs. Pankhurst tonight had still another recourse under consideration.

"Even if the appeal fails, we still have the habeas corpus proceeding," she said.

POSTPONES HUNGER STRIKE.

When Mrs. Pankhurst was informed that she was to be deported she turned to her lawyer and the four women who had waited for the verdict, and announced her intention of beginning a hunger strike to compel the authorities to release her. She changed her mind, however, when she

From the Shoulder.

"I'LL NEVER RESIGN" DECLARES GEN. HUERTA.

"Nor Shall I Ever Flee Except to the Front to Fight Rebels," He Adds.

Carranza, Meanwhile, Is Reported to Be Hovering Close to the Border in Order to Be in Touch With Washington — Constitutionalist Is Said to Be Preparing a Statement on a Suggestion Conveyed to Him.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 18.—"When I resign," Gen. Huerta said today, "it will be to seek a resting-place six feet in the soil. When I flee the capital it will be to shoulder a rifle and take my place in the ranks to fight the rebels."

This was President Huerta's answer to queries as to whether there was any foundation for the reports which have been freely circulated in the capital and found their way to the United States.

Gen. Huerta looked the picture of health and energy. Attired in a new dark sack suit, he greeted the Associated Press correspondent with extreme cordiality, motioned him to a seat, asked for a cigarette and listened to the explanation of the motive for the visit.

"So it is reported that I have fled," he said. "You can see for yourself that I am here at my post. To say that I have resigned or intend to resign is a falsehood. I have no intention of resigning.

"Should the elections, which will be held as I have promised, indicate another for the Presidency, I shall step aside. Until that time you will find me here complying with my promises to the nation, which are to re-establish peace, within the law if possible, but to re-establish peace."

President Huerta interspersed his talk with anecdotes illustrative of his points.

"Another thing," the President said, "I have money for my requirements. Don't think that I haven't. Where did I get it? My secret;" (tapping his chest with a satisfied smile) "but I have it."

On the question of pacifications, he asserted that before the end of the month the government would have retaken Torreon and made headway towards the pacification of the State of Durango.

"I have 8000 men at Hipolito," the President said, "moving on Torreon and 2000 that are proceeding north from Zacatecas."

In reply to a suggestion that further rumors were afloat to the effect that a troop train proceeding to Torreon had been blown up, he exclaimed:

"More lies! Nothing of the kind has occurred."

In the opinion of Gen. Huerta the sensational rumors have originated with the enemies of the administration in the capital and elsewhere for the effect they would have with the revolutionists.

Gen. Huerta is working from fifteen to eighteen hours daily, sleeping at odd times when fatigue overtakes him. He adopts various ruses to escape the scores striving to reach him with personal affairs.

"It has been said that the Americans have been ordered to leave the capital."

In response, Gen. Huerta made a gesture of disgust.

"What nonsense," he replied. "As I have repeatedly said since I came to the Presidency, foreigners, from Hottentots to the most enlightened, have received and will continue to receive every guarantee. Mexicans likewise, who obey the law have nothing to fear from me."

THE CAPITAL EXCITED.

The persistent rumors today of President Huerta's resignation and flight caused a sensation in the capital. Many believed them as a fact, finding circumstances to bolster up the story, such as the departure of Col. Vidaurrazaga, War Minister Blanquet's private secretary, for Vera Cruz and difficulty in finding any Cabinet Ministers. Few remembered having seen Gen. Huerta for a day or two.

"VOTE FOR HUERTA," SAY CIRCULARS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

VERA CRUZ (Mex.) Oct. 18.—Circulars urging the people to vote for Gen. Huerta for the office of President have been received by John Lind, President Wilson's personal representative, from various parts of the republic. Some came from as far south as Campeche, while others were sent from the west coast. The wording of the circulars is identical and they are signed "Committee."

CARRANZA "IN TOUCH."

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 18.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Gen. Venustiano Carranza, first chief of the Constitutionalist forces, has been invited to furnish the Washington government with a clearer and more detailed statement of Constitutionalist purposes and policies than has as yet been issued. This invitation has been conveyed in an informal and roundabout manner that leaves the way open for official denials that "negotiations" with the Constitutionalists are under way, but that the request is construed as having been made for President Wilson and as coming from him is shown by Gen. Carranza's remaining at Nogales in order that he may be in more direct touch with Washington than he could be at Hermosillo.

Up to the present time Gen. Carranza has steadily curbed the inclination of the "politicos" associated with him to indulge in their favorite pastime of issuing proclamations. He has insisted that the Constitutionalist movement is strictly military and must remain so until its success is demonstrated by the capture of Mexico City. He has, therefore, stood squarely on the "Plan of Guadeloupe" and has refrained from adding to the pronunciamentos contained therein.

WILSON INCENSED.

Gen. Huerta's usurpation of dictatorial powers has so incensed President Wilson that he has felt much more sympathetically inclined toward the Constitutionalists than he was before the act. While he has steadily refused to permit himself to be influenced by Congressional pressure, which is insistent upon the raising of the embargo against export of arms across the border, President Wilson feels that the time has come when he may well investigate the purposes inspiring those in arms against the Huerta government.

This feeling on the part of the President is back of the suggestion conveyed to Gen. Carranza that the time has come for him to speak out. It is known here that he has a statement of the kind desired in process of preparation.

The appointment by Gen. Carranza of "chiefs" of the departments of finance, war and interior is regarded here as an indication of a purpose to perfect a form of governmental organization that will give him something to be recognized in case the United States should determine to ex-

"Come Back."

TRY TO RETAKE PIEDRAS NEGRAS.

Rebels Send a Large Force Against the City.

Federals Are Ambushed and Lose Several Killed.

Huerta's Men Retire to Get Machine Gun Battery.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

EAGLE PASS (Tex.) Oct. 18.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] As indicated in previous dispatches the Constitutionalists attempted to regain lost ground last night by sending a large force against Piedras Negras with the apparent intention of taking advantage of the absence of Gen. Maas and other officials of his staff.

The invading army under the command of Constitutionalist Col. Sanchez Herrera, was unexpectedly attacked by Federal Col. Alberto Guajardo, with 600 irregular volunteers, at Rosita, fourteen miles south of Piedras Negras, and after a battle lasting less than two hours the Federals returned to their headquarters at the border to obtain machine guns and field pieces with which to shell the Constitutionalists from the strong position in which they had intrenched themselves.

Although notice was circulated that the Constitutionalists would make no offensive movements pending the receipt of authentic news from the capital, word was brought in late Wednesday night that the rebels were slowly marching towards the river in three columns composed of about 300 men each.

The Federal irregulars under command of Col. Guajardo left the city on the same night after announcing that he expected to go to Las Vacas, but the following morning the entire command marched towards Nava, where the enemy was reported to have reoccupied the town.

By some blunder as yet unexplained the irregular forces went forward in the belief that the Constitutionalists had retired, only to be caught in a fire from concealed ambuscades and trenches covered with grasses. In the battle which followed both sides lost a considerable number of men in dead and wounded, but exact statistics are unobtainable. Thirty-nine wounded Federals were sent to Piedras Negras during the night and the Constitutionalist junta in this city asserts that nineteen dead Federals were left lying where they fell in front of the trenches. A Constitutionalist officer who went into Eagle Pass to buy medical supplies privately admitted that they had lost fifteen killed and nearly twice that number wounded. All of the Carranzistas wounded were taken to an abandoned warehouse in Nava which was temporarily transformed into a field hospital.

Although the reports of the battle received at the United States army post indicate that the Federals were equipped with machine and field guns this statement was denied in Piedras Negras this morning. Both sides fought with rifles only, which accounts for the fact that the Federals were obliged to retire.

As a result of the repulse great activity prevails in Federal circles today and a number of large guns are being sent to the front. It is believed that the combat will be renewed early Sunday morning as the Constitutionalists assert that they are ready to force their way northward.

Deserters from both armies crossed the river before daybreak and according to their stories the Constitutionalists are coming in from Muzquiz, Cuatro Cienegas and other outlying towns for the purpose of engaging in the attack on the former Carranza capital. Gen. Jesus Carranza is still in the neighborhood of Monterey. His son Arturo is in Eagle Pass today attending to the financial business of the revolutionists.

Fighting has been reported for the last three days in the vicinity of Monterey but definite details are not expected until one side or the other is whipped and the road to the border is again opened.

Diplomatic.

WILSON DEFENDS HUERTA REGIME

FORMER MEXICO AMBASSADOR DESCRIBES CONDITIONS.

Declares Present Government in Southern Republic Is as Legal as that of Roosevelt After McKinley's Death and Says Bryan's Policy to Restore Order Is a Joke.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SPOKANE (Wash.) Oct. 18.—"The government of Provisional President Huerta of Mexico is just as legal as the government of Roosevelt when he succeeded to the Presidency after the assassination of President McKinley," declared Henry Lane Wilson, former United States Ambassador in Mexico, in an address on the Mexican situation delivered at a banquet tendered him here last night.

"President Wilson could recognize Huerta and still save his face as he has been trying to do ever since," Mr. Wilson continued. "If President Wilson does not get behind the Huerta government, chaos is going to come, and we will have to go down and take care of the country. We would have to supervise the election and then the new President would be labeled 'the gringo' President. As soon as our soldiers had left the country, the Mexicans would get out their knives and we should have to go back again. That would mean controlling the country and all the countries to the Panama Canal. Intervention would be all right if we stayed there all the time, but it would be bad for our morals and pocketbooks."

CALLS PEOPLE OUTCASTS.

In discussing the condition of the lower classes in Mexico, Mr. Wilson said that 80 per cent were outcasts and pariahs and were illiterate, and that therein lay the root of all revolutions. "Under those conditions," he continued, "it can easily be understood what difficulties my distinguished namesake and Mr. Bryan would have in establishing an altruistic republic and how the problem kept Mr. Bryan from some of his lecture engagements.

"In Mexico 75,000 Americans own more than all the Mexicans. For the most part this was acquired honestly, but in spite of this an effort was made to deprive them of their property. Mr. Bryan holds that property has no rights. I do not agree. You might as well take away life as take away property."

Discussing the Madero regime, Mr. Wilson said that eighty-four Americans had been killed in Mexico and not one murderer had been punished, and that six months prior to the overthrow of Madero the entire country wanted it, yet "the death of the two Maderos seems to have agitated the United States government more than the murder of the Americans."

DEFENDS HIS ACTS.

Regarding the part he took in bringing about the making of Huerta provisional President, Mr. Wilson said that the Huerta and Diaz factions were in the capital ready to renew the bombardment, and that "while I was not so instructed, I took immediate action to prevent it. The representatives of the two factions were at the embassy seven hours and finally agreed to make Huerta provisional President, leaving Diaz at liberty to pursue his candidacy. No act of mine rendered such valuable services to Americans and foreigners in my entire career and yet the administration at Washington called my act an intrusion into the policies of the country. The officials at home have queer conceptions of the difficulties of their diplomatic representatives."

AMERICAN AID HIS ONE HOPE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] That Gen. Carranza hopes for American aid in support of his opposition to the Mexico City government, is shown by a telegram received by one of his representatives today. This reads as follows:

"The news just arrived relative to views taken by the American government respecting Huerta serves to justify my resolution to resolve the struggle by arms. Huerta has shown his inability to impose himself on the people, as well as his incapacity to establish a legal and honorable government. For this reason, I entertain hopes that Washington will concede us permission to purchase and import military supplies with which we will quickly end the war and re-establish constitutional order in Mexico."

Reports of repulse by the Federals of the forces sent by Gen. Carranza against Guaymas have caused distinct disappointment in Constitutionalist circles here. For several days hope of the dislodgement of the Federal garrison at Guaymas has run high. This is the only city in Sonora remaining in the hands of the Federals, but it is of much importance, since without Guaymas the Constitutionalists of Sonora have no port. Their great need is ammunition and they are confident of getting all they want from Japanese just as soon as they have a port on the Gulf of California through which war material can be safely brought.

WANTED IN LOS ANGELES.

Alleged Diamond Thief Arrested in El Paso on Request of Chief Sebastian.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

EL PASO, Oct. 18.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Diamonds were W. B. Jones's, alias W. Daniels, long suit, the police of two cities say. He was arrested here upon telegraphic advices from Chief Sebastian of Los Angeles on the charge of having obtained $1000 worth of diamonds from Mrs. G. J. Henderson of San Pedro, Cal., the police in Los Angeles allege.

After his arrest here seven diamond rings and a diamond brooch were secured at the Wells Fargo office. Jones, alias Daniels, was arrested in a rooming-house here and is being held until a representative of the Los Angeles police arrives to take him back to Los Angeles. Jones declined to make a statement to the officers here.

The diamonds are being held as evidence against him and will be released by Wells Fargo to the California officers when they arrive. In the meantime local detectives are working on the case and believe they have evidence against him at this end that he expected to dispose of the diamonds here, they say.

INDIANA PROTEST.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 18.—The Woman's Franchise League of Indiana at a meeting here this afternoon adopted a resolution protesting against the government's action in refusing to allow Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the English militant suffragette leader to enter the United States. A copy of the protest was telegraphed to President Wilson.

WILSON SHOWS COLOR.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] President Wilson climbed the hills of the golf links in wind and rain today and came back to the White House aglow with color. He smiled at the stories that he had been ill.

Corcovado.

STRONG FORCE OF POLICE TO GUARD FELIX DIAZ.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

HAVANA, Oct. 18.—Gen. Felix Diaz arrived here today from Europe on the steamer Corcovado. He was greeted on the deck of the vessel by Senor de la Garza, recently appointed Mexican Consul-General at Paris, who endeavored to persuade him to discontinue his journey to Mexico, to which advice Gen. Diaz refused to listen. Gen. Diaz told the Associated Press that he would proceed immediately to Mexico and had no intention of abandoning his Presidential aspirations. He said he was fully convinced that the election would be held October 26. The general declined to express any opinion on other aspects of the Mexican affairs.

On account of rumors that an attempt would be made by Mexican conspirators to assassinate Gen. Diaz in Havana, a strong force of police was sent aboard the Corcovado immediately on her arrival. The general continues his journey tomorrow.

Doctrine.

EMPLOY OLD SYSTEM FOR HERESY TRIALS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—The Protestant Episcopal church will make no change for at least three years in its method of judging heresy charges. The House of Deputies, at the general convention, refused today by a close vote to accept a recommendation that a final court of appeals be established to determine questions of doctrine, faith and worship affecting the clergy.

Under the present system each diocese adjudicates its own heresy trials and their decisions are subject to appeal to courts of review. The proposal defeated today was to establish a supreme court, consisting of the House of Bishops. The election of five new bishops was postponed by the House of Bishops today until Monday.

FRIDAY'S PROCEEDINGS.
APPOINTMENTS CONSIDERED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Appointments, resignations and transfers of prelates were considered by the House of Bishops, the higher governing body of the Protestant Episcopal Church, at the triennial general convention today. Bishop Edward William Osborne of the diocese of Springfield, Ill., resigned because of age and infirmity. Bishop Joseph M. Francis of the diocese of Indianapolis, asked to be transferred to a climate more favorable to his family, and probably will be assigned either to the vacant see in Cuba or the missionary district of Porto Rico. Bishop Cameron Mann was transferred from the missionary district of South Dakota to the missionary districts of Florida.

The bishops favorably reported a resolution sent up by the deputies for concurrence to allow the practice of intinction—administering of the wine in the holy communion by dipping the wafer into it. The health authorities of Denver protested against the custom of passing the chalice from lip to lip, fearing disease might be communicated.

The bishops ordered that intinction should be adopted at the judgment of the clergymen when conditions might seem to make the precaution necessary.

Any probability that the name of the Protestant Episcopal Church of America might be changed at this general convention was disposed of by the house of deputies, which held that it was without jurisdiction to act on resolutions proposing changes in the legal title of the church.

The committee on Prayer book recommended delay in considering the memorial of the diocese of California, referring specifically to a change in the title-page of the prayer book. This question should not be considered, the committee held, until disposition had been made of the proposal to amend the constitution so as to require a two-thirds vote to make the change.

The house of deputies voted for the introduction of "five minutes of prayerful silence" on "Good Friday" at 3 p.m., the hour of the death of Christ.

The chancellors of the various dioceses organized and elected: President, Judge Charles Andrews, Western New York; vice-president, Gideon C. Wilson, Southern Ohio; secretary, George F. Henry, Iowa.

tend recognition to the Constitutionalists.

Despite the warlike talk of the Constitutionalists, they have informed President Wilson that Huerta can end the warfare in Mexico in twenty-four hours if he will but step down and out and place at the head of the Mexico City government a neutral man in whom all leaders can have confidence, one whose supervision of an election would be acceptable. They profess to believe that such a man can be easily found.

HILL'S CAR AVOIDS WRECK.

LA CROSSE (Wis.) Oct. 18.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] The story sent out today saying that James J. Hill of the Great Northern Railway, was aboard his private car attached to the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy train wrecked at Nelson, Wis., was an error. According to information received here tonight, Mr. Hill's car was attached to another train traveling almost an hour behind the one wrecked.

Attorneys Declare He Is Held in New Hampshire on Allegation of Indictment That Never Existed.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CONCORD (N. H.) Oct. 18.—In a supplementary brief on behalf of Harry K. Thaw, filed today by his counsel with Gov. Samuel D. Felker, it is declared that Thaw has been detained under arrest nearly six weeks on a defective requisition petition supported by the allegation of an indictment which never existed, and during all that time no indictment has been obtained. The brief questions whether the requisition for Thaw's extradition is made in good faith and whether the State of New York demands the return of Thaw for the purpose of trying him for conspiracy or for the purpose of reincarcerating him in the Matteawan State Hospital for the Insane.

"If the latter purpose is that which actuates New York," the brief says, "it is illegitimate, and for the Governor of New Hampshire to honor the requisition would be illegal."

The brief then gives what it declares to be the facts as to the attempt to indict Thaw. In conclusion, the brief says:

"It is open to the Governor of New Hampshire to make due inquiry whether Thaw was indicted in New York; and when the facts are ascertained due weight should be given in considering the vital question of the good faith of New York to the fact that up to the present time there never has been an indictment for conspiracy against Thaw in New York."

BIG OIL FIELDS MAY BE STAKE

Great Britain Said to Have Designs in Mexico.

Attitude of Ambassador Is Hostile to America.

Admiralty Desires to Get Fuel for English Navy.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 18.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] That Sir Lionel Carden, British Minister to Mexico, is accurately representing the views of his government in taking an open stand against American intervention in Mexico, is the belief obtaining in diplomatic circles here. Underlying this apparent antagonism to American domination in the settlement of the Mexican problem, according to the interpretation here, there is not only a fight by British interests to obtain control of Mexico's oil fields, but a desire of the British government that this control be obtained in order to insure a needed supply of oil fuel for the British navy.

It is admitted that President Wilson is irritated over Sir Lionel's attitude. His presentation of credentials to the Huerta government the day following the dissolution of the Chamber of Deputies and the proclamation of a dictatorship was criticised then as indicative of unfriendliness toward the United States, but this act is of minor importance in comparison with the attitude taken by Sir Lionel at the meeting of the members of the diplomatic corps in Mexico City as it has been reported here. How much a factor is the British navy's need of oil is merely a matter of surmise here. But that a strong effort is being made by British oil interests to get control of the Mexican fields is well known.

While it is not specified in the charges against the seventy-four Deputies filed today at Mexico City, it is asserted by persons recently returned that discovery of a conspiracy to grant an oil monopoly to British capitalists was one reason prompting Huerta's drastic order of arrest.

If Great Britain desires to have in Mexico a man who will oppose American interests, Sir Lionel Carden is the ideal, for persons familiar with his career as a Latin-American diplomatist assert he has maintained a consistent record for anti-Americanism.

So well is this known that when his appointment as Minister to Mexico was announced the United States government took occasion to diplomatically remark to the British government that such a selection could not be considered an act friendly to the United States.

CARDEN'S CAREER.

Sir Lionel Carden began his official career in 1877, when he was appointed British Vice-Consul at Havana. He was made Consul at Mexico City in 1885 and saw long service in that country, being at several periods British Charge d'Affaires. From 1898 to 1902 he was Consul-General in Cuba and later was promoted to the post of Minister at Havana. After his term in Cuba ended he was made Minister to Guatemala.

American officials in Cuba often complained of Sir Lionel's antagonistic attitude. He made a strong but unsuccessful effort to arrange with Cuba an understanding that would neutralize the advantage given to the United States under the "Platt amendment protectorate."

It is evident from Mexico City dispatches that Sir Lionel's anti-Americanism has again cropped out, and at a time when it may be particularly embarrassing to President Wilson.

Any indication that European governments do not support the policy proclaimed by the United States may cause serious complications in Mexico.

President Wilson does not believe the British government is antagonistic to his efforts to bring about a settlement in Mexico, but there is no such certainty in the minds of Americans in Mexico City. Private dispatches indicate a belief that the chief consideration of the British government is for British concessionaries, especially the group headed by Lord Cowdray, which is bent not only on selling its interest in the Tehauntepec Railway to the Mexican government, but is understood to be playing a very much bigger game in which the Tampico oil fields figure.

In this connection the assertion is made that the support accorded to Lord Cowdray has intimate connection with the oil needs of the British navy. Early peace in Mexico might thwart the efforts of these concessionaires. Sir Lionel Carden has long enjoyed intimate relations with the Cowdray interests.

DEPUTIES ARRAIGNED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 18.—Seventy-four of the 110 members of the Mexican Chamber of Deputies, arrested by order of Provisional President Huerta October 10, were formally arraigned today before the second judge of the Federal district, who has had charge of the investigation into the cases. The period for filing charges against the deputies expired today.

The charges entered against the deputies were all for political offenses designated by the laws as rebellion, sedition and "insults" to important public functionaries.

Ten of the Deputies against whom there was said to be insufficient evidence were released today. The others had been previously set at liberty.

It was expected that Rodolfo Reyes, former provisional Minister of Justice, and Jorge Vera Estanol, formerly provisional Minister of Public Instruction, would be released, but they were among those kept in custody.

The sensational arrest of the deputies on October 10 was a sequel to their signature of resolutions demanding an investigation into the disappearance of Senator Domingues and warning the provisional President that if he did not guarantee their immunity from arrest they would hold their sessions somewhere else.

DANIELS AT NORFOLK.

Secretary of Navy and Other Officials Are With the North Atlantic Fleet.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NORFOLK (Va.) Oct. 18.—After smashing half a dozen targets and treating Secretary Daniels and a number of other department officials to a sample of American marksmanship, the Atlantic fleet is riding peacefully at anchor tonight, some on the southern drill grounds, others in Hampton Roads.

Secretary Daniels and party arrived this morning on the President's yacht, Mayflower. They were met by the battleships Arkansas, Utah and Wyoming and escorted to sea where the target practice was held.

In the party were Secretary and Mrs. Daniels, Assistant Secretary and Mrs. Roosevelt, Secretary of Commerce Redfield, Secretary of War Garrison and a number of women and department officials.

The weather was cloudy and hazy and targets were with difficulty distinguished at a long distance, but despite this, the gunners smashed several of them. The visitors witnessed the practice from the deck of the battleship Rhode Island. Tonight there was torpedo practice.

Secretary Daniels expressed himself as being pleased with the showing made by the gunners.

Detectives in Michigan Seek Men Who Tried to Dynamite Passenger Train.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CALUMET (Mich.) Oct. 18—Detectives were working today on clews in connection with an attempt at Copper City, in the copper strike district, this morning, to blow up a Keweenaw Central passenger train which was carrying forty-two mine guards to the Mohawk mine and eighteen passengers to various Keweenaw county points.

The officials have a description of the man who is said to have lighted the fuse to a charge of dynamite which exploded and tore up a section of the track just as Engineer Cocking, who had seen the smoking fuse, stopped his train a short distance from the spot.

Following the arrival of mounted troops, who drove back several hundred strikers who had surrounded the train, the mine guard were escorted to Mohawk by the militia.

GIRL SAVES HER MOTHER.

Twelve-year-old Swimming Expert Becomes Real Heroine in San Francisco.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 18.—Babe Wright, the 12-year-old girl who broke a record a week ago by swimming across the Golden Gate in little more than thirty-three minutes, became a real heroine today when she saved her mother from drowning. The rescue of Mrs. Myrtle Wright, who is also a strong swimmer, was seen by hundreds of sailors and officers aboard the U. S. cruiser Charleston, which is anchored in the bay.

Mrs. Wright and her daughter were to depict a rescue scene for a "movie" concern and just as the mother was preparing to fall overboard the wash of a passing ferryboat caused the launch in which she was standing to pitch about, and Mrs. Wright was thrown headlong into the water. In falling, she struck her head against the side of the boat and lost consciousness.

"Babe," thinking it was all a part of the play, leaped to aid her mother and laughed as she grasped the clothing of the limp form and started back for the boat. Valdemar Povleson, a Danish champion swimmer, also went to the rescue and it was only when Mrs. Wright was lifted to the deck of the launch that it was seen the child had really saved her mother from sinking.

Wall Street Believes United States Ready to Act.

Mexican Situation Causes Depression in Stocks.

Brokers Say Millions Will Go Into Circulation.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF TIMES, Oct. 18.—[Exclusive patch.] Liquidation and short ing have been the feature of the street market this week. The opments by which the Mexican tion once more reached a stage of treme delicacy over Sunday and day, while the Stock Exchange closed, was responsible for a less demoralized market on Tuesday. This feature continued on Wednesday though later in the week nervousness and a general indisposition replaced the depression. Covering short commitments by professional operators, however, seemed responsible for the reaction.

It seems safe to assume that street is convinced that intervention by the United States in Mexico not much longer be delayed. dent Wilson's note of Tuesday claring that he would not feel fied in recognizing the results election held under present stances nor in recognizing the dent so chosen, is interpreted acknowledgment that intervention near.

EXPECT LONG CAMPAIGN.

The encouraging feature, to banking interests which customed to looking at passing from a world-wide viewpoint, the situation in the Southern lic is not likely to bring interference. It is conceded tervention means a protracted severe loss of life and destruction property. It is figured by authorities that it will require army of 200,000 men for a in Mexico, and that this would volve, at $2.50 per day per man expense, with no prospective of $500,000 a day, or, in round numbers, $15,000,000 a month. the United States, with veterans, nearly four years Aguinaldo, the leader of the Filipinos after the war with Spain had terminated. Conditions more favorable for guerrilla in Mexico, so that if once with our neighboring republic at any rate be regarded that it is least not a plaything.

LOOK FOR PROSPERITY.

On the other hand, it is ered most likely by financial interests that the the Spanish war are not be duplicated. Barring the possibility of European cations, the result of intervention fully known in advance. States having once undertaken establishment of a stable government must, without wavering, its purpose. THE ESSENTIALS OF NEWSPAPER CIRCULATION

The value of a newspaper's circulation should be determined the number of copies of the paper that are read and by the of its readers, instead of the number of copies distributed. culation without definite value means nothing. To an advertiser reader who has purchasing power is worth a multiplicity of are without means with which to buy advertised articles.

It is seldom that a newspaper can be found that possesses viable circulation features enjoyed by The Times. This exceeds all its local contemporaries in quantity of circulation quality and permanence as well. The Times goes into the jority of homes, offices and business houses of Los Angeles ern California, and it is read by, and has the confidence support of the substantial, industrious, thinking, earning women in this field. Unlike other newspapers, this journal issue a Sunday paper Saturday night, send incomplete issues town points, misbrand its editions or resort to any other make its circulation appear to be larger than it actually is. circulation figures are based on the number of copies that fide subscribers. The Times circulation is not of the kind, but it is made up of home-loving, home-making, ing men and women, and represents the buying power of sumers of this rich field. Consequently each copy of The selling force, and materially aids advertisers in solving the problem of distribution.

The fact that The Times regularly prints twice as many "Want Ads" as any other local newspaper indicates popularity, and its thorough distribution in the homes of Los Angeles

The genuineness and superior quality and quantity circulation, and its pre-eminence as an advertising medium responsiveness of its readers to the appeals of its advertising lift this journal entirely out of local comparison and class by itself.

The Times is subject to no interest save the interest of zenship, and its incomparable circulation enables it to tisers greater value for less money than any other paper and, in fact, greater publicity at less cost than any other in the United States.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

STOCKTON, Oct. 18.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Miles Roach, confessed slayer of Luis Perez, was denied probation by Judge Smith this morning and sentenced to serve twenty years in Folsom Prison. His wife and children, who were in attendance at all the proceedings, waited outside the courtroom this morning and cried pathetically. Roach entered a plea of guilty of murder in the second degree. He is 53 years of age.

The crime occurred at Holt Station last March when Roach, who was a railroad section foreman, halted Perez at the depot, accused him of robbing his shack and then marched him to a store near-by. Roach then drew a revolver, covered his man and requested that the Sheriff be notified.

Before the officer reached the scene Roach and the Mexican had heated words, with the result Roach shot the man.

AFFECTS RATES IN LOS ANGELES.

STATE RAILROAD COMMISSION ANNOUNCES DECISIONS.

Glendale and Eagle Rock Company Ordered to Appear Before Board, and Pacific Light and Power Company Will Extend Service to Newport Beach.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 18.—The State Railroad Commission rendered a number of decisions today of interest to Los Angeles and surrounding territory.

The Glendale and Eagle Rock Railway Company and the Los Angeles Railway Company are ordered to appear before the commission December 3 in Los Angeles to show cause why they should not be required to establish a through route and joint rates. The Pacific Light and Power Corporation receives a certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing it to exercise franchise rights for the sale of electric power in the city of Newport Beach.

The Newport Beach Electric Light and Power Company already serves this territory and it is a general rule of the commission not to authorize a public utility to enter a field already occupied, but in this case the service of the Newport Beach Company was found to be inadequate and the rate excessive. It charged 15 cents per kilowatt hour, as against 8 cents per kilowatt hour promised by the Pacific corporation.

The rate of the Southern Pacific Company from Los Angeles to Redlands and return is found to be lower than the round trip rate in the opposite direction and this is held to be discriminatory against Redlands. The Southern Pacific contended that the rates were for the benefit of tourists wishing to visit Redlands and return to Los Angeles, but the commission rules that the rates should be the same in both directions. No specific order is issued.

Largest Swimming Tanks on Pacific Coast Will Be Sold Monday at Public Auction.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 18.—Sutro Baths, which contain the largest swimming tank on the Pacific Coast, will pass out of the possession of the Sutro heirs at public auction next Monday, October 20, under an order of court to close the estate of Adolph Sutro.

The baths were designed and built by Adolph Sutro at a time when he owned approximately one-tenth of all the land on which the city of San Francisco now stands. His wish was that ultimately they should become the property of the city and in this desire the heirs concurred, but when the opportunity to take them over by the city at a bond election, the proposition was defeated. Nearly all the Pacific Coast records and a number of world's records have been made and broken in the Sutro Baths.

They will be used again next week in the Portola swimming championships.

Senator Charges Member of Corporation Bureau With Holding Stock in Company Over Which Body Holds Jurisdiction—Wants Governorship Aspirant Ousted.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Oct. 18.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] State Senator H. A. Davis, a Democratic aspirant for the Governorship of Arizona, in a forty-page communication today made demand on the Attorney-General that he start Supreme Court proceedings to oust from office State Corporation Commissioner F. A. Jones. The essence of the complaint is that Jones is alleged to have held office in, owned stock of and received emoluments from a corporation over which the commission holds authority, this in violation of a State statue.

Jones and Davis, respectively, were president and secretary of the Bankers' Fire Insurance Company and Phoenix Fire Underwriters, two Arizona corporations owned almost entirely by a Los Angeles corporation, the Merchants & Insurers Reporting Company. In the Los Angeles concern the Arizona companies were treated as assets to the amount of their capital stock, $300,000, which is understood to have been the sum subscribed into the parent business. The Bankers' is understood to have written about a million dollars insurance in Arizona, the policies signed "F. A. Jones, per P." Jones had denied all knowledge that his name was being used in this manner. Davis has cut all connection with the insurance companies but Jones is said to be a stockholder still. The companies have been under investigation in Los Angeles and last Thursday were considered in commission session wherein Davis's lawyers, Sloan, Seabury and Westervelt, charged that Jones was disqualified to sit. The defendant is a former Santa Fe passenger agent and is an expert on railway rates.

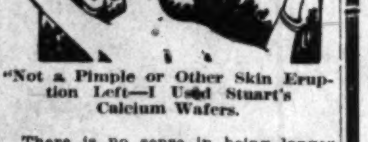
Go Pimples—
Come Beauty

This Is What Happens When Stuart's Calcium Wafers Are Used to Cleanse the Blood of All Impurities and the Skin of Eruptions.

If you want a beautiful complexion stop using cosmetics, salves, lotions, etc. They simply plaster the pores and prevent them from doing their natural and normal duties. If you stopped up all the pores you would actually die in a few days.



"Not a Pimple or Other Skin Eruption Left—I Used Stuart's Calcium Wafers.

There is no sense in being longer humiliated by having to appear in public with a pimple-covered, blotched face—a face that makes strangers stare and your friends ashamed. Stuart's Calcium Wafers will drive all blemishes away and make your face a welcome instead of an unwelcome sight. You'll no longer be a slave to pimples, acne, blackheads, liver spots, boils, eczema, tetter or any skin eruption.

Nowadays, when you see a real beauty, the chances are Stuart's Calcium Wafers wrought that wonderful change. It takes only a short time, even with very bad complexions—the kind that are disfigured with rash, eczema, boils, blotches and liver spots. Stuart's Calcium Wafers cause the skin pores to breathe out impurities. The lungs burn up a great amount, but Nature imposes upon the skin the larger burden. Every tick of the clock means work, work, work for these wonderful Wafers. And every instant new skin is forming, impurities become less and less, the pores are reinvigorated, and soon such a thing as a pimple, blackhead or any other eruption is impossible. You marvel at the change.

The soft, rosy tint love-taps the cheeks; the neck, shoulders and arms show the health of youthful skin—in fact, you just can't help having a beautiful complexion if you use Stuart's Calcium Wafers.

They are put up in convenient form to carry with you, are very palatable, and are sold by druggists everywhere, at 50 cents a box.

WILL REGULATE CAMPAIGN FUNDS

New Senate Bill Also Curbs Unionist Activities.

Money Not to Be Sent from One State to Another.

Provides All Expenditures Must Be Made Public.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—The first direct results of the Congressional investigation of campaign expenditures came today when the Senate passed Senator Clapp's bill prohibiting the sending of campaign funds from one State to another.

If the House approves the measure it will put a rigid limitation not only upon the activities of general political interests, but also upon the work of such organizations as the National Association of Manufacturers, the American Federation of Labor and the National Association of Women Suffrage.

The bill prohibits the carrying or sending of funds from one State to another, to be used in the election of President, Vice-President, Presidential electors or campaign. The Senate passed the bill today without debate.

In previous discussions it was made clear that its purpose was to prevent the financing of campaigns in a secret manner by organizations or individuals who did not come directly under the campaign publicity laws.

The proposed new law would not prohibit the present work of national political committees, so long as they make public reports of all contributions received and expenditures.

It is believed the measure would curtail solidifying campaign funds in money centers, and greatly curb general campaign activities on the part of persons or organizations that might be indirectly interested in the outcome of elections.

A further amendment of campaign contribution laws was proposed today by Senator Sterling in a bill to prevent all corporations from contributing to campaigns for nominations, as they are now prohibited from contributing to election campaigns.

GERMANY ADDS PROTEST.

Objects to Any Discrimination Under Five Per Cent. Differential in Tariff Act.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—Germany added her protest today to those of the other powers against any discrimination adverse to commerce under the 5-per-cent. differential section of the tariff act. Although Solicitor Folk of the State Department has expressed the opinion that the differential could not be claimed by any of the German states outside of Prussia, Mecklenburg-Schwerin and the Hanseatic states, the German government will resist any such limitation.

The protest is based on the claim that there must be mutuality in internal intercourse and as Germany has accorded to the United States all the commercial privileges covered by the treaty with Prussia it cannot be contended that the remainder of Germany can be excluded from reciprocal benefits accorded by the United States to Prussia.

JOB OUTLOOK STILL POOR.

Neither the White House nor Postmaster-General Show Disposition to Relieve California Situation.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] An attempt to interrogate the White House today regarding the postmaster situation in California was fruitless because the President was taking a holiday and Secretary Tumulty was attending a matinee with some of the little Tumultys. The Postmaster-General was absorbed in weightier duties. The referee for California was busy in his capacity of Commissioner-General of Immigration in signing letters and arranging to hear the appeal of Mrs. Pankhurst, and Congressman Raker was much occupied in standing from under.

There was not even a fourth-class postmaster appointed for California today except Charles W. Smith at Alamorio, Imperial county. Being a candidate for office seems to be a rather unpromising occupation in California at present, but assurances are made that there will probably be "something doing" next week. The Los Angeles County Committee, which has so long been ignored, may not find that it is recognized when the plums are passed around.

First Assistant Postmaster-General Roper distinctly declined to commit himself on the proposition, or to say whether any of the fifteen or twenty new postmasters, whom he says are to be appointed next week (perhaps,) will be in Los Angeles county or anywhere in Southern California.

Secretary Daniels States Charge of Baltimore Police Against Navy Aviator Is Unfounded.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—Secretary Daniels made the vindication of Ensign Chevalier, the navy aviator charged by the Baltimore police with driving an automobile while intoxicated, the occasion for a formal statement yesterday. The Secretary said:

"After thorough investigation by both the civil authorities of Baltimore and Supt. Gibbons of the Naval Committee, Ensign Chevalier, against whom a charge of intoxication was made by a Baltimore policeman, has been vindicated.

"I am gratified at the vindication of Ensign Chevalier, who is one of the most successful aviators in the navy. The result strengthens me in the opinion that it is the duty of the department to order a full investigation whenever there are publications reflecting on any officer."

ALL ABOUT TOM FOX.

"They Say" He Is Out of Politics and Yet Certain Things Are Going on Up North.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 18.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Tom Fox is out of politics in California.

Tom Fox is out of Sacramento on a fence-building expedition to San Francisco and bay points.

These two bits of conflicting information were to be gleaned from the local political situation this afternoon.

The truth remains that Tom Fox, postmaster of Sacramento, undoubtedly was out of town yesterday, is out of town today and will be out of town tomorrow. According to personal friends who ordinarily are in touch with his movements, his present whereabouts are unknown. On the other hand, the information is given out that the former boss of things in Democratic politics in this section of California has hied to the wilds of Auburn for a quail hunt. Disputing this allegation is the statement from responsible sources that the last thing in Fox's mind at the present time is the "call of the wild." It is said he is in San Francisco conferring with a man who is closely allied with William Randolph Hearst and the publisher's campaign for the nomination of M. F. Tarpey for Governor or some other office that as yet has not been announced.

Pasadena Board of Trade Objects to Taking the Flow of the Grand River Basin.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 18.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Congressman Bell of Pasadena has filed with the House a memorial of the Pasadena Board of Trade protesting against the Secretary of the Interior granting rights of way over government land for the diversion of water from the Grand River basin to certain corporations and individuals. It was referred to the Committee on the Public Lands.

Revenue Cutter Changed.

Fat Is Ridiculous

Overfat men and women, mortified and humiliated by the publicity of conspicuous rolls and billows of fat, are gradually learning that through the discovery of an eminent physician the burden of overfatness is taken from them, leaving the figure attractively proportioned, the flesh firm, the skin smooth, and the general health vastly improved, without dieting, exercise or resulting wrinkles or flabbiness. There is no equal and no substitute for the famous Marmola Prescription, but there is a new and more convenient form—a tablet form of this safe fat remover. Marmola Prescription Tablets contain the same harmless, effective ingredients as the original prescription that has enabled so many thousands of uncomfortable men and women to reduce their weight evenly and steadily at the rate of a pound or more a day. An exceptionally large case of these Marmola Prescription Tablets is sold by all druggists at 75c or sent you direct by the Marmola Co., Farmer Bldg., Detroit, Mich., on receipt of price.

Sixty-third Congress.

WILSON SEEKS REPUBLICAN AID.

Will Grant Them Anything to Push Currency Bill.

Decides to Give Minority Say in Redrafting Act.

President Anxious to Obtain Unanimous Support.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—Pesident Wilson has further cleared the path for currency reform in the Senate through conferences opened today with the Republicans of the Senate committee now in charge of the bill. As a result of a conference with Senator Nelson, the President has received assurances that the Republican members are not trying to impede action on the currency bill in the Senate.

Democratic traders expressed confidence today that the Senate committee would be able to come to such an agreement upon the currency reform measure as would insure its unanimous support by both Republicans and Democrats. No effort is to be made to draw party lines. The Republicans are to be consulted fully in amending and redrafting the measure.

While no effort has been made to fix a date for the reporting of the bill, it is understood that the President has been assured that progress in the committee will be as rapid as possible and will depend only upon the length of time required for discussion and agreement upon vital features of the currency reform plan.

Efforts to bring about a recess of Congress appear to have abated somewhat.

It is expected the committee will spend at least three weeks after October 25 in discussion and amendment of the bill.

An amendment to allow the proposed Federal reserve banks to issue all travelers checks, such as are now issued by private banks, was suggested today by John Overmire of Indianapolis in a petition presented by Senator Kern.

November 10 is the date tentatively set for the report of the committee. Among Democratic leaders the idea is gaining that the President might consent to a recess of Congress if the Senate agreed to vote on the bill on a certain day.

Early today the President conferred with Senator Nelson. It was his first conference with a Republican on the currency situation.

FILLS REAMS OF PAPER.

Longest Letter Ever Filed in Divorce Court Relates Alleged Troubles of Wife.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 18.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The largest and possibly the longest letter ever placed in the files of the Superior Court was introduced yesterday in the divorce suit of George against Annie McDonald, charging extreme cruelty.

The letter, written on two sheets of paper, each one yard and seven inches long and a half-yard wide, contains 7500 words, and details every dispute which occurred during the two years the McDonalds lived together. The letter was written by Mrs. McDonald in substantiation of her charge that she was more sinned against than sinning.

McDonald is a retired fireman and the wife wants half his pension, but it was proven she has $3000 on deposit with a local bank.

Chile Hides Her Poverty.

SANTIAGO (Chile) Oct. 18.—[By Cable and A. P.] The Chilean government definitely decided today not to take part officially in the Panama-Pacific Exposition at San Francisco owing to the financial situation of the republic.

CLOSED BY THE POLICE.

VIENNA, Oct. 18.—The police closed today the offices of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company throughout Austria after impounding all the books and correspondence. This action was taken as a sequel to the arrest on Thursday of Samuel Altmann, the company's agent here, in connection with a charge that he had assisted Austrians to evade military service by emigrating to Canada without passports.

MOVING DAY AT ALBANY.

Sulzer Takes His Things Out and Gov. Glynn Moves His Things into the People's House.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ALBANY, Oct. 19.—Today was moving day in Albany. Gov. Glynn was busy preparing to move his office equipment from the quarters on the third floor of the Capitol which he has occupied since the beginning of the impeachment proceedings, to the executive suite on the second floor. At the "People's House" William Sulzer and Mrs. Sulzer were collecting their personal belongings and making ready to leave Albany. In the Senate chamber workmen were dismantling the fixtures which for a time transformed the onyx-walled chamber into a velour and velvet-draped court-room.

Official business was practically at a standstill.

Gov. Glynn arrived at the Capitol shortly before noon and settled down to the routine of his office. He announced that he would move into the executive suite on Monday.

Mr. Sulzer gave no intimation where he and his wife would go after leaving the Executive Mansion.

Even Progressives Say They Can't Stand for Former New York Governor.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Jacob H. Schiff, a member of the Progressive Committee on Vacancies of the Twentieth Congressional District, emphatically denied today that he or any one else in authority in that district had asked William Sulzer to accept the progressive nomination for Congress.

Oscar S. Straus, the candidate originally nominated, declined to run. The Committee on Vacancies will meet Monday night to select somebody else. Mr. Schiff said he thought Prof. I. A. Hourwich, formerly connected with the Department of Commerce and Labor, would be nominated.

MURPHY BEING SHADOWED.

Tammany Leader Says Two Detectives Follow Him in an Automobile and He Likes It.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Charles F. Murphy, the Tammany Hall leader, is being shadowed and he enjoys it. He said so today.

"About three weeks ago," said Mr. Murphy, "I noticed for the first time that I was being followed by two young men in an automobile."

The Tammany leader went on to say that he did some sleuthing on his own account and learned that the car which had been following him was leased to a detective agency.

"If I knew the persons who are spending the money to keep such a close watch on me," he said, "I'd save them the expense. I would have them call at my home every evening and I would tell them where I was going and whom I was going to see."

MRS. PANKHURST IS INDIGNANT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Three things in connection with the examination today of Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst seemed particularly to arouse her indignation. One was that she was accused of "moral turpitude," another that the proceedings were in secret, and the third that her "political opponents" in England had, in her belief, furnished much of the material used by the special board in questions put to her. Her examiners were courteous "more or less," she admitted.

Mrs. Pankhurst, according to the stenographic report of her examination, admitted that she had made incendiary speeches in England, but denied that she had ever advocated taking her life.

After the questioning was over and the newspaper men were permitted to talk with her, Mrs. Pankhurst was quick to register her objection to "star chamber proceedings." They had "a bad moral effect," she continued. As to the decision of the board, she said:

"I was severely cross-examined in a manner that I believe was intended to make me fall into a trap. My deportation was ordered specifically on my conviction of an indictment found against me in England as the person who placed a bomb in Lloyd George's home."

Herbert Rees, Mrs. Pankhurst's counsel spent the latter part of the day consulting authorities to cite to the government in arguing Mrs. Pankhurst's case, only taking a copy of the minutes of the inquiry board with him, left tonight for Washington where he expected to consult with Commissioner-General Caminetti tomorrow. He apparently had not learned at the time he left that there was no probability of a formal hearing in the case at Washington tomorrow. The argument is expected to be that Mrs. Pankhurst's alleged offences are purely political and that the government had no warrant in law for excluding her because of them.

Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, who, it has been understood, was ready to supply a bond for the English militant, should one be allowed, did not appear actively in the case today. Among other suffrage leaders, the note of sympathy, while sometimes sounded, was frequently lacking. Mrs. Mary G. Hay, president of the woman's suffrage party in this city, said the organization was not interested in Mrs. Pankhurst's visit.

"We are in no sense militants, and not in sympathy with Mrs. Pankhurst's ideas," she said. "She moreover came to this country entirely on her own initiative and without any invitation from the woman's suffrage part in America. We deplore the action of the United States government representatives, however, because it gives Mrs. Pankhurst a lot of undue notoriety and advertising without benefiting the real work of our society in the least."

So far as the personality of Mrs. Pankhurst is concerned, many preconceived notions of her were upset. There was no suggestion of the hardy woman who could face self-starvation to gain freedom.

The immigration inspectors, watching her as she sat in the "well" in the board room, saw a delicate, pale woman of motherly appearance. Her voice as she responded to the formal questions was that of a woman of good breeding.

Tonight, weary after her experience of the day, she retired early, to all appearances composed for a good night's rest and without worry as to the outcome of her case.

POSTMASTERS STUDYING U

Fifty Thousand Must T Competitive Tests.

Fourth-Class Incumbents in Classified Service.

Majority Republicans pect to Hold Jobs.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 18.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] More than 50,000 class postmasters, most of them publicans, are getting ready to the competitive examination will admit the successful to the classified service and them permanently against partisan reasons.

The passing grade shall not be than 70. There must be at least applicants for each office and this list the Postoffice Department will name the postmaster.

The incumbents, relying on practical experience in office, fident they will have an over other applicants and writing are the important of the examination.

The delegates to the League of Postmasters, recently in Guthrie, Okla., were mostly opinion that no partisan would be permitted in the tions. The third-class postmasters whom there are about 1000 United States, are seeking to cluded in the classified service were represented at the meeting also are allied with the composed of first-class and class postmasters who are given by Presidential appointment are about 8000 of the latter.

Fourth-class postmasters ranging from $50 to $1000 President Wilson has provided postmaster drawing less than year shall be required examination. These places thought, may be filled on dation of an inspector.

For years the compensation fourth-class postmasters has based on the idea that income outgoing mail were about equal at this time the incoming about three times greater than outgoing mail, due largely parcel post. This has resulted inequality in pay which fourth postmasters would like to have justed. It was shown, for that at Tearlton, Okla., the ter receives $50 for a year for teen hours service, after rent, light, fuel and equipment against $960 paid to a rural for about six hours work a day Mayfield, Okla., the postmaster $200 and his two rural carriers each.

The league was unwilling to tion in favor of 1-cent letter tage, though P. B. Dick, president the Kansas league, read support of this lower rate

"What is the cost of first-class tage at the rate of 2 cents an It takes one No. 5 envelope sheets of ordinary letter paper bring up the weight and one velope and three sheets of letter paper to perform the ation on the same scale at ounce. What does this indicate that if every letter weighed two ounces the ordinary business would pay $1680 a ton for the livery of his mail.

"Second, that not one business ter in 10,000 contains two sheets letter paper and the greater only one sheet. That a business ter seldom weighs over ounce, which would actually make ordinary business letter cost the ers at the rate of $3260 a ton that this class of mail produces a it of $65,000,000 each year ing this with the rules publishers of newspapers, which and other publications loss to the Postoffice Department $70,000,000, it is an unjust

… meeting of welcome which local suffrage leaders planned to give Mrs. Pankhurst tomorrow night at Madison Square Garden was postponed today until Monday night in order that Mrs. Pankhurst's status might be fully determined before the meeting.

BOND READY.

Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, the New York woman suffrage leader, who was to have been Mrs. Pankhurst's host, was prepared to give bond up to $100,000 for Mrs. Pankhurst's good behavior while in America. Under the ruling of the special board she will not be permitted to do so and Mrs. Pankhurst must remain at the Ellis Island Station until deported unless the board's findings are reversed by the authorities at Washington.

Mrs. Pankhurst's deportation was ordered under Section 2 of the immigration law. This section provides for the exclusion of persons convicted abroad of a crime or crimes involving moral turpitude. The board held that Mrs. Pankhurst's conviction in England of conspiracy to commit arson brought her within this class.

The militant leader's case moved with unusual celerity. She was interrogated by immigration inspectors on board the liner Provence, on which she had made the trip from Havre, was detained but a few minutes aboard the vessel when it docked, was rushed in a special tug to the detention station at Ellis Island, and taken immediately before the special board of inquiry there. Her examination before this board lasted little over an hour and she was not represented by counsel.

Mrs. Pankhurst told the immigration officials that her purpose in coming to America was not to advocate the militant method for obtaining suffrage, but to lecture on the history and the progress of the cause in England.

Commissioner Caminetti, while taking pains to make clear that Mrs. Pankhurst's case was being treated exactly as that of any other immigrant, pointed out that she was in ill health and that considerations due to a woman in such condition would be accorded to her.

Secretary Post, in the absence of Secretary Wilson, may sustain or reverse the immigration commissioner's decision, when it reaches him.

If the deportation order of the Ellis Island board is sustained, Mrs. Pankhurst may be placed aboard the first ship sailing for France to the port from which she sailed. Such an order might be stayed by habeas corpus proceedings in the Federal courts, as was recently done in the case of Gen. Cipriano Castro, the Venezuelan exile, and which resulted in his liberation.

Today there has been no communication between the State Department and the British Embassy over the incident. Diplomats point out that the suffrage leader might avail herself of a protest in her capacity as a British subject.

An oblong green and gold motto calendar, with a fancy suffrage postal card attached for each month, also is to be kept in stock. Suffrage mottoes abound on this calendar.

There will be a brand of suffrage tea, suffrage candy, suffrage playing cards, suffrage hats, shoes and hose, suffrage groceries, peanuts, novelties, pennants and what not.

Tea will be served on the second floor of the suffrage store all day every day of the week. There will be noonday meetings and suffrage rallies and speeches at, in, around and about the store.

The mechanical device that shows different cards bearing suffrage arguments and known as the "voiceless speechmaker," will be kept constantly in motion in the show windows.

The suffrage store is an undertaking of the woman suffrage party of Pennsylvania and much time and money and planning have been spent to insure the success of the venture. Suffragists will be in charge of all departments of the store. There will not be a man around the place.

NOTABLES DETAINED.

Mrs. Pankhurst Not the Only One Who Has Seen the Island.

Mrs. Pankhurst, waiting at Ellis Island may find some consolation in the fact that other noted visitors became unwilling guests of the immigration authorities, and upon their arrival there spent some time in the government's "melting pot."

Some in the list were:

Edward Mylius, writer and editor, convicted in England on the charge of libeling the King. He was held as an "undesirable."

Miss Marie Lloyd, English music-hall singer, held as an "undesirable" because she was accompanied by a man not her husband, admitted under bond.

Cipriano Castro, ex-President and dictator of Venezuela. Convicted of murder in Venezuela. Held at Ellis Island. Admitted after a writ of habeas corpus had been sworn out.

Prince Pignatolli, detained by the immigration authorities on receipt of dispatches from Paris, where it is said he had figured in several escapades. Was liberated after other "dispatches from Paris" had been received.

"KING" ASQUITH HER WORST FOE.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—To inspectors who questioned her aboard the Provence, Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst asserted that her conviction was for a political offense and that it was generally understood her sentence had expired when she left England for France, although she had not been so notified formally.

For a quarter of an hour the militant leader was questioned by immigration inspectors in the white and gold music-room on the liner. A curious crowd of passengers, eager to learn the disposition of her case, trooped in through the doors and pressed the two-score newspaper reporters forward until they surrounded the little group. Rheta Childe Dorr, Mrs. Pankhurst's traveling companion, sought to sit beside the militant leader during the hearing, but this the inspectors would not permit.

"I am not coming to America to tell American women how to get the vote," Mrs. Pankhurst announced when the inspectors had left her. "They appear to be abundantly able to manage their own campaign. Their progress has been remarkable and they need no foreign leadership."

There was no touch of militancy about Mrs. Pankhurst's face or figure as she chatted with the newspapermen. She was dressed in a gray suit, cut V-shaped at the throat, a blue hat that bore but a single ostrich plume of black and was half hidden by a blue veil. She wore a sealskin coat that touched the floor when she walked.

Her fast graying hair belied the youth that seemed stamped on her features. She had almost recovered, she said from the illness caused by forcible feeding in Holloway Jail. But she was willing to live her harrowing experiences all over again a dozen times if need be "for the cause."

"Would I see it through?" she repeated in indignant answer to a question asked by a reporter. "Why, of course, I would. I would die if I had to for the cause. And there are dozens, yes hundreds, of women in England who would do the same thing. I don't set myself up as different from any other woman or better than any other woman.

"We are having a revolution in England, just as you people of America had a revolution when you wanted your freedom, when you were taxed without representation. We English women are fighting for our freedom. Just as you won yours, so will we win ours. You fought against George the Third; we are fighting against George the Fifth—no, perhaps, I should not say that; we are not fighting against King George. We are fighting against King Asquith, for he is the obstinate man who blocks the way.

"I do not think I should be denied admittance to your country. I don't think I will be. I am willing to trust to the sense of justice of the American people."

Mrs. Pankhurst was questioned closely about her departure from England. She told the immigration inspectors that she thought she would not be arrested if she returned there.

"I was at liberty under license," she explained. "My license had expired and I was, of course, subject to arrest."

"I was of course subject to arrest at any time. But I addressed the International Medical Congress after the expiration of my license and was not molested. Inasmuch as I had been arrested for addressing public meetings previously, I should think that if I had been wanted, I would have been arrested while addressing this meeting.

"Further, I announced publicly that I expected to leave England. No attempt was made to prevent my departure."

At the detention station, Mrs. Pankhurst was lodged for a few minutes in the room which Cipriano Castro occupied while at Ellis Island. Then she was taken before the board. Four women who accompanied Mrs. Pankhurst to Ellis Island were allowed to converse with her and her counsel in her rooms. They were not permitted to accompany her before the board, however, nor was her lawyer.

FAITH CROCKER KILLED.

Daughter of Relative of San Francisco Family Meets Death at Horse's Heels.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Faith Crocker, the only daughter of Frank L. Crocker, a distant relative of the Crocker family in California and a leading member of the Meadowbrook and Piping Rock Clubs, met death today beneath the heels of her favorite pony, which she had recently ridden to blue ribbon honors in Long Island horse shows. The 8-year-old girl had taken the animal out for its usual morning canter in the meadow, and her father sat at a window watching her, when she was unseated and fell to the ground with her foot caught in the stirrup. The pony dashed blindly away, dragging her over the field. Its hoofs fractured her skull and killed her instantly.

American Flag Is Carried to the King of Saxony on the Plains of Leipsic.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

LEIPSIC (Saxony) Oct. 18.—Thousands of people from all parts of Germany, Austria, Russia and Sweden reached here today for the dedication of the memorial of the Battle of the Nations, which ended just 100 years ago in a victory for the allies over the French and resulted in the emancipation of Germany. One of the features of the day's exercises was the arrival of the last runners in a series of relays bearing banners and greetings from every quarter of the German empire and also from Washington and from Rio Janeiro.

The banner from the United States passed through the hands of many thousand athletes before it reached the King of Saxony. In all the relays a total of 43,000 runners were engaged.

Colds are Caught in October That Last all Winter

In most parts of the United States October is the pleasantest month of the whole year. And yet October has especial liabilities for those who are subject to catching cold.

September is liable to be warm, and thin clothes are worn almost universally. When October begins the nights get colder, and the days also. Yet people will cling to their thin clothes. The negligee shirt without vest is so comfortable, that the men do not like to give it up. Sleeveless underwear and peek-a-boo waists have given so much comfort during the hot months that the women lay them aside with great reluctance. So it is that thin clothes are carried over into the month of October, and a great many millions of people carry them a little too long. Frequently, catching cold is the result.

A cold acquired in October may last several months and do great damage. In spite then of the fact that October is a pleasant month, it is a month that presents especial liabilities for catching cold. Of course the best way to fortify one's self against cold is to avoid exposure, but people will not always do this, hence colds are the result.

To have a remedy handy to break up a cold is almost a household necessity. It has been at least thirty-five or forty years that Peruna has been a standard household remedy for coughs and colds.

It is generally sufficient to take a few doses at the first appearance of a cold. The experience of the people has been if taken in the early stages of a cold Peruna is prompt in its action. The cold disappears very quickly.

Those who object to liquid medicines can now procure Peruna Tablets.—[Advertisement.

AFTER TWO MILLIONS.

Diver Makes a Record Plunge and May Have Located Rio de Janeiro Wreck.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 18.—What is believed to be the wreck of the City of Rio de Janeiro, which was sunk inside the entrance of the Golden Gate on the morning of February 22, 1901, with a loss of 122 lives and bullion valued at $2,000,000, was located yesterday by Herman Stelzner, a diver, who made the descent in 128 feet of water in a patent diving device. If Stelzner's story is borne out by further attempts to uncover the sand-shrouded bulk, the mystery that for more than twelve years has surrounded the exact location of the steamer will have been solved. Attempts to learn the position of the boat have been made by divers from time to time, but all have met with failure.

Incidentally, Sulzer set a new mark for divers in his descent of 128 feet today. The previous greatest depth attained is said to be ninety-two feet. With his device Stelzner declares he is enabled to resist the enormous pressure that exists below the surface.

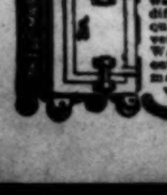
On the bottom of the bay Stelzner discerned the outlines of a wrecked ship. He carried no lamp with him and made no further investigation after learning the exact whereabouts of what he believes is the Rio de Janeiro. Information as to the probable location of the vessel was furnished him by a local wrecker who once grappled for the steamer and located a sunken vessel.

This location is half way between Mile Rock Lighthouse and the Ft. Point red buoy. In describing his descent today, Stelzner said:

"I noticed a curious stillness of the water at the bottom. The tide was ebbing fast on the surface, but below there seemed to be the center of an eddy which made the water practically still. The Rio must have been carried inward until it reached the eddy and has remained there ever since."

BIG GUNS BOOMING.

NORFOLK (Va.) Oct. 18.—[By A. P. Day Wire.] The first division of the Atlantic fleet steamed out to heavy battle practice today with Secretaries Daniels, Garrison, Redfield and a distinguished company from official circles in Washington as spectators. In a southwest wind and a light sea the big dreadnoughts steamed out through a haze and before noon the big guns were booming.



Warner's Safe Remedies

The Remedy for Rheumatism

Acute rheumatism is an inflammation of various parts of the body, characterized by general fever, by pain, heat, redness, and swelling of the joints affected, and by a tendency to leave one joint suddenly and fasten upon another. It is primarily the result of the failure of the kidneys to take uric acid out of the blood.

Warner's Safe Rheumatic Remedy is one of the most effective remedies known to medicine in expelling uric acid from the system, and it thereby removes the rheumatic pains and eliminates all traces of the disease.

"I had rheumatism so badly that I was unable to walk except with great difficulty, and I had taken a large quantity of doctor's medicine with very little relief. Four bottles of Warner's Safe Rheumatic Remedy entirely cleared my system of rheumatism."—Mrs. B. M. Crahore, Nashville, Tenn.

PEEVISH, CONSTIPATED CHILDREN LOVE "CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF FIGS"

Harmless "fruit laxative" cleanses stomach, liver and bowels.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, it is a sure sign that your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

When peevish, cross, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad, has stomach ache, sore throat, diarrhoea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in just a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels and you have a well, playful child again.

You needn't coax sick children to take this harmless fruit laxative; they love its delicious taste and it always makes them feel splendid.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages, and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.—[Advertisement.

LOVING CUP FOR SULZER.

Admirers Pay Compliment to Deposed Governor.

Murphy's Name Is Hissed by Crowd at Albany.

Former Executive Has Many Offers to Lecture.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ALBANY (N. Y.) Oct. 18.—There was red fire, oratory and music by a brass band at the executive mansion tonight, when several hundred admirers of William Sulzer called to present him with a loving cup.

A driving rain fell while the marchers were en route to the mansion. Sulzer started to shake hands with all of his callers, but did not complete the task. They crowded around him and refused to move. Some one said a few words of consolation to him only to be interrupted by Mrs. Sulzer.

"The action of the court is the least of our troubles," she said.

The crowd began to cheer.

"We'll have you back next year, Bill," one man yelled.

Another enthusiast cried "Hurrah for the next President of the United States."

Chester C. Platt, Sulzer's secretary, read a speech, assuring Sulzer that he had been removed because he would not obey the bosses. Mention of the name of Charles F. Murphy brought hisses.

The cup presented to Sulzer was inscribed "To William Sulzer, a victim of corrupt bossism, October 17, 1913."

Mrs. Sulzer was presented with a bouquet.

Sulzer, in a speech, reiterated his assertion that his removal was due to his displeasing Tammany Hall.

"Had I obeyed the boss, instead of my oath of office, I would still be the Governor, and the 'organization' would be patting me on the back and telling the people that I was a second Andrew Jackson," he said.

"My condemnation by the boss is intended to serve as a warning and a precedent to all who may follow me, of what will happen to them if they do not 'obey orders,' but I believe my fate will have a good effect in the end and do more than any other single thing I could do to forever destroy the terrors of corrupt bossism in the State of New York."

A letter, which Col. Roosevelt wrote Sulzer on October 3, last, was given out by Platt. It was in response to one from Sulzer telling Roosevelt that on advice of counsel, Sulzer could not permit a letter he wrote the former President regarding the impeachment case to be made public. The letter follows:

"I thank you for you letter, and I am sorry that I have to leave before your defense is made public. I wish it had been possible for you to write to me the letter of which you wrote, giving me the definite facts as to the effort by Mr. Murphy and his assistants to bend you to their interests against the cause of honesty and decency in popular government, and their promise of immunity to you from impeachment if you would cease your attacks on the men who have been guilty of misconduct and theft in connection with public office, and if you would cease your demand for direct primaries. Such a letter, giving me in detail the facts, would, of course, have enabled me to speak much more strongly than I have spoken."

LECTURE OFFERS.

Platt also gave out copies of several telegrams Sulzer had received offering him lecture dates. A Kansas City man bid $10,000 for one lecture; a New Yorker, $20,000 for ten lectures, and another New Yorker, $50,000 for fifty, and a Chicago promoter topped the list with $100,000 for a season. As yet the former Governor has closed no contracts for public addresses.

This was the last night Sulzer occupied the executive mansion. He will leave tomorrow morning for Cooperstown, where he will spend three or four days in a summer hotel owned by a friend. He will be accompanied only by Mrs. Sulzer. From Cooperstown, Sulzer will go to the mountains for a few days, probably, and then return to New York.

Police of San Francisco Are Asked to Find Them for a Man Who Was Slugged.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 18.—The police were asked today to find two hours of missing time and return them to Anton Rapollo, the owner.

Rapollo complains that while on his way home last night something hit him on the head. He knew nothing more until he awoke this morning in his own bed. His daughter says he came home staggering shortly after midnight. Rapollo was not robbed and he had not been drinking. He wants an accounting for the two hours between the time he was slugged and the time he arrived at his home.

Yaqui Indians Said to Have Revived Ancient Custom at Invasion of Fuerte.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DOUGLAS (Ariz.) Oct. 18.—The ancient custom of heralding victory by making public demonstrations with the heads of the conquered was revived at Fuerte, Sinaloa, at the time of its occupation by the rebels two weeks ago, according to stories told by travelers who reached here today.

Following the invasion of Fuerta, the story runs, Yaqui Indians pursued the retreating Federal army and captured, among others, Prefecto Torres, a Federal commander. The Indians put him to death and returned with his head, parading it about the streets on a pole. Torres, it is reported, had threatened to execute any Constitutionalist who fell into his hands.

EL PASO (Tex.) Oct. 18.—Capt. Santa Ana Caraveo, charged with the murder at Madero, Chihuahua, of Edward Hayes of Buffalo, N. Y., will be tried in Juarez instead of Chihuahua City. This information was given to American Consul Edwards in Juarez today in response to representations he presented from the American State Department. The United States wants the trial held in Juarez because the American witnesses are now refugees in El Paso and do not care to go to Chihuahua to testify.

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 18.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] George McRea, arrested in Los Angeles and brought to New York last Sunday on a charge of grand larceny, in which it is alleged that he swindled Simeon Jones of Pittsburgh out of $20,000 by the "wire tapping game," is reported to have expressed a desire to talk.

McRea, who is in the Tombs, asked for a conference with Frederick Groehl, Assistant District Attorney, yesterday, and it is reported that he agreed to bare the secrets of a band of wire tappers if Mr. Groehl could show him that he would not be convicted on the grand larceny charge.

DROP WORD "SOUTHERN."

Pacific Convention of Methodist Pastors Decides to Dispense With The Designation.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 18.—The proposition to drop the word Southern from the name of the M. E. church, South, was voted upon favorably by the pastors in attendance at the Pacific convention being held at the local church in this city today.

It is proposed to change the name of the church to that of the Methodist Episcopal Church in America.

The conference committee to the California State Federation of churches was named as follows:

Dr. J. E. Moore, Judge W. H. Waste and J. M. Crawford.

The nominating committee was composed of C. P. Moore, J. A. Walles and U. E. Squires.

S. W. Waller, who was presiding elder of the San Francisco district, has been transferred to the Western Virginia conference and placed in charge of the Johnson Memorial church at Huntington, W.Va. He will leave Sacramento this afternoon for his new post.

SEEKS BRIDE IN SAN DIEGO.

Violinist of New York Who Eloped With Colorado Girl on Way to California.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PUEBLO (Colo.) Oct. 18.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Determined to secure possession of his bride, who was taken from him a few hours after their marriage a few days ago, Jacques Gottlieb, a well known violinist of New York city, left this evening for San Diego. It is said that Gottlieb today received a telegram which stated that his wife and her father are now in San Diego.

Gottlieb, who has been playing in a local theater for several months, eloped to Colorado Springs with Helen Stoddard, daughter of C. A. Stoddard, a prominent physician, a few days ago, and they were married there. They returned after the ceremony, and, according to Gottlieb, when they were apprehended by the doctor and a friend, he was knocked down by the latter and his bride taken from him. Gottlieb secured a habeas corpus writ but could not get service on the father.

A Tiny Dynamo.

[Tit Bits:] A Lilliputian electric dynamo, perfect in every detail, but weighing only a quarter of an ounce, was shown at work before the Paris Academy of Science. Its constructor is a French mechanician named Travet. This dynamo is three-fifths of an inch long, half an inch wide, and three-fifths of an inch high. The coil is a quarter of an inch in diameter and is wired with five and a half feet of silk insulated copper wire, one-fiftieth of an inch in thickness. A tension is indicated of 3.5 volts by a current of .2 ampere, but as to its power, there is no instrument sensitive enough to record it. While at work, the toy machine made a sound like the humming of a bee.

To Prevent Anger.

[New York Press:] It is said of Julius Caesar that, upon any provocation, he would repeat the Roman alphabet before he suffered himself to speak, that he might be more just and calm in his resentments. The delay of a few moments has set many seeming affronts in a juster and kindlier light; it has often lessened, if not annihilated, the supposed injury, and prevented violence and revenge.

ESPEE WINS ARBITRATION.

Federal Board of Mediation Settles Controversy.

Engineers' Official Dissents in Separate Opinion.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 18.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The first arbitration held between a western railroad and its employees under the Newlands arbitration act passed by Congress last July came to a conclusion today, when the arbiters filed in the United States District Court their findings and award in the dispute between the Southern Pacific Company and the organization of engineers, conductors and trainmen.

Hearings before a board composed of M. K. Montgomery, vice-president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers; W. R. Scott, general manager of the Southern Pacific, and Judge John F. Davis, appointed by the Federal Board of Mediation, has been held for some two weeks. Several thousand pages of testimony and exhibits were taken. The brotherhoods were represented by T. A. Gregg, vice-president of the Order of Railway Conductors, and C. B. McLaughlin, vice-president of the Railway Trainmen. The Southern Pacific interests were handled by Hanley C. Booth of Chief Counsel Herrin's legal staff.

The question submitted to the board of arbitration was "What is the distinction between street car service and suburban electric service?"

THE CONTROVERSY.

While the origin of the controversy was in the Southern Pacific putting on a street car service between Sixteenth-street station, Oakland and Alameda, and manning it with street car men on street car pay, the brotherhoods asserting that their men should be employed, the case assumed a much wider scope, embracing all operations of the Southern Pacific in street car service over its entire system.

The company is making large investments in electric service in Portland, Or., and vicinity and the finding of the board on the general question submitted covers that as well.

When the Southern Pacific electrified its Alameda-county suburban service it continued the former engineers and conductors as electric motormen and conductors under an agreement with the organization that the same rate of pay should apply. The suburban-service men in Southern Pacific service are thus receiving 25 to 31 per cent. more than men in corresponding service on the Key Route or other suburban roads in the West as shown by the testimony. But the organizations demanded that any form of electric suburban service should be paid on the same scale, which the Southern Pacific refused to do, asserting that street car service was of a distinct type and men should be paid on the usual street-car rates. Then the present trouble started. On this and other grounds a strike vote was taken of trainmen on the entire Southern Pacific system from Portland to El Paso. They voted by about twenty to one to strike which would have resulted in a tie-up of the system.

COMPANY APPEALS.

The company, asserting that the public interests were as greatly involved as its own and those of the men, appealed to the Board of Mediation and Conciliation created by the Newlands act. The board promptly responded by sending Judge Hanger, one of its members, to San Francisco. He succeeded in settling all of the differences except the question of what should be considered street car service to which neither side would yield.

Both sides agreed to submit the question to arbitration under the Newlands act.

The hearing drew witnesses from all over the West and was marked by spirited passages between the opposing sides, though in the main, the proceedings were good-natured. The attorney for the railroad expressed the idea by saying, "This is now nothing but a family quarrel and outsiders need not concern themselves with it."

The majority opinion of the board was signed by Arbitrators Davis and Scott and is exactly in line with the Southern Pacific contentions. Arbiter Montgomery, in a short note, dissented from the award as to finding six, and the first sentence of finding seven. He said, "In expressing such dissent, I do not wish to be understood as casting any reflection on the good faith and fair intent of those associated with me in this arbitration."

The company did not ask to have any existing suburban service or suburban rate of pay disturbed. The question was not involved but the whole case turned on a definition of the two classes of service in which the opinion will be a most distinct contribution to legal literature.

THE FINDINGS.

After discussing the evidence at some length, particularly as to the development of modern electric transportation, the formal findings follow:

"(1.) Street car service differs from suburban electric service in the greater expedition with which passengers in suburban electric service are carried from terminal to terminal, or between stations, by reason of the fact that street car service is designed to do, and does, a more local or transient transportation business than suburban business, in the transportation of passengers locally in a single community, whether that community be a single municipality, or a community divided by municipal, county or State boundaries.

"(2.) Subject to municipal regulations for purposes of public safety, the passenger in street car service may, on signal, enter or leave the car at a street intersection, though some time stopping points for street cars are between street intersections by reason of physical or operating conditions. In suburban electric service, on the other hand, the stops are at arbitrary stations fixed by the operating company, or by franchise provisions, though a suburban car may in certain parts of its run stop at street intersections by reason of congestion of traffic, local police regulations, insufficient headway between it and the preceding car, or use of track oper-

When the Southern Pacific electrified its Alameda-county suburban system it continued the former engineers and conductors as electric motormen and conductors under an agreement with the organization that the steam rate of pay should apply. The suburban-service men in South service are thus receiving per cent. more than men in corresponding service on the Key Route or other suburban roads in the West as shown by the testimony. But the organizations demanded that any form of electric suburban service should be paid on the same scale, which the Southern Pacific refused to do, asserting that street car service was of a distinct type and men should be paid on the usual street-car rates. "(1.) Street car service differs from suburban electric service in the expedition with which passengers in suburban electric service are carried from terminal to terminal, stations, by reason of the fact that street car service is designed to do, and does, a more local transportation business than suburban business, in the transportation of passengers locally in a community, whether that community be a single municipality, or a divided by municipal or state boundaries.

In suburban electric service, on the other hand, the stops are at stations fixed by the operating company, or by franchise provisions, though a suburban car may in part of its run stop at street by reason of congestion local police regulations, in between it and the or use of track operated under a franchise requiring stops at street intersections.

"(3.) Street cars do not handle baggage, except hand baggage carried by passengers, mail, except for the accommodation or convenience of the government, freight or express, while there are no such restrictions on suburban electric cars.

"(4.) The usual method of operation of street car service consists in the running of single cars, sometimes with a trailer, whereas suburban electric service usually operates with greater power and with cars capable of operation as single cars, or in multiple unit trains, as the necessity for passenger accommodation requires.

"(5.) In street car service customarily a less commodious type of equipment is used, with much less power than in suburban electric service, the street car service demands upon the equipment being usually different on account of the frequency of stops in street car service as compared with suburban electric service, and the lack of necessity for the same maximum rate of speed in street car service as in suburban electric service.

"This is not a controlling distinction, however, as the type of car used sometimes varies with the maximum of the speed required and the distance to be traveled in the suburban electric service. Although suburban equipment may occasionally be temporarily used in street car service, such temporary use of suburban equipment would not change the character of the service from street car service to suburban electric service. On the other hand, the fact that an electric suburban equipment is run over the streets of a city does not necessarily make the service rendered by it a street car service.

"(6.) The fact that transfers may be given to or from a street car, to or from a suburban electric car or train, or steam train, operated by the same or a separate management, does not of itself change to a suburban service the character of the service rendered by the street car.

"(7.) The fact that cars furnishing street car service run on the same rails, or that they alternate or are intermingled with suburban, interurban or steam service, or any or all of the three last-named classes of service, does not change the character of the former service from street car service to suburban electric or other service; provided, that in the Alameda and Oakland Pier Electric service the service furnished by electric cars of any type, or by electric trains composed of cars of any type, that run into said piers or either of them, and by cars or trains that connect with said last-named cars or trains on schedule but do not stop at all, or nearly all, street intersections at will of passenger, but only at regular scheduled stations, for the particular train, is hereby determined to be suburban electric service as distinguished from street car service; and provided further, that, pending the completion of the over-head structure at Sixteenth street, Oakland, and the running of cars through from Fourteenth and Franklin streets, Oakland, to said Oakland pier, the service furnished by cars now operating exclusively between said Fourteenth and Franklin streets and Sixteenth street, is hereby determined to be suburban electric service as distinguished from street car service."

Final Act in Probate Proceedings Over Christian Science Leader's Estate in New Hampshire Court.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CONCORD (N. H.) Oct. 18.—The final act in the prolonged litigation over the will of the late Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy was the appointment by Judge Charles R. Corning in the County Court of Probate today of trustees to administer the $2,000,000 fund which Mrs. Eddy left for the promotion and extension of the doctrines of Christian Science as taught by her.

The trustees appointed are Archibald McLellan, Allison V. Stewart, John V. Dittemore, Adam Hickey and James A. Neal, who constitute the board of directors of the First Church of Christ Scientist in Boston, and Josiah E. Fernald of this city, a banker, who has been the practical custodian of Mrs. Eddy's estate since the establishment of this trust in 1907; the court thus choosing as trustees men in whom Mrs. Eddy during her life time reposed confidence.

These appointments by Judge Corning were made under a recent decision of the Supreme Court of New Hampshire which held that Mrs. Eddy's will established not a local but a world-wide general charitable trust to be administered under the general supervision of the courts of New Hampshire.

Railway Builder Is Shaken Up When an Express Runs Into a Passenger Train.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WINONA (Minn.) Oct. 18.—A north-bound express train on the Burlington road with James J. Hill in his private car at the rear, ran into a local south-bound passenger train at Nelson, Wis., today. Fireman Elliott of Desota, on the local, was instantly killed. Several other persons were slightly injured.

Mr. Hill was shaken up but not much hurt. The express engine telescoped the front end of the first express car on the express train.

Recluse Spinster Who Died in a Small Boarding-House Room Left Over a Million.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—A preliminary report on the estate of Miss Sarah Knight, a recluse spinster who died recently in a small boarding-house room here, indicates that she was possessed of more than $1,000,000 in stocks and real estate in this city. Her will divided the estate equally between her cousins Joseph C. McLoughlin and George McLoughlin of Sedalia, Mo., from which place she came to New York twenty years ago.

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—[By A. P. Day Wire.] James Wilson and Mrs. Emma Anderson were burned to death early this morning in a rooming-house fire.

YOU'RE BILIOUS AND CONSTIPATED! LIVER IS SLUGGISH—DIME A BOX

Furred tongue, Bad Taste, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and constipated bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret tonight will surely straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box will keep your head clear, stomach sweet, liver and bowels regular and make you feel cheerful and bully for months.

Don't forget your children—their little insides need a good, gentle, cleansing, too, occasionally.

NEW ENTERPRISE BY MOROSCO.

TO ENTER BOSTON, NEW YORK AND PHILADELPHIA.

Will Begin Building Theater at Once on Broadway, Where New Plays Will Be Produced, and Will Work in Conjunction With Klaw & Erlanger or Shuberts.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 18.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] With several organizations formed to give stock plays and even new productions on Broadway at $1, representatives of Oliver Morosco announced tonight that the Pacific Coast producer would soon begin building a new theater where the producing company would be installed along the lines of the Morosco company in Los Angeles, which has been successful for several years. A company to produce musical plays will also be installed.

Morosco has made several efforts to obtain a theater already built in the Broadway district, but the few which were obtainable did not meet his requirements and despite the number of new theaters, he has decided to construct another and his picked out two sites, one of which will be chosen. One is in the Times Square section, while the other is uptown in the sixties.

In addition, Morosco will enter the field in Boston and Philadelphia and will make his companies playing in the three houses interchangeable. The plans, as now arranged, call for new productions to run not less than two weeks nor more than four weeks in each house. Whenever a real hit is secured which could run longer, it will be moved to some other theater and afterwards sent on the road.

There will be no star at the head of the Morosco company in New York and no play will be featured or made to appear as a leader in the organization.

"The New York company," said a representative of the Morosco offices tonight, "will be of considerable size. It is Mr. Morosco's intention to allow an actor all necessary time for the development and perfection of an important role, hence a man or woman assigned to a difficult part will be given the fullest opportunity for study, reflection and rehearsal; the company, practically will be two companies, for the leading people of a comedy might be utterly unsuited for the characterizations of an ensuing serious drama."

Mr. Morosco expects to co-operate with either the Shuberts or Klaw & Erlanger as a demonstrator of promising new plays. Morosco's playhouse will be a magnification of the original "Little Theater" idea, so widened as to include all material of novelty and promise.

Theoretically Mr. Morosco believes that a resident musical company is the only solution of light melody drama and when the dramatic company is established he will propose a resident musical organization of similar caliber.

JAP DIPLOMAT WEDS.

Chancellor of Embassy at Washington Springs Surprise on His Associates.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 18.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] It was learned today that Tadanao Imai, chancellor of the Japanese Embassy at Washington, was married here yesterday to Miss Elizabeth Shields of Washington.

Mr. Imai was attached to the New York Consulate for several years before his elevation to the Embassy a year ago. At the Consulate, No. 60 Wall street, it was said today that Miss Shields was not known to the attaches. She was not known in diplomatic circles, according to Washington dispatches, nor at the address given in her marriage license application, No. 514 Eleventh street, Washington, which is a printing office.

"ROMANCE DEAD," GIRLS SAY.

Leland Stanford Graduates Sailing Round the World to Stir It up. Might Have Found It Here.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 18.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Muriel Whitney of San Francisco and Dorothy Martell of San Jose, Cal., who were graduated from Leland Stanford a year ago, sailed for South America today on the liner Metepan on a round-the-world hunt for romance.

The two girls, who are beautiful western types of womanhood, had thought of a tour of the romantic spots of Europe. Then Miss Whitney suggested a search for present-day romance the world over.

"Have you found any romance on the first 3000 miles of your trip?" the young women were asked.

"Not even the germ of romance," they sighed. "We are almost convinced that romance is dead."

However, Miss Martell said:

"Down in Southern California in that section once inhabited by the Spaniards, you can find real romance, the last there is, perhaps."

Years Added to Life

Success may be spelled in dollars and cents, but the physical ability to accomplish something worth while keeps the enthusiastic worker at his or her task when dollars no longer offer an incentive. As age advances, we find ourselves unable to do some of the things we did formerly, and the realization that we are growing old suddenly dawns upon us. But, everyone has the opportunity to forestall the ravages of advancing age, if he wills. Moreover, there are many degenerative maladies affecting the vital organs that are inaugurated by, or dependent upon, disturbances of the blood supply. The diseases affecting the heart, blood vessels, kidneys and other vital organs are on the increase among people of advancing years. In this age of preventive medicine, it fortunately happens that these maladies can be avoided if taken in time. Duffy's Pure Malt Whisky gives to the aged the vigor of youth and the power to sustain strength and energy. When taken at mealtime it stimulates the mucous surfaces and little glands of the stomach to a healthy action, thereby improving the digestion and assimilation of the food and giving to the body its full proportion of nourishment. Thousands of people in all walks of life have enthusiastically testified they owe their long life to the wonderful restorative and sustaining powers of Duffy's Pure Malt Whisky. It is a remedy you should not fail to try. Get it today. At most druggists, grocers and dealers, $1 a large bottle.—[Advertisement.

VOLTURNO STILL AFLOAT.

Woman Who Believed Her Three Children Had Been Left Behind Finds Them in New York.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—The ill-starred Volturno was still afloat and on fire on October 14, five days after fire broke out in her forward compartments, according to officers of the steamer St. Louis, which reached here today. The St. Louis passed five miles north of what was left of the Volturno late Tuesday afternoon. The burning vessel had drifted about fifty miles from the spot where she caught fire.

The arrival today of eleven women saved from the burning Volturno by the freighter Rappahannock was the signal for the wildest scene of joy and thanksgiving witnessed here since the rescuing fleet began to bring in their cargoes of survivors.

The women were transferred at Halifax from the Rappahannock to the liner Florizel, which docked in Brooklyn. Ten of them were young girls.

The eleventh was Mrs. Pela Polack and there was an affecting scene at the dock as she met her three children, whom she had given up for lost.

Mrs. Polack was the last woman to leave the Volturno. She was lowered into one of the Rappahannock's boats believing that her children already were there. When the boat put off and she found that the little ones were left behind she became hysterical and the boat's crew with difficulty kept her from jumping overboard. She remained in a hysterical condition during all the journey to New York. Here she learned that the children had been saved by one of the boats from the Kroonland. They met her at the dock with their father, an East Side merchant.

The ten girls were taken care of by the Jewish Immigrant Society.

Stately Old English Furniture

The material of which this Old English Furniture was constructed, was almost, without exception, good English Oak, than which few woods offer greater advantage to the Cabinet-maker from the beauty of its color and markings, its suitability for most domestic purposes, its strength and durability. Only the Barons and nobility were able to afford the luxury of fine furniture, and as these were constantly in battle and continually wore their heavy armour, it represents the temperament of those for whom it was made, and in endurance and solidity was typical of the people who lived in those ages. No trouble or expense was spared, the very best timber only was utilized, and the most expert carvers alone were employed. The Elizabethan period, to which our illustration takes us, is probably the most cherished in the whole of English history, with regard to architecture and all interior decoration. It was the period of harmony.

If you desire some really stately furniture for the Hall, Living-Room, Reception-Room or Dining-Room, you cannot do better than acquire some of these pieces, which exhale a sense of dignity and distinction that characterizes the home of the cultured.

You will find our magnificent collection of Fine Art and Antique Furniture particularly interesting and instructive. Reproductions, perfect in every detail, for the Hall, Living-Room, Dining-Room, Reception-Room, Boudoir, Den, and Bedroom, are displayed on our floors in great variety, including a really exceptional display of the stately Old English Oak Furniture, now so much in vogue.

GIRLS! LOTS OF BEAUTIFUL HAIR NO DANDRUFF—25 CENT DANDERINE

Hair coming out? If dry, thin, faded, bring back its color and lustre.

Within ten minutes after an application of Danderine you cannot find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable luster, softness and luxuriance.

Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all—you surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine.—[Advertisement.

Halted By Fire.

assembly halls and other buildings where the Mount Hermon sessions are held every year. The fire is now within two and a half miles of this resort and sweeping southward rapidly through dense brush, although 300 men are on the scene fighting like demons.

HOMES THREATENED.

Along the Eaton ridge in Zayante Gulch and on David J. Ryder's place, the fire is fiercest. Above the Ryder place is a place owned by San Francisco parties and in the care of J. Smith. This home was threatened and Smith moved out. The house above this is thought to be burned, but all communication is shut off. On these places there are valuable vineyards and orchards and hay land. Supervisor Ralph Mattison returned from the fire tonight and says the situation is desperate. He has sent out scores of men in automobiles all day. He reports Summer Home Farm, the new folk resort, safe up to this evening. The fire burned all around the resort but fire fighters saved the place. At the Chris Christenson place the fire jumped trails and burned itself out when it reached fields of grass where it was checked.

Every available man in the thriving agricultural district of Scotts valley has gone to the fire to prevent it entering their section on the north. Fire nearest Scott's valley is on the People's place and burning on the ridge back of Bean Creek. The fight is directed at this point and the valley will be saved if the fire is prevented from crossing the creek. Fire Warden Walter Welch was at this point most of the day. Deputy Ryder is directing men near Virginia.

Tonight the report came that the school at Eccles had been burned.

Happyland, where residence lots are owned by people all over the State, has been burned over.

BATTLE AT SAN JOSE.
FLAMES SWEEP CANYON.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN JOSE (Cal.) Oct 18.—The mountain fire which started in the Santa Cruz mountains a week ago, has spread into one of the worst conflagrations incident to the fires which have been burning for so many days in this region.

Train No. 62, which left San Francisco at 1:20 today for Santa Cruz, was held this evening at Wrights because of the impassable barrier of fire between Glenwood and Fulton, which has completely enveloped the tracks between these points. Train No. 70, which left San Francisco for Santa Cruz at 4:10 p.m., was held at Los Gatos where the passengers were given their dinner. Train 62 has been brought back from Wrights and the passengers of both trains have been routed by way of Watsonville Junction. Train 87, leaving Pacific Grove at 3:06, due in San Francisco at 9:50, has been sent by way of Watsonville and Gilroy.

All telegraph wires are down between Felton and Glenwood. A Southern Pacific train left here last evening carrying a large band of fire fighters and another left San Francisco this afternoon carrying over 100 men. Still another train left here this afternoon with a large body of men to battle with the fire. Great apprehension is felt among the mountaineers, no one knowing where the thing may end in the face of the present extremely dry weather.

The railroad company is placing all the available men from Watsonville to this city in the mountains on all sides to fight for control of the fire.

This afternoon fire broke out again on the twenty-seven mile drive at Castlerock, but it is thought it can readily be controlled at that point as the territory has been burned over. At 6:30 this evening a train with 300 men went through the Los Gatos bound for Eccles and Zayante and at 8:30 another trainload of 200 men went through. Forces are being mobilized tonight from the southern side from Santa Cruz. The fire is spreading rapidly toward Felton; and Mount Hermon, Ben Lomond and Boulder Creek are threatened. Urgent calls are coming in from Scott Valley. The ties are burning under the rails in the Zayante Canyon and all passenger travel has been abandoned by the railroad company. It is not thought the fire will now reach over the summit to the north where there are thick settlements. Back-firing on the Getchel place last night by a band of boys from the Montezuma School prevented the fire from getting over the ridge to the north.

And Why?

WHEN THE RED RIVER FLOWS ON MOUNTAINS.

Angeles Forest Supervisor Paying Last Bill of Sunland Conflagration, Says Cigarettes in Careless Hands Are Most Insidious Foe of the Timberlands—The Smoke Wraith and the Funeral Pyres.

BY BONNIE GLESSNER.

A THIN column of smoke, wraith-like, curls upward on the still air of early morning. Just a faint blue spiral, slender as a pencil, ascending skyward from a carpet of dry leaves at the edge of a mountain trail—a mute forerunner of an army of hungry flames that are to follow the first breath of wind.

A thrill runs through the fir trees that line the path as a puff of wind stirs them to whispering, for the breeze that precedes the dawn in the mountain wilds awakens to life the tiny smoke column and it swirls, dissolves, then emerges from the heap of dry leaves in greater volume.

Bright eyes peer from the ferns and underbrush, for the wild ones are astir early. Dozens of songsters voice a greeting to the sun who flings out crimson fingers to make way for the dawn. Another day is born.

A second puff of wind rustles the leaves and a tiny blaze leaps forth as if to meet the sun. It curls over the edge of a sear leaf and crackles joyously. Another darts forth, and in the space of a heartbeat a hundred of their fellows have run through the dry grass and spread fanlike into the dead ferns and weeds.

The merry snapping of the advancing flames still the sweet songs of the feathered choir, and sends the light-footed inhabitants of the wilderness scampering away, yet hours later, the poor, blackened little bodies of the forest children show how futile were their efforts to escape the mad dance of the fire demon.

Vistas of smoking tree trunks like funeral pyres, where but a few hours before the beautiful interlacing branches of giant firs made deep, cool shadows, tell of the havoc wrought by that tiny smoke column of the day's beginning.

Yet the real price for the fire dance is paid months later when the mountain springs that depend on the protecting water shed, deprived of their covering, cannot store their life-giving drops of water. The thirsty valley land below pays the cost of the carlessness of man.

Yesterday the supervisor of the Angeles National Forest paid the last bill of the Sunland fire, the conflagration that wiped out 3300 acres of choice watershed in the Big Tejunga last month, and required more than 450 men to subdue at a cost of $4000. The fire was caused by the carelessness of one man.

Carelessness in clearing land cost the Sunland district five square miles of watershed, the value of which cannot be estimated now, for it will require four or five years for the thick chaparral and brush to again form a covering for the mountain springs that feed the rivers, a protection such as was destroyed in a few days, when every resource of modern fire fighters was used to stem the mighty red river of flame.

And carelessness is the cause of the majority of forest fires, according to government officials. In the big record book of mountain fires this carelessness is listed under the head of "campers." According to Supervisor Charlton it does not mean the hunter, for he is usually a woodsman and knows the danger of forest fires. It is the city or townman who goes into the woods for a few days' outing, who causes most of the trouble. It is his thoughtlessness that costs the government many thousands of dollars.

To guard against the camper, the government last spring built twenty-five fireplaces in San Dimas Canyon for his use. Last summer these fireplaces were pronounced a success, so much so that people fought for possession of them. This winter several hundred more will be constructed and ready for the first campers next summer. These are built of rock and covered with sheet-iron so that if a fire is left burning it cannot be scattered.

IT'S A BIG PLACE.

The Angeles reserve includes the San Gabriel and San Bernardino ranges, an area of 1,125,000 acres. Because of the nearness to numerous large cities and the many beautiful mountain valleys and streams, more persons camp in the Angeles reserve than in all the others combined. It is estimated that over 200,000 went into this reserve during the past summer. There were only fifty fires in this section, and the work of the government fire wardens is highly creditable inasmuch as but one attained considerable size.

The government furnishes forty rangers, who patrol the reserve during the summer. Many municipalities and various water companies furnish a dozen additional men, but the territory is so great that every care has to be exercised to prevent disastrous fires.

This summer the Supervisors appointed fire agents near the reserve, whose duty was to organize fire fighting crews at a minute's warning to assist in subduing any fire in their districts. This proved a valuable step.

Uncle Sam's tenants who have built summer homes in the reserve have also given valuable assistance in the prevention of fires, acting as so many additional guards for the timber near their houses. The government leases the land for a home at $15 a year, and the lease is practically good for ninety-nine years.

The portable wire, the latest innovation in the forest telephone system, proved a marked success this summer. And until another summer you must wait for another generation. There are many disappointments, and Oh, rewards!"

My ear had followed the quiet, earnest voice, while my eyes had been ravished by the new forms and colors here. I had seen other fields of petunias grown by specialists. They too, had been astonishing, but it seemed to me that here a creative imagination had been at work with science and observation for its two hands.

A French plant-breeder who visited this field a few weeks ago, when he had noted every plant, every fresh indication, said: "Madame, in Europe we have nothing to offer to compete with this."

"Would you like me to tell you why? It is because you give this most delicate work to rough-handed laborers. One must have imagination, a sensitive understanding, a delicate hand and above all, love for these tender things. I think it is a woman's work."

VISITING DAY.

She had occasionally gathered a blossom, after tearing it open, and carrying it on, I watched her touch the pistil of each flower on some very different plant. She worked swiftly and surely, seeming to know every plant in the field. Many were marked and she made notes and gathered seed as we went.

"Your observations give you theories of color and habit and so forth, to work on?" I asked.

"Oh, I get my hunches," she smiled.

MANY THINGS TO DO.

Mrs. Francis called my attention to some of the minute variations the year's work had unfolded. "Now, I must wait and study through the winter," she said. It was seed-gathering time o' year.

"My little boy has grown among the petunias. It is the dearest thing to see him pollinate. He knows just how to do it."

And as we came back to the gardens—the petunia field is a mile away—and he ran to meet us, I saw the other side of this petunia specialist—the mother.

Theodosia Shepherd's gardens may not very long be found in the sunny square. Progress that feeds upon old beauties has reached the sleepy town of the bean farmers and the Shepherd gardens cover a coveted site. Hundreds in the last score of years have come to Ventura-by-the-Sea solely to visit them and their distinguished makers, and Mrs. Francis counts among her most valued friends Luther Burbank, who came one beautifully remembered day from Santa Rosa to see her flowers in the field.

Although she perpetuates her mother's memory with great love and admiration, seeing genius in her where she claims only hard work for herself, Mrs. Francis's own personality, her way of work, are quite as distinctive and inspiring. She will not seek to cover the wide field that was her mother's, the pioneer who showed to other women a new work and way of life; but she ranks with the group of scientific plant-breeders, one who brought to the work not only a native ability and training, but a special insight, patience, care of detail, courage and a prophetic imagination.

Many Gone This Year.

"MURDERERS WILL OUT" THE NEW PHILOSOPHY.

IF you take the word of the philosopher for it, "murder will out." News of the murder gets out, and so does the murderer.

So far this year the killers of eleven persons in Los Angeles have either escaped or are unknown. There were practically as many last year.

Chronologically, the victims are:

July 18—Joe Navarro and T. Flory, No. 1345 Willow street, stabbed to death by Louis Alvarez.

June 27—Charles E. Pendell, No. 1010 South Alvarado street, killed by unknown person or persons in his office in the Temple Block.

June 7—Hipolito Maldonado, No. 463 Jackson street, killed by Ambrosio Guerra.

June 6—Tom Klarick, found dead in an alley in San Pedro.

June 5—Juana, Perfecta and Neberto Sosa killed by Juan Soto.

May 1—Mike Welch, No. 107 Elmyra street, killed in brawl in saloon at No. 1455 North Main street.

April 6—Guadalupe Vega, No. 2359 East Seventh street, stabbed by unknown man.

March 15—Tom White, Japanese interpreter and detective, slain in alley at No. 541 North Hancock street.

Of all the killers, Juan Soto, known as "the Bad Mexican of Sonoratown," is the most wicked, his thirst for blood the most appalling. One evening San Fernando street was stretching itself into the shadows of a quiet night, just recovering from another slaying, when the mad Juan stepped into the street and cut to death his old sweetheart, Juana Sosa, her sister, and her brother.

Alarum and high clamor followed. Loads of detectives scurried about the Mexican settlements, shouting false clews, and declaring that capture would surely come in a few hours. And today the killer is still gone. By night or by broad daylight—preferably by night, for that seems a more reasonable excuse—he slipped out of the city, disguised, perhaps, in that Mexican cast of countenance and form that no one in the police department has been able yet to classify so distinctively that one Mexican differs from another in description.

Of the killers who have escaped, perhaps the most urgently-wanted are those who were unknown in the office of Charles E. Pendell, the wealthy diamond merchant and money lender, when his death came. All the horde of suppositions and theories that only murder can arouse have been pelted at this mystery without avail. Only surmise has been an agent in unraveling the crime. The detectives who took up the trail have given up all work except the constant vigil that every department maintains in such matters. The department admits failure. The killers were too shrewd for the men who are representing society. It was as brutal a killing as ever was known in the city, as merciless and horrible.

Out of all the articles in Pendell's office, out of wood and paper and metal, not a single fingerprint was obtained. Two officers were in control of that hunt—Sheriff Hammel and Capt. Flammer. Pendell was Hammel's friend and bondsman.

Another murder of importance was that of Tom White, admired by Chief of Police Sebastian and despised by the detectives. White, part oriental, had done remarkable detective work, and had become a terror among Japanese transgressors of the law. One night he was taken into an alley and shot to death. There was never even a clew.

And still the philosophers say "murder will out."

FOR EAST FI… …TREET.

Four-Story Brick Hotel to Be Erected by Local Capitalist on North-End Corner.

Among the building projects now taking definite form in the north end is that of Newton E. Cramer for the erection of a four-story brick hotel building at First and Los Angeles streets. Financial arrangements for the construction of the building have been completed and plans have been drawn by the Richards-Neustadt Construction Company. The structure will be 67x73 feet in size and will contain five storerooms on the ground floor, with seventy-two sleeping-rooms above. Both street fronts will be faced with pressed brick.

M. S. Yaeger & Co., are drawing plans for a three-story brick store and apartment building to be erected at Stephenson avenue and St. Louis street by L. T. Mayo. The lot is triangular in shape and the proposed building will contain five stores on the ground floor and forty rooms above.

NEW WAREHOUSE.

The architectural firm of Morgan, Walls, & Morgan, has been commissioned to prepare plans for a four-story brick warehouse to be erected at Molino and Palmetto streets by Barker Brothers. The structure will be of modern construction and arrangement and will replace the warehouse recently destroyed by fire.

COMPLETING PLANS.

Plans for a brick and frame church building to be erected by the Bethel German Methodist Episcopal congregation at Thirty-ninth and Trinity streets are being completed by Frank M. Tyler of this city. The proposed church will cost $12,000, and will contain an auditorium, Sunday-school rooms and library. It will be 58x62 feet in dimensions.

CONSPIRACY ALLEGED.

BAKERSFIELD, Oct. 18.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Alleging that the defendants have obtained by conspiracy possession of the east half of section 6, 11-23, operated by the West Virginia Oil Company, now defunct, and seeking to have a receiver for it appointed, John Shrader of Chester, W. Va., brought suit in the Superior Court today against G. A. Lathrop, T. J. Green, T. B. Fredenthal, [illegible] (as trustee of the company,) D. L. Peters, J. T. Brady, Mary [illegible] and others. In his petition, Shrader sets forth that he guaranteed for the company the payments of indebtedness and promissory notes, aggregating more than $30,000, upon which he desires to recover.

3 Big Specials 3

Tho' our new store is an entirely modern emporium for men's wear, and the latest in every wanted style and garment is here in profusion — when we moved from our old location we brought some broken lines of suits that we must now dispose of to make place for our regular winter stocks. To clear these stocks quickly we are going to take a big mark-down in price, and offer three big specials for this week:

Men's $30 and $35 Suits
at $17.50

Just half price for one hundred suits, medium and heavy weights, that can be worn all winter. Mostly dark colors, choice patterns, and the best of tailoring. All sizes in the lot. Positively formerly sold at $30 and $35.

at $12.50

About 85 suits in the lot; what are left from our summer's selling. Just the weight for now and can be laid away for next season—for the sale price is only half, and less, their value. All sizes in the lot. Mostly light colors.

Men's $3.50 and $5.00 Hats
at $2.15

A clean-up of all broken lines of black and colored soft hats and black stiff hats, left from our summer and early fall trade. This is the biggest hat bargain of the season.

Put Your Case Up to Me

Honest, conscientious and skillful treatment is what you will have to have sooner or later, and the sooner you get it the sooner you save time, worry, money and disappointment.

PILES, FISTULA AND VARICOSE VEINS CURED IN ONE TREATMENT.

I have yet to see the case I cannot cure in one treatment. It may seem strange to you that I am able to cure these cases in one treatment. To the man who has been calling on his doctor for weeks and months and has not been cured I make a special appeal to lose no time in calling on me. I cheerfully explain my painless method of curing Piles, Fistula and Varicose Veins. It is so simple, so positive, so easily demonstrated, that you will be fully convinced that I will permanently cure you. Just think what it means to you. You save time and worry. Just one treatment and a permanent cure is effected. It is the greatest thing in the world.

Constipation

The clogging up of the bowels is the beginning; then comes depression, and indisposition to do anything; headache, backache and all other aches. Drug store remedies may give temporary relief; but why take medicine all your life just to get relief when my treatment cures constipation? Neglect gives birth to Piles, Fistula and many other diseases. My treatment is a blessing to suffering mankind.

Kidney and Bladder Diseases

The functions of these organs are most important, and their derangement is fraught with disastrous consequences. If you have reason to doubt or suspect that your kidneys or bladder are deranged, get the benefit of a searching examination at once. Too often these examinations are superficial, but when a patient comes to me I make a thorough chemical and microscopical test, to lay the basis for scientific treatment.

Hernia

Hernia or Rupture. This is a condition which does not permit neglect. You cannot afford to experiment, and yet you will unless you choose the right specialist. Neglect may cause strangulation (closing up of the opening.) If this occurs immediate surgical attention is absolutely necessary.

My treatment for hernia cures nine cases out of ten in comparatively short time. No fraud, no humbug, no pain. Investigate.

A Word of Advice

Before beginning treatment ask the doctor to show you the proofs of his ability.

Depend upon it, if my cures were not quick and lasting, if my methods were not open and aboveboard, and if I did not make it easy for every deserving afflicted man to get the benefit of my services, I certainly could NOT practice, as I do, year in and year out. Remember, I have practiced in Los Angeles for ten consecutive years. I am a TRUE SPECIALIST and treat only the diseases mentioned below.

VARICOSE VEINS, HERNIA, KIDNEY, BLADDER AND BLOOD TROUBLES, PILES, FISTULA, PROLAPSUS, FISSURES, ULCERATIONS and ALL CONDITIONS OF THE RECTUM AND BOWELS, SKIN and NERVOUS DISEASES.

Free Consultation and Advice

I will make a Careful Examination and Diagnosis without charge. Ailing persons should not neglect this opportunity to get expert opinion about their trouble. You are welcome, whether you take treatment or not. Write if unable to call. Hours, 9 to 4, 7 to 8; Sundays, 9 to 12.

Trying to Hog It.

UGLY DRAGON'S HEAD RAPPED AS IT REARS.

Slimy Earl Monster Not Yet Able to Invade Councilmanic Chambers—Faithful Stand Guard to Give the Voters a Fair Chance on the Power Bonds — Frantic Efforts to Bring Back Reed to Bolster Up Scheme.

AMONG those who keep track of the progress of municipal affairs at the City Hall, a subject of much interest is the probable action tomorrow on the power bonds. Upon the doubtful return of Councilman Reed from Coachella Valley, where he has been on a sixty-days' sick leave, will depend whether any action at all can be taken tomorrow.

The Council is in a position where the wheels are locked on any proposal to adopt a resolution of necessity for the power-bond issues that carries with it the proposal to combine in one issue for presentation to the people the two items: One for $1,250,000 for the completion of power plant No. 1, and the other $5,250,000 for the construction or acquirement of a distributing system within the city.

Six votes would be necessary to adopt the resolution that has already been presented, but upon which approval was defeated by the demand of Councilman Conwell that American citizens be given the right of a free ballot. Five members of the City Council last week showed their willingness to follow the programme of Earl and his followers, and adopt the resolution that would practically disfranchise a considerable number of the voters of Los Angeles. Conwell stood alone on the floor of the Council and demanded that the propositions be submitted separately, so that a true expression of the sentiment of the people might be reached.

THE SAFETY VALVE.

Conwell's refusal to vote for the combined proposition defeated its passage and it was sent back to the Public Service Committee, which is composed of Councilmen Betkouski, McKenzie and Conwell. McKenzie is in the East and will not return for two weeks. Betkouski is in favor of combining the propositions. Conwell will stand pat on his contention that the two items be submitted separately to the voters.

Yesterday Betkouski and Wheeler sent a telegram to Councilman Reed at Coachella, urging him to return so that he may appear in the Council session tomorrow morning, in which case the resolution will be recalled from the committee and another attempt be made to secure its adoption.

Councilman Langdon, who is also in Coachella Valley, is due to be back in the Council session tomorrow. He will stand with Conwell on demanding that two issues be presented instead of one.

In case Reed should not return, there will be maintained a situation wherein no legislation on the resolution can be effected. About the only move that could be made would be the filing of two reports by the two members of the Public Service Committee—Betkouski's being in favor of the combined proposition and Conwell's being against it.

In Council session during the past week, Councilman Conwell clearly pointed out the fact that there is a division of sentiment among the voters as to the advisability of the city undertaking to acquire a distribution system at this time, and that presenting the two items as one would deny to the people the right to express themselves on this question. He declared that this is un-American and he would never consent to it.

YESTERDAY'S SESSION.

At yesterday's session of the Council, Conwell said that although he had been informed that the Chamber of Commerce has presented resolutions asking that the two propositions be submitted separately to the voters, he had no recollection of ever having heard these resolutions read, and asked for their reading.

Clerk Carroll stated that these resolutions were presented and read on September 4. He produced them and read them yesterday and immediately thereafter Secretary Wiggins of the Chamber of Commerce spoke in behalf of presenting the two issues separately.

The Council now has fairly before it the expressed sentiment of two of the civic organizations of the city—the Chamber of Commerce and the Municipal League—each of which demands that separate propositions be presented to the people.

In the face of this and the appealing arguments advanced by Councilman Conwell, five of the Councilmen have been inclined to meekly swallow the Earl programme and ignore the fact that there is serious opposition on the part of many people to the city undertaking at this time to secure its own distributing plant—such opposition being based on the business grounds that notwithstanding the growth in assessed valuations the tax rate has increased, and that while the city should complete the plant so that it may produce power, there are various alternatives possible to secure the use of this power for the present and at once reap an income for the city, without piling up another $5,250,000 of bonded indebtedness for the project, when other uses for the bonding capacity of the city are sure to demand attention.

VOTERS RESENT IT.

That these voters will resent being deprived of their right to express themselves on the separate bond issue is a certainty. Should the Council insist upon submitting a combined proposition, it will undoubtedly bring down upon the measure a storm of protest at the polls that will result in its defeat, as a two-thirds majority of the vote cast is necessary to carry the issue.

More than a third of the vote cast at the last bond election when a combined proposition was put before the people was against the measure. In the face of a well-voiced demand now for two separate issues, it is apparent that a new combination would go down to defeat.

That voters would be forced to assent to both items if they are combined at the polls is fallacious, as the average voter is well aware that were the combined issue defeated, work at the power plant, would have to be shut down and the Council would have to submit as soon as possible another plan to complete the work. The extra cost of such an election would not be counted strongly as against the creation of a $5,250,000 indebtedness were the combined issue to carry.

CITIZENS' PETITION.

In addition to the demands of the Chamber of Commerce and the Municipal League for separate issues, a request signed by more than 100 of the leading business firms of Los Angeles has been sent to the Mayor, asking for a segregation of the issues.

The communication to the Mayor and the list of signers, follows:

We, the undersigned merchants, business men and large taxpayers of the City of Los Angeles, having the best interests of the city of Los Angeles at heart, desire to respectively draw your attention to a matter regarding the Proposed power bond election, and to make a request in connection therewith:

At the bond election held April 15, 1913, when there was a total of $17,600,000 bonds voted upon, one of the items was for $6,500,000 of power bonds, which the majority of the voters understood were for the installation of an electric distributing system in the city of Los Angeles. The fact that $750,000 of this sum was asked for the completion of the power plant was not made clear and understood by the public.

The original amount voted by the taxpayers for the installation of a power plant was $3,500,000 and at the bond election, which it is now proposed to hold November 15, 1913, it appears that the sum of $1,250,000, or an addition of approximately one-third of the original amount asked for this work, is to be voted uon, but as the proposal now stands, it is included in a total of $6,500,000, the additional $5,250,000 being for a distributing system.

We are of the opinion that the power plant should be completed at the earliest possible date, and that no risks should be taken of further delay in this matter. For this reason we urge that the amount of money asked for the completion of the power plant, $1,250,000, should be segregated from the amount asked for the electric distributing system, $5,250,000, so that the voters may have the opportunity of expressing their opinion on each one of these items.

There are two particular reasons why it is probable that if both issues were combined in one vote, they will be defeated. The first is, the money markets are tied up at the present, and the attempted sale of additional securities by the city at this time may not be considered feasible and desirable. The second reason is, that notwithstanding the material increase in the assessed valuation of city property, the tax rate has advanced from $1.54 to $1.60.

This election will demand the earnest consideration of the taxpayers of Los Angeles and we believe that they should have a chance to vote on bonds asked for the completion of the power plant, without being forced at the same time to vote on bonds for the installation of an electric distributing system. If both issues are combined, it is probable that both will be defeated, whereas if they are segregated, we believe that the amount of money required for the completion of the plant will probably be carried out.

The granting of our request in this matter cannot in any way hurt the best interests of the city, whereas, on the other hand, we feel confident that it is the safest plan to follow and will probably expedite the delivery of aqueduct power for the use of the city and its inhabitants.

We ask that your Honor consider seriously the appointment of an unbiased absolutely non-political committee to investigate fully and report to your Honor in regard to the condition existing in the Aqueduct Power Bureau.

Conveying an idea of the pi[illegible] be shown.

A unique exhibition of child-life pictures is being prepared by the Los Angeles Public Library for the week of October 27-November 1, inclusive. As far as the library authorities are aware they state, it is the first thing of its kind ever held in this part of the country, and perhaps in the United States.

Photographers are busy making special studies and enlargements, artists in oil and water colors are selecting their best work, amateurs are making last efforts to catch with the camera those fleeting moments which show the innocence, the beauty and the genius of childhood. Last, but not least, hundreds of fathers and mothers are looking through their homes for the photographs which they think are worthy of exhibit.

The display is open to all, without charge and without restrictions. There is no contest and no prizes will be awarded. Pictures are invited from anyone. It is not mere portraits that are desired, but the pictures which show the child in his unconscious play and work. The children whose pictures are shown should be between 3 and 14 years old.

The purpose of the library in holding this exhibit is to emphasize the idea of the child developed in mind, body and character, and to show the part which books may play in the complete development. Beside the pictures the library will show a collection of books on the care and training of children, and distribute lists of these books. There will also be an attractive exhibit of "A child's own library," carefully selected and arranged in harmony with the child's mental progress. Many of the books are handsomely illustrated by leading American and English artists.

The plan of the exhibit [illegible] gested to the library authori[illegible] Jesse H. Buffum, an expert [illegible] study. Pomona Man Tries Trick on Upland Officer and Loses Considerable Money by the Experiment.

UPLAND, Oct. 18.—Motor Officer Hall of this city, apprehended Ray Johnson of Pomona, while the latter was exceeding the speed limit, passing through Upland, several days ago. Young Johnson gave a fictitious name, and claimed he resided in Azusa. He promised to put in an appearance, but when the time came he failed to do so. Officer Hall went to Azusa and made inquiries, finally discovering that the man he wanted resided in Pomona. He was apprehended in the latter city and was brought before Justice Crane, where he admitted he had given the wrong name, on the first arrest. Judge Crane promptly imposed a fine of $50, instead of the usual "five-spot," and Johnson did some tall hustling before he finally raised the necessary "pesos" to secure his freedom.

The National Leather Company has leased the tannery of the former Bren Tannery and Shoe Manufacturing Company in this city for a period of two years, and will begin operations as soon as the plant can be placed in working order. Some fifteen men are to be employed at the start, and a specialty is to be made of tanning sheep pelts. This new industry is a result of the efforts of John D. Howe, of the firm of Stowe & Howe, local realty dealers. E. H. Seaver, an acquaintance of Mr. Howe, recently from the East, made known to Howe that he wished to engage in the tanning business. Messrs. Seaver, E. B. Burr and Arthur McFarland are the members of the firm to conduct the new industry.

Members of the First Methodist Church, this city, with a host of other friends of the popular pastor, S. S. Sampson and his wife, held a reception in honor of the return of the pastor to this field for another year of work.

Important action has been taken by the City Trustees looking to the improvement of Twelfth street, from Euclid avenue east to the city limits. City Engineer Froehde has been ordered to make the necessary preliminary arrangements and to make the specifications comply with those of the State highway.

Manager Tuttle of the Ontario and Upland Telephone Company, appeared before the City Trustees to discuss the threatened radical raise in rates of that company for its service in certain zones in the outlying limits of the city. Mr. Tuttle stated that a mistake had previously been made and that the high rates were not sought to be applied; that his company only wanted to secure a fair and equitable return for their outlay in maintaining as good a service as possible.

The Board of Trustees of Chaffey Union High School, the joint educational institution of this city and Ontario, with the co-operation of the Chambers of Commerce in both cities, plans to bring to this colony a series of five especially good musical entertainments, during the coming winter. The series of five attractions, if attended on season tickets will be had for $1, and some of the numbers are among the higher class city entertainments. It will be perhaps the finest series ever attempted locally, and people are rallying to the support of the project.

COVINA BRIEFS.

COVINA, Oct. 18.—Dr. H. J. Webber, the chosen head of the new citrus and walnut experimental station that will soon be established in Southern California by the University of California, was the speaker this afternoon before the members of the Covina Valley Farmers' Club and citizens of the valley, at the ranch of C. C. Kohlmeier, known as "Mountainview." A big crowd of people gathered beneath the date palms in front of the residence. Dr. Webber spoke on the plans and work for the new station, going into the subject exhaustively, as he has in many other localities during the last six months. He gave Covina a very valuable compliment on the appearance of the groves. Dr. Webber's first speech was made in Covina, just after the disastrous freeze of last January. Prominent growers took the professor for a drive through the district.

Dirt is flying on the old Puente road, which is to be macadamized from Cypress avenue in Irwindale to Puente on the south. This is the main lateral between Covina and Puente, and drivers of heavy loads are advised to keep on the Covina boulevard to Bassett, thence to Puente.

The case of the Baldwin Park Chamber of Commerce vs. the Domestic Water Company, S. M. Walker, owner, was threshed out before Commissioner Gordon of the State Railroad Commission yesterday. The session lasted until far into the night. The main question involved concerned that of the furnishing of water-meters and other equipment, and as to whether the consumer should pay, or be furnished equipment free. The case was taken under advisement.

BOYS MEET CITY'S NEED.

Lack of Funds Prevents Pasadena School Board From Making Needed Improvements—Cow Purchased.

PASADENA, Oct. 18.—Because the Pasadena Board of Education is in financial straits and cannot afford to make numerous improvements at the new Polytechnic High School buildings, corner of East Colorado street and Marion avenue, the boys and girls of the school have undertaken the jobs. Yesterday afternoon five minutes after school was dismissed about a third of the student body were busy on the grounds.

Under the direction of A. E. Smothers, professor of mathematics, several of the boys set to work with transit and rod to survey the grounds in front of the school buildings where a sunken garden is to be arranged. About a dozen girls planted as many trees and vines by the side of the buildings and another squad of boys, armed with hammer and saw, put the finishing touches on the first section of the bleachers that are being erected for the football games of the winter.

The youthful surveyors are W. P. Durland, N. C. Skinner and Walter Unruh.

Another attraction yesterday was the High School cow, the first cow the school has ever had, which arrived from the pasture. She will be milked and cared for this winter by the 120 pupils of the dairy class, of which thirty are girls.

W. S. Kienholtz, who has charge of the work, has been several weeks trying to find a suitable cow, and though he says the one he has obtained is a fine milker, she is so wild that not a student of the class could get near her. Several essayed to pet her and were charged for the pains and barely escaped her horns by crawling between the rails of the corral fence.

Both the dairy building, barn and corral and the agricultural and horticultural buildings were erected by the High School boys during the summer vacation.

ADVERTISING THE AFFAIR.

Pomona Business Men Send Out Big Delegation in Auto Trucks to Invite Neighboring Towns.

POMONA, Oct. 18.—Automobile trucks carrying the members of the committees for the Pomona Valley Day celebration, which will occur here on Thursday, and the band left here early this morning and these boosters have been visiting the valley towns all day arousing enthusiasm for the celebration and advertising the event.

An imposing school children's parade has been finally arranged. In the forenoon the 2600 scholars of the local schools will parade, after which there will be athletics competed in by five teams from the different schools and in the afternoon there will be a parade of school children from San Dimas, Lordsburg, Chino, Upland, Claremont and Ontario. There will be trophy cups awarded as prizes for the schools making the best showings.

The general committee met again last night to complete further arrangements for the celebration. Because of the courtesy shown Pomona by the outside towns in the latter's closing their schools for the celebration, special effort will be put forth to give the visiting pupils an especially good time. Special rates have been granted by the railroads and there will be numerous free attractions, with three bands and a torchlight parade of "horribles" scheduled for the evening.

NEWS BRIEFS.

H. E. Schwichtenberg of this city has been appointed State manager for Southern California of the Brotherhood of American Yeomen with which organization he has been connected for some years. He has been State foreman of the order for some time and now succeeds H. A. Miller. Mr. Schwichtenberg will have the supervision of forty-five homesteads on his district which includes Fresno county and all territory in the State south of that county.

THREE CITIES WILL COMBINE.

South Pasadena, Alhambra and Pasadena Will Send Delegates to Meeting to Discuss Sewer Plans.

SOUTH PASADENA, Oct. 18.—One member from each of the three city governing bodies involved and the City Attorney of each city, will form a commission which will go into the plan to have a joint outfall sewer system for Pasadena, South Pasadena and Alhambra and report. Commissioner T. D. Allen will represent the Pasadena board on the commission, Trustee H. Hawgood will represent the South Pasadena trustees, and Trustee G. W. Cameron will be the Alhambra board's member. The City Attorneys on the commission will be John Munger for Pasadena, W. J. Carr for South Pasadena and Alfred Barstow for Alhambra.

This action followed protracted conferences during the week attended by the Alhambra and South Pasadena Board of Trustees, the Pasadena Board, the three City Attorneys, and C. D. Crouch who outlined in detail his plan for reducing and using the sewage of the three cities.

Crouch stated that he has ample financial backing to insure his fulfilling every pledge made the cities. He stated that his plan is to place a reduction works at a point near the Whittier "narrows" which would be mutually satisfactory and to give to the cities a binding bond guaranteeing to them that he would fulfill both his obligation and defend them from any action which may be brought against them on the grounds that the plant is a nuisance. He claims to be able to build a reduction works which will give him water which can be used for irrigation purposes and he proposes to reclaim a large acreage in La Habra Valley. He also states that his water will be inoffensive in every way after going through the reduction works. The remaining sludge he proposes to convert into fertilizer in commercial quantities.

The plan is to have the three cities combine in one outfall sewer to run from the city farm to the Whittier "narrows." Pasadena would extend its outfall from the south end of the farm, where it now stops, to connect with the new line and both Alhambra and South Pasadena would then build their systems to it. The outfall from the farm to the "narrows" would then be paid for in proportion to the amount used by each city. It would deliver the sewage to the reduction works without cost to Crouch and his backers, their contract merely being to care for it without cost to the three cities, the saving being due to the fact that the cities would not have to run the line all the way to tidewater.

Rev. E. H. Emett, director of spiritual work at the Los Angeles Young Men's Christian Association, will occupy the pulpit of the Memorial Baptist church Sunday morning and evening. At the evening service, A. L. Miller, soloist and harpist, for three years with Evangelist Dr. J. Wilbur Chapman, and now engaged with the Los Angeles Y.M.C.A., will sing and accompany himself on the harp. The church at a recent business session, voted to accept the proposition of Rev. E. D. Weber, of Nova Scotia, to become the temporary pastor for a period of six months, his services to commence November 1, if possible, if not, then November 15.

The evangelistic meetings now in progress at the Christian church, held in a commodious tent, are attracting many people. Messrs. Chubb and Hawkins, evangelists, are assisting the pastor, Rev. Booker Smith, in the campaign. Each night the stereopticon is used. Sunday is expected to be one of the big days, Rev. Chubb speaking both morning and evening, assisted by the singing of Rev. Hawkins. A male quartette will be an additional feature.

WATTS BRIEFS.

WATTS, Oct. 18.—Taxpayers here have been receiving their statements of taxes from the County Tax Collector, and they find their taxes to be less than in previous years. Up until year before last the city did its own assessing and tax collecting, but since then this work has been done through the county offices. When the city did its own assessing, valuations were screwed away up, so that in many cases the assessment was greater than the price of the property. Since the county took over this work a new basis was employed, so that now the city taxes are collected on the same valuations as the county and State taxes. While the tax rate appears to be higher, the valuations are lower, and more than that, the actual taxes paid by property owners are less.

A few days ago Miss Angie McLaughlin went to a dentist in Los Angeles for some work on her teeth, and shortly after she had left his offices, blood poisoning set in, and last evening she died as a result. There is talk of suing the dentist for damages, but at present he cannot be located. It is reported that a physician took charge of the case upon the arrival of the young lady at her home, and since that the dentist has disclaimed all responsibility in the matter. Miss McLaughlin was 19 years old.

MAY RECHRISTEN COLLEGE.

Lordsburg School Officials Contemplate a Change to "Palmera" Following a Petition from Students.

LORDSBURG, Oct. 18.—Whether the name of Lordsburg College shall be changed to "Palmera" or not will be determined by the annual conference of the Church of the Brethren of Southern California and Arizona, to be held at Santa Ana next Wednesday, October 22. The students of the school petitioned for the change some months ago and the faculty went as far in the matter as it had authority. The conference is expected to approve the change, but there will no doubt be a spirited contest over it.

Lordsburg College was founded in 1891 by David and Henry Kuns, Daniel Houser and Samuel Overholtzer, who bought for this purpose a beautiful new hotel building which had been erected at a cost of $80,000 just before the busting of the early-day "boom." With the building was purchased several acres of land which are now in the heart of the city. Seven years later this property was deeded to the Church of the Brethren. I. W. Lord of Los Angeles, founder of Lordsburg and one of the original owners of the college property, charges that it will constitute bad faith on the part of the college should the name be changed, because, he says, the property was sold for college purposes at a great reduction in price in consideration of the advertising which the name of the college would give the town.

Until last year the work done by the school was of a secondary nature, but last year the faculty was strengthened and a full college course added to the curriculum. Being the only Brethren school on the Coast, it is growing steadily with the growth of the denomination. A new college building with larger and better accommodations will be required in a short time, and the conference next week will probably be asked to start a campaign for funds.

SOCIALISTS CHANGE PLAN.

Decide Not to Enter Mayoralty Candidate at Riverside and the Politicians Are Puzzled.

RIVERSIDE, Oct. 18. — Although petitions had been prepared by the Socialists for the nomination of L. H. Edmiston for Mayor, the local has decided not to enter the campaign for the November election, having received advices from headquarters that no rights in the matter of future representation would be lost by such action.

It is not known just what motive the Socialists, whose candidate polled fully 30 per cent. of the votes cast for Mayor two years ago, have in taking this attitude. Some of the leaders are reported to have said that inasmuch as a certain candidate was placed in the field against them last year, they proposed to palm that same candidate off on the public this year, insuring his election by their added votes.

The decision of the Socialists leaves the Mayoralty contest, so far as is known, to Councilman Bradford Morse and former Councilman Oscar Ford, with the possibility of a third candidate filing a petition within the next few days.

TO PROD AMBITION.

Activity along certain lines of endeavor in the Boys' Polytechnic High School is expected to be materially stimulated by the presentation of three handsome cups by local merchants, committees from the several classes to decide what use they will make of the trophies. The donors are C. E. Pennington, Charles G. Rouse, G. W. Crowell and W. L. Fry, the two last named combining on one cup. The cups will probably be awarded for debating, athletics and for the best individual athlete, respectively, in the current school year.

HORSE THIEF SENTENCED.

Two years in San Quentin was the sentence meted to Joe Dane, a Hungarian convicted of horse-stealing, when brought before Judge Densmore today. Dane pleaded guilty to taking a horse and buggy at Highgrove and driving the same to San Bernardino.

BEETS AND CHILI PEPPERS.

Garden Grove District Is Coming into Fame for Its Large Shipments of These Vegetables.

GARDEN GROVE, Oct. 18.—Walker Bros. have a 5000-ton crop of sugar beets from their 300-acre tract. Nearly all of these are shipped. Robert Hazzard is putting out 1000 tons from 100 acres. There are in all about 5000 acres of beets in this territory which are shipped out to various factories in the county. The harvest is well along although beets will go out from some late fields up nearly to December.

There are over 700 acres of chili peppers to be harvested from this section, which grows more peppers than any other section in the United States, according to the reports. The average yield of green peppers is about ten tons to the acre, and these are bringing about $18 per ton. The dried product, of about a ton to the acre, brings 10 cents per pound. This is proving to be the best year on record. The demand for some convenient and quick method of drying the peppers has resulted in the erection of a drying plant at a cost of $7000, near the Pacific Electric station here. The work is being pushed so as to handle a large part of the crop. The gross valuation of the crop for the season is close to $150,000.

NEWS BRIEFS.

The local Socialists have been testing the new law, which makes every public schoolhouse a civic center and permits the use of the building for political purposes, etc. They demanded the use of the school building here. After the matter was passed upon by competent legal authority the Trustees concluded that they had no right to refuse and, hence, next Tuesday night the Socialists will hold a meeting for "rejoicing" in the auditorium of the school building.

E. G. Ware is in receipt of a check for $425, which is the net profits from twenty-five orange trees grown on a single quarter of an acre. In nine years these trees, which are now fourteen years old, have produced a net profit of $2100. This section is rapidly coming to the front in its record for orange and lemon products.

CORCORAN BRIEFS.

CORCORAN, Oct. 18.—Ten thousand dollars was realized yesterday from the sale of dairy stock at one of the largest auctions ever held in Kings county. The sale was held at the Johnson Bros.'s ranch, three miles south of Corcoran, and 130 head of cattle were disposed of, the prices paid being most satisfactory. One dairy cow brought $140, the highest price for any single animal.

Earl Goodwin has begun the erection of a five-room bungalow on a lot recently purchased from F. N. Arnoldy of Los Angeles.

San Bernardino.

MATRIMONIAL MISTAKES MADE.

Fourteen Incidents in San Bernardino Court.

County Sunday-School Convention Selects Officers.

Epidemic of Robberies Puzzles Gate City Police.

SAN BERNARDINO, Oct. 18.—Matrimonial mistakes as evidenced by divorce cases will be the foremost attraction in the local courts Monday. No less than fourteen cases will be up for hearing, ten of them being on the default calendar. Foremost of these is Dr. C. D. Dickey against Mrs. Julia Dickey of Los Angeles. The latter filed a case in the Los Angeles courts, but was refused a decree by Judge Monroe because the desertion charge was not proven. Dr. Dickey then filed an action in the local courts and the wife has defaulted.

Among the cases set for trial are Maude E. Isch vs. Frederick W. Isch, the latter being a well-known local hotel man There may be some sensational evidence in this case. Likewise in the case of Mrs. Matila Loeb Evans vs. Evan G. Evans, for many years prominent residents of Highland. The case of James Slipper against Nellie Slipper will also come up for hearing. Slipper is a local theatrical man and his wife recently left here under somewhat sensational circumstances. She is said to be living in Los Angeles and it is said expects to put up a hot fight.

SUNDAY - SCHOL CONVENTION.

The county Sunday-school convention, in session the past three days, elected officers for the coming year as follows: President, C. E. Tibbott of Rialto; vice-president, A. W. Swisher of San Bernardino; secretary and treasurer, Rev. O. C. Laisure of Chino; department superintendents, Mrs. D. F. Maynard of Redlands, Mrs. Morrell of Highland, Mrs. L. J. Williams of Upland, Mrs. Devilla Robinson of Colton, Judge Pollock of Ontario, John Whitson of Ontario, Mrs. Oakes of Grand Terrace and Rev. W. J. Lee of San Bernardino.

The epidemic of robberies which has prevailed in the city recently, took a fresh start when the home of F. H. Magoffin was rifled by burglars last night while the family was attending a banquet. A small sum of money, several diamond pins and other jewelry were taken, the entire house being thoroughly ransacked in the search for valuables.

Ray Martinez of Los Angeles was also last night the victim of a hold-up at second and D streets. He was clubbed to unconsciousness by his assailants who relieved him of a watch and $28 in cash. He is in the County Hospital recovering from his injuries.

BITTER FIGHT.

Despite the activity and effort of Mayor J. W. Catick to secure the passage of the new ordinance permitting the use of dice and other games by the cigar dealers and others for merchandise, it is said the Council will refuse to pass the ordinance which has been initiated by the cigar men, and will force the holding of a referendum election on the question. Games of this character have been barred from the city for eight years and a bitter fight is in prospect over the question, no matter what steps are taken. The liberal element assert they were promised that the bars would be dropped if they gave Catick and his Council candidates their support in the recent elections.

The rifles and field equipment for Co. K, N.G.C., have arrived and the tents, clothing, etc., will be here the coming week. The equipment is to replace that destroyed in the recent city pavilion fire. The company is also about ready to occupy the new armory which is being specially fitted up for the use of the company.

The annual shoot of the third battalion of the Seventh Regiment, the companies in San Bernardino, Redlands, Riverside and Pomona, will be held on the Redlands range December 10. The local company this year expects to qualify an unusually large number of marksmen.

NEWS BRIEFS.

Frank Gerrity, who is a victim of alcoholic insanity, is in the County Hospital after attempting to cut all the lawns in Rialto. He suddenly appeared in the little town and announced that he desired to mow everybody's lawn. He started out on the job and became so persistent that his sanity was questioned. He will probably be committed to Patton.

R. L. Dalzell, the Highland auto man who decamped, leaving bad bills and bad checks totalling about $2000 behind him, has been traced as far as Needles, where he was over a week ago, passing through there with his auto. From there all trace of him has been lost.

NEW DIRECTORS CHOSEN.

Ontario Chamber of Commerce Selects Several Old Ones and a Few New Ones.

ONTARIO, Oct. 18.—With the completion of the balloting counting this morning, Assistant Secretary T. C. Vermilye announced that the following had been elected directors of the Ontario Chamber of Commerce for the year beginning November 1:

H. S. Abbott, C. Crombie Allen, J. S. Armstrong, Willard D. Ball, C. E. Christensen, J. B. Draper, T. J. English, Charles Frankish, J. B. Harvey, J. S. Ingalls, George McCrea, P. W. Nichols, E. A. Parkford, E. H. Richardson, H. I. Ross, H. M. Shattuck, Glenn D. Smith, H. E. Swan and C. C. Whyte.

The majority of those chosen are re-elected although there are a goodly number of new ones. The annual meeting of members of the chamber will be held Monday evening, October 27, when the directors will organize.

PRIMITIVE METHOD.

Fifteen-year-old Herbert McCulloch is under arrest and A. Rodriguys is in the hospital suffering from wounds said to have been inflicted with a pruning knife as the result of a fight said to have originated over a pretty little Mexican girl, Rodriguys's sister.

McCulloch declares that he was struck over the head by Rodriguys and that he remembers nothing more until he found himself in the street running from his assailant and that if he stabbed the Mexican he does not know it. Rodriguys denies having struck McCulloch, but declares that he warned him that he must cease to speak disrespectfully of his Rodriguys's sister.

McCulloch, when he left the Rodriguys home went to the home of Miss Edith Albright, telling her that Mexicans bent on taking his life were after him. She notified the officers and McCulloch's arrest followed.

TRAIN SEPARATES.

Severely injured when a rock train on the Santa Fe broke in two near Cucamonga, hurling him from the car on which he was riding, William Washwater, a brakeman, was placed in the engine and rushed to this city when he was taken to the San Antonio Hospital on West Tenth street. He was badly cut and lacerated about the face and bones in one wrist are reported to have been fractured, but his injuries are not considered serious.

LEAKY STOVE CAUSES FIRE.

Residence Destroyed at Monrovia and Life Menaced by the Conflagration—Dairyman Is Fined.

MONROVIA, Oct. 18.—A leaky oil stove was the cause of a fire at No. 423 East Walnut, which broke out shortly before noon today. Besides almost wholly destroying the house the flames endangered the life of E. P. Spencer, the owner, who has been ill for several months, and at the time, lay upon his bed in the front room, unable to move. Had it not been for the prompt action of friends and neighbors in carrying him out, a tragedy might have been added to the disaster. As it was, the house was very seriously damaged, although the local fire department truck made a record run to the scene of the conflagration. Mr. Spencer was taken to the hospital and is reported to be resting easily.

DAIRYMAN IS FINED.

C. E. Boyce, a local dairyman, was fined $25 by Justice of the Peace Holloway for keeping his milk cans too close to the pump. At the recent visit of State Dairy Inspector Ray Hasson, Boyce's dairy was examined along with the others in Monrovia. Inspector Hasson tested the milk sold by Boyce and found that it had been uniformly diluted and contained about three quarts of water to every four gallons of milk. According to these figures the dairyman's customers were paying something like 13 cents a gallon for Monrovia water. Boyce is said to have admitted the presence of water in his cans when the milk was poured in, but when he was formally charged in court pleaded not guilty. The evidence was too much for him, however, and when he was finally tried he at last admitted his error, but said that the water was accidentally left in the cans after rinsing.

WITHOUT AN OPERATION

BY MY PAINLESS DISSOLVENT METHOD

I TREAT NO DISEASES EXCEPT THOSE OF THE RECTUM AND BOWELS.

I cure without surgery and my patients are never confined in bed and never lose a moment's time from their business.

My method is not a "home cure" or a "correspondence treatment," but it is an application of skilled treatments administered under the most rigid antiseptic condition in my office.

Watch this ad for following testimonials, of which I have dozens from men and women.

WELL KNOWN SANTA MONICA MINISTER CURED.

This is to certify that Dr. C. H. White has cured me of a distressing hemorrhoidal ailment of 25 years' duration. His method of treatment is effective, but not severe. He has the appliances, the knowledge and the skill born of many years of specialization in this fruitful source of physical disease. He accomplishes all he claims in his advertising, and at reasonable expense.

I take pleasure in heartily commending the man and his methods.

PRESIDENT OF A PROMINENT COLLEGE CURED.

For more than ten years I was a sufferer from a painful affliction, which nearly ruined my usefulness as an organizer and teacher. Dr. C. H. White of Los Angeles has completely cured me by a process that was painless and rapid, and I desire to go on record as recommending the Doctor in diseases in his specialty.

THOMAS NEWLIN, President Whittier College.

Esteemed Doctor: I cannot refrain from congratulating you and myself on a complete cure of Hemorrhoids, with which I have been afflicted for more than twenty years, and for the past year have been practically incapacitated from attending to business. The treatment is such that no one need fear, no knife or operation being employed, and the result being certain and positive. I will be pleased to have you refer anyone to me and I will never be too busy to answer any inquiry.

STOMACH AND BOWEL TROUBLE

Worms Afflict All Ages of the Human Family.

SYMPTOMS—Children and grown people, when troubled with worms, have more or less of these symptoms, or at least, worms have caused all of the symptoms given below, in different individuals at certain periods of their life; sallow complexion, with white or livid circles around the mouth and eyes. In some cases lower eyelids and upper lips are sometimes swollen unnatural looking tongue, covered with whitish-looking fur, sometimes speckled with small red points or dodder elevations; others drooling from the mouth or excessive flow of water (saliva,) with a foul, offensive-smelling breath. Some cases are constantly rubbing or picking their noses, others are restless at night and grind their teeth also have frightful dreams and start up with terror when asleep.

Passing of mucous or slime from the bowel is an important symptom of worms.

My treatment is pleasant to take. There is no detention from business, no bad effects and can be taken by the youngest child or most feeble person.

The treatment is also a boon in cases of stomach and bowel trouble not due to the presence of worms. It is a fine general tonic, and thoroughly rids the system of all accumulations.

Dr. A. J. Shores.

Asthma

No one but an asthmatic can appreciate the terrible distress of this disease. Gasping, smothering, panting for breath — suffocating feeling, sitting up in bed at night, are but a few of the terrible torments of an Asthmatic sufferer. If you are an Asthma victim, let not another day pass until you try our wonderful treatment—which gives almost immediate relief and lasting benefits. Call or write.

Catarrh of Head and Throat

This form of catarrh is most common — usually resulting from neglected colds. Successfully treated with little cost by Drs. Shores' treatment.

Is your nose stopped up?

Does your nose discharge?

Is your nose sore and tender?

Is there pain in front of the head?

Do you hawk and clear the throat?

Is your throat dry in the morning? Do you sleep with your mouth open?

Now is the time to be cured—don't let it run into complications.

OF THE EARS.

Catarrh often extends from the throat, along the Eustachian tubes into the ears, causing partial or complete deafness. Is your hearing failing?

Do your ears discharge? Do they ring?

Is the wax drying in your ears?

Do you hear better on some days?

Does a cold make your hearing worse?

Don't neglect this until your hearing is irreparably destroyed.

Eczema

This affliction often baffles the skill of the regular doctor—and tries the patience of the specialist—but our methods have proven successful in so many cases that no matter who has failed to cure you it is worth your time to consult us. We will gladly explain our method of treatment free of charge. Consultation always free.

Specialties—Catarrh, Deafness, Head Noises, Asthma, Hay Fever, Rheumatism, Eczema, Goitre, Chorea, Hysteria, Insomnia, Epilepsy and Other Chronic Diseases of the Stomach, Bowels, Heart, Bronchial Tubes, Lungs, Kidneys and Liver that are curable.

Rheumatism

If you are hobbling about with rheumatic joints or suffering torture from inflammatory rheumatism — come and let us explain our theory and treatment for this painful affliction.

Dr. G. W. Shores.

STOMACH AND LIVER

If you have distress and bloating after eating don't neglect treatment. Catarrh of the stomach is a most common ailment, and can be cured, but remember, a cancer of the stomach we cannot cure. Do not neglect stomach and liver trouble. Consult doctors that know how to cure.

Don't let money matters keep you away. Drs. Shores' rates are low and payments easy. Medicines free to patients. Get busy and get well.

CONSULTATION AND EXAMINATION FREE.

A. L. DENNIS,
Superintendent of Circulation, The Times.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 8th day of October, 1913.

[Seal] T. L. CHAPIN,
Notary Public in and for the County of Los Angeles, State of California.

The Times is the only newspaper in Los Angeles that does not make a practice of permitting agents, newsboys and dealers to return unsold copies of its issues. Neither does it misbrand or predate its editions, or inflate its circulation by printing more copies than are actually necessary to supply its patrons.

The Times' entire circulation is practically net, and it is more genuine and superior in every respect to that of any other newspaper.

CITY NEWS IN BRIEF.

After Six Months.

The Tennessee Society, which has not held meetings for six months, will resume its gatherings Tuesday nights at Mammoth Hall.

Stanton Post Picnic.

Stanton Post, Grand Army of the Republic, and Stanton Woman's Relief Corps will hold a picnic at the Soldiers' Home tomorrow. They will leave the Hill-street station in special cars at 10 o'clock a.m. They invite all their friends to accompany them and participate in the day's enjoyment.

Struck by Street Car.

Just released from the County Hospital and about to return to his former home in Chicago, Walter Jaap, aged 21, living at No. 138 Nineteenth avenue and employed by a newspaper distributing agency, was struck by a street car at Third and Main streets last evening and severely bruised. The trip to Chicago will have to be deferred for a few days.

Stereopticon Lecture at Y.W.C.A.

Dr. George F. Kengott will deliver an entertaining lecture on "Our Neighbors, Sooner or Later," at the Young Women's Christian Association on next Thursday evening. The lecture will be illustrated with stereopticon pictures, and will be a membership privilege entertainment, each member being entitled to bring one guest. Mrs. Richard Dale Owen will sing.

Death Ends Long Service.

A service of nearly a quarter of a century with one concern in one capacity was terminated Friday with the death of Harold Clinton Fisher at his home, No. 1633 West Twenty-fourth street. Fisher had been contracting freight agent for the Union Pacific since 1890, when he was transferred here from the Denver offices. He leaves a widow and three children. The funeral service will be conducted at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning in the Dexter Samson chapel and the body will be cremated at Rosedale.

Meeting of Language Teachers.

The Modern Language Association of Southern California will meet next Saturday afternoon in Manual Arts High School. The following programme has been arranged: "Some Personal Convictions on the Newer Methods, as Applied to American Schools," H. W. Koehler; "The Literary Side," Prof. Margaret Borthwick; "Spanish Vocabularies," Esperanza Carrillo; "The Cosmopolitan School," Valentin Buehner. The meeting will begin at 2 o'clock and will be preceded by a reception and luncheon in the high school cafeteria.

Alaska-Yukon Club Dines.

Seventy-five members of the Alaska-Yukon Club had a banquet at Christopher's last evening. Attorney James Bell, formerly of Nome, was toastmaster. Addresses were given by ex-Judge D. T. Roy, president of the club, and ex-Judge P. D. Overfield, both formerly of Alaska. The guests were entertained with a delightful programme, consisting of Spanish songs by Mrs. Manuel Cordarrens; ballet dancing by Miss Marjorie Prevost; an original poem, "Poetry of the Klondike," by Miss Anna Sonsteby; and two original Alaskan stories, "Mushing in the Klondike" and "A Lien on a Corpse," by Mrs. Roy. The club was organized a month ago.

Roumanian Aid Society.

A mass meeting of the Roumanian Aid Society will be held in the Majestic Theater building on Tuesday evening, for the purpose of electing officers for the ensuing year and for enrolling of a large number of new members. The society is organized for the purpose of doing all in their power to aid Roumanian Jews in the community and looking forward to the time when there will be a great influx of the same nationality through the Panama Canal. To secure for the new comers immediate employment and to protect them from becoming a charge on the city will be the chief aim of the society.

Prominent Decorator Dies.

Harry Sturdy, a decorator, who came here from Chicago nine years ago and has been prominent in the great building activities of this city, died yesterday at his home, No. 146 Norton avenue, aged 42 years. The deceased was born in Gulph, Canada. For the past year he has been ill with nervous trouble and for the past six months has been unable to walk. Despite his condition he has been of a cheerful disposition and kind and loving to his family. He leaves a wife and three children. The funeral will be held at his late residence tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, conducted by Rev. Baker P. Lee, and interment will be in Hollywood Cemetery.

F. S. Phippard of Sydney, Australia, arrived at the Westminster yesterday. Other guests there are Miss I. Van Wie and Miss Dorothy Graher, both of Ontario.

INCOME TAX LAW, EFFECTIVE NOVEMBER FIRST, HITS TWO HUNDRED THOUSAND CALIFORNIANS.

Every Person With Certainty of Over Three Thousand Dollars a Year Must Pay and the Government Will Collect First-Hand—Higher Percentage of Assessment on Large Incomes. Concise Explanation of the Important New Measure.

THE income tax law, which was signed by President Wilson the 3d inst., becomes effective November 1—a week from next Saturday. All persons, firms, corporations or employers having the payment of a fixed salary, income or interest to anyone, become liable after that date for the income tax on such payments if they amount to more than $3000 a year. The law requires all employers or agents to deduct and pay to the government the amount of the tax due.

It is estimated that the revenue which will accrue from the tax the first year of its operation will amount to $110,000,000. Also, it is estimated that about 4 per cent. of the population in the United States is taxable; that 200,000 persons in California will be assessed; that about 22,000 of them will be in the Sixth District, which includes Los Angeles.

In this district John P. Carter, collector of internal revenue, estimates that there are twelve persons with incomes of $100,000 or more annually; forty with incomes above $50,000, and over a hundred with incomes in excess of $20,000. This district comprises Kern, San Luis Obispo, Santa Barbara, Ventura, Orange, Los Angeles, San Bernardino, Riverside, San Diego and Imperial counties.

DEDUCTIONS ALLOWED.

All persons who have fixed or determinable annual incomes will be assessed at the "source;" that is, by the persons, employers, corporation or firm that makes the payment of such salaries, interest or dividends. Such assessments, however, only include the "normal tax," which consists of 1 per cent. per annum. On all incomes amounting to more than $20,000 there is an "additional tax."

Eight reasons for allowing deductions in computing the net income of each person are given. First, the necessary expenses actually paid in carrying on any business (not including living or personal expenses, nor including improvements, betterments or new buildings) (See Page 194 of Tariff Bill as Agreed to by the Committee of Conference on September 29;) second, all interest paid during the year or indebtedness; third, all taxes paid, except those assessed for local benefits (as for a park or street work in a district;) fourth, all losses actually sustained during the year and not covered by insurance or otherwise; fifth, all debts due the taxpayers actually ascertained to be worthless and charged off during the year; sixth, a reasonable allowance for exhaustion, wear and tear of property. Mine owners and mine operators are allowed a deduction of 5 per cent. of the value of the gross output. The same provision also applies to oil wells. Seventh, the amount of dividends or income received from corporations, firms or associations which are also taxable on their net income; and also the amount of income received from national, State, municipal and school bonds. Eighth, the amount of income that has had the normal tax upon it paid at the source. (The first part of provisions seven and all of eight do not apply when the net income amounts to more than $20,000.) (Page 190.)

HOW THE TAXES WORK.

It must be remembered that there are two separate and distinct taxes. First, there is the normal tax of 1 per cent. per annum on all net incomes amounting to more than $3000 and upward. The normal tax also applies to the net income of corporations and associations even when under $3000.

An additional tax of 1 per cent. is established on all net incomes from over $20,000 and amounting to $50,000; and of 2 per cent. on all net incomes from over $50,000, and amounting to $75,000; and 3 per cent. on all net incomes from over $75,000 and amounting to $100,000; and of 4 per cent. on all net incomes from over $100,000 and amounting to $250,000; and of 5 per cent. on all net incomes from over $250,000 and amounting to $500,000; and of 6 per cent. on all net incomes over $500,000.

Take, for example, some fortunate citizen who enjoys a net income of $100,000. First, he is allowed the exemption of $3000, which leaves his taxable income $97,000. On that he must pay the normal tax of 1 per cent., which is $970.

Now begins the operation of the additional tax. First, he is allowed the exemption of $20,000, as the additional tax does not apply to amounts of that sum and less. Then, on that part of his income which is between $20,000 and $50,000 he again pays a tax of 1 per cent., making the amount of $300.

Then for that part of his income which is between $50,000 and $75,000 he is taxed 2 per cent., making the amount $500. As but $77,000 of his income exceeds the $20,000 mark, there still remains but $2000 that is taxable. On that, which is over $75,000, he pays 3 per cent., or $60.

The total tax paid by the person with a net income of $100,000 therefore amounts to $1830. Most people have thought that the tax on $100,000 would be a flat rate of 3 per cent., or $3000, which is not the case. (Page 190.)

INCOMES THAT ARE TAXABLE.

The incomes that are taxable to all persons shall include gains, profits and incomes derived from salaries, wages or compensations for personal service of whatever kind and in whatever form paid; also the gains, profits or income from professions, vocations, businesses, trade, commerce, sales, dealing in property; also the interest on money, rents, dividends or securities; also including the income from property (but not the value of it) acquired by gift or inheritance. (Page 192.)

IRREGULAR INCOMES.

When the profits, salaries or gains of a person are annual or periodical, then the employer, agent or corporation making the payment shall deduct the amount of the normal tax and pay it the government. (Page 200.)

When the gains or profits are not fixed or determinable (as commission salesmen, authors, or book agents) then the persons receiving the gains shall declare the amount of the same in their personal return. (Page 209.) However, if part of their income is fixed, and amounts to more than $3000, the persons making the payment shall deduct the amount of the tax on that fixed income.

HOW TO GET EXEMPTIONS.

In the case where a person has an income that is taxed at the source (by the employer or agent having charge of the income and paying it out) and desires exemption for some of the reasons allowed as deductions, such a person shall make a written application, not less than thirty days before the date upon which the return (the acknowledgement of the amount of income must be sent in by the employer on or before March 1 of each year) is made, setting forth his reasons and file the same with the employer or agent, or with the government tax collector. The employer will return the written application to the government in lieu of the income tax which he is bound, otherwise, to collect. (Page 205.)

WHO SHALL MAKE RETURNS?

All persons with an income of less than $20,000 who have the normal tax paid at the source are not required to make a statement regarding their income to the government. If over that amount they are. (Page 201.)

All persons with a net income of over $3000, no part of which is paid at the source, must make a return. If they desire exemptions they must file the reasons for the same with the Tax Collector. If they have an income, part of which has had the tax withheld and paid at the source, and part of which is not, and the later part exceeds $3000, they must make a return on that, but need not make mention of the other part on which the tax is paid—unless such income is over $20,000. (Page 198.)

UNDER THREE THOUSAND.

There are certain revenues that are taxable as income whether or not the amount is over $3000. The normal tax of 1 per cent. shall be deducted and withheld from any fixed or determinal gains, profit or interest derived from bonds, mortgages, deeds of trust, or other obligations of corporations, joint stock companies. The income tax insurance companies. The income tax on such amounts shall be deducted at the source and paid to the government. (Page 207.)

The same stipulations apply to coupons, checks, or bills of exchange in payment upon bonds of foreign corporations, associations or insurance companies engaged in business in the United States. Such deductions shall be made by the banker or person who shall cash, sell or otherwise realize upon such coupons, checks or bills of exchange, and the banker or person must pay the tax so deducted to the government of the United States. (Page 208.) The bankers or such persons shall take out a license (which costs nothing) to cash such coupons, checks or bills of exchange, else they will be liable to a fine of $5000 and imprisonment for each offense, or both.

TAXING CORPORATIONS.

The net income of corporations, joint-stock companies, associations, or insurance companies, or other business (except partnerships) shall be assessed by the normal tax only. In computing their net income they are allowed practically the same deductions as individuals. (Page 221.)

However, any business institution, corporation, joint-stock company or insurance company, is allowed as deduction "the amount of interest ac-

Collector of Internal Revenue Carter,
The man who will handle the income tax money in this district.

MAIN POINTS OF NEW LAW FOR THOSE WITH INCOMES.

TWO taxes are imposed under the income tax law. (1) The normal tax of 1 per cent. is imposed on all net incomes over $3000. The normal tax is also imposed on all dividends, interest or gains under or over $3000 on corporation stock, mortgages, or deeds of trust. Also on foreign coupons, checks or bills of exchange. (2) There is a gradient additional tax imposed on all individuals with incomes over $20,000.

The salaries of State officials (not government officials,) also the income from government, State, municipal or school bonds are exempt from both the normal and the additional tax.

"The return" is the statement required of each person or corporation, joint-stock company or association setting forth the amount of net income, and must be made 120 days before the date of payment of the tax.

"The source" is the person, employer, company or corporation that pays money for personal service to other persons.

The fixed and determinable annual income of all persons over $3000 has the normal tax only deducted and paid to the government at the source. If such persons desire exemption from the tax by reason of certain expenses, they must file a written application with the employer (or with the revenue collector of the district) setting forth their claim for exemption.

All employers having control over fixed income or other persons are personally liable for the amount of the income tax not paid by them.

All corporations (excepting manufacturers of alcoholic products) will be exempted from the excise tax, now paid to the government after March 1, 1914 and will be taxed the normal tax only on their entire net income.

All returns from individuals must be made on or before March 1 each year.

Any person or corporation or others who shall neglect to make the return when required will be liable to the penalty of a fine not less than $20 and not more than $1000. For fraud in making the return there is also the additional penalty of a fine of $2000 and two years imprisonment, or both. Also for fraud, 100 per cent. of the tax shall be added, and for negligence 50 per cent. shall be added.

All taxes must be paid on or before June 30 by individuals. For negligence, or refusal to pay, 5 per cent. of the amount of tax due shall be added to the amount and taxed at the rate of 1 per cent. per month.

The same provision applies to corporations and other business of that nature, with also the additional penalty of a fine of $10,000 for neglect or fraud in making the payment.

Corporations, associations, joint-stock companies and insurance companies are allowed (by giving notice to the revenue collector) to designate the last day of any month as the end of their fiscal year. Sixty days later they must make their returns, and 120 days later they must pay their taxes.

The amount of income, of tax, or any information whatsoever will not be made public by the government. A fine of $1000 and imprisonment of one year, as well as disbarment from all government offices is prescribed for any person in the government service who shall divulge information.

APPLIED HERE IN CIVIL WAR.

The income tax was first imposed in Great Britain in January, 1799, during the ministry of Pitt, after failing to raise revenue enough to meet the exigencies of the period by trebling the amount of assessed taxes. Under that old law all incomes under $200 were exempt.

The first income tax to be imposed in the United States was during the Civil War, when in 1861 Congress authorized a tax of 3 per cent. on all incomes over $800 per annum. In July, 1862, the tax rate was increased to assess all incomes under $5000 at the rate of 5 per cent., with an exemption of $600 and house rent actually paid. There were other gradations of increased taxation on larger incomes, and also taxes on non-resident Americans.

During the second administration of Cleveland, Congress passed a bill imposing a tax upon all incomes above $4000. The Supreme Court, after a long hearing, decided that it was unconstitutional.

NITRO HIDDEN UNDER POLES.

Enough to Raze a City Block Discovered in the Gas Company Yards.

Enough nitroglycerine to raze a city block was found yesterday tucked in a pocket under a pile of logs in the yards of the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation, Maple avenue and Jefferson street. Workmen discovered it while watching children playing around the poles. Patrolmen of the University district took the explosives into that police substation, and made no effort to set a trap to catch the persons who had cached the deadly stuff. Evidently it is the property of fanatics who were making ready to perpetrate outrages. There were two bottles full and in each can was a fuse. Crude bombs they were, but of terrific power. Around the bottles were found seventy-five dynamite caps.

Alfred Dolge's Remarkable Tribute To The Steinway

the unbiased opinion of a noted author

In the second volume of "Pianos and Their Makers," by Alfred Dolge, at one time the world's leading manufacturer of Piano Supplies and the founder of Dolgeville, N. Y., and Dolgeville, California, there occurs a remarkable endorsement of the Steinway Piano. Mr. Dolge describes many Pianos, but to the Steinway alone he accords the following striking tribute:

JUST as the most masterful copy of a Raphael or Correggio will ever be only a copy and far from the original so it has proved impossible to produce a piano equal to the Steinway, even though the Steinway were copied to the minutest detail. No art Product can be duplicated by copying. It is an individual Creation, and it takes more than wood, metal and superior handicraft to produce an Art Creation such as the Steinway Piano.

No other piano has been admittedly so often copied by Makers in all parts of the world as the Steinway, and no other piano has almost from its very first appearance enjoyed the indorsement of its competitors to the extent that the expression "as good as a Steinway" has become proverbial in the piano trade. Back of the Steinway piano is the Steinway tradition, Steinway atmosphere, and Steinway organization. Steinway tradition means that no effort must be spared, no expense considered, in order to produce the best possible in the art of Piano Building.

* * * Every part of the Steinway piano is made in the Steinway shops, under the direct supervision of a Steinway. In the finishing factories at Steinway, Long Island, can be found as many as six hundred grand pianos in the sounding-board room; each one exposed to the seasoning by the steady temperature of the room for months after the sound-board is inserted. Starting with careful selection of material, it has to undergo scientific tests before it is utilized.

Surprises Only Begun.

Later it became apparent, the tectives and constables say, that Roberts, the wife of a poor Ari- miner, has deliberately posed as woman of wealth for reasons ap- rent to any sophisticated person.

Yesterday in addition to being arged with further felonies in hav- passed fictitious checks upon local rchants the names of two city of- als were thrown upon the screen the woman herself

THEY'RE DIGGING.

A well-known aqueduct official examined for an hour in the of- of Deputy District Attorneys Gra- and Hammon. He admitted his quaintance with the woman but de- d that it had extended beyond his interest in her kennel of pedi- ed bulldogs.

He demanded to be confronted with Roberts and his request may be mplied with.

Detectives Jones and Boyd and rivate Detective Harris worked most the afternoon trying to locate an tomobile said to have been pur- ased for Mrs. Roberts. Mrs. Rob- used many rented cars and or- ed only such as would appear to the property of a woman of the ial standing she pretended. The she hired at the Alexandria Company were paid for in checks, which were taken up. other fine cars she was using al- t constantly were demonstration of the various companies, whose esentatives saw in the purported woman a good prospect.

The detectives working on the case nstrated yesterday that several the statements told by the woman rding the aqueduct officials were

No complaint was issued against city employee yesterday, though ch anxiety was displayed in sev- l offices. The Mayor instructed the f of Police to go to the bottom the whole affair if there is any ibility of the truth of the report t one employee is short in his ds because of his amiable effort to ply a portion of the luxuries Mrs. berts says are essential to her life a woman of fashion.

Chief Deputy District Attorney declared that the grand jury will ready to dig into the case to show what powerful interests are be- d the woman. Her luxurious home, its costly risque paintings and morning" photographs, its rugs and mahogany divans, not paid for out of the $50-a- th allowance given by her hus- d, a forlorn and jealous miner.

WHOLLY FABRICATED.

Yesterday Mrs. Roberts admitted tale of vast wealth was wholly cated. She admitted that her r is not Jesus Alameda, the Mexi- sugar king, and that her sur- ndings prior to blooming as a society queen in this city were in the extreme.

The District Attorney believes the is still holding back a lot of mation and that the grand jury uisition is the only way of finding whether she is a blackmailer, as a bad check passer. Ford said the grand jury has concluded its work and can be called into tion tomorrow or Wednesday.

Mrs. Roberts has a wide acquaint- in the city, as her daughter ad- ts. She told the officers yesterday knows a number of men who were frequent visitors at her costly rented home, No. 2321 West Sixth street. These men may be subpoenaed as nesses to tell what they know of woman who has been dubbed the "second Mrs. Cassie Chadwick."

WHAT DO THEY KNOW?

Theodore Welk, who was reputed to engaged to Laura Louise Roberts and who vigorously denied the report yesterday, may be summoned to tell what he knows about the family. The l says she has known him three years. The officers assert if this be he can undoubtedly help unravel complications which have arisen the arrest of Mrs. Roberts.

Miss Roberts, who was 21 years old yesterday, asserts that her engagement with Welk is not broken off.

W. A. Meredith, a broker who spe- cializes in lending money on chattel mortgages, will also be interrogated. Before lending the woman several thousand dollars on her furniture he must have taken the precaution to ascertain that the articles were bought and paid for. If Mrs. Roberts came here virtually penniless where did she get the silken curtains and pedigreed bull pups?

"I believe the woman is a black- mailer," said Deputy District Attor- ney Graham, yesterday, after having talked with the defendant for some time. "In order to get the evidence it will be necessary to talk with the men who had business relations with her as well as the callers who fre-

BENEVOLENT ONES.

The detectives tried to locate a mysterious man yesterday who has frequently sent his automobile to the house and placed it at the disposal of Mrs. Roberts and her daughter. It is evident that other men did the same for neighbors report that some days Mrs. Roberts rode in a Packard limousine and on others in a Cadillac. When her men friends forgot her the woman ran up bills at automobile liveries.

Back of her and as yet not brought to the public eye is some extraordinarily benevolent man, who according to Mrs. Roberts has spent $10,000 on her comfort during the past few months. She refused to mention his name but the detectives believe they have the right person under surveillance.

One thing is absolutely certain—that the two complaints charging Mrs. Roberts with passing fictitious checks are but the small beginning of a big investigation. It is believed the woman gave the names of wealthy men who frequently came to see her. The police have the names and addresses of girls who move along the edges of society who used to frequent the oriental mansion with its heavy perfumes and the aroma of Havanas and Egyptian cigarettes always in the air.

POLITICAL TIPS.

President Wilson believes he is the real thing, and that he is the interpreter of the manner in which the President of the United States shall manage the executive affairs of the government. He has therefore neglected to hold any cabinet meetings since the 25th of July, while other occupants of the White House have had bi-weekly consultations with the heads of the several departments of the government. This has been one of the customs of administrations in this country since the beginning. In a sense, there is no Cabinet now, because Mr. Wilson has no apparent intention of calling a Cabinet meeting of the old sort again. If he desires information regarding any department he consults with the head of the same. The other department heads are therefore practically left in the dark regarding everything outside of their own branch of the government, and they have therefore ceased to be members of an advisory board. The President has taken himself seriously and the heads of departments are to attend to their own affairs.

An acting Governor of a State is not the Governor, at least not in New Jersey, according to Atty.-Gen. Wilson of that State. The Constitution of that State prohibits a Governor from succeeding himself, and it thus became a question whether James F. Fielder was eligible for election as Governor at the coming election from the fact that he is now acting Governor of the State. The Attorney-General has decided that the prohibition does not apply in Mr. Fielder's case because he is merely exercising the function of Governorship by virtue of his office as President of the Senate. As Fielder is supported by President Wilson, who read ex-Mayor H. Otto Wittpenn, the "original Wilson candidate," out of the race, the election will therefore be an administration victory or defeat.

According to information from India, Mr. Bryan is not in the best odor with the British government because of a pamphlet the Chautauquan lecturer published in which he states that the more the writer saw of British justice in India the more unjust it appeared. Were Mr. Bryan in England the government's possession of this pamphlet would be sufficient justification for his arrest and punishment.

When Col. Roosevelt went to the farewell dinner given to him before his departure for South America he took with him two speeches uncertain which he would deliver. In one were passages not intended for publication; confidential explanations among progressives, you know, as to how the colonel did things when he was President. Entirely proper at a progressive party, but to the uninitiated likely to seem boastful. The colonel planned to blue pencil anything savoring of braggadocio, but he overlooked it in the revelry and the unexpurgated version went out to the press. The other was meek enough to be turned loose in an assemblage of superannuated standpatters. "It is not to be supposed for an instant," says the St. Louis Republic, "that between this fatal omission and the special all-night liquor license granted the farewell dinner party there is any connection or sequential relationship. Ishpeming has settled some questions right and forever. It was just one of those irritating lapses, difficult to explain and impossible to amend. It spoiled the evening and marred the last adieus."

Insurgent Progressives in Illinois have made overtures to the Republicans towards an amalgamation of the two parties, and have made plans to fight for official sanction of their sent of the officers of the State Committee, and the Progressive members of the Legislature. Without the consent of the officers of the State committee the insurgents have issued a call for a joint meeting of the committee and the Progressive members of the Legislature in Chicago the latter part of next week. It is proposed by the insurgents to bring about the following action: Appointment of a committee to negotiate with a Republican committee relative to the amalgamation of the two parties in Illinois; ousting of Raymond Robins of Chicago as chairman, and Harold I. Ickes of Chicago as secretary of the State Committee. There will be something doing at this meeting.

The new tariff has precipitated a change of export prices of cattle in Canada. On the day that the new rates went into effect the prices advanced from 50 cents to $1 a hundred pounds, the farmers claiming that their export cattle were worth on an average of $10 a head more than they were before the United States took the tariff off of cattle. This is one of the first instances to be chronicled where the free trade tariff has failed to reduce the cost of living.

Speaker Clark is preparing a sharp watch on the Massachusetts election and already, in referring to Congressman Gardner, mentions him as "Gov. Gardner." Clark has not forgotten the action of the Massachusetts delegates to the Baltimore convention. In the primaries of last year the Speaker swept the State and was entitled to its thirty-six delegates in the Democratic national convention. He did not get them. Again and again the delegation threw its votes to Foss, the State's preferential choice at the primaries, seeming to be entirely forgotten. There were times when, if the Massachusetts delegation had cast its big vote for the Speaker, important results would have followed, likely as not, the Speaker's nomination by the convention. So when the Speaker calls him "Gov. Gardner," the fact has a meaning all its own, besides being a reading of coming events, in which the Speaker is an expert.

Gov. Cole Blease of South Carolina, who takes himself as serious as President Wilson, takes himself, has decided that he wants the Senatorial seat now occupied by Senator Ellison Smith. Smith has given no indication of a desire to retire from the Senate, but the Governor says he is to be the next Senator, and will see that he gets what he wants for the six years' Senatorial term beginning in 1915. Gov. Blease has been quoted as having approved of horse racing, "honest" poker and cock-fighting, but his friends see nothing remarkable in that.

Thaddeus H. Caraway, the new Democratic member of Congress from the First District of Arkansas, was prosecuting attorney of a judicial district down in his State before he came to Congress. Among the convictions he secured as prosecuting attorney were those of fourteen men who were hanged. One day, after the conviction of the fourteenth, the judge called Mr. Caraway to the bench and said: "Do you think you are about caught up with this hanging business?" "I certainly have," replied Caraway. "Then court is adjourned until the next term," said the judge.

John Purroy Mitchel, collector of the port of New York and fusion candidate for Mayor of that city, is certainly a reformer. In the letter of resignation he recently sent to the President he says the proposed reorganization of the customs service at New York which is being worked out will result in not only economy of administration, but also in efficiency of service, but there will be no necessity of dropping from the employ of the government any of the present staff of efficient employees or of reducing their salaries. As the reorganization plans will not be completed before November 1, there will be ample time to forget that there was to be retrenchment without reducing either employees or salaries.

PUMPS STOP EARTH SLIDES.

Col. Goethal's Counter Sluicing Methods at Panama Change the Direction of the Earth Movement.

[New York Herald:] An interesting method of preventing earth slides into the Panama Canal is being tried ing, which starts the movement of successfully in the vicinity of Culebra Cut. It is a system of counter-sluicing the loose earth away from the canal instead of toward it.

A fissure running parallel to the east bank of the canal for nearly a mile, at an average distance of about 1500 feet, was discovered several months ago. Realizing that another slide was imminent, and that it would block the channel and delay the opening of the canal for another year, Col. Goethals conceived the scheme of changing the direction of the sliding movement.

Running water was the agent selected. H. O. Cole, engineer in charge of the fifth division, had a hydraulic plant installed back of Gold Hill. The Obispo River then was dammed where it flowed through a tract of low ground. This created a swamp, in which the water soon rose to a level high enough to afford a supply for sluicing purposes.

At the edge of the lake were installed two pumps, and a forty-inch water main was laid from there up an incline to the high ground back of Gold Hill.

This main supplies several monitors, from the nozzles of which streams of water issue at a pressure of about eighty pounds to the square inch. The loose earth played upon by these streams is rapidly dissolved and carried by flumes down to the swamp.

The counter-sluicing operation removes about 100,000 cubic yards of earth a month, and at about one-sixth the cost of steam-shovel operations. The direction of the slide apparently has been changed and the canal, it seems, is no longer in danger.

The Longest Concrete Arch.

[Indianapolis News:] What will be the longest arch in reinforced concrete is now being built at Langwies, Switzerland, on the Chur-Arosa railway. The arch will have 160 feet rise and a clear length between abutments of 330 feet. This will be the largest structure of its kind in existence, being about two feet longer and 130 feet higher than the Risorgimento arch over the Tiber at Roma, Italy.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

A delegation of members of the Chamber of Commerce made another appeal to the City Council yesterday to take speedy action on track relocation permits so that the way may be cleared for the new Arcade depot. The Mayor's veto message on the original relocation ordinance was sustained by unanimous vote of the Council, bringing it back to the alternative proposition, which will be before the Council tomorrow.

Police Surgeon Zerfing has been granted leave to make another statement before the Public Safety Committee tomorrow forenoon, and has been extremely busy buttonholing Councilmen.

The Harbor Commission yesterday issued an ultimatum that the Banning interests must close a contract with the city concerning relocation of harbor lines at the Water-street wharf by Tuesday at 3 o'clock or the contract will be abandoned, and direct appeal will be made to the United States Engineer for change of harbor lines, regardless of the Banning interests.

A delegation of Inyo county citizens conferred with the Mayor yesterday on various plans for drawing the Owens River Valley and Los Angeles into closer relationship.

John R. Vogel's $1,500,000 estate is divided among his widow and three children, the widow receiving one-third, according to the will filed for probate yesterday.

APPEAL AGAIN FOR STATION.

BUSINESS MEN ASK COUNCIL FOR ACTION NOW.

Urge Adoption of Alternative Proposition on Track Relocation So Way May Be Cleared for Beginning of Imposing Structure on the Present Station Site.

According to programme the veto message of the Mayor on the ordinance granting a permit to the Southern Pacific Company to relocate its main tracks in Alameda street, between Fourth and Sixth street, by moving them to the west side of the street, was presented to the City Council yesterday morning, and the veto was sustained by unanimous vote. This brings the relocation of tracks subject down to the alternative proposition submitted by the Southern Pacific officials for the purpose of getting order out of more or less chaos. This proposition is to allow a relocation of the main tracks north of Fourth street, between Third and Vincent streets, carrying with it the permission to relocate two spur tracks crossing Fourth street so as to give better access to the company's depot grounds.

This proposal has been recommended by the Board of Public Utilities, and will go to the Council tomorrow morning. The relocation of a third spur track, necessary in the same connection, will be considered by the Public Utilities Committee at a conference tomorrow afternoon.

A delegation of members of the Chamber of Commerce was before the Council again yesterday to urge speedy action. F. W. Blanchard of the Chamber of Commerce Depot Committee made a strong plea for the adoption of the alternative proposition without delay.

Ira A. Francis, attorney for the Los Angeles Public Market, stated that this concern, which represents an investment of $3,000,000, is located at Sixth and Alameda streets, where the conditions as to grade crossings are the worst in the city, but that it was highly anxious to see the depot built, and that the question of adopting a system for elimination of grade-crossings should be taken up later.

"I do not believe the Southern Pacific is as anxious to build this station as it was before all these obstacles were thrown in the way," said Francis, "but the city wants and seriously needs the new depot, and we must be careful or we will lose the opportunity."

John S. Mitchell also urged speedy action. "Here is a proposition where one of our business concerns wants to go ahead with improvements of vast importance to Los Angeles," said Mitchell. "They do not have to build the new station, but the city does want it badly. We cannot afford to let any trifle stand in the way of getting it. The Southern Pacific is ready to spend the money, and as quickly as possible."

Mitchell declared that he had no theories to propound on the grade-crossing subject, but believed that should be left to competent engineers to work out as it would require much time and attention.

Reese Llewellyn and John Parkinson each spoke on the need of the city for the depot and urged that there be no further delay.

"If this goes by the board," said Llewellyn, "this city is not likely to get a new depot for five years or more. We cannot afford to miss the opportunity."

Commissioner Bekins argued that the business men of the community who are demanding that the Council clear the way for depot building, do not see the whole scheme. "You just see it from a small, narrow point of view," said Bekins—which is in line with his remarks previously when he told a delegation of business men before the Board of Public Utilities that they "don't know nothin' about it."

Railroad Engineer Mohler of the Public Utilities department, appeared to present his plans for a general rearrangement of the city's main outlets of traffic, going over the same grounds he has presented at the City Club and other public meetings.

CO-OPERATION.
INYO VISITORS DISCUSS.

A delegation of Inyo county men, composed of M. J. Cooley, a Supervisor of that county; Will L. Smith, general manager of the Saline Valley Salt Company, and Fred R. Smith, secretary of this company, visited Mayor Rose yesterday, and had a general talk with the Mayor upon the necessity of Los Angeles and the Owens River Valley co-operating to bring about a closer union of interests.

Many interesting points were discussed, among these being the suggestion of the Mayor that every effort should be made to secure the standardizing of the narrow-gauge railroad, so as to make easy transfer of shipments possible; the building of a section of the State highway from the interior of the State through Mojave to Bishop and on to Lake Tajo; working of an ocean-to-ocean highway that would lead down the valley, and other projects that would tend to knit closer together the two communities.

A matter of special importance was the discussion of a proposed appeal to the State Railroad Commission to secure lower rates on lumber and heavy commodities to Owens Valley points.

ZERFING'S CASE.
SURGEON EXTREMELY BUSY.

The Public Safety Committee, before which was held the hearing on conditions at the Receiving Hospital and charges made against Dr. C. E. Zerfing, chief surgeon, has received further documents for consideration in this case, and will delay its report until these are fully considered.

Zerfing is evidently on the anxious seat, as he has been daily interviewing Councilmen, and yesterday secured a promise that he shall have the opportunity to make another statement before the committee tomorrow morning, after the Council session.

McKenzie in Canada.

A letter from Councilman McKenzie to friends at the City Hall yesterday stated that he is visiting various points in Canada, and will be there several days longer, and go from there to Boston and New York City. McKenzie has been enjoying some deer hunting in the Canadian woods and says that game is plentiful there.

City Dump Secured.

The Board of Public Works yesterday decided to close a contract with the owners of a deep sand pit at Washington street and Santa Fe avenue for the use of this pit for dumping street sweepings in the southerly part of the city. Fifteen cents per load is to be paid for this accommodation.

CITY TO BANNINGS.
SENDS AN ULTIMATUM.

After having tried for weeks to come to a definite understanding with the Banning interests over the proposed change of harbor lines at the Water-street wharf, Wilmington, in order to secure space for a 200-foot roadway along the water front to connect the Water-street and Mormon Island Channel wharves, the Harbor Commission yesterday took action that is intended to close negotiations or bring about a direct appeal to the United States engineer at the harbor.

Details of the proposed contract with the Bannings were gone over thoroughly by the commission and Special Attorney Hewitt. This contract provides for an open slip for the Bannings, so that they may have direct access by barges, etc., to industrial sites back of the Water-street wharf, where the Bannings have in view the location of several important plants, and in return would cut off a corner of the present harbor lines, thus providing for the 200-foot roadway.

The commission decided that this contract must be closed by 3 o'clock next Thursday afternoon, or it will be abandoned and direct appeal will be made to Maj. McKinstry to take up the subject of change of harbor lines independent of the Banning interests.

Wants Scales Inspected.

City Sealer of Weights and Measures Harshman yesterday submitted to the City Council a proposed ordinance requiring all peddlers to submit for his inspection all scales used in their work before license permits are issued. The draft of the ordinance was referred to the Public Safety Committee.

"Villianous Odors."

For several weeks past, the Board of Public Works has been receiving complaints from the southwestern and southern parts of the city that during the nights there arise distressing odors that are so strong they float through households and awake sleepers. Yesterday Health Commissioner Powers sent to the board, complaint of the situation on Santa Fe avenue, near the school on that street, where a rubbish dump has almost continuous fire, and where Powers say there arises "villainous odors." Members of the board are inclined to believe that odors from burning rubbish dumps are the ones that float into the houses. They consider appointing an expert on smells to make a thorough investigation.

WIDOW A THIRD, CHILDREN SPLIT.

MILLION AND A HALF FORTUNE DIVIDED BY A WILL.

Late Pioneer Business Man Disposes of His Property to His Family and a Few Other Relatives. County Official Charged With Overcharging Patron.

John R. Vogel, who died September 23, last, left an estate valued in the petition for the probate of the will filed by Lee A. McConnell yesterday, at $1,500,000. The will, executed March 17, 1910, was written by Vogel and is brief and explicit. One-third of the estate is bequeathed to the widow, Louise Mathilde; three children, Rudolph Frederick Vogel, Herman Oscar Vogel and Mrs. Amanda Meta, share and share alike after a few bequests are made.

The estate consists mostly of personal property, including stocks, bonds, mortgages, notes and cash. Several small amounts are given to relatives, the largest being $5000 to a cousin, Matilda Stafford of Des Moines.

Vogel was most successful in his business dealings, being one of the pioneers in this city. Among his biggest transactions was the sale of the property at the southwest corner of Seventh and Broadway, for which at that time the record price of $700,000 was obtained.

Mrs. Vogel is named in the will as executor in connection with the Security Trust and Savings Bank. The will and petition were filed by Attorney Mattison B. Jones, for Mrs. Vogel.

ALLEGES OVERCHARGE.
COUNTY OFFICIAL INVOLVED.

An investigation of the allegation by Mrs. Peppie Deutsch and Mrs. M. Yellen, mother and sister respectively of Isidore Deutsch, an alleged insane man, that Dr. James T. Fisher, in charge of the insane at the County Hospital, had overcharged them for making an examination of Isidore, was started by Judge Myers at the County Hospital yesterday, and continued.

The complainants alleged that Dr. Fisher had promised over the telephone to examine Deutsch for $3 to $5, but that when he later called at the Yellen home, No. 2620 Brooklyn avenue, he charged them $15. They further testified yesterday that Dr. Fisher said if they paid him $15 he would see that Deutsch was returned to New York, it appearing that he had come to this city recently at public cost.

Dr. Fisher denied that he had agreed to make the examination at the sums named by the complainants. He considered $15 reasonable, as he was obliged to do considerable work with the case, going to the Courthouse with the mother and sister and assisting in preparing the complaint against Deutsch.

TURNS DOWN OFFER.
FIVE DOLLARS FOR KISS.

Joseph W. Wright, the disbarred lawyer from Long Beach, tried to attach a condition to the payment of $5 to his wife, according to the testimony of Mrs. Wright in Judge Monroe's failure-to-provide court yesterday. She said he came to her house and offered her $5 if she would kiss him. The offer was indignantly spurned, and Wright held on to the money. As he had given her nothing for the support of the two children since September 8 last, he was brought into court yesterday and bound over to the Superior Court in $1500 bonds.

When the case was up on a previous occasion, Mrs. Wright told a pitiful tale of her husband's neglect. The court gave her a check for $20 and said to Wright that if he was any kind of a man he would consider it a debt and released him on his own recognizance. Wright gave his wife some money, but with the exception of the tender of the $5 he has done nothing for the children for a month.

GOOD TO FRIEND.
WASHES DISHES FOR HER.

An interesting sidelight on the handiness of the late Shoapin Caspar, an art photographer who gave his fortune to Mrs. Emily Ainley, the friend with whom he resided at Lawrence, Mass., and later in this city, was shown in the testimony of Mrs. A. Smith during the trial of the will contest in Judge Houser's court. Mrs. Smith's testimony was along the line of the alleged love-making of Mrs. Ainley, a married woman, who is alleged to have influenced Caspar into making his will in her favor.

On one occasion when Mrs. Smith was visiting the house she said she saw Caspar, an old man, washing dishes in Mrs. Ainley's kitchen.

"My, I wish I had a man to do my dishes," Mrs. Smith remarked.

"You wouldn't wash dishes for any one but me, would you?" Mrs. Ainley said to Caspar, at the same time patting his cheek.

"I don't know about that," replied Caspar.

The trial will be resumed Tuesday, and sensational testimony is promised by Attorney Harris, counsel for Sahman Babik, Caspar's cousin, who is endeavoring to break the will.

Babik received nothing from Caspar. Attorneys Trippit and Laubersheimer, for the estate, claim that he is no relative of Caspar's but an impostor.

DIVIDES HER TIME.
CHILD CUSTODY SETTLED.

Judge Wilbur in an order made Friday afternoon, disposed of the Schroeter case which involved the custody of the infant daughter of Dr. O. V. Schroeter and his former wife, now Mrs. Ethel Rollins. Both the doctor and Mrs. Rollins wanted the custody of the girl. The latter was taken from the mother and given to her mother-in-law because it was alleged Mrs. Rollins was not a fit person to have care of it. Since then she married Edward Rollins, a carpenter foreman, and both are willing to provide a home for the child.

The order gives the child to the mother for two weeks longer, she having had her on trial for one week. Then she goes to Dr. Schroeter for the school term and she is then returned to her mother for the summer vacation and so on. The order states the child may live with her grandmother while Dr. Schroeter has her, if he desires. The mother may also see her daughter on such occasions.

UNNECESSARY.
President Wilson has been elected a member of the American Antiquarian Society. They need not be in such a hurry about it. We will admit that he is an American now and he will be antiquated soon enough.

GROWING SOME.
Tuesday 5000 colonists arrived in Los Angeles and 3000 more came Wednesday on a single train. The world continues to be curious to find out what this city is like and when the people come to see for themselves they forget to go back.

THERE'S A REASON.
The best temple for worship in this city five days in the week is the Temple-street hill from First and Broadway north for a few blocks every afternoon between 2 and 3 o'clock. It is then that the High School girls stream down, and they certainly inspire adoration.

GOOD REASON.
The Transcontinental Freight Association has announced that it will take into consideration a revision of the tariff on citrus fruits. They mean that they will consider how far the Panama ships will cut into their traffic and what reduction it will require to meet the new competition.

FAR FROM HOME.
It is reported in Havana that there is a plot on foot to kill Gen. Felix Diaz. We cannot imagine the necessity for going all the way to Cuba for intimations of intended assassinations in Mexico. Besides, why all this secrecy when an American mining manager can be publicly executed because of his reported lack of sympathy for one side or the other of the innumerably-sided quarrel down there?

WHEN GREEK MEETS GREEK.
It is very sad when the two Greeks are American society women, even if one of them is in London, with or without the husband of the other. Mrs. Blake wants a million dollars because her husband does not love her any more and she wants Mrs. Clarence Mackay to donate the million. The latter says Mrs. Blake has a jealous disposition and an ungovernable temper. We never suspected that a mere man was worth so much trouble.

BY-PRODUCTS OF PANAMA.
Little or no attention has been paid to what may be called the by-products of the Panama Canal. Outside of the canal zone, easily accessible by short lines of railroad or by steamer, in Colombia, in Costa Rico and in Nicaragua, there is a white man's country, a country rich in iron and copper, in hard and soft woods, in cattle ranges and in lands and climate, available not only for coffee and tropical and subtropical fruits, but for wheat, and corn and barley.

OF DOUBTFUL WORTH.
After two men had argued from noon until night about the custody of an automobile a policeman took both parties and the machine to the station. We have known at least three machines in our life that we wouldn't have taken the trouble to bail out if ever they had been arrested, and if any man had disputed possession with us, the argument would have instantly ended in his favor, with a reward thrown into the bargain for having taken the thing off our hands.

THERE WITH THE GOODS.
One of the most curious of the militant feats of the London suffragettes is the ease with which they seem to break through a cordon of police, when they wish to force their activities on the notice of royal personages. The London "bobbies" are picked for their stature and their physique, and their recent experiences have not made them friendly to "the cause." Yet on more than one occasion a woman has been able to push past the encircling guard of blue. Luckily so far the suffragettes have not bombarded the royal coach with anything more deadly than pamphlets and paper rolls. Evidently not even the stoutest body of men can hold back a determined woman.

ARBITRATION.
The objection to arbitration between nations by a tribunal the personnel of which is not in each case previously agreed to by the controversialists is that the interests of groups of nations are often so interlocked that an impartial decision of a controversy between a member of the group and a power outside of the group is practically impossible. Would the guilt or innocence of a Mormon accused of polygamy be submitted by the government to a jury composed of Latter Day Saints? If Toopious were to be tried for rebating would he willingly submit his case to a jury of orange growers? The story is apt of the man accused of stealing a hog who told his lawyer to take the jury without any questions, for every one of them had some of the pork.

Great Britain is said to be about to renew her application to have the matter of her contention with the United States concerning canal tolls submitted to The Hague tribunal.

Almost every member of that tribunal is the representative of a maritime power directly interested on deciding the controversy against the United States. Fairness, under the circumstances, would be too much to expect.

INCREASING REPUBLICAN CONFIDENCE.
There can be no denying that the confidence of the Republican party is increasing as the State campaigns go on. There are reasons for it.

First, the exposures of Democratic incompetency, and worse, have caused a revulsion and reaction in the popular mind.

Again, the Democratic party itself is divided; it is not the unified and triumphant organization which went into battle last fall.

The arbitrary policy by which President Wilson rammed dangerous tariff legislation and is ramming equally dangerous currency legislation through "us too" Congress, and imposing it upon the people, is so autocratic that its claim to be democratic refutes itself.

Republican principles of protection of home industries and wages, preservation of a sound standard of finance, and guardianship of the independence of the judiciary are so substantial and sensible and vitally essential to prosperity that the sober second thought of the people is rallying to the defense of those foundations of society.

The burden of taxation (income tax and all,) never before so great, is addressing the intelligence through the sensitiveness of the pocketbook nerve. Those who have accumulated enough to be house owners wish to keep their property and not to see it levied upon at such rates as to threaten the permanence of possession.

The Republicans have nominated unexceptionable men on their tickets in the States where elections occur this fall—men whose personal integrity and business capacity assure good administration in the event of their success. This is particularly so in the great State of New York.

Things are looking better all along the line. The predicted disintegration of the Republican party has not come to pass, but the most famous political party that the world has ever known and the most successful (because its basis was truth and wisdom) is getting ready to resume business at the old stand.

LOSING THE PHILIPPINES.
The process of "losing" the Philippine Islands will be found not free from difficulty. President Wilson cannot accomplish it by an executive order as he seems to imagine. There are constitutional restrictions upon the Presidential power which even he must respect, and it is not given to him to expatriate a citizen of the United States, or take from under the flag any part of our territory which was obtained from another nation by conquest, by purchase, or by treaty.

The sovereignty of the Philippine Islands is vested in the United States by the treaty of 1898 made with Spain by which we acquired them, with Porto Rico and Guam, partly as a war indemnity and partly as a purchase.

There is no way under the Constitution of the United States by which we can divest ourselves of the sovereignty or release ourselves from the obligations then incurred, except by a new treaty with Spain, or by an act of Congress abrogating the treaty of 1898.

Spain might be agreeable to the making of a new treaty in which the future status of the islands might be fixed, or she might decline to do so, knowing that the abrogation of the treaty of 1898 by act of Congress would necessarily restore the islands to their former status as a Spanish colony.

Thus restored, what would be the obligation of Spain to the Filipinos? The powers of the Spanish throne are unhampered by any written constitution. She could resume her control of the islands as a colonial possession. She could give their people a fight for their independence, or she could sell islands and people in a job lot to Japan, or England, or France, or Germany.

And what about Porto Rico? A repeal of the treaty of 1898 would restore Porto Rico as well as the Philippines to Spain. It is a transfer which the dwellers in that Caribbean paradise would probably accept with composure, for it would enable them to import goods from Europe free from American tariff duties, and they have lost the protective duty on sugar under which they were advancing in prosperity.

The representative of the New York dago lemon importers—Burton Harrison, the spoiled son of a gifted mother—who was sent to Manila by President Wilson to carry out his "meddle and muddle" policy there, can at last accomplish nothing in the way of "losing the Philippines" without the action of Congress, and the tariff, the currency bill, and trust-busting and the Mexican question have given and will give the Democratic caucus about all its overloaded stomach can assimilate for the present.

AN ANTI-GOSSIP LAW.
Wisconsin has started an innovation by penalizing gossip. A woman in Outagamie county has been fined $21 for "near-slander." Gossiping, no doubt, causes at least half the trouble and more than half the enjoyment in modern society. For the undoing of its votaries, the nearer it approaches the border line of slander the more effective it becomes.

Gossip is supposed to bear the same relation to slander that fibbing does to the lie direct. But while fibbing may be harmless, gossip always inclines to the malicious. It resembles a box of poisoned candy, and the best people don't deal in such commodities.

The wise man of Israel has written: "He that winketh his eye causeth sorrow." Gossip is always winking its eye with a sly, slow lowering of a significant lid; it says so little and infers so much. Bacon asserts: "That is the best part of beauty that a picture cannot express." So that is the worst feature of gossip which is not expressed in words. A bombshell of slander may be exploded in a simple shrug of the shoulders.

Because it is so elusive and ambiguous, gossip cannot be nailed by any hard and fast legislation. Shakespeare tells us how it produces its effects:

"With arms encumbered thus, or this head-shake,
Or by pronouncing of some doubtful phrase,
As, 'Well, well, we know,' 'We could an if we would,'
'If we list to speak,' or 'There be an if they might.'"

From which we see gossip gains much of its power by rousing curiosity, a legitimate human trait, indeed, but easily abused. Then gossip gets in its deadly work by not honestly gratifying this curiosity. So it becomes a snowball starting from a mountain top to finish up as an avalanche in the valley below. And incidentally innocent travelers are caught in the slide.

Another reason why gossip is so universal is because it is filled with human interest, it has to do with people, with daily life, with happenings close at home; not with remote theories or abstract philosophies. It gives a relish to the cup of coffee at breakfast, it flavors the entrees for the guests at the dinner table.

For all these reasons it is hard to make gossip a crime in common law. In its active form, as slander, the law may catch it; but in its embryonic shape, to prosecute gossip is too much like trying to locate a mountain spring from the deck of a ship in mid-ocean. We know the spring has somehow reached the ocean, but that is as far as we can go.

And yet—the indirect victims of gossip, sometimes harmlessly intended, are scattered along the streets of every city and the lanes of every country village. The shack of that embittered old bachelor, the cottage of that despondent, prematurely-aged woman may tell the tale. Here a broken-hearted pastor "gossiped" out of his living, there an innocent girl "gossiped" out of her character; a too talkative merchant gossiped out of his customers or a too timid gentleman gossiped into jail. But the tongue that started the idle talk that grew so by repetition is too far away to be reached by a specific law. The law cannot deal with causes till the effect has been proved dangerous, and gossip works so slowly and so secretly. A direct slander can be faced and refuted; "but a lie which is half a truth is a harder matter to fight."

Wisconsin has a big task on hand to bring subtle, malicious gossip under the operation of the criminal law. And, after all, without gossip of some kind human intercourse would be a lifeless and uninteresting affair.

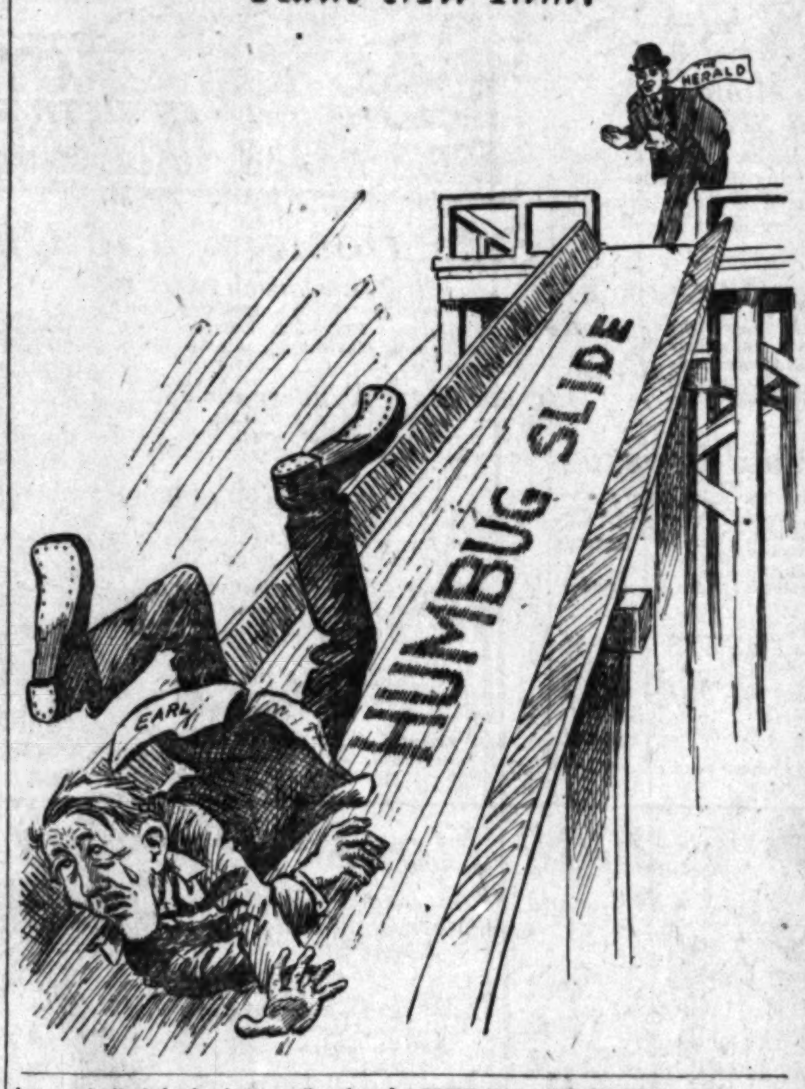
A SHOWY SHOW.
Now that preparations have been completed for the Los Angeles Chrysanthemum Festival from October 24 to November 12, it is clear that nothing short of the Shrine Auditorium will accommodate this great show next year. According to what flower enthusiasts all over the city are saying and doing, this will become one of the greatest flower feasts of the world and one of the biggest annual events of Los Angeles. The plan to open the show each morning to the school children free will have to be abandoned because the quarters are not large enough to accommodate them.

The stage alone will occupy half the big building. Eight Japanese artists from the Imperial Gardens of Tokio are here to set this stage. The figures are to be done in grass with wax heads and the flowers will be set in pots within the figures so that the heads of the blossoms will make the pictures as if they had grown to resemble the characters. They will not have to be cut, and will be constantly watered so that the persons who have loaned 200,000 choice chrysanthemums for the occasion need have no fear of the care given their blossoms.

These figures will include Abraham Lincoln, Madame Butterfly, a scene from "The Dollar Mark," one from the "Girl of the Golden West, and another from "Romeo and Juliet."

More than $10,000 has been raised to give the happy experiment a fair trial, and it is figured that an admission of 25 cents will meet a large part of this expense. The stage and its settings have cost $1200 to begin with. One of the reasons that Los Angeles can excel almost any city in the world in a show of this kind is the fact that the seed for many of the local exhibits was imported direct from the Imperial Gardens at Tokio. The Japanese in California are anxious to contribute because this flower is their pride and glory, and they are eager to have its appreciation extended in this State. One of the chief glories of the Chrysanthemum Garden is the bush plant, which is sometimes eighteen feet in circumference and is a solid head of flowers.

"'Raus Mit Ihm!"



THE FALL OF SULZER.
As Former Governor Sulzer of New York says, there may be a higher court than Charles Murphy, dictator of Tammany Hall and Democrat, but Sulzer will find no solace there.

The former Governor stands convicted of a felony. He protests his innocence, and innocent he may be, but the evidence against him seems, to all who have followed the case, overwhelming.

It makes little difference from what source the enmity arose that caused Sulzer's campaign contributions to be investigated. Had he rendered an honest accounting even Tammany Hall could not have proved him an embezzler.

The New York World, one of the fiercest foes that Charles Murphy has ever had, also the one newspaper that championed Sulzer from the first, repudiated him and called upon him to resign before impeachment proceedings had been instituted. Had there been the shadow of a doubt that Sulzer was not guilty, had there been one iota of evidence to indicate that the charges against him were fabrications of Tammany Hall, his friends would not have been the first to turn aside with condemnation.

The fall of Sulzer, as is the fall of any man who has risen to heights of eminence, is pathetic. He became a national figure by championing the worthy cause of the Jews upon Russia's refusal to grant them transports. He was one of the men who caused the abrogation of treaty between this country and Russia, and won by that attitude a large and strong following among both Jews and gentiles.

The most pitiful aspect of Sulzer's humiliation is the desolation of his wife. It is remembered that when the charges were first made against him alleging that he used campaign contributions to play the stock market, she came forward and tried to assume the responsibility, saying that she had taken the money from the source alleged and gambled on the Stock Exchange without her husband's knowledge. It was to no avail. It was established that her sacrifice was greater than her veracity, but she is not unhonored for falsehood told in behalf of the man she loved.

Her devotion to her husband took a charming form in that after moving into the executive mansion at Albany she declined to allow anyone other than herself to prepare her husband's meals. That personal service to him now shown so unworthy of it was her homage; she held it in the light of a duty.

There is no rejoicing, except perhaps among the cohorts of Murphy, over Sulzer's impeachment; there is never rejoicing among honest men when the moral delinquency of one of their fellows is proved. It is an event that is regretted, and only another of the innumerable instances that show to even the unscrupulous that the proverb, "Honesty is the best policy," cannot be ignored without tragic retribution.

UNCLE WALT.

The Poet Philosopher.

From Yuba Dam to Yonkers the man of backbone conquers, where spineless critters fail; all obstacles o'ercoming, he goes along a-humming, and gathers fame and kale. No ghosts of failure haunt him, no grisly bogies daunt him or make his spirits low; you'll find him scratching gravel wherever you may travel, from Butte to Broken Bow. From Winnipeg to Wooster you'll see this cheerful rooster, this model to all men; undaunted by reverses he wastes no time in curses, but digs right in again. His face is always shining though others be repining; you cannot keep him down; his trail is always smoking while cheaper men are croaking about the old dead town. From Humboldt to Hoboken he leaves his sign and token in buildings high and grand; in factories that flourish, in industries that nourish a tired, anaemic land. He brings the work to toilers and fills with bread and broilers their trusty dinner pails; he keeps the ripsaw ripping, the big triphammer tripping, the workman driving nails. All honor to his nobleness! We drink to him in goblets of grape juice rich and red—the man of spine and gizzard who hustles like a blizzard and simply won't be dead!

LIMITATIONS OF RESPECTABILITY.

BY LILLIAN COLLINS.

Why this crusade against the "staid" and "respectable" woman of society?

Is it no longer a virtue to be respectable?

Is the quality of staidness no longer desirable?

To be staid means to be "of a steady and sober character; not flighty or wild; grave; sedate."

Not bad qualities, these, for every-day uses.

To be respectable—

It means a lot of things, this being respectable. Briefly, it means to be deserving of respect; it is a term used in defining a just appreciation of moral worth.

It is not merely a pretty term with which to designate the badge one wears. It is not strictly a term of eulogy for the organization to which one belongs. Respectability is much more intimate and personal than all that in its application.

It is quite conceivable that one may even be a suffragette and yet not truly deserve respect in one's own person. It is entirely within the realm of possibility that one may even subscribe to the sentiment of the "old-fogy antis" and still not be entitled to decorate one's bosom with the badge of moral worth.

To be respectable is to be worthy of respect.

Then why this attitude of pity and contempt; this smile and shrug of kindly toleration and patient forbearance? Why is there that of subtle insolence injected into the term, that the words, "a good, respectable woman," from the lips of certain advanced thinkers, should bring the angry blood to one's face like the sting of the open hand upon one's cheek?

Why is it no longer deemed commendable to be respectable? Why has it beome a term of reproach to be worthy of respect? Why is it that respectability itself no longer commands a just appreciation?

Is it, indeed, that society has so far evolved that it can now dispense with the "staid" and "respectable" elements of womanhood? Have we, indeed, gone so far as that?

I was reading an editorial in one of the big dailies this morning. I read the caption reflectively.

"False Arguments of the Anti-Suffragists" it ran.

I read the first two paragraphs thoughtfully. Then I began to write—with these same paragraphs as my theme:

"That was a queer argument of the Anti-Suffragist Society to be made in America in this day and age—namely, that the exposure of vice tends to increase vice.

"Doubtless they are good women who made it. Unquestionably they are well-intentioned. It is to be believed that they are staid and respectable members of society."

Do you get the subtle atmosphere?—the smile, the shrug, the covert side-glance of pity, the uplifted brow of scorn!

"Staid and respectable members of society"—poor dears!

The author of the editorial from which I have quoted above falls into an assumption of error in the very beginning of his exposition.

"The argument of the entirely respectable ladies is based upon the theory that all vice is alluring," he oracularly proclaims.

The statement "that the exposure of vice tends to increase vice" is not made upon the theory that vice is alluring. Far from it. It is based upon the known fact that the things with which we occupy our thoughts register their impression upon the brain with an automatic tendency to perpetuate and deepen this impression.

You can't allow your thoughts to dwell persistently upon the manifestations of vice and at the same time evolve the sort of brain cells that will, in their turn, tend to produce manifestations of virtue.

That is why we prefer to have the people occupy their thoughts with the manifestations of purity, instead of holding up the distorted image of unchastity for their self-conscious consideration. We know that wholesome pictures of life as we want it to be register good impressions for further manifestation of good; while the most brilliant dramatic presentation of brothel life and bawdy-house activities can do no more than register impressions after their kind. Like produces like. It's not sentiment—it's science.

One further brief quotation from this essayist:

"Put things that are vicious behind the curtain and nine persons of ten will think they are alluring. Bring those same things into the light and nine persons of ten will know they are disgusting.

"It is to be hoped that the eminently good ladies of the Anti-Suffragist Society will learn that simple fundamental of psychology."

Tut!—tut!

Why, my dear sir! There must be something wrong with your thinking machine. Your brain is not registering accurately. This thing you are talking about is not psychology. It has nothing to do with the science of the human soul and its operations. This poking behind curtains in search of salacious excitement has no kinship with soul growth. It is merely a matter of environment, the inertia of habit, the suggestibility of association, undirected mentality crystallizing in the mold of popular pursuits. It's just plain, ordinary human cussedness.

It doesn't sound nearly so big and fine expressed in that way, does it, now? There is something so sonorous and sweeping in that term "psychology." I can't blame you for being somewhat misled by its sounding tone. But, in truth, it is not the fact that a delectable something lurks behind a curtain which initiates the mental process to which the essayist alludes. The individual's soul does not urge him to the chase. It is the hint dropped by some boon companion as to the desirableness of that thing behind the curtain that spurs him to investigation.

It tickles our vanity immensely to fancy that we have evolved from the brute-beast plane of organic life into a more etherealized form of substance; but we shall evolve much faster when we learn to distinguish the brute-beast instinct under whatsoever guise it masks.

To Make a Shooting Record.

[Forest and Stream:] A man who had the reputation of being a poor shot with the rifle proudly showed some friends a target painted on his barn door, with a bullet squarely in the bullseye. This, he declared, he had shot at a distance of 500 yards.

Later, one of the visitors asked how he had managed to fire such an excellent shot.

"Well," he answered, "I shot the bullet at the door at a distance of 500 yards, and then I painted the target around it."

ago the Onas had all of Terra del Fuego for ground. In recent years sheep ranches in the north of the island crowded the Indians into the impenetrable forests of the southern part. These Indians are splendid physical types with long, straight, black hair and dark eyes.

Furlong said that the Ona Indians, like the Yahgans, were able to endure intense cold, and that sometimes the men would discard their guanaco-skin robes in the chase and run naked through a snowstorm. It is a custom with these Indians to rub their bodies with red ochre to enable them to better endure cold.

THE LARGEST MEN.

"The Patagonians, who have frequently been mentioned in history, are a very interesting people," Furlong continued. "While they do not have the immense size attributed to them by Pigafetta, the historian of Magellan's expedition, they are unusuall, large, physically, perhaps the largest human beings living today. I noticed that most of the men were more than six feet tall and weighed 225 to 240 pounds. The women were proportionately large.

"There are indications that the Indians have decreased in stature with the passing years, so that undoubtedly they were very large when Magellan visited the land. The Patagonians are noted horsemen. Their principal food is horse flesh and this was dried during the months that I was in their land.

"All three of the tribes mentioned are dwindling rapidly in numbers. In about thirty years, the Yahgans have decreased from 2000 to 175; the Onas from 2000 to 300, and the Patagonians from 5000 to 450."

Furlong believes that the western hemisphere is the logical field for American explorers. He called attention to the success of American explorers.

BEST OF DISCOVERERS.

"American explorers, from Lieut. Peary at the pole, and throughout the width and breadth of the temperate and tropical zones, as far south as the Lieut. Wilkes expedition in the Antarctic, have contributed results unequaled by any other nation," Furlong declared. "The work is still being extended in the Arctic through the efficient command of Prof. Donald McMillan, leader of the Croker Land expedition which went by way of Ellesmere Land from Greenland. The Stefansson expedition, sent out by the Canadian government, is now in the ice off the Alaskan coast. Both expeditions have for their purpose the exploration of a vast and hitherto unvisited region of the Arctic."

Since Furlong has been in Los Angeles he received two messages from McMillan, both sent from Etah in North Greenland. Both notes are dated August 19, last. They are as follows:

"My dear Furlong: Arrived here last night at 78 degrees, and 80 minutes, with eighty dogs and twenty-five Eskimos on board. Will leave today for our winter quarters in Ellesmere Land, if we can get through the ice. Conditions favorable, I think, for a good landing."

"My dear Furlong: Find Smith's Sound blocked by ice. Have tried once to cross to our winter quarters, but must wait for a change of wind."

SHIFTED TO THIS PORT.

Noted Smuggler of Chinese Brought Here to Stand Trial Under Federal Indictment.

John Osterhuis, one of the best-known Chinese smugglers on the Pacific Coast, who has just completed a term of one year in the Alameda County Jail at Oakland, was brought to this city yesterday by a deputy marshal connected with the office at San Francisco and lodged in the County Jail.

Osterhuis is charged with others with the crime of smuggling Chinese and his trial on an indictment returned by the Federal grand jury will be begun November 18.

Osterhuis maintains two homes, one in this city and the other in San Diego. He is one of the "higher-ups" in the smuggling traffic and with his arrest more than a year ago and the conviction of a member of his partners in the trade both here and in San Francisco, the business has been at a stand-still.

Immigration inspector Charles T. Connell, who was at the head of the movement that ended in the capture of Osterhuis in San Francisco Bay, says that he was one of the most dangerous men who ever operated in this section of the country. He was in the business for years and piled up a fortune in the illegitimate trade. His trial is set before Judge Rudkin of Spokane who will be here the latter part of the month to assist Judge Wellborn in the cleaning up of the criminal calendar.

TOWELS COUNTED OUT.

The President Issues Orders to Cast Them into the Discard as Soon as Practicable.

The "Spotless Town" spirit has struck the Federal Building—by order of the President. An official communication was received by the postmaster yesterday signed by the Chief Executive, in words and figures to-wit:

"It is hereby ordered in the interest of the public health, that the use of the roller towels and other towels intended for use by more than one person be discontinued in the public buildings of the United States."

There was an immediate call to arms. Assistant Custodian Pollock was summoned and an inventory of the number of roller towels in use in the Federal Building was made. Pollock reported ninety dozen of such towels on hand.

Postmaster Harrison at once wired an order for 15,000 paper towels, sufficient for fifteen days' supply for use beginning as soon as received.

There are approximately 500 men employed in the postoffice and throughout the building and this will allow each man two towels a day. Hereafter the paper variety only will pass inspection.

County Collector Welch Pleased with Ready Response of Property Owners.

In four and a half days the County Tax Collector has taken in $116,607.93. This is $1500 more than for the corresponding period in 1912.

Tax Collector Welch stated yesterday that he is much pleased with the prompt response of the tax payers and expects this year will be a record breaker in the time taken for collecting money due the county. He says that the method of mailing out the tax bills is proving a success. More than 200,000 bills have been sent through the mails. In response checks have come pouring in. During the two hours of yesterday morning the cashier took in $17,702.08, which is considered a fair average for a whole day.

Later as the heavy property owners pay their taxes the sums will greatly increase. The heavy payments do not begin until November.

CORONANS PROTEST.

CORONA, Oct. 18.—The proposed improvement of Joy street has caused the property owners of this street to get busy with a protest and at the proper time it will be presented to the Board of Trustees. The ire of a number of its supporters was raised when the Trustees ordered the City Attorney and City Engineer to draft an ordinance intended to divert heavy traffic from the Grand boulevard to Joy street. The property owners argue that if heavy traffic will injure the boulevard road it will certainly have the same effect on Joy street, and they feel that it is an injustice to order the improvement of Joy street when it will soon be cut up by the heavily-loaded fruit wagons and other heavy vehicles that will necessarily be compelled to use Joy street when hauling fruit to the various packing-houses. The property owners will insist that heavy traffic be diverted to some other street than Joy street.

A Skeptic Convinced.

[Indianapolis Journal:] A blind man of Indianapolis who is noted for the acuteness of his other senses, was approached by a skeptic, who said:

"I am told that you can actually tell the color of a thing by feeling it. Is that so?"

The blind man, who relishes a joke, admitted that it was. "Have you a printed card in your pocket?" he asked.

The card was produced, and after feeling it gravely and carefully, the blind man said: "The card has been read," the loophole for his escape being in the word "read." By chance the card was an old one, once red, that had been faded by exposure to the sunlight.

The skeptic went away marveling and convinced.

PLAN ADVERTISING CAMPAIGN.

Los Angeles Dealers Will Utilize Moving Pictures and Other Modern Advertising Accessories.

BAKERSFIELD, Oct. 17.—The Janss Investment Company is preparing to advertise its lands around Delano, Kern county, in the Middle Western States and is collecting data, making moving pictures, taking photos of all places of interest in the vicinity such as pumping-plants, ranches, public buildings and business houses under the direction of J. B. Stearns and Dr. Glen McWilliams, managers for the company.

In about a month a special car will be sent out fully equipped with literature, samples, lecturers and whatever is calculated to show the resources and possibilities of the Delano country. The advertising campaign will be carried into the Middle West and Delano will be the only place represented. J. B. Stearns will be in charge of the car and Dr. McWilliams will be associated with Mr. Stearns in the work.

WILL ACCEPT SITE.

The Board of Supervisors of Kern county will accept the five-acre site for a pest-house offered by the Brundage estate on the northwest quarter of section 3-30-28, and a suitable pest-house will be erected thereon as soon as possible. The house will consist of four wards, two for women and two for men. Each ward will accommodate six beds, and there will be in each ward a room for the matron in charge and a kitchen. The structure will be built of concrete and will cost approximately $5000.

At the next session of the Board of Supervisors, October 25, they will make a decision as to whether or not it will be necessary to readvertise for sale $240,000 worth of the $2,500,000 authorized county highway bonds, a question having been raised as to the legality of the advertisements already published. An opinion on the matter will be obtained from the bonding attorneys, Goodfellow, Eels and Orick of San Francisco.

TAG DAY PLANNED.

At a recent meeting of the Board of Directors of the Kern County Children's Shelter, it was decided to have the annual Tag Day, November 22. Another meeting will be held next week to complete the plans and prepare the cards of invitation to the captains all over the county. The average monthly income of the Shelter is far too small to meet the requirements of the home and an annual tag day is necessary to make up the deficit. The response by the people on tag day is always prompt and generous.

The officers of the Shelter are: president, Mrs. Frank Webster; vice-president, J. F. Dearth; secretary, T. H. Minor; treasurer, J. A. Hughes, superintendent and matron, Mrs. D. A. Coolbaugh; assistant superintendent, Mrs. A. Weill; auditing committee, F. P. Bertrand and J. F. Draeth.

GARDEN SAGE DARKENS GRAY HAIR SO NATURALLY NOBODY CAN TELL

Restores Its Lustre, Prevents Scalp Itching; Dandruff and Falling Hair.

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. While it is a mussy, tedious task it well repays those whose hair is turning gray, faded and streaked.

Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks dry, wispy and scraggly just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred fold.

Don't bother to prepare the tonic; you can get from any drug store a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," ready to use. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair and is the best thing loo kyears younger and twice as at- known to remove dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair.

Everybody chooses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time which requires but a few moments. Do this at night and by morning the gray hair has disappeared and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy, lustrous and abundant. It certainly helps folks look years younger and twice as attractive, says a well-known downtown druggist. Agents, Sun Drug Company.—[Advertisement.

A Change in the Calendar.

MONROVIA, Oct. 18.—[To the Editor of The Times:] A few days ago a writer stated in The Times that America was discovered on October 12, 1492, and that it was exactly 421 years from that date to Sunday, October 12, 1913. He is quite wrong; for it lacks just nine days of 421 years. He and a multitude of others overlook the fact that a very interesting event occurred subsequent to the discovery of America, which changed the anniversary of that discovery from October 12 to October 21. At midnight, Wednesday, September 2, 1752, as the clocks struck 12 throughout England, Ireland, Wales and the American colonies eleven days were instantaneously dropped from the calendar, so that the following day became September 14 instead of September 3, and the month of September in that year contained only nineteen days and the year but 355 days. Previous to this deduction of eleven days, there had been an addition of two days too many to the calendar after the discovery of America, the one making the year 1500 a leap year and the other by making the year 1700 a leap year, so that the first two changes made October 12, old style, two days too late as regarding the discovery of America, while the subsequent dropping of eleven days made it nine days too early. Now, therefore, if October 12, New Style, comes nine days too early, the correct anniversary must be October 21; for on that date there is always a complete number of years reckoning from the discovery of America by Columbus. All reformations of the calendar are founded on the principle that the true anniversary of any event is that day of the year upon which there terminates a complete number of years since that event occurred. This prompted the reforms of Julius Caesar, Gregory XIII and the British Parliament; likewise George Washington, who was born on February 11, O.S., changed his birthday to February 22, N.S. John Adams changed his from October 19 to October 30. Jefferson changed his from April 2 to April 13; and, lastly, James Madison changed his birthday anniversary from March 5 to March 16. All these believed that if a thing is worth doing at all it is worth doing right. Though Columbus is by no means the most brilliant figure in human history, yet his life-work is more far-reaching than that of any man who ever lived; for he gave to the world its fairest and richest continent, where humanity has found its securest refuge from religious persecution or political despotism. All thoughtful people should celebrate this world-famous event on its proper day, October 21, and under its proper name, Columbus Day, not Discovery Day, for that is too ambiguous and commonplace.

A TAX PARADOX.

Loophole Discovered in Germany's New Law Which Reduces Payments on High Increments.

[Pittsburgh Gazette-Times:] A German tax expert has found a curious and amusing loophole in the new armament taxation bills, by which a taxpayer, by reporting a greater amount of property for taxation than he possesses may pay less taxes than if assessed at the correct amount. The paradox is due to the fact that the new measure combines a direct property tax with a higher increment tax and can be taken advantage of only by a taxpayer who has reason to expect a steady increase in the value of his property. If he discounts this and returns his property next January at the figure which he expects it will reach in 1917, when the increment tax becomes effective, he will, it is true, pay a higher direct tax, but save the amount of the increment tax, which on moderate properties is 75 per cent. of the increase as against the direct tax rate of 15 to 35 per cent.

The government, faced with the possibility of tax dodging, has been forced to announce, semi-officially, that persons returning their property for assessment at an excessive figure will be subjected to the same penalties of imprisonment and fine as those returning too little.

Dr. Heinz Potthoff of Dusseldorf, who found the important loophole in the law, illustrates it with the following example:

A has property valued at $7500, which he increases each year by savings and labor by $1250. If he is assessed in 1914 for $7500 and in 1917 for $11,250, his taxes will amount to 15 per cent. of $7500 and 75 per cent. of the increase of $3750, amounting altogether to $39.37. If, however, A gives his property valuation in 1914 as $11,250, he will have to pay only 15 per cent. of this during the next three years, amounting to $14.37, and no tax for the succeeding period, since there is no increment. He, therefore, saves $25 by giving the higher valuation.

The saving is relatively smaller in the case of large properties. If A has property worth $37,500, which he increases each year by $2500, his taxes for the six years under a proper valuation would amount to $181.25. If he has his property valued in the beginning at $42,500, his taxes will amount to only $150, showing a saving of $31.25.

Greatest Wireless Station.

[Indianapolis News:] The United States government will erect at Calmito, in the canal zone, one of the greatest wireless stations in the world, to be known as the Darien radio station. It will have three towers, each six hundred feet high. It is expected to be able to communicate with San Francisco on the north and with Valdivia, Chili, 421 miles beyond Valparaiso, on the south, while Buenos Aires will be reached on the east coast of South America.

Silas Colvert, uniquely distinguished.

He was valet and butler for "Lucky" Baldwin thirty-five years, and [illegible] has a valet of his own, provided by "Lucky's" daughter, Mrs. McClaughrey. Colvert celebrated his eightieth birthday anniversary yesterday.

Valet for Valet.

FAITHFUL SERVANT'S UNUSUAL REWARD

AFTER thirty-six years spent as valet and butler to the late "Lucky" Baldwin, Silas Colvert, an aged retainer of the Baldwin family, was yesterday provided with a man servant of his own. It was Colvert's eightieth birthday anniversary and Mrs. Anita Baldwin McClaughrey, "Lucky's" daughter, presented him with a valet to care for his every want.

A valet is an unusal birthday gift and doubly so when one has spent a lifetime in serving others.

Seated on the porch of the little cottage on the old Baldwin ranch at Arcadia the old man slowly turned the leaves of memory yesterday for his admiring valet and together the two visited the scenes of Colvert's youth—Rome, the Lake of Como, the Nile, Paris, London and all the famous European watering places. As personal servant to many families of means Colvert spent more than thirty year traveling abroad. He acquired a keen insight into the lives of his fellow-men and a bit of various languages that made him a friend as well as a servant to Baldwin in "Lucky's" earlier days.

Characteristic of the way "Lucky" acquired what he wished was the way Colvert came into the family [illegible] win wired from the East [illegible] ready for occupancy and [illegible] C. Ralston home in [illegible] was purchased for him [illegible] its servants, including [illegible] had been valet to Ralston. [illegible] day in the fall of [illegible] been of the Baldwin household.

With faithful service [illegible] reaping its reward, Colvert [illegible] his master's wishes as long as [illegible] lived and now that he has [illegible] crippled with rheumatism [illegible] Claughrey says he shall have [illegible] comfort. Colvert is the last of [illegible] ber grown old with the ranch.

When Colvert first came [illegible] with "Lucky" Baldwin the ranch [illegible] sisted of only 1300 acres, and [illegible] cultivated. To Colvert every [illegible] foot of the ranch, which [illegible] made a principality, is filled [illegible] memories. He knows when [illegible] building was planned and put [illegible] tree planted, each tract [illegible] His life is bound to the ranch [illegible] millions of ties. His fondness for [illegible] young woman who has made it [illegible] sible for him to spend his [illegible] years among the haunts he loves [illegible] well is beautiful to see.

"Miss Anita sure was a fine [illegible] girl," says the old man, "and [illegible] just as fine a woman. I wish I [illegible] show her how much I want her [illegible] ways be happy. I've had my day [illegible] I have nothing to regret. [illegible] God bless her, has made my [illegible] happy. There is nothing that I [illegible] wish for that she does not [illegible] And Mrs. McClaughrey, out of [illegible] loyalty of whose heart this [illegible] with all its comforts has been [illegible] ed, merely smiles at the [illegible] praise and says she is carrying [illegible] father's wishes and that as [illegible] growing old she has to "mother" [illegible] a bit.

And "mothering" seems [illegible] providing a fresh, clean [illegible] to the famous poplar drive [illegible] to the old race track where [illegible] the wonderful Baldwin horses [illegible] trained in the early days [illegible] ing was the sport of kings; a [illegible] tendant and everything [illegible] and loving care can provide [illegible] a garden with corn tassels [illegible] in the breeze, and a watermelon [illegible] scarcely a stone's throw [illegible] cool porch where he can [illegible] the days when the song [illegible] whitewashed training [illegible] busy quarters. Into such [illegible] lines has the last of the Baldwin [illegible] tainers fallen.

COMPREHENSIVE CO[illegible]

A Country Justice Afforded [illegible] modations for the Press [illegible] Builded for Future of [illegible]

[Dallas News:] The old [illegible] per man was reminiscing.

"It is customary to [illegible] tesies to the press," he [illegible] I've had a few fine ones [illegible] but about the most [illegible] that ever was bestowed upon [illegible] from the judge of a court [illegible] country town. It was the [illegible] hind the favor that has [illegible] pressed me.

"Myself and two other [illegible] were covering a sensational [illegible] the county seat, a village of [illegible] 300 or 400 people. [illegible] the judge had heard that [illegible] tatives of the 'metropolitan' [illegible] were coming, and he sent [illegible] carriage to the wharf, we [illegible] by boat, to meet us and [illegible] to the courthouse. That [illegible] tremendously, but we were [illegible] prepared for subsequent [illegible]

"In the presence of a [illegible] packed the little courtroom [illegible] to suffocation, he ordered the [illegible] to take the trial table from [illegible] yers in the case and give it [illegible]

"'There's an old [illegible] the lockup,' he said. 'Bring [illegible] for the learned counsel to [illegible] books and papers on.'

"Believe me, I was [illegible] and so were the other fellows. [illegible] examination of the first [illegible] begun in a rather low tone [illegible] prosecuting attorney, and the [illegible] halted him.

"'Speak louder,' he ordered [illegible] the gentlemen of the press can [illegible] you.'

"Those were rather marked [illegible] tions, don't you think? But [illegible] other was to come. The judge [illegible] vited all three of us to his [illegible] dinner that evening and [illegible] us to his two perfectly lovely [illegible] ters."

"Was that all?" asked a [illegible] listener.

"No, not quite all," said the [illegible] newspaper man very [illegible] ried one of the daughters."

GLAD HERALD OF PROSPERITY.

Aqueduct Celebration Will Be Epoch Marker.

Lilting Voice of Lark to Lure Crystal Tide.

Spectacular Parade and Park Dedicatory Festivities.

To the bird notes of Ellen Beach Yaw, California's own "Lark Ellen," in a new song by Charles Warren Potter, "The Living Waters," with suitable orchestral and chorus accompaniment, the golden torrent of Owens River water, now leashed at the gates of tunnel No. 108 in the San Fernando Valley, will be bidden "Welcome" to this city at noon of November 5, in a ceremonial of international significance.

"Lark Ellen" consented last week to take a prominent place on the programme which is to mark the completion of an engineering feat of large significance and which, in after days, will embellish one of the most brightly-illumed pages in the annals of this city. She will be introduced by Gen. Harrison Gray Otis.

In spite of the present uncertainty as to the presence of several of the desired speakers who are to add weight to the two-day programme which is to signalize the related opening of the aqueduct and the dedication of Exposition Park and the various structures therein, it is in all essentials complete.

At 11 a.m., November 5, in the San Fernando Valley, the coming of the waters will be signalized with a band concert. One hour later, aerial bombs and a salute from Battery A, posted on the hills above the cascades, will signal the coming of Mayor Rose, Chief Engineer Mulholland, and other distinguished guests.

TO THE CASCADES.

An address will follow and at 12:45 p.m., Mulholland will present the completed aqueduct to the city of Los Angeles and will signal the opening of the gates which will discharge the water through the three-mile tunnel onto the cascades leading to the reservoir in the valley.

Just before, the lilting strains of "The Living Waters," with the golden voice of Lark Ellen as the master strain, will be uplifted, to die away in chorus accompaniments as the water spreads and roars down the concrete slope of the cascade on its impetuous way to this city.

Mayor Rose will accept the aqueduct on behalf of the city in an address at 1 o'clock. The exercises will close with the playing of the "Star Spangled Banner" by the band. Later there will be a reception and luncheon to distinguished guests at the residence of Fred L. Boruff, chairman of the San Fernando Valley Committee.

Mayor Rolph of San Francisco and Congressman Stephens may also deliver addresses at the San Fernando celebration.

Working with might and main, the Aqueduct Celebration Commission, with the assistance of the San Fernando Valley Committee and Chief Engineer Mulholland, last week rounded into shape a number of necessary arrangements for the big valley celebration, which will be, in effect, the welcome to the long-expected waters, the culmination to a dream on which millions have been expended.

At the foot of the hogback in the San Fernando, commanding a full view of the gates of the mountain-piercing tunnel which will admit the waters from the north, as well as of the cascades, and the sluiceway to the reservoir, will be erected the speakers' stand.

Between 400 and 500 feet south of the cascades will be the temporary railroad station. A site for this was selected by Pacific Electric and Southern Pacific officials last week. There, platforms and loading and unloading runways, to cost $15,000, will be erected according to specifications prepared by the Interstate Commerce Commission. The Southern Pacific alone has agreed to run six special trains to the valley on the day of the celebration, while the Pacific Electric is preparing to handle its portion of a crowd that is estimated at from 200,000 to 600,000 persons.

Across the tracks from the temporary station will be the automobile parking space of forty acres, presided over by officials of the Automobile Club of Southern California, with ample provisions for 5000 machines.

CITY'S GREAT DAY.

The programme for the second day, November 6, will be featured by an industrial parade, the laying of the corner-stone of the Seventh Regiment Armory and of the Aqueduct Memorial Fountain, and the official opening of the Los Angeles County Historical Museum and Art Palace.

With more than 400 vehicles in line, carrying exhibits typifying the industries of the city, augmented by exhibits of fire apparatus by the city, with a platoon of police in the lead, the industrial parade will start at 10 a.m. from Temple and Spring streets and will sweep through the business district to Exposition Park.

At 1 o'clock the Masonic Order will lay the corner-stone of the armory in the presence of Gen. Wankowski and the National Guard organizations of Southern California. A salute by Battery A will conclude the ceremonies. Gov. Johnson may speak at the corner-stone laying.

Forty-five minutes later, the corner-stone of the Aqueduct Memorial Fountain will be laid with an appropriate address. Fifteen minutes later, the Los Angeles County Historical Museum and Art Palace will be opened with an address.

As a grand finale to the day's programme, the Los Angeles Driving Club will stage a special matinee on the track of Exposition Park, with some of the "fanciest" horseflesh of the country as competitors.

The ceremonies will come to a definite conclusion in the evening with a reception by the Board of Governors of the Historical Museum and Art Palace.

Hundreds of invitations to distinguished men and to engineers of national fame were extended last week by the Celebration Commission. That there will be a large attendance is a foregone conclusion. Each one who attends will be presented with a forty-page booklet, admirably illustrated and handsomely printed, detailing the history of the city and of the aqueduct and of Exposition Park. This booklet, which is to be the official souvenir of the occasion, is to be printed this week.

A pronunciamento of the commision in connection with its invitation is of interest as detailing in brief the history of the aqueduct. It follows:

"The celebration to which we have the honor of extending to you this invitation marks the completion of an institution without peer in this or any other country.

Not since the days of the Roman Aqueduct has the world recorded engineering accomplishment, aqueductorial, equal to this great gathering of the waters from the snow-capped peaks of the Sierras and their conduct o'er mountain and plain, 260 miles, to the salvation of the half-million souls which now are, and the added half-million soon to be, in that incomparable City of the Golden West—Los Angeles.

Eight years of ceaseless application of brain and brawn and $24,500,000, constitute this heroic monument to the ability of man and the devotion of a people.

The Los Angeles Aqueduct will bring pure mountain water from the main range of the Sierra Nevadas, a distance of 260 miles, across deserts and through mountains, in sufficient quantity to supply a city of 2,000,000 inhabitants. It is a gravity system throughout, no pumping plants being required. It will deliver 258,000,000 gallons, net, every twenty-four hours into reservoirs nearly 1000 feet above the city. The Los Angeles Aqueduct consists of ninety-eight miles of covered cement conduit, forty miles uncovered, twenty-one miles of open canal, twelve miles of inverted siphons, forty-three miles of tunnels through mountains, ten to thirteen feet in diameter, and four reservoirs along the line, each capable of containing three months' supply. This entire work was conceived and carried out by Chief Engineer William Mulholland, assisted by Assistant Chief Engineer J. B. Lippincott and an able staff.

The water power will be utilized in its descent of several thousand feet from its source in eventually producing 120,000 horse power peak load of electrical energy, which will be used for the city's light and power, and the sale of which will eventually liquidate the bonds and interest of both the aqueduct and electrical plants.

The Los Angeles Aqueduct, when completed, will constitute one of the largest engineering and water transmission undertakings in the world.

EXETER.

EXETER, Oct. 18.—Officials of the Southern Pacific Railroad have issued a statement that within the ensuing few days a new tariff sheet will be issued which will give to all points in the Lemon Cove district on the line of the Visalia Electric road the same classification as Exeter, doing away with local freight charges from Lemon Cove district points to Exeter. This order will mean a considerable saving in the handling of the orange crop for the coming season, practically all of the fruit being handled out of Exeter for eastern shipment.

CONREY APPOINTED.

Governor Names Local Superior Court Judge to Fill Vacancy on Appellate Bench.

The Governor yesterday appointed Judge N. P. Conrey to the vacancy in the Second District Court of Appeals caused by the death of presiding Justice Allen, ten days ago.

Judge Conrey was born in Franklin country, Ind., in 1860. He graduated from Ashbury University, now known as De Pauw University, in 1881, and from the law school of the University of Michigan in 1883. He came to Los Angeles in February, 1884, engaging in the practice of his profession. His first official position was as City Attorney of Pasadena. He was a member of the State Assembly, 1899-1900.

On December 28, 1900, he was elected to the Superior Court to serve the last two years of the unexpired term of Judge William H. Clarke, who died in May, 1899. The late Judge W. F. Fitzgerald served the intervening time between the death of Judge Clarke and the election of Judge Conrey. Judge Fitzgerald, appointed by Gov. Gage, declined to be a candidate to succeed himself. Judge Conrey was re-elected in 1902 and 1908. His term in the Superior Court would have expired at the close of 1914.

When Judge Bordwell retired, Judge Conrey was recognized as the logical judge to succeed him in the important litigation the former had tried, including the famous California Development Company's suits. The work of the Appellate Court appeals to him, he stated yesterday.

CRIB FOR TRIPLETS.

Parents of Remarkable Boys Grateful for Gift Which Honors Their Birth Here.

Many persons were ready to extend substantial kindness to the Lovell triplets, born at the Rising Sun apartments, No. 848 Wall street, and the parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Lovell, have been able to combat the high cost of living as a result. Among the things purchased for the boy triplets is a handsome crib, wide enough for all three of the youngsters.

The crib has been fitted up and the boys have been given a dainty wardrobe. Mr. and Mrs. Lovell are very grateful for the gifts.

SUPERVISOR BELLIGERENT.

Tulare County Official Will Wage Unrelenting War on Pacific Light and Power Company.

VISALIA, Oct. 18.—That he will personally resist in the courts if necessary the alleged attempt of the officials of the Pacific Light and Power Company to override the terms of a franchise recently granted them by Tulare county for the construction of a tower line for power transportation to Los Angeles, was the statement today of F. M. Singleton, Supervisor of the Ducor district, through which a large portion of the Tulare construction is being done. Singleton says that the franchise required that where the lines crossed a public highway the towers should be placed at intervals of 200 feet. He says the towers are 600 feet apart and that the wires sag to the extent that they are a constant menace to human life.

Singleton says the company will be called to account forthwith for their indifference to the terms of their permit. Incidentally the Supervisor paid his respects to the Railroad Commission with the statement that in every case in which the county officials had appealed to the board the county "had been given the worst of it."

METERS CHEAT COMPANY?

That's the Eagle Rock Water Concern's Assertion Before the State Railroad Commission.

In Eagle Rock the water meters cheat the water company. This statement was made with positive emphasis yesterday by Manager Wieman of the company in testimony before Commissioner Gordon of the State Railroad Commission in the case of the city of Eagle Rock vs. that company.

"We get the best meters we can find," said Wieman, but under certain circumstances they cheat us out of from 200 to 300 feet of water a month."

"Climate must be bad for water companies," said Gordon.

The complaint revolves around what Gordon denominated as the "most remarkable" system of water charges and water regulations of which he had ever heard.

According to the testimony, a person pays 75 cents to the water company whether he uses water or not. It was also shown that the installation of service connection and meters costs the property owner from $15 to $50 according to the size of meter installed. Yet the meter does not thereby become the possession of the property owner, but remains vested in fee simple with the company.

The city of Eagle Rock petitions for a general revision of the water rates and of all the regulations of the company. The water company sought to prove that it would lose money were rates reduced to a mean level, as physical conditions had made the cost of its plant excessively high, while the pumping of water at the same rate to hill homes as to the homes that are reached by gravity water would be unjust.

The entire day was occupied with the hearing, which was filled with technicalities of the engineering variety.

TIME TO EQUALIZE.

Inglewood Water Company Given Middle of Next Month to Clear Rate Tangle.

In a decision handed down yesterday by the State Railroad Commission the Inglewood Water Company is given until November 15 to equalize its rates and establish a system by which customers will be informed monthly of the amount of their bills.

The decision was the aftermath to the so-called "15-cent" case which came before the commission in a complaint of O. E. Slinack. He set forth that the water company persisted in imposing a fine of 15 cents on all bills remaining unpaid after the 15th of the month, in spite of the fact that it refused to furnish consumers with bills.

In the hearing in this city before Commission Loveland September 25 the fact was established that not only were no bills furnished, but that customers with lawns were given a lower rate than those using the water for domestic purposes only.

SPRINGVILLE.

SPRINGVILLE, Oct. 18.—Returns have been received here on the first straight carload of quinces ever shipped out of this county, the fruit bringing $2.10 for thirty-pound boxes. It is stated by the company handling the fruit that this is an exceptional price for carlots and was because of the exceptional quality of the fruit. The quinces were raised by J. D. Leding of the Success section and were sold on the Chicago market. At the price the output will net the grower better than $75 per ton.

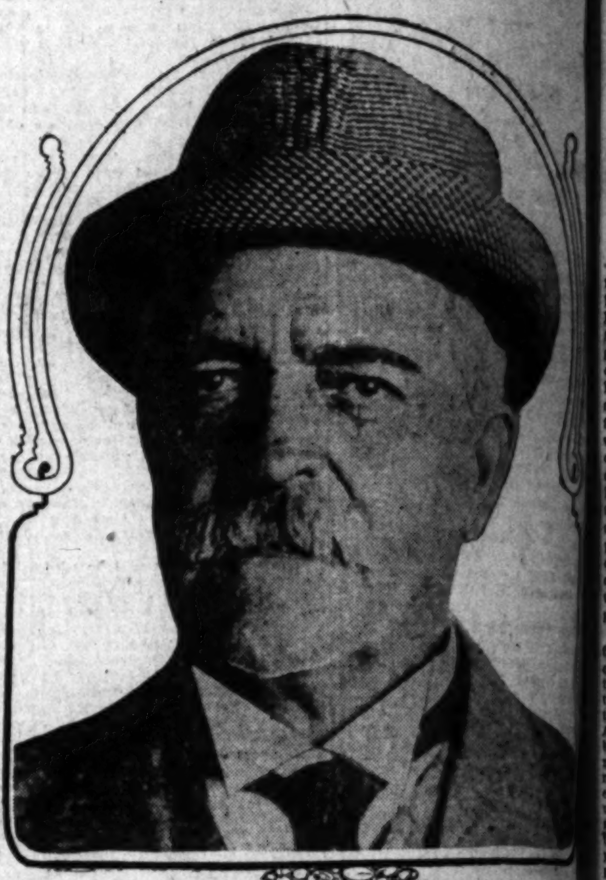
LEGENDS OF HAWAIIANS RIVAL GRECIAN MYTHS



Dr. W. D. Westervelt,

A retired missionary of Honolulu, who has made a scientific stu of legends and folk lore of the Hawaiian Islands for twenty years, that some of the island legends excel the Greek myths in imagi picturesqueness.

TWENTY YEARS of scientific study of the legends and folk-lore of the Hawaiian Islands has convinced Dr. W. D. Westervelt, a retired missionary of Honolulu, now visiting in Los Angeles, that they are in some respects more imaginary and picturesque than the famous classic myths of the Greeks and Romans. The Hawaiian Hercules is credited with feats more daring and wonderful than those of the renowned strong man of the Greeks.

Dr. Westervelt has visited the various islands of the Hawaiian group and heard the ancient stories direct from the lips of the natives. He also has collected a library on the subject and made a comparative study of the folk-lore of the Hawaiian Islands with that of the other islands of Polynesia. Dr. Westervelt formerly was president of the Historical Society of Honolulu and is a member of the Polynesian Historical Society of New Zealand.

Polynesia is the name given to thirty groups of islands in the central and southeastern Pacific, lying in an imaginary triangle of which the three corners are Hawaii, New Zealand and Tahiti.

"The four great gods worshiped in Polynesia," Dr. Westervelt explained, "are Ku, the builder or architect; Lono, the spirit moving on the face of the waters; Kane, the thinking force; and Kana-Loa, a sort of jack-of-all-trades who gave attention to detail work.

"The most interesting of the legendary characters of Hawaii is the demigod Maui, who corresponds to Hercules in the Greek system of mythology. He is credited with having fished up the Hawaiian islands from the bottom of the ocean, lassoed the sun, discovered fire, painted the fish and performed other marvelous feats.

"It is related that Maui once changed himself to a bird and flew to the underworld where he found the goddess, Mafuia, who was paralyzed on one side. He took away her jawbone on the side that was paralyzed and used it through life as a magic club and fish-hook.

"Maui and his brothers, who were the first created men, went fishing in canoes. The hero lowered the bone fish-hook into the deep water. They felt the line tighten and heaved away. Presently the land began to appear. Maui's assistants became frightened at the sight and rowed away in their canoes. The natives believe that if Maui's men had stuck to their task and not fled a great continent, instead of a chain of islands, would have been raised above the surface of the water.

"There is a great cavern on the northern end of Hawaii which is said to be the hole made by Maui's fish-hook when he pulled it up from the bottom of the sea.

"According to the legends, the natives complained to Maui that the days were too short. The hero prepared a lasso of vines which he threw around the legs (rays) of the sun and finally captured him. It is reported that Maui beat the sun over the head with his magic jawbone until he promised to go more slowly in his journeys across the sky and thus make the days longer."

Dr. Westervelt said that Maui's reputed discovery of fire was regarded as an achievement that was of lasting benefit to mankind.

The traditions recount that there was a hungry goddess who had fire in each of her ten fingers. Maui took her food and each time broke off one of her fingers. When he returned for the last finger she became angry, broke off the flaming finger and threw it at the hero. His garments were ignited and he fled to the upper world, spreading the blaze. This was the explanation of the volcanoes.

Before the great conflagration ceased the thoughtful Maui, 'tis said, preserved the fire for future generations by placing it in the tree. Later it was possible to extract the fire by rubbing one piece of wood against another.

"Maui is the reputed inventor of the flying machine," Dr. Westervelt continued. "Desiring a means of quick transportation, he is said to have killed many large birds and from their skins, feathers and bones constructed one large bird with which he flew from one island to another in search of his wife, who was kidnaped by a god. Mrs. Maui was not recovered, according to tradition.

"It was in a noble quest of immortality that Maui is reputed to have lost his life. He was informed that the only way to obtain immortality was to conquer Hina-Ika, the goddess of death, who dwelt in the land of the setting sun. His plan was to approach her as she sl down her throat, cut out h and escape with it before th

LENGTHY LEEWA IN LAND CLAI

MINERAL FILINGS MAY BE THAN THE LIMIT.

Interior Department Allows Ela ticity to Accommodate Gr Entrymen Expected to Take A vantage of Ruling to Obtain M Than Twenty Acres.

An innovation in the filing of eral claims is announced in a cision of Acting Secretary of the terior Jones, received at the land office yesterday, reversing a vious decision of the Commi of the General Land Office o subject.

Mining and oil interests of fornia are interested in the plies the rule of approxima tofore uniformly applied land and homestead entries made under the mining limits the amount that may tered by each person to twenty

The case was that of the Coast Oil Company, in which peared that five individuals tered an area of land for poses aggregating 102.06 acres der the rule that has for years in vogue these five locators limited to 100 acres in the or twenty acres apiece, and the eral Land Office decided that claim could only be 100 acres appeal was taken by the com the decision and the Interior ment has reversed the rule.

In the opinion the Acting says: "The rule of appro applied by the department cases is not based upon thority but arose from the unavoidably the public from the regular quantity tion of its subdivision and to apply the limitation allowing no excess, would limit one having the less quantity than the him, or force him mineral surveys to encroach other subdivision of the veys."

The application of the rule of approximation to be applied to of mineral lands, both for and oil, has been long by the mining men of they have at last won the tion. The new rule future entries prospectors other minerals will not be just twenty acres each, will be allowed to enter not only cover the legal ditional land to conform veys so as not to encroach other subdivision. Practically work out that an entryman ty acres may legally much as twenty-five acres, to the survey lines, and his rights.

The decision is also that it will settle the valuable oil strikes that ber of instances have been some of this excess land been claimed did not could not be claimed by ful prospector, because was made on land outside acre limit but within the by the entrymen. It served to the original der the rule of approximation has all along been land and homestead in mineral claims.

NATURAL GAS FALLACIES.

McReynolds Gives Facts and Figures on Subject.

Ridicules Theories of Folks Who Guess at It.

Thinks It Unwise to Fix Rates at This Time.

The City Council having fixed upon next Saturday as the day upon which it hopes to have full data from the Board of Public Utilities to enable it to fix natural gas rates, a statement given out by President McReynolds of the board, is of special interest. Mr. McReynolds goes exhaustively into the subject and completely upsets the flimsy theories set up by some people who would contend that because any commodity is sold somewhere at a given price, that should be the price in Los Angeles. That everybody wants the gas as cheap as it can be sold, and should have it at the lowest possible price, goes without saying, just as does the fact that the price depends entirely upon the cost of producing the commodity, McReynolds says, in part:

"Many things have been presented through the newspapers, resolutions of civic bodies, speeches and conversations as elements having to do with the making of a rate to be charged to consumers for natural gas at Los Angeles. The one element which has been most insistently urged and magnified as having direct bearing on our rate here has been: The fact that in eastern cities where natural gas is used, the average rate is somewhere near 30 cents per 1000 cubic feet, and this fact has been said to prove beyond question that a rate of 30 cents per 1000 cubic feet would be a correct one for natural gas at Los Angeles.

"With this contention I have taken issue, as it does not seem to me that the fact that natural gas is sold somewhere, or for that matter, everywhere, in Kansas or Ohio for 30 cents per 1000 cubic feet, or any other price, proves conclusively or proves at all that 30 cents or any other specific price would be a reasonable and fair rate at Los Angeles. I would just as soon believe that because the average price of land in land areas of the State of Texas or the Republic of Mexico is $5 or less per acre, proves conclusively or proves at all, that the reasonable and fair price of land in Southern California would be $5 or less per acre. Nor do I believe that because I have seen water sell for $1 per barrel, and the consumers more than glad to pay the price, that it is proved that a reasonable and fair price for water at Los Angeles is $1 per barrel.

"I might go on indefinitely giving examples showing the absolute fallacy of comparative statistics when used for the purpose of fixing the price of anything at Los Angeles. It is a fact that 'fair rates cannot be determined by comparison of rates in other communities, since identical conditions probably never exist, and weight cannot be given readily or intelligently to the different causes which might affect them.'

DEPENDS ON COST.

"The reasonable and fair price for any particular service must be fixed upon the actual necessary cost of providing that particular service in that particular place and under conditions as they actually are, and not as someone would like to have them.

"If it be a fact, and I assure you here and now that it is a fact, that conditions are not the same in eastern natural gas fields as they are in California, I suppose that you want to know wherein the conditions are substantially different. There are so many differing conditions that I shall be able to compare but few of them.

"The area of the Midway natural gas fields, from which the supply is to come to Los Angeles, is unknown, as there has not been sufficient drilling to prove even the probable production area. Many years of operations in the eastern fields have proven beyond reasonable doubt the exact area of the fields.

"In our fields, area, quantity of production, or life of wells or fields are not known. In eastern fields these factors are proven with sufficient certainty to make it possible to invest money in natural gas plants and systems upon an actual business basis, while in the present state of development here money invested must be on the basis of a gamble founded upon hope without basis of actual experience.

"In the Kansas natural gas fields, where 5700 wells have been drilled, the average cost has been $1700 each. In our fields if a well can be finished under $30,000 it is looked upon as almost a miracle by those best informed as to the cost of drilling wells in the Midway field, and after a well is finished it may produce gas for only a few hours before something unexpected happens and it is entirely lost or must be practically redrilled.

GOOD WAGES HERE.

"The maximum wage of drillers in the eastern fields is $5.50 per day; in ours, $6 to $8, and will average fully $7.50. Eastern labor, $1.50; California labor, $3."

McReynolds then states that the 12-inch pipe-line from the Midway field to this city is 112 miles long and cost $11,000 per mile, while eastern lines are constructed for about half this cost, and he proves this difference by giving detailed items of construction.

He goes at length into the amount of gas consumed and shows by actual figures that as the units of heat were increased by mixing natural gas with the manufactured gas until the portion of the former is now 45 per cent., the consumption decreased, each individual consumer making a small saving, both in money and time.

He states that the price paid for manufactured gas in Los Angeles is lower than in any other city in the United States, with a single exception, and that the service is the best. He closes with the statement that he is willing to help make rates now if the City Council demands it, but deems it unwise, as too much uncertainty exists as to the available supply and the feasibility of building additional pipe lines to supply the demand.

ENGTHY LEEWAY IN LAND CLAIMS.

INERAL FILINGS MAY BE MORE THAN THE LIMIT.

Interior Department Allows Elasticity to Accommodate Occasional Entrymen Expected to Take Advantage of Ruling to Obtain More Than Twenty Acres.

An innovation in the filing of mineral claims is announced in a decision of Acting Secretary of the Interior Jones, received at the local land office yesterday, reversing a previous decision of the Commissioner of the General Land Office on the subject.

Mining and oil interests of California are interested in that it applies the rule of approximation heretofore uniformly applied to desert land and homestead entries to entries made under the mining laws that limits the amount that may be entered by each person to twenty acres. The case was that of the [illegible] Coast Oil Company, in which it appeared that five individuals had entered an area of land for oil purposes aggregating 102.66 acres. Under the rule that has for years been in vogue these five locaters would be limited to 100 acres in the aggregate, or twenty acres apiece, and the General Land Office decided that the claim could only be 100 acres. An appeal was taken by the company to the decision and the Interior Department has reversed the rule.

In the opinion the Acting Secretary says: "The rule of approximation applied by the department in such cases is not based upon statutory authority but arose from the fact that unavoidably the public surveys vary from the regular quantity that a section of its subdivision should contain, and to apply the limitations literally, allowing no excess, would frequently limit one having the right to enter a less quantity than the law accords him, or force him through special mineral surveys to encroach upon another subdivision of the public surveys."

The application of the rule of approximation to be applied to entries of mineral lands, both for gold and oil, has been long contended for by the mining men of California, and they have at last won their point. The new rule means that in future entries prospectors for oil and other minerals will not be limited to just twenty acres each, but that they will be allowed to enter enough to not only cover the legal area, but additional land to conform to the surveys so as not to encroach upon another subdivision. Practically it will work out that an entryman for twenty acres may legally locate as much as twenty-five acres, according to the survey lines, and be well within his rights.

The decision is also important in that it will settle the ownership of valuable oil strikes, that in a number of instances have been made on some of this excess land that had been claimed, did not belong to, or could not be claimed by the original prospector, because the records were made on land outside the area claimed in the limit but within the area claimed by the entrymen. It would be proved to the original entrymen had the rule of approximation been enforced all along been enforced in desert land and homestead entries but not mineral claims.

NATURAL GAS FALLACIES.

McReynolds Gives Facts and Figures on Subject.

Ridicules Theories of Folks Who Guess at It.

Thinks It Unwise to Fix Rates at This Time.

The City Council having fixed upon next Saturday as the day upon which it hopes to have full data from the Board of Public Utilities to enable it to fix natural gas rates, a statement sent out by President McReynolds of the board, is of special interest. Mr. McReynolds goes exhaustively into the subject and completely upsets the many theories set up by some people who would contend that because any commodity is sold somewhere at a given price, that should be the price in Los Angeles. That everybody wants gas as cheap as it can be sold, and to have it at the lowest possible price, goes without saying, just as the fact that the price depends largely upon the cost of producing the commodity, McReynolds says, in part:

"Many things have been presented through the newspapers, resolutions of [illegible] bodies, speeches and conversations as to elements having to do with the making of a rate to be charged consumers for natural gas at Los Angeles. The one element which has been insistently urged and magnified as having direct bearing on our problem has been: The fact that in some cities where natural gas is used the average rate is somewhere about 30 cents per 1000 cubic feet, and this has been said to prove beyond question that a rate of 30 cents per 1000 cubic feet would be a correct one for natural gas at Los Angeles.

"On this contention I have taken issue as it does not seem to me that the fact that natural gas is sold somewhere, or for that matter, everywhere, in the State of Ohio for 30 cents per 1000 cubic feet, or any other price, proves conclusively or proves at all that 30 cents or any other specific price would be a reasonable and fair rate for Los Angeles. I would just as soon believe that because the average price of land in land areas of the State of Texas or the Republic of Mexico is $5 or less per acre, proves conclusively or proves at all, that the reasonable and fair price of land in Southern California would be $5 or less per acre. Nor do I believe that because I have seen water sell for [illegible] and the consumers more than glad to pay the price, that it is proved that a reasonable and fair price for water at Los Angeles is $1 a barrel.

"I might go on indefinitely giving examples showing the absolute fallacy of comparative statistics when used for the purpose of fixing the price of anything at Los Angeles. It is a fact that fair rates cannot be determined by comparison of rates in other communities, since identical conditions probably never exist, and weight cannot be given readily or intelligently to the different causes which might affect them.

DEPENDS ON COST.

"The reasonable and fair price for any particular service must be fixed upon the actual necessary cost of producing that particular service in that particular place and under conditions as they actually are, and not as someone would like to have them.

"If it be a fact, and I assure you here and now that it is a fact, that conditions are not the same in eastern natural gas fields as they are in California, I suppose that you want to know wherein the conditions are substantially different. There are so many differing conditions that I shall be able to compare but few of them.

"The area of the Midway natural gas fields, from which the supply is brought to Los Angeles, is unknown. There has not been sufficient drilling to prove even the probable productive area. Many years of operation in the eastern fields have proven beyond reasonable doubt the exact area of the fields.

"In our fields, area, quantity of production, or life of wells or fields is not known. In eastern fields these factors are proven with sufficient certainty to make it possible to put money in natural gas plants and systems upon an actual business basis, while in the present state of development here money invested must be put on the basis of a gamble founded upon hope without basis of actual experience.

"In the Kansas natural gas fields, more than 1700 wells have been drilled. The average cost has been $1700 each. In our fields if a well can be finished for $30,000 it is looked upon as almost a miracle by those best informed as to the cost of drilling wells in the Midway field, and after a well is finished it may produce gas for only a few hours before something unforeseen happens and it is entirely lost or must be practically redrilled.

GOOD WAGES HERE.

"The maximum wage of drillers in eastern fields is $5.50 per day; in ours it is $[illegible], and will average fully [illegible]. Eastern labor, $1.50; California, $[illegible]."

McReynolds then states that the main pipe-line from the Midway to this city is 112 miles long and cost [illegible] per mile, while eastern lines are constructed for about half that, and he proves this difference by giving detailed items of construction.

He goes at length into the amount of gas consumed and shows by actual tests that as the units of heat were reduced by mixing natural gas with manufactured gas until the portion of the former is now 45 per cent., consumption decreased, each individual consumer making a small saving both in money and time.

He states that the price paid for natural gas in Los Angeles is lower than in any other city in the United States, with a single exception, and that the service is the best. He closes with the statement that he is willing to help make rates now if the City Council demands it, but deems it unwise, as too much uncertainty exists as to the available supply and the feasibility of building additional pipe lines to supply the demand.

THE POLITICAL WATCHTOWER

THERE appears to be confusion in vogue at the next general primary elections in this county and throughout the State. Even some shrewd and well-informed politicians are under the impression that the successor of United States Senator George C. Perkins is to be chosen by the members of the Legislature.

Both impressions are wrong.

There will be no straight-out partisan tickets in the county fight; or, rather, the new county charter does not provide for such an arrangement. Instead, the two candidates receiving the highest number of votes in the primary will be the accepted nominees for the county elective offices, not including candidates on the Legislative tickets. If by any fluke two Democrats should chance to get the most votes for District Attorney or Sheriff or Assessor, then one of those two candidates would be chosen at the November election to fill such office. It is good-by to partisan lines. Pretty much the same system as now applies in Los Angeles city will be followed in the county.

Party lines will be reorganized in the legislative fight, so that the Republicans and the rest of them will be permitted to have partisan representation on the ballot, even though it will be of little use to the Bourbons and Socialists et al.

The candidate for United States Senator will go straight to the people for his toga.

This fact alone encourages the people who dread the mere thought of a man of F. J. Heney's caliber being elected to represent such a magnificent commonwealth as California in the highest legislative body in the country. Heney's overwhelming egotism will not deter him from going about bawling for votes, but even his Progressive supporters, what few he has of them in this vicinity, do not look for his success. The antagonism to Heney and his ergotic methods is too deep-rooted to permit of his indorsement by California for such an important place as that of United States Senator. It is also recalled that until a few years ago Heney was of the most obnoxious brand of carpet-bagging Democrats, and that he has never announced himself as a Republican. He is an avowed tariff-tinker, favoring national legislation that threatens the destruction of valuable California industries and businesses. Those who know Heney's most vicious inclinations declare him to be a free trader of the extreme type, if one type of free-trader is to be feared worse than any other. In other words, Heney is the limit. Having nothing to lose himself, he is a willing advocate of the destruction of the industries of others.

While Sam Shortridge's Senatorial boom seems to be mostly in the limelight just now, there is a strong movement under way in behalf of Congressman Joe Knowland of Alameda. Knowland has been in Congress since 1904. He is a high-protective-tariff advocate, and has a splendid Republican record in the House of Representatives. He has the distinction of having been once elected without opposition, as the Democrats could not find a man in his Congressional district to enter the race against him. He is a member of a number of fraternal organizations, including the Native Sons of the Golden West, he being a native of Alameda, where he was born just 40 years ago. Knowland's friends are showing that his experience in the Lower House would make him a most valuable representative in the Senate. He is also credited with having the good will of Senator Perkins, who has declared his intention of retiring at the close of his present term, which will be in March, 1915.

It is beginning to look very much as if Capt. John D. Fredericks is going to hear a genuine call from the people for him to become a candidate for the Governorship, whether he personally likes the idea or not. The suggestion that Fredericks be made the Republican standard-bearer has certainly awakened a popular chord, judging by the talk that is to be heard wherever politicians do congregate. And this favorable comment is by no means confined to Los Angeles county. It is quite general in all parts of the State, for Fredericks's sterling ability and courageous method is well known and indelibly impressed upon the minds of all good citizens in California. It remains to be seen whether the captain will consent to become a candidate, but if he does, he is assured of an enthusiastic reception.

The discovery has been made that Secretary of the Interior Department Franklin K. Lane will not be a candidate for Governor at the behest of the forlorn Democrats. This little fact has been known to the Secretary's friends for many moons, but it appears to have just percolated into the knowledge boxes of some of the Progressive leaders, who are now saying many pleasant things about the popular Californian. But they might be singing on the other side of their countenances were he considering an attempt to chase Gov. Johnson to the tall timber. It may be said with considerable degree of assurance that Lane is out of politics except in so far as his official position in the President's Cabinet may require his participation. His best friends hope to see the day when his experience and ability will find him a member of the United States Supreme Court.

The report comes from Lake county that the Democrats in that section are desirous to see Dr. W. R. Prather make the race for Lieutenant-Governor. Just how this may jibe with the reported aspirations of Charles M. Brown of Redlands is not altogether clear; but perhaps, Frank W. Nutter of San Bernardino county may be able to figure it out. Brown has been cavorting with the statesmen back in Washington, mainly interesting himself in the application of Frank P. Meserve for the Redlands postmastership. He is also credited with taking an active interest in Tommy Duckworth's fight for the P. M. job at San Bernardino, which Congressman Kettner has promised to Editor Ernest Martin.

If this Democratic Congress ever gets through trying to fix up a satisfactory currency bill Representative Kettner, member from the Eleventh District, with headquarters at San Diego, promises to hurry out this way and meet his constituents. If Kettner means to include Los Angeles Democracy in his itinerary, then he is entitled to a Carnegie medal. It is a safe prediction that if the San Diego statesman will venture among the Bourbon cohorts here he will have the time of his life, both private and public, for the Democrats are wild with hunger for Federal jobs and Kettner hasn't succeeded in landing enough to go around. Hence they all wish to see him, to feel of him, and to touch him. Also they want to show him where to "head in" to hold their individual support for a second term in Washington, which I understand Kettner is not sanguine is in store for him. There is a big postmastership at San Diego that will be yearning for a new incumbent along about the time the present Kettner term of office will be expiring; and it is a wise Congressman who knows the limitations of his political prospects, especially if he is a Democrat in a normal Republican district where the people want results and not pipe dreams. Kettner may not have set the national capital on fire, but report has it that he has crowded Congressman Raker and Member Church into the outer darkness in standing with the administration.

An interesting story illustrates the small importance of the average Congressman back at Washington, although his friends and supporters at home may imagine him as enjoying the most intimate and confidential relations with the President, Cabinet officers and members of the Supreme Court. California has three perfect specimens of the average Congressmen in Messrs. Raker, Church and Kettner, with whatever little superiority to be enjoyed going to Kettner. From the hour of their election last November, this trio of statesmen have been besieged with appeals for postmasterships and other jobs. They have written polite and promising letters to about every beseeching job-chaser who got in touch with them, and there is no reason for suspecting that Messrs. Raker, Church and Kettner didn't intend to get all the appointments possible. They were supposed to be holding at least daily conferences with heads of departments, from Wilson down to the last Assistant Postmaster-General, if there is such an individual. They were seeing the President regularly, etcetera. So their friends in California were led to believe, at any rate. The good story that comes from back yonder is to the effect that neither of this trio of Democratic members of Congress had, up to the middle of last April, ever met President Wilson. Not one of them had been presented to the Chief Executive; not one of them had spoken to him about a single job, either in or out of California. And the man who told me this has been a very close and confidential friend of the Honorable Woodrow Wilson.

FRUITOLA and TRAXO

Mean Health and Happiness

Fruitola
TRAXO

Here are the pictures of our two sovereign California Remedies—Fruitola and Traxo. This is just the way they will look when you see them on the druggist's shelf or counter. We put these pictures here for your protection because our remedies are so good and efficient that we have imitators. We want you to get the original and genuine preparations, and when the medicine you buy is put up like the above pictures, you will know that you have the genuine article. Take no imitation or substitute.

WHY should you envy the man or woman who has perfect health, who has a sparkle in the eye, a spring in the step, a rose on the cheek and who greets the morning sun with a bright and happy smile at the sheer joy of living?

You can be so and you can do these things if you but will. You had just such health at one time. Why not have it again? Of course, your trouble is with the digestive system—stomach and bowels. This must be so because every particle and form of nutrition which reaches every other organ of the body—the whole body itself—must come primarily from the stomach. If the stomach and bowels properly retain, digest and assimilate—take up—the food nutrient, there must be perfect health. If they fail in their functions, there is stagnation, sluggishness, a halting of fetid waste matter in the folds and angles of stomach and bowels, which means a slow poisoning of the whole being.

The evidences of this last known condition are shown in dizziness, nervousness, dyspepsia, biliousness, coated tongue, bad breath and a host of other things. These are Nature's way of warning you that you are in a dangerous condition and must act quickly. If you disregard these warnings, you are just a step from chronic dyspepsia, hardened liver, nervous debility, and even gall stones, kidney stones and appendicitis.

Now do not rush off and take a lot of vigorous acting stomach and bowel destroying pills and cathartics. Take the time-tried remedies made after Nature's formula:

FRUITOLA and TRAXO

Fruitola acts in a mild and soothing way, no griping, but moves every particle of lodged, dead and poisonous waste matter from the entire digestive system. Traxo stimulates the mucous lining, digestive glands, the muscular walls and gently stirs and tones the liver, etc. That's all. It is very simple but you are made well.

In the past twenty years these sovereign California Remedies have worked just these happy results for thousands of hopeless men and women who are now well and happy. They will do the same for you.

These preparations are sold by nearly all druggists, but if you don't find them there, write us direct and we will see that you are supplied. A booklet at the druggist's or mailed direct to you upon request, will tell you all about the sterling qualities of these preparations and the relief they have brought to thousands of suffering men and women.

crued and paid within the year on its bonded or other indebtedness not exceeding one-half of the sum of bonded indebtedness, and its paid-up capital stock outstanding at the close of the or if no capital stock, the amount of interest paid within the year on an amount of indebtedness not exceeding the amount of capital employed in its business at the close of the year." (Page 216-224.)

Corporations will also be relieved of paying the excise tax after March 1, 1914 (dealers in alcoholic goods not included) and will pay only the normal income tax.

UNDIVIDED PROFITS TAXABLE.

All persons will be assessed for the gains and profits of any business in which they are interested whether or not such gains and profits are divided and distributed. (Page 191.) It shall also be considered evidence of fraud if such gains and profits are allowed to accumulate more than the Secretary of the Treasury believes is needed to operate the business. (Page 191.)

This provision does not include partnerships, for persons carrying on business as a partnership are liable for the income tax only in an individual capacity. (Page 200.)

ADDITIONAL ON DIVIDENDS.

Corporations, joint-stock companies, associations and insurance companies are not assessed the additional tax on their net income. However, all of the dividends that are paid are not only assessed the normal tax at the source of income, but such dividends, interest and payments are liable for the additional tax (if over $20,000) after passing into the hands of individuals who receive them. This is considered by the government as effective as if the additional tax applied to the net income of corporations. Corporations, and other similar companies are not allowed an exemption (as individuals are) of $3000. (Page 220.)

TAXING MARRIED FOLK.

The married man with his wife living with him (Page 197) is exempt from taxation when his income is not over $4000. Payments of alimony will not be allowed as necessary expenses in computing the net income, and the man whose wife is not living with him cannot claim the extra $1000 exemption. The same stipulations apply to the taxable wife and the untaxable husband. (Perhaps those provisions were so worded by our paternal Congress to encourage domestic felicity.) If both have an income of $3000 each, but one of them shall be allowed the extra $1000 exemption.

In committee conference, just before the law was finally passed, all tax exemptions because of children were stricken out. This one feature has caused much comment, and most persons have the impression that there is an exemption of $500 for each minor child in a family. Such is not the case.

PUNISHMENTS PRESCRIBED.

Any person who shall neglect or refuse to make a return of income (on March 1 or before,) or any corporation, joint-stock company, association or insurance company who shall refuse to make a return sixty days after the close of the fiscal year (such business organizations are allowed to designate the last day of any month as the end of their fiscal year, provided that they file prior notice with the collector of internal revenue) will be liable to a penalty not less than $20 and not more than $1000. (Page 212.)

Any person, or officer of any corporation or other similar business organization required to make a return, who shall attempt fraud will be liable to a fine not exceeding $2000, or imprisonment not exceeding two years, or both. (Page 212.)

Any person, or any corporation or similar business organization who shall not make a payment of the income tax on or before June 30 (or 120 days after it is required to file the returns of its income) shall be liable to have 5 per cent. of the tax due added to the amount due, and the total tax then due will be assessed at the rate of 1 per cent. per month until paid (Page 203-220.) For any fraud detected in making the return, 100 per cent. of the amount due shall be added to the tax. For negligence or refusal to make a return, 50 per cent. of the amount due shall be added and subjected to tax. (Page 234.) There is an additional penalty for corporations, joint-stock companies, associations and insurance companies which provides that for the neglect to pay the tax when due, or for any fraudulent attempt to evade the tax, that they shall pay a fine not exceeding $10,000. (Page 227.)

SECRECY PROVIDED FOR.

The government will use every effort to maintain secrecy. The amount of no income or the tax thereon will be made public. The better to keep employees and deputy collectors from learning the business secrets of individuals and companies, no record of any person's or company's net income, expenses or tax will be kept in the office of the internal revenue collectors. Any collector, deputy collector, agent or employee who shall give out information concerning the income of another person will be liable to a fine of $1000, imprisonment for a year, and will be disbarred forever from holding office under the government. (Page 234.) No person may see the records unless permitted by the Secretary of the Treasury, or else accredited officials of States wherein an income tax is imposed by the State itself.

CERTAIN PERSONS EXEMPT.

The salary of President Wilson and of the judges of the Supreme and inferior Federal courts was exempted from taxation because of a constitutional provision which sets forth that their salaries shall in no way be diminished during their terms of office.

If President Wilson is re-elected he will be subject to the income tax. When a vacancy occurs on the Supreme Court bench and another jurist is appointed, his salary will be taxed.

The salaries of all State officials are exempted from taxation.

It does seem a pity that Congress could not have been considerate enough to exempt poor Mr. Bryan—but the tax collector is sure to get some of that Chautauqua money.

CONFERS POWER.

One of the most intelligible portions of the income tax law—and many of them are hard to understand—gives the Secretary of the Treasury a position in a judicial capacity that elevates him to a high and powerful dignity.

The law says (Page 191) that every person subject to the additional tax—that is, whose income is over $20,000—shall, for the purpose of assessment, make a personal return of his entire income from all sources, corporate or otherwise, and that he shall include the share and profits of all companies, whether or not such profits are divided. The wording in that particular is plain, being: "The taxable income of any individual shall embrace the share to which he would be entitled of the gains and profits, if divided or distributed, whether divided or distributed or not."

The law also says (Page 191) that the fact that any such gains or profits are allowed to accumulate, instead of being divided or distributed "beyond the reasonable needs of the business, shall be prima facie evidence of a fraudulent purpose to escape such tax."

By what process of reasoning, we know not, the legislators arrived at the conclusion that persons who are taxed on the undivided profits and shares of business would be fraudulent trying to avoid payment of that tax by not dividing those shares and profits. If persons were not taxed on the undivided shares and profits then it would be reasonable to suppose that such accumulations might be resorted to to escape the tax.

However, the Secretary of the Treasury is to be the judge of whether or not such accumulations are unreasonable. He shall determine whether or not financial institutions are guilty of fraud in allowing profits to pile up and shall determine what the actual needs of the business are.

POWER OF COLLECTORS.

But every collector is also established as a sort of judge over the business men of the community. The law says (Page 202) that "if the collector or deputy collector have reason to believe that the amount of any income is understated, he shall give due notice to the person making the return to show cause why the amount not over twenty-five, and many game wardens have been appointed to enforce the law. Once quail were so plentiful in the Salt River Valley around this city that trappers were permitted to operate and to ship their catches to Los Angeles. The law now prohibits any shipment of wild game outside the State.

Dwight B. Heard of Phoenix has offered the University of Arizona a noble gift in the shape of a quarter section of the Bartlett-Heard ranch, on the farther side of the river south of Phoenix, to be used as an experimental farm. The present experimental farm, a short distance northwest of Phoenix, is too small for the needs of the service. The farm offered lies within an orange-growing section, and adjoins one of the best citrus groves of the valley.

OPTIMISM OUR GREAT ASSET.

CALIFORNIA FINANCIALLY FREE KANSAS BANKER SAYS.

Visitor Declares This State to Be Remarkably Independent of Wall Street, Which Controls Situation in Most Other Sections—Finds Faith Here Backed by Works.

"California appears to be independent of the great financial powers of the East," Herbert M. Briedenthal, member of a distinguished family of Kansas bankers, declared yesterday at the Lankershim. "I am convinced that this State is less dependent upon Wall street than any other section of the country."

The visitor is the son of the late John W. Breidenthal, one of the most widely known men of Kansas. The elder Breidenthal was State Bank Commissioner for ten years and the author of the three most important financial laws of Kansas. He wrote the banking law, the trust company law and the building and loan association law.

"In the Middle West we feel that we are remarkably free from the domination of the Eastern money powers," Breidenthal continued, "but I can see that we are much more dependent upon Wall street than you are in California.

"I was surprised to learn that here in California you are able to finance all legitimate business enterprises without calling on the East for assistance. California seems to be a financial kingdom unto itself, and this certainly is a most desirable situation. From surface indications it appears that California did not feel the late financial stringency so noticeable in the East and some parts of the Middle West.

"The optimism of the Pacific Coast region is a striking thing and one of its most valuable assets. In California optimism seems to be a tangible asset. I find that here optimism is much more than a mental condition. It is a business condition that is vigorously backed up by money and energy. California optimism is bottomed on sound values.

"I have never been in a part of the United States where faith is so strong and the people so willing to back it up with good works as here in California. No wonder you are unaffected by the money panics which disturb the East."

Income Tax Law.

son who receives the interest, the person paying the interest must also pay the income tax on it.

Take the unregistered coupon bond, for instance. That involves a contract entered into before the income law went into effect. The source from which the bond is issued and from which the interest is paid seldom has knowledge of the person who collects the interest—that is, the person who clips the coupon. The issuer of the bond is the source from which the interest is paid, and that being the case, how can the issuer of the bond—who also advances the interest—give notice to the collector that under a contract entered into before the income law went into effect that he has made payment of interest on a coupon bond to certain persons when those persons are unknown to him?

When it is considered that there are over $28,000,000,000 industrial bonds in this country, and that the issuers of those bonds do not as a general thing know who holds them, and cannot therefore name the persons to whom they pay the interest, the hardship that will be worked upon all bonded industries at once becomes apparent. Both the bond and the coupon are negotiable. It is impossible to tell from whom the revenue collector should deduct the income tax because of interest paid by the issuer of the bond. But under the law the issuer of the bond is liable for being ignorant of the person who clips the coupon. Which is a sort of an ex post facto law to punish people for doing business under former laws. The issuers of the bonds will not only be compelled to pay the interest on those bonds, but will also be compelled to pay the income tax on that interest. And, as was said before, there are over $28,000,000,000 worth of such bonds in this country on which the issuers will, in most cases, have to pay the income tax on the interest that they themselves pay out. Banks are not required to deduct the tax as on foreign coupons.

TAX ON FOREIGNERS.

The law says that all persons or corporations (page 198, and for corporations, page 219) residing in foreign countries who have interests in this country shall render an account of their gross income. For corporations, joint-stock companies, associations or insurance companies it provides that they shall give the gross amount of income "from all sources within and without the United States," so that the revenue department may compute how much of an income tax is due this government.

Consider the Rothschild family. It owns interests in every country in the world. The Rothschilds are to be compelled to render to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue an account of every dollar of gross income that is received from every part of the world. The source of every cent that pours into their immense coffers must be itemized and submitted to an agent of the United States who draws, as a salary for his position, but $4000.

It is also provided (page 189) that all citizens of this country, whether residing at home or abroad, shall pay an income tax.

Jones, let us say, lives in London. He owns no property in the United States, but owns considerable in England. His income is already taxed under the English law. Also the United States will lay claim to a small share.

The revenue collectors admit that they are going to try to get it, but what machinery they will use is not known. Jones, at present, can afford to snap his fingers at Uncle Sam, for certainly the offense of not paying an income tax is hardly extraditable.

INDEBTEDNESS ENCOURAGED.

The law states that in computing the net income of taxable persons "all interest paid on indebtedness shall be deducted" (page 194.)

Persons with taxable incomes are therefore encouraged to go in debt. As an example: Smith is liable for a tax of $120 on his income. However, if he borrows $1500 at 8 per cent. he will not have to pay a cent of the income tax. If he doesn't borrow it he will; therefore by going in debt he gets the use of the money without additional expense to himself. If he doesn't pay the $120 to his creditor he will be compelled to pay it to the government.

POLITICAL APPOINTMENTS.

At this point it may be well to consider the powerful political organization that the Democrats are privileged to establish (page 240.) For a period of two years and after, the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, with the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury, shall appoint the force of agents, deputy collectors, inspectors and other employees necessary to insure faithful and competent service. The amount of $800,000 has been appropriated to collect the income tax.

Those loyal followers of Jefferson who were crowded out of line in their struggles to preside over the post-offices at Squidunk and Pumpkinville will now be given another opportunity to collect testimonials from their friends and appear before the munificent pie-counter of the income tax soliciting a meal-ticket thereto.

PREMIUM ON CERTAIN BONDS.

While the value of industrial bonds may be depreciated, the income tax places a high premium on government, State, municipal and school bonds. The interest derived from them is free from all taxation. (Page 194.) In computing the net income for the purpose of paying the tax all amounts drawn from such sources are untaxable, whether that amount is one dollar or $1,000,000.

It is expected that great activity will be shown during the next few months in collecting such bonds, and they will no longer be a drag on the market—unless the interest on them is too low to offset the premium of the income tax exemption.

WEAK SPOT IN LAW.

One of the weak spots of the law—which has been so careful to catch everybody by all sorts of devices—is apparent in the exemption from the normal tax of the dividends derived as income from taxable corporations. (Page 195.)

Supposing that Jones has an income of $10,000 from stock in each of ten corporations. That income is assessed at the source, and he does not have to make an accounting of it unless the amount aggregates more than $20,000—which in this case it would. On each of his separate incomes Jones would pay at the source the amount of $100, making in all a total of $1000 paid under the normal tax rate.

But his aggregate income is over $20,000, and Jones is therefore liable for the additional tax. Now the easiest thing on earth for Jones to do is to transfer the stock to his wife, his children or his relatives, and he is no longer liable for the additional tax.

Strange it is, seeing how many provisions that Congress made to catch people who might try to evade the law, that it was not made a felony to give away taxable stock.

ONLY ON NET INCOMES.

Another weak spot in the law became apparent when the wording was changed requiring all persons with "an income of $3000 and over" to make a return, to read all persons with a "net income of $3000 or over."

That allows persons to be their own judges as to whether or not they are taxable, and the revenue collectors anticipate much difficulty and trouble in making the proper assessments on all persons.

However, the penalties are so severe for anyone who withholds deductions that are not allowable, or for anyone who makes a mistake, since ignorance of the law is no excuse, that the revenue collector expect that most persons, especially in making their first return, so as to become familiar with just what deductions are allowable will declare their income if it exceeds $3000, whether or not it is net.

ALASKAN RAILROADS TAXED.

The railroad corporations operating in Alaska shall pay an additional tax of 4 per cent. on their net income, instead of the license tax now collected of $100 per mile per annum. (Page 232.)

EXCISE TAX REMOVED.

In the tariff bill, but not in the income tax section, it is stipulated that all corporations will be relieved from the excise tax now paid to the government and be responsible for the normal income tax on the whole of their net income.

However, for 1913, they will pay the amount of the excise tax due for January and March, and for the other ten months will pay the income tax.

UNTAXABLE CORPORATIONS.

All corporations, associations, companies that are not maintained and operated for the financial benefit of any stockholder, such as certain labor organizations, chambers of commerce, boards of trades, merchants' associations, educational, scientific or agricultural associations, will not be assessed on their income.

Mutual savings banks, not having capital stock represented by shares, are also exempted; and fraternal organizations operated for the exclusive benefit of the members; and domestic building and loan associations, religious associations, and cemetery companies organized for the benefit of members only, are exempted from taxation. No "Long" Treatment

One dose positively convinces. Many find that only one dose is necessary.

Mayr's
Wonderful
Stomach
Remedy
ONE DOSE WILL CONVINCE

Save Expense and Surgeon's Knife

Whatever you've tried, give my safe Remedy this one chance before you go on WASTING MONEY needlessly for no USE OR GOOD. Don't for a moment consider allowing a surgeon or doctor to cut into your body to try to cure you before you have at least tried ONE DOSE of Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy.

One dose of Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy will convince over night if you'll go to your Druggist and get it TODAY.

READ WHAT A FEW OF THEM SAY:

"Most Pleasing and Surprising Results. Thought I Was Going to Die. Was Afraid to Eat."

Geo. H. Mayr:
I received Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy and took the same with most pleasing and surprising results. As I was most impatient to continue the treatment, I got my local druggist to obtain your remedy from San Francisco. My trouble has been principally gastritis, with gas around my heart so bad at times I thought I was going to die. I was afraid to eat, altho hungry, anything starchy affecting my heart seriously by generating gas. My wife is also taking your remedy with pleasing results. Most gratefully yours.

"Have Told Lots of People About Your Remedy."

George H. Mayr:
My wife and I have both taken Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy and both are well now. Your medicine is fine and we have some yet in the house and have told lots of people about it. If I should get sick, I would sure send for some more. Thanking you for your good medicine. Yours truly, R. W. Gray,

P. S.—I have your name, so I can tell others.

"Certainly a Wonderful Medicine."

Geo. H. Mayr, Esq.:
Enclosed find check for two bottles of your Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy. I sent to three drug stores in town to see if they kept your remedy. Please send right off. It certainly is a wonderful medicine. Mrs. John Sigrist,

"Now, the Same Day, I Feel Fine."

Geo. H. Mayr:
I have taken your Wonderful Stomach Remedy as directed and now, the same day (7 p. m.), I feel fine.

Terrible Sufferer for 10 Years, of Redding, California, Had "Suffered a Thousand Deaths"

Geo. H. Mayr:
I have been a terrible sufferer for the past 10 years. Not one doctor could tell me what the trouble was. I have a weak liver and I would vomit every morning and my stomach would bloat up like a balloon. I never could wear corsets. Seven years ago one of our doctors said that the catarrh had gone all through my system. His medicine nearly killed me. I left for Los Angeles and doctored there and still kept on with the same spells. I have suffered a thousand deaths, so I will tell you now what Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy did for me. (She described at length here how one dose worked). I think it would be a Godsend if it were on the market here. I thank you many times. Fanny Klankenk,

Sick 6 Years—Now Feels Like a Different Person.

George H. Mayr:
Your Stomach Remedy has helped me wonderfully. I thought I had dyspepsia or indigestion. I have been sick off and on for six years. The first year I had it I went to see four doctors and took their treatment, which helped me for only a short time. One of these doctors said I had chronic catarrh of the Stomach or dyspepsia and that he would have to use the stomach pump on me, which scared me so badly I would not go near him again. The last year my stomach has been getting worse, continual gas, particularly at night, so bad I could not sleep, but sit up in bed the greater part of the night. My husband learned of your Wonderful Remedy through a friend of his. This man works for the United Railways here. The day after taking it I felt like a different person. I feel that it will cure me, as it has helped me so much already. Yours truly,

"Your Medicine Cured Me"

Geo. H. Mayr:
Your Wonderful Stomach Remedy is all you claim it, in my opinion. Your medicine cured me. Wish you a Merry Christmas. Yours very truly, H. W. Hanna, 618 W. 4th St., Los Angeles, Cal.

SAILING INTO MAN'S SPHERE.

Amazons of Commerce in the Embryo Here.

Fair Sex Is to Launch Into Strange Marts.

Study Everything from the Wireless to Autos.

BY GRACE KINGSLEY.

Amazons of commerce! The cosy corner cult transformed into stern students of the strenuous!

From tatting to table manufacturing; from shopping to chauffeuring; from the beauty-chase to building; from worsted-work to wireless! These are some of the fascinating phases of her ladyship, "the woman of today," you will see if you visit Polytechnic Evening High School, and view the bright heads and pretty faces bending over stern and unaccustomed tasks.

No, my dear, those are not patterns for crocheting which that sweet girl is making, they are drawings of an auto's department of the interior. They're a recipe for making a dining-room table. Neither are those queer little sketches which are engaging that blond, young woman's attention mere tracings for embroidering violets and roses. They are sketches for a wireless equipment. And that isn't the ground plan for a worsted "home sweet home" to hang over the fireside, it's a dignified plan for building a flock of chairs that will be all alike and stand firm and unwobbly on their scientific legs.

Do you think the table that pretty girl is building is going to have the rickets when it's finished? No, sir-ee. That table's going to stand on its legs just like any other table. Do you believe the house the bright-eyed miss is planning is going to have the staircase stick up through the roof? Not much! That staircase is going to behave like any other staircase, and lead just as sanely and surely from the first floor to the right place on the second floor, as if it were planned by a man. Do you think that wireless table, when it's finished, is going to act like an illiterate junk heap? That wireless instrument is going to catch just as many thrilling S.O.S.'s out of the air as anybody's.

WORKING IN WOOD.

Down in the woodshops, under the tuition of Mr. Beswick, beneath flying belts, and amid whirring lathes and screeching band saws, several charming women are working earnestly with fingers as deft as any man's. They wear big aprons and tiny white caps to protect their hair from dust and whirring machinery, and one of them looks up and shows you how the exquisite carving she is doing for a dressing-table is beginning to come out of its background; another proudly exhibits a dining table with curly Louis-something legs.

Every evening, women work in these classes, and some fine pieces of furniture are under construction.

A handsome solid mahogany chiffonier, made of five-ply veneer, a piece exquisite enough for any boudoir, is being made by Miss Hattie Johnson, a sloyd teacher of the city. Mrs. C. B. Merrill, another student, is building all the furniture for her dining-room. Miss Bess Ellis is making a dainty dressing table in Sheraton lines, to be finished in white enamel, and Miss Nina Weld is shaping a colonial sewing table in selected mahogany.

WIRELESS DRAWS.

The eerie fascination of the wireless has drawn two pretty girls into Twining's classes, and they are learning all about electricity from the "way they make the hair pin burn in the bottle" to the most intricate and headachy problems connected with wireless. Most girls would think that an "ohm" were a new kind of thing to trim a dress with, that "ampere" is the name of a soft drink. But these two clever misses are on easy conversational terms with such awe-inspiring things as volts and indirect currents, and can call all the funny little bolts and screws and levers on the wireless by their Christian names.

Miss V. Helen Eastman wishes to be a wireless operator on a trans-Atlantic steamer. She explains to me that women aren't accepted as operators on trans-Atlantic steamers nowadays, but that she hopes the prejudice will be overcome by the time she's a real wireless magician.

A war correspondent is what Miss Florence Withrow wishes to become, with the aid of her wireless knowledge. She has a very decided talent for writing, and can't remember when she wasn't interested in electrical experiments, and is therefore making rapid progress in her work.

Both young women are taking up the work very seriously, going into the mathematics and mechanics of the sciences deeply, and they explained to me that while a telegraph operator need know only how to receive and send messages, a wireless operator must understand all about the mechanism of his instruments.

AND "CHAUFFING."

Mrs. A. Polinsky is the name of the courageous woman who is pioneering in a new profession for women—the gentle art of "chauffering." Mrs. Polinsky can diagnose the ailment of any automobile that lives, her teacher Mr. Washburn, tells me, and can take a machine apart and put it together like an expert.

When I asked her, laughingly, if she means to tackle auto-racing, her dark eyes sparkled, and she declared with a mysterious smile that "you never can tell! If they'd only let women do it—"

"ARCHITECTING."

Building houses is the pet ambition of Miss M. D. Bohanan, an attractive young woman, who, with two other ladies, is taking the architectural course with about fifty men students. She believes there is a great field for women architects in planning homes, hospitals and schools, because a woman's natural interests and sympathies lie in these directions. She says, too, that every woman who means to travel in the old world should study architecture as a cultural subject, for not otherwise can she appreciate and understand those works of art which Mme. de Stael has described as "frozen music."

WOMAN CONTRACTOR.

Mrs. J. D. Jones has recently arrived from Denver with her husband, who is a contractor. Mrs. Jones has decided to enter another phase of partnership with her husband, and is studying nightly at Polytechnic on "strength of material" and other problems connected with his work. She will help superintend her husband's jobs as well as plan and construct buildings.

"MOVIE" PHOTOGRAPHER.

In the photography class is a young woman, Miss Jessie Babcock, who believes a woman could operate a moving-picture machine quite as well as a man. She is learning the rudiments of her trade now, and later will enter the other field. She hopes to travel in foreign lands pursuing her chosen vocation.

WOULD CHART AIR.

Mr. Twining informs me there is a big demand for a class in aeronautics, and it is possible a club may be formed to take up the subject. Several women have applied for admission.

AND A PORTIA.

But the invasion of man's territory is not confined to "Poly" Evening High. Up at L. A. High is a very clever little girl of 16, Mildred Little, who wants to join the ranks of lawyers. All her efforts are aimed at this goal, her studies being those that would lead naturally into the field of law. She helped win the championship for "L. A." last year, and "L. A." is very fond of their embryo Portia.

"Miss Little is one of the best students we have," said her teacher, "and I believe she will make a fine lawyer."

She will enter the University of California when she graduates.

FARMERS, TOO.

Out at Gardena Agricultural High are several girls who are studying horticulture and ornamental gardening. These believe that women would make excellent landscape gardeners, and are working toward that goal.

In short, Mr. Man, there's hardly the least bit of your "sphere" that woman isn't invading, you see, and pretty soon to talk about the "sphere of the sexes" will be speaking the dead languages, anyhow!

Miss Jessie Babcock, who'd be a movie photographer.

Miss Mildred Little, who will study law

DEATH IN COLLISION.

Man Riding Motorcycle Killed by Being Run Down by Automobile. Investigation Under Way.

A duel over the right of way between an automobile and a motorcycle resulted in the death of E. N. Brown, a mechanic, yesterday. He was killed in a collision at Seventh and Flower streets. D. C. Sweet, No. 222 North St. Andrew's place, was driving the automobile, and asserts that the motorcycle on which Brown was mounted, skidded. The detectives are making an investigation.

The two vehicles were turning corners in opposite directions. The details of the accident have not been fully established, but Brown was in a dying condition when picked up. He was taken to the Receiving Hospital, but was dead before aid could be given.

SEEKS TO BAR LETTER.

Lyman's Counsel Would Prevent Introduction of Evidence — Witness from Philippines Here.

Dr. John Grant Lyman and his counsel, Paul W. Schenck, are seeking to prevent the introduction in the trial of the promoter for fraudulent use of the mails of a letter written by Sr. Santiago de la Guardia, father of Sr. Hernan de la Guardia, the boy president of the Panama Development Company.

This letter is considered the most important of all those offered by Asst. Dist.-Atty. Regan. All of the others went in without objection. The fact that this particular letter is in possession of the government was a great surprise to Dr. Lyman. It was found by the postoffice inspectors who arrested Lyman in San Francisco in September, 1911.

The legal precedents are all in favor of the introduction of the letter and Judge Wellborn indicated that he would so rule, but allowed Attorney Schenck to argue the question on the convening of court Tuesday morning.

One of the important witnesses for the government dropped in yesterday —E. D. Ryan of Manila. Ryan at one time was in the employ of Lyman and made a trip to Panama in the ostensible interest of the corporation. The presence of Ryan is considered of the utmost importance by the government, for it is asserted he was in touch with all of the angles of the Panama Development Company enterprise.

It is now believed that the Lyman case will take four or five weeks for trial.

UNSAFE SCAFFOLDING.

Special Agent E. H. Hancock of the State Labor Bureau, who has been making a strict enforcement of the new labor laws an actual fact, arrested H. G. Lynch, a painting contractor, on the charge of not providing safe scaffolding for his men. Hancock has made more than a dozen arrests in the last three days, and has given warning to all contractors that an active prosecution will follow any violations of the law.

BIG GUSHER AFIRE.

Southern Pacific Well Is Pillar of Flames—Flows Only One Hour Before Blaze Starts.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TAFT, Oct. 18.—Within an hour after No. 21 well of the Southern Pacific Company's subsidiary, the Kern Trading and Oil Company, came in at 3:30 o'clock this morning, with a flow of 1000 barrels an hour, it caught fire and is now a roaring pillar of fire and smoke. Although a gusher was expected, it was not thought that the oil-bearing sands would be reached for at least another fifty feet and the drillers were caught unprepared, with their tools in the well, when the rush came.

The gushing oil filled the small rig sump in less than an hour and overflowed into a sump owned by the Mays Oil Company on a lower level.

There was a flash of fire from the lower sump and a few minutes later the entire ravine was a solid mass of flame. No effort is being made to extinguish the fire, which promises to burn for weeks before it can be brought under control. All attention is being paid instead to surrounding property, which includes a 3800-barrel gusher that came in last week and the Mays No. 9.

FULLERTON.

FULLERTON, Oct. 18.—A good oil strike has been made in the Standard's well No. 1 on lease No. 2 in the city limits of Fullerton. The well has not developed into a gusher, but within a short time after oil was found in the hole, early this morning, the oil stood at a depth of 700 feet in the well, which is down over 3500 feet.

Local drillers say the well will now pump over 500 barrels daily. It will be put on the pump soon, and unless it produces at least 500 barrels daily, the hole will be deepened. The well is a little over a mile north from the business district of Fullerton and is on what is known as one of the Coyotes leases, which is located east of the Murphey and Emery wells.

PECULIAR ACCIDENT.

FRESNO, Oct. 17.—[By A. P. Day Wire.] While walking down the aisle of the Fresno-Coalinga train tonight, George Harting, the veteran prize-fight timekeeper, caught his foot under the rubber matting in the car and was thrown on the arm of a seat, breaking one rib and fracturing another. Harting was taken from the train and removed to a local hotel. He will be laid up for two weeks.

STANTON NOTES.

STANTON, Oct. 18.—Twelve miles of streets are in process of improvement. The city is doing the work with C. Remland as overseer. Oil is being used after proper grading. Eight cars of oil are already in. The Stanton Townsite Company is planning to set out shade trees in the residence portion of the city. The grading work on Chestnut street was finished this week and the work on Court street is being begun. These contracts call for grading, curbing and cement walks.

The Stanton Townsite Company is preparing plans which will mean much for the improving of the city. It owns considerable acreage which it is said will be put on the market.

Charlotte Walker,

As June in "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," Mason Operahouse tomorrow night.

The Week.

MISS WALKER AT THE MASON.

HER HUBBY, EUGENE WALTER, WROTE HER PLAY.

"The Prodigal Parent," a New Farce-Comedy, Opens at Morosco. "Officer 666" at the Majestic. Regular Crowd Makes Up the Orpheum Bill.

It is to be inferred that the majority of Los Angeles book readers have followed the wanderings and love story of the primitive mountain girl, June, in John Fox, Jr.'s delightful story, "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," which will be seen at the Mason Opera House for one week beginning tomorrow night, with Charlotte Walker in the stellar role.

Few stories, even though they be part fiction and part truth, have been written with the compelling heart interest that the author of this thrilling story of the Virginia hills, has sustained in every page of his narrative, therefore, it was with some trepidation that Eugene Walter, brilliant dramatist though he is, approached the task set for him by Klaw and Erlanger, to bring out of the book a stage June that would appeal as strongly to theater-goers as the June appealed to readers.

The dramatist has taken a rough, uneducated, enormously superstitious and imaginative mountain girl and made her a delightful creature. He has brought out all the possibilities of the June of the book, catching the significance of Mr. Fox's clean-cut characterization and the exquisite poetry and drama of his dominating love theme. The play contains no problem, no question of sex dominance, but appeals through the purity of its sentiment, the uplift of its moral and the poetry of its romance.

It is the story of a genuine man who takes an interest in a simple country girl. He anticipates her wish to be sent to school and in his great goodness he arouses in the heart of the girl something greater than mere affection. In fact, June expects all along that Hale will marry her and she expresses in an artless way, the great love she bears him. Hale, who is something of a prig, tells her he cannot think of marriage and poor little June who imagines she isn't good enough for him, sends for her father to come and take her away from the school in which Hale has placed her.

June's return to the cabin in the mountains causes gossip, which engenders the animosity of the mountaineers and a Falin kills a Tolliver. Hale, who has started a reform movement in the Gap, organizes a posse from among the men working for him in the Gap and comes to the Lonesome Pine to arrest the murderer. Young Dave takes a pot shot at Hale's party as it comes up the trail and wound's Hale's chum Berkley. Hale goes to June's cabin to find Dave, who has been concealed by June but she denies that he is in the place. Berkley, whom June is nursing, declares that Dave is not the man who shot him.

Hale leaves the cabin, believing June's love has turned to hatred for the zeal he has displayed in attempting to arrest one of her kin. The following morning Berkley, who is not seriously wounded, leaves the cabin to find Hale and encountering his

SO NICE TO HAVE AROUND.

Miss Walker's Opinion of the Playwright Husband.

When Unsuccessful She Can Always Blame Him.

All the Royalties Stay in Family, Too.

"Do married men make the best husbands?" has long been a wheeze to which many have responded in earnest, but now comes a really important and pertinent query to match it—"Do husbands make the best playwrights for their wife-stars?"

It is especially pertinent, as this week we are to see the answer worked out at the Mason Operahouse, where Charlotte Walker will interpret "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," a drama, by her equally illustrious husband, Eugene Walter.

There can be no question of the proud position occupied by Miss Walker as an actress; and Mr. Walter is a splendid dramatist. Each has been eminently successful apart; now, however, can the wife, in her own husband's play, make fame for both?

She says she can, and tells why, below. We shall see during the ensuing week whether or not she is correct in her premises.

BY CHARLOTTE WALKER.

So much has been written about matrimony and the stage that it seems useless to add any more arguments to that subject. Many of our most successful stars have made very happy marriages and surely matrimony has in no wise detracted from their art. I feel quite sure that Madame Maeterlinck and Laurette Taylor will agree with me in saying that to marry a playwright is the ultima thule of matrimonial happiness on the stage. My husband, Eugene Walter, recently said in an interview:

"Marriage is a great thing on the stage. There is no reason why an artist, an actor or playwright should not be a human being. When he ceases to be a human, he ceases to be an artist."

As far as my personal experience is concerned, it is certainly a very handy thing to have a playwright around the house. After all, it is the play that counts. A manager offers to star someone. It is an opportunity for which she has been longing all her life.

"Can you get a play?" queries the manager.

"Certainly, my husband will write one for me."

If the play is a success, the royalties remain in the family.

If the play is a failure, put all the blame on the playwright, for it's all in the family.

Of course, I must admit there are drawbacks. The story of the writing of "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine" will best illustrate this point. Before the play was written, I was selected for the role of June, and Mr. Walter signed a contract to write the play which was to be based on John Fox, Jr.'s, novel. The play was to be ready in sixty days.

My husband and I went to a camp near Yellow Lake, Wis. There was plenty of fine air, plenty good fishing, and everything that could be wanted for a delightful summer outing. Day after day passed and nothing was done toward the writing of the play. Finally I said to my husband:

"Are you ever going to write this play?"

"Sure."

"You know when I have to have it?"

"Yes."

And so this went on for six weeks, plenty of fishing, but no play. I was on the verge of nervous prostration.

Finally, about 4 o'clock one afternoon, while Mr. Walter was at the end of a six-ounce pole, with a pike on the other end of the line, he suddenly exclaimed:

"I guess you can have your play for breakfast."

At 4 o'clock in the morning the manuscript was completed, the strain was over, and from that time on contentment reigned supreme.

You see, I did not realize that Mr. Walter was writing that play while he sat hour by hour waiting for the fish to bite. Putting it on paper was the smallest part of the task.

So great has been the success of "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine" that it will probably be some time before I will need another play, but I am not worrying about the new one, because I know that Mr. Walter has been writing it mentally for over a year.

I have not the faintest idea what it is about, or what kind of a role it will provide for me. One thing, I do feel sure of, and that is that it will be just what I want.

Such are the material benefits that an actress derives from marrying a playwright, but after all, these amount to but very little in comparison with the real happiness that has been our lot.

The real reason that I advocate playwrights for husbands is that I married the particular playwright that I did. So far I have appeared in three of Mr. Walter's plays, "The Wolf," "Just a Wife," which was also written particularly for me, and "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine."

His latest play, "A Plain Woman," which was just finished, provides a splendid role for one of my dearest friends, Ada Dwyer. This gives me an added interest in the success of that play, for when I first went on the stage, it was Ada Dwyer who gave me that kindly encouragement and advice which I so much needed.

WOMEN'S WORK, WOMEN'S CLUBS

BY SYDNEY FORD.

SOME women can reason in a clear and logical manner; others get both themselves and their audience all mixed up in a lot of superfluous verbiage that makes their expositions about as clear as mud. Half the time they don't know themselves just what they are trying to explain. These are extremely tiresome and should be suppressed by law. There are other women who deliver their messages in such low and ladylike tones that none in the audience except those in the front row hear a word of what they are saying. These always arouse my antagonism and I feel like throwing things.

There is one woman in this town who possesses none of these disqualifications. Her logic is clear and concise and she has the faculty of making you understand things. Perhaps the fact that she was a successful teacher for many years has something to do with it. Anyway, I always like to listen to Mrs. E. C. Bellows. I have no head for politics or civics or the deep and ponderous subjects of life. I am by nature frivolous so far as these things go, but I have a tremendous admiration for the woman who can comprehend them, and best of all, who has a faculty for passing that information on to her less gifted sisters, of which I am chief.

Now, last Thursday morning while we were waiting for Mayor Rose to come and tell us about the aqueduct at the civics section of the Ebell, Mrs. Bellows gave us an exposition of our city charter that was a gem of simplicity—a 10-year-old child could have grasped it. Now, I have always regarded the city charter much in the same light as the tariff—incomprehensible. But, in the skillful hands of Mrs. Bellows, it was made as clear as sunlight.

"This, ladies, is the city charter," she said and held up a volume about the size of a telephone directory. Then she went on to dissect, as it were, that formidable document. She told us that our city officers number just seventy-five, and that twenty of these obtain office by the general vote of the people; two—the chief of police and the fire chief—are appointed by the Mayor, and the other fifty-three are appointed by him with the advice and consent of the City Council. Then she took up, one by one, the different commissions and explained the functions and powers of each—the Board of Public Works and utilities and public service and all the rest of the boards.

By the time she was through every one of us had a fair knowledge of what the charter of the City of Los Angeles stands for. If ever Mrs. Bellows wants the office of Mayor she may have my vote. I believe she would fill the bill.

The Friday Morning Club.

It's something to be proud of when a club has sufficient reserve force right in its own ranks to fill the place of a detained speaker at a moment's notice and so acceptably that the audience feels as well satisfied as if the imported entertainer had shown up on time. Indeed, I'm not at all sure but some of us were half glad that the thing happened at the Friday Morning Club last week and thus gave us an opportunity of hearing Lillian Burkhart Goldsmith.

It was this way. At 8 o'clock on Friday morning the president of the club, Mrs. Russell J. Waters, received a telegram from Piedmont saying that Maud Russell Robbins, who was booked to give an interpretative reading, was ill and could not come. Nothing daunted, the energetic president of the Friday Mornings, began to pull the wires among her own constituents and secured Mrs. Goldsmith who, notwithstanding she was literally up to her eyes in work incident to putting on a play that very night, consented to entertain the club, which she did with all her accustomed grace. First, she gave us a delightful talk concerning the art and artists of the stage interspersed with amusing and entertaining personal incidents of Irving, Mansfield, Mrs. Fiske, Julia Marlowe, Mazinova and many others who are or have been leading lights of the mimic world.

She concluded her address by giving us a splendid interpretation of Yeats's "The Hour Glass," and at the luncheon which followed, it chanced that Mrs. Nanno Woods was one of the guests and it happened that she had seen this play produced by the original Irish players in the little old Abbey Theater near Dublin, which is the birthplace of Mrs. Woods. With a truly tell-tale Irish accent, she told, at the request of the president, Mrs. Waters, how Yeats and his little band of gifted players produced this artistic gem.

Another guest at luncheon was Mrs. Lillian Pray-Palmer of San Diego, president of the Southern District of the Federation of Women's Clubs. She brought greetings to the club and extended a cordial invitation to attend the annual meeting of her district, which comes off in San Diego soon.

German Dramatists.

As a background of the later, modern German work, the Ebell drama department will study that of Lessing, Schiller and Goethe for the first three meetings of the year. Last Thursday morning, which marked the first assembling of the section, the curator, Mrs. Ada Henry Van Pelt, read from "Nathan the Wise" the great masterpiece of Lessing, which, although written more than 130 years ago, has never lost its charm. It was Lessing's last and greatest play—written to drown his overwhelming sorrow over the death of his wife and his son, and literally his swan song, for he never wrote another. Mrs. Van Pelt had made cuttings from this great dramatic poem in five acts, its scenes laid in Jerusalem in the home of the rich Jew and which reaches its climax in the "Tale of the Three Rings," with which the wise Nathan so cleverly solved for the Sultan the perplexing religious situation of the three factions—Jewish, Christian and Mussulman.

Next month the work of Schiller will be briefly reviewed and in January—the Ebell sections always take a holiday vacation during December—we shall have Goethe.

Mrs. Mila Tupper Maynard, the instructor of this section, in her splendid perspective lecture, called attention to the great gap in the progress of art and literature in Germany caused by the Thirty Years War, which literally blotted out the civilization of Germany, creating a gap during that period of long, desolating warfare of a generation, after which a new national life and culture developed. She pointed out that, in the nineteenth century, two or three great dramatists were literally starved out for lack of appreciation or understanding and were compelled to take up trivial methods, all their genius going for naught because no one could recognize it. She made a comparison of the methods of Sudermann and Hauptmann, which latter will occupy the attention of the department chiefly this year, calling attention to the perfect technique of the former, whose plays always conform to the best art in structure, and to the directly opposite, or rather uncertain methods of Hauptmann, who is original and tremendously sincere but who frequently violates all accepted forms of technique.

Mrs. Edgar Lacy Swaine, who is assistant curator of the department this year, conducted a short preliminary review of the local stage participated in by Mrs. J. B. Stearns, who spoke of "As a Man Thinks;" Mrs. E. R. Morgan, who spoke of "Mary Magdalene," and Miss A. N. McCarthy, who gave an interesting talk about Nazimova, the Russian actress. Miss Helen Louise Kimball read extracts from David Warfield's article on ill-bred audiences, which appeared in The Times semi-monthly magazine recently.

The rearrangement of seats in the classroom, whereby the platform is placed at the west end, is a great improvement and enlarges the seating capacity of the room by bringing into use a portion of the lobby beyond.

College Women Study Civics.

That the civic section of the College Women's Club means business was distinctly brought out at the meeting held last Thursday afternoon when the leader, Miss Lloy Galpin, called for five volunteers to agree to give two-minute talks at the next meeting on the vital points of the bond issue—its historical side, which includes riparian rights, etc.; the construction work of the aqueduct, the distribution of water, the economic questions and the relation of the power project to the aqueduct.

Some weighty subjects these and the energetic leader counseled her volunteers—who were not lacking—to call freely upon the Board of Public Works and other official bodies for information. So the gentlemen composing these bodies had better prepare themselves for interviews from these clever college women, who will want to know the why and wherefore of everything connected with the bonds.

Miss Mary Carruth Cunningham of Occidental College addressed the section last Thursday on "Ownership," giving a splendid talk on this subject.

Her Big Church Family.

Mrs. F. D. McDowell, who is sponsor for the cafeteria suppers served by the Women's Work Society of the First Congregational Church every Wednesday night, preceding the mid-week meeting of the church, pretty nearly had her hands full feeding the multitude last Wednesday night. More than 150 sat down to the tables in the parish hall, but the larder stood the strain, although I doubt if the Scripture measure of fragments was left over.

Afterward, at the regular mid-week service conducted by the pastors, Dr. William Horace Day and Dr. Morris H. Turk, we had some fine glimpses of Japan, given by William P. Powers and taken with his own camera during an extensive tour through the Land of the Rising Sun. Miss Mary E. Knox, who has just returned from a journey through the Orient, visiting the schools and missions, gave an interesting twenty-minute talk on her experiences.

Mrs. Willis N. Tiffany,

Who gave a Grieg programme before the Friday Morning Club the day before her departure for a year's study in Germany.

Ruskin Art Club.

Mrs. Jasper E. Crandall and Miss Florence Judd were in charge of the Ruskin Art programme last Wednesday, Mrs. Crandall being cordially welcomed home from an extended tour abroad. Mrs. A. P. Metcalf spoke of French painting in the time of Charles VIII and Louis XII, with special reference to the portraits of the Moulins Museum and of Jean Perreal, who presents the most likely claims to being "the mysterious master of 1488," and who painted the best of these portraits.

Mrs. C. E. Day spoke of Jean Fouquet, founder of the school of Tours, and the miniature painters—Jean and Francois Clouet. Jean, by the way, seems to have been a favorite name back in the sixteenth century. Mrs. C. J. Dockstader gave a picture of the great figures of events and achievements in the early days of the Renaissance in Italy, and told of the development of sculpture in France.

Next Wednesday the leaders will be Mrs. H. W. Clough and Miss Cordelia Kirkland, who will present as speakers, Mmes. J. A. Walls, N. P. Conrey and W. E. Keepers, who will discuss the literature of the early Renaissance.

These Study Hawaii.

That string of islands out in the middle of the Pacific is interesting the Inglewood Woman's Club this year and they are presenting some programmes that sound mighty interesting to me, for I promptly fell in love with Hawaii when there some three years ago. Last week the club met at the home of Mrs. S. Blackie and Mrs. I. K. Wilson gave a brief history of the islands since their annexation to the United States, while Mrs. O. E. Slinack told about the religion and customs of the Hawaiians.

The Inglewood women give a part of their programmes to the very practical consideration of household economics, too, and Mrs. S. A. Barron conducted a round-table talk on a model menu. A novel roll call was the response to your name with a quick recipe for a cheap and wholesome dessert.

True Tact.

Apropos of a certain point she was about to make, Lillian Burkhart Goldsmith told a story to the Friday Mornings preliminary to her address there last week about the well-meaning old lady who was going to make a call of condolence on a neighbor whose husband had just committed suicide by hanging himself in the attic. The old lady was famous for her malapropos speeches, so her daughter cautioned her before starting to be very careful and make no sort of reference to the tragedy. The old lady assured her daughter that she should not talk about anything but the weather, as that is always a safe topic. On arrival the conversation started off like this:

Old Lady—What disagreeable, rainy weather we have been having.

Afflicted Widow—Yes; I had to delay my washing because I couldn't dry the clothes.

Old Lady—Why, I shouldn't think that would worry you; you have such a nice, large attic to hang things in.

Monrovia D.A.R. Entertained.

The Encinitas Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution of Monrovia was entertained on Monday afternoon by Mrs. Thomas Blamer, Vice-Regent of the chapter, at the home of Mrs. F. A. Dupar, on East White Oak avenue. Mrs. Blamer is soon to leave for Ft. [illegible] Wash., and the reception gave [illegible] members of the chapter an oppor[illegible] nity to pay their hostess their [illegible] respects, and at the same time [illegible] transact important business of the [illegible] sociation. At the business meeting Mrs. Eugene D. Northup, the Regent, presided. Mrs. Blamer resigned [illegible] office as Vice-Regent, and Mrs. C. [illegible] Renaker was elected to fill the [illegible] cancy. Mrs. Montaville Flowers [illegible] this time sent in her resignation [illegible] the official board, and Miss [illegible] Walker was appointed to succeed [illegible]. Mrs. Dupar will take up the work [illegible] Historian of the chapter, following the resignation from that post of [illegible] Belle Combs.

The chapter is planning to give [illegible] luncheon on the tenth of next [illegible] when two State officers, the Regent, Mrs. Chapman of Alameda, and Vice-Regent, Mrs. Maynard Force [illegible] of Pasadena, will be present. [illegible] Oaks Hotel has been chosen as the place for the luncheon and the afternoon will be spent at the [illegible] home of Mrs. Denver J. Mackey [illegible] North Canyon Boulevard.

The Mayor at the Ebell.

"Some of us voted for him; some of us didn't; some of us approve [illegible] some of us criticise him—the Mayor [illegible] was the clear and concise way [illegible] which Mrs. John H. Francis [illegible] duced Mayor Rose to the civics section of the Ebell, Thursday morning.

The subject assigned the Mayor [illegible] "The Greatest Problems of [illegible] Los Angeles." Without any circum[illegible] cution, he promptly eliminated [illegible] plural and reduced the proposition [illegible] the singular—namely: the aqueduct and method of distributing the water. The Mayor described in detail [illegible] visit to the aqueduct, tracing its course from the top, 8000 feet above sea level, down to the San Fernando Valley. He explained the great volume [illegible] water which will be brought [illegible] Angeles and the important [illegible] which confronts us of disposing [illegible] His solution is—annexation of [illegible] rounding territory. He explained [illegible] this proposition gives rise to [illegible] problem—that certain towns—[illegible] instance, South Pasadena—object [illegible] the word "annex" on the ground [illegible] it means that it will lose its own [illegible] tity and be swallowed up in the big city. The Mayor gets around this [illegible] jection by suggesting that it is [illegible] "annexing" but, in reality, "[illegible] dating"—a far less objectionable term. He compared it to a mercantile firm consolidating with one [illegible] larger. Whereas, of course, the firm which owns 90 per cent. of the stock would naturally retain the [illegible] of the consolidated concern, [illegible] less the smaller one, which had its 10 per cent. of stock to its [illegible] would have the same protection [illegible] a voice in the manner of conducting the business and the policy which controlled it. So Los Angeles says to these smaller towns, "Come in and be a part of us." He pointed out [illegible] a remedy was always at hand, [illegible] of dissatisfaction after consolidation, whereby the smaller city may [illegible] election, segregate itself and [illegible] what is called a burrough form of government. He said that it is absolutely necessary that Los Angeles shall extend its borders, as there is a [illegible] doubt as to whether the city is [illegible] fied legally in commercializing [illegible] water than it can possibly use.

"On the sixth day of November, ladies," he concluded, "you'll all [illegible] the water come cascading [illegible] those cement steps built for the purpose at San Fernando in such volume as to satisfy yourselves that in [illegible] to use it Los Angeles must [illegible] her civic boundaries," and I [illegible] every one of you to enlist [illegible] in this cause."

Dr. Day at Monrovia.

Rev. William Horace Day, [illegible] of the First Congregational Church of Los Angeles, lectured before the Woman's Club of Monrovia Wednesday afternoon. The delightful programme was opened with a [illegible] piano number by Miss Aileen [illegible] up. Mrs. George O. Monroe then introduced Dr. Day, who gave his brilliant and absorbing lecture on "The Quest of the Holy Grail," illustrated with lantern slides of Edwin A. Abbey's famous frescoes in the Boston public library. Before launching [illegible] his theme Dr. Day spoke feelingly of the significance of the painting of Abbey in illustrating the [illegible] story that has come down [illegible] through the ages. The speaker then returned to his theme, with which he dwelt with rare knowledge and poetic insight. The lecture was interspersed with many inspired quotations from Tennyson and Lowell. [illegible] was served at the close of the afternoon by Mmes. Freeland Hunter, [illegible] Jessie Sevier, and Miss Bessie [illegible] son.

The diversity of interests in the Monrovia Woman's Club has at last led to the formation of three sections, one for the study of art and travel, another on parliamentary law, and the third on physical culture. The art section will meet October 20 at 2 o'clock, and at [illegible] the same day the parliamentary section will be convened. The physical culture section met for the first [illegible] with Miss Page at the clubhouse [illegible] plans for a three months' course [illegible] outlined. Miss Page has had [illegible] success with this line of work, [illegible] it is believed that a large class [illegible] be the result of the organization meeting.

Glendale Club Opening.

The opening of the winter [illegible] of the Glendale Club took place Tuesday afternoon in the club's meeting place, Butler's Hall, on Brand boulevard. The rostrum, upon which was seated the president, her [illegible] board and directors, was a veritable bower of blossoms, cosmos, marigolds, roses, pepper and magnolia [illegible] being utilized with charming effect under the skillful hands of Mmes. [illegible] O. Pulliam, F. L. Church, Arthur [illegible] Pierce, J. P. Green, [illegible] and Misses Martha and [illegible] Porter.

During the afternoon a short [illegible] splendid programme, presented [illegible] Mrs. William Herman West and [illegible] Martha Porter, accompanied by [illegible] Dora L. Gibson, was enjoyed by a large percentage of the membership of the club. The various chairmen gave their reports and plans for the ensuing year, and these were followed by a brief and pointed address by the new president, Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, who appointed a committee consisting of Mmes. A. W. [illegible] Frederick Baker, and R. W. [illegible] to ascertain the price of several [illegible] in Glendale on which the club [illegible] before long start its club home.

Following is a list of the new officers and standing committees of the club who are just taking charge of their work for the coming year: President, Mrs. Mattison B. Jones; vice-president, Mrs. E. D. Goode; [illegible] secretary, Mrs. Frank [illegible]; treasurer, Mrs. Roberta [illegible] Campbell, W. A. [illegible] Mmes. Helen I. [illegible] Evans and J. W. Usilton.

Programme Committee—Mmes. Fredrick Baker, Harriet H. [illegible] Dora L. Gibson, Adelaide [illegible] Green and H. D. [illegible] Means Committee—[illegible] and all committees [illegible] Home economics—Miss Alice [illegible] Literary section—Mrs. R. H. [illegible] ford. Music section—Mrs. [illegible]

THE MODERN TRIANGLE.

Concerning the People, the Play and the Actors.

BY HENRY CHRISTEEN WARNACK.

WHAT is a play? My answer would be that it is an interesting picture of life.

There is no way of knowing for certain whether a play has grip to it until the people have made the answer. It is not possible to guess the public and there is no going back of what they think and feel. Right now they will have none of Shakespeare. [illegible] so say, therefore, that Shakespeare did not write plays?

[illegible] when dashing off one of his [illegible] things, William S. Lightly remarked, "The play's the thing." This sounded good at the time and for two [illegible] months it was widely quoted. It was not long, however, until each of the larger actors began to correct the popular fallacy by the modest assertion, "I am it."

With his love of aphorisms and his [illegible] for epigrams, William also [illegible] averred that "All the world's a stage." The young world agreed with him, too, at the time it was written. [illegible] didn't know any better. We are [illegible] than we used to be and we have the modern manager to preside over the destinies of the stage. Usually [illegible] so from the front seat in the [illegible] office. The world is his oyster to the extent that it will cash [illegible] and all the world is not a stage. [illegible] the white slave, the Rosenthal [illegible] or some other public scare [illegible] of the minute is a stage and he [illegible] director of it. Sometimes he [illegible] a little further and extends the [illegible] of play building to incorporate the crooked smile or nervous hand of his leading man. [illegible] forgets to do this, the spoilt [illegible] writes a play of his own in order [illegible] these sacred features.

[illegible], I have no real quarrel if a play be written expressly for a great actor. In a case like that, the actor is not a person, but an art possibility. He is a capacity and a personality. Warfield is an example of what I mean. A man who wrote [illegible] the creator of the "Music Master" would not be thinking of a [illegible] of certain gentle characteristics and lovely faculties which Warfield could interpret divinely.

In the same manner something might be written for Otis Skinner or John Drew. These would not be [illegible] the expression of personality [illegible] the frank confession of [illegible] romance, because Skinner [illegible] are romantic actors of exquisite atmosphere and finish and a [illegible] of this sort to succeed would be wholly dependent upon the luck [illegible] of skillful interpretation.

[illegible] artist wanted to paint a picture, no matter how large was his [illegible] nor how great his capacity [illegible], he would be compelled to [illegible] a subject. If his fancy [illegible] to paint a tree, then he would [illegible] grand old gnarled masculine [illegible] of the forest or some spreading comfortable maternal-looking tree to overshadow children at play or [illegible] in the heat of the afternoon. He would seek these with a [illegible] setting so that the background would show the right slope of hill [illegible] and so that sun and cloud would combine in a glory of effect. The playwright can do no less and in these days of intense commercialism, it is hardly to be expected that he will lose track completely of the sort of manager to whom his work will be submitted and of the principal actors who are likely to be cast for the parts.

There seems to be a great difference in European and American art on this score and I think the contest between them is too young for anyone to venture a positive conclusion as to their respective merits. Both [illegible] tendencies to praise and de[illegible]. Men like Ibsen and Bjornsen have written out of devotion to purpose. Men like Strindberg are prolific in their restless capacity to write. They are splendidly indifferent as to results. In the long run that indifference as to what comes of one's work is certain to approximate a great and a free art. I doubt if anything noble or permanent can have for its inspiration a feeling short of a magnificent disregard of the public's opinion.

[illegible] are supremely careless of [illegible] usage of this. Gerhardt Hauptmann and Maeterlinck are in a position now to write what they please and the world must accept it, but they obeyed the same lofty dictates of art long before their acceptance. They were incapable of compromise with dollars. They recked not of critics or managers in those early struggles when their art was young. They were men with a message. They were persons with a purpose. They dared greatly because it was in their souls to do so, and they produced a rare and a superior [illegible]

In his day Oscar Wilde was as reckless in that. Like Hauptmann and Maeterlinck he was a poet before anything else and poets are not apt to [illegible]. They have a stubborn simplicity amounting to blind egoism. They do [illegible] than establish themselves. They [illegible] new lines for the artistry of [illegible]

There may come a time when a [illegible] can write for Los Angeles and [illegible] and still create for all the world. There may dawn a day when [illegible] will be fine enough [illegible] inclusive to express [illegible] of the hour and still contain [illegible] and a conviction for all time. There may be a manner of [illegible] which will provide especially [illegible] the great actor and yet include [illegible] its inspiration an invitation [illegible] a demand upon other significant actors who are yet to come. [illegible] these things I am skeptical. I think the old world more [illegible] than the new in dramatic [illegible] because more free and [illegible]

[illegible] has more to do [illegible] American art than any [illegible] of sacrifice to business expediency. Conventionality is more deadly than dollars. Our men are too subnormal for the excesses of [illegible]. They buy themselves clean [illegible] daily in sanitary barber shops. [illegible] clothing bought from a [illegible] $15 per business suit, all of [illegible] by one high-priced tailor [illegible] New York City or Chicago. [illegible] would not trust themselves with a [illegible] coat or a beard. They [illegible] discuss the soul or romance. They would be ashamed of [illegible]. It would not be easy to [illegible] a free or romantic art among [illegible] of this kind and it is not to be expected from artists of this environment.

The note of love is missing in much of our new drama. The world does [illegible] loving. There are lovers [illegible] America, although not much [illegible] is paid to them. The best [illegible] are about detectives or [illegible] getting rich quick. A few of [illegible] concerning moving-picture people or large industries. The plays that take the best are the ones where the white slave is chained to the box office at the theater door as an advertisement and were one pays for a ticket with a guarantee that he will see the frightened, palpitating thing brutalized a dollar's worth. If they are not that, they show us how somebody makes or loses a lot of money. There is anything and everything except falling in love and marrying in the old divinely-appointed manner. Even our melodrama has ceased to have a hero to save the "goil" from the clutches of the villain and to marry her in the last act.

This is too bad. It has robbed us of the greatest delight of the stage—the romantic actor. He is almost extinct. With his passing, our great actors seem to have vanished. In the old days when love was young the romance of the stage produced wonderful men.

About the best actor Los Angeles entertained last year was Wilton Lackaye. What was the result? We saw a large, beefy individual of superior intelligence and splendid energy who went storming through a play about dollars and who ridiculed even the sentiment of common honesty. Lackaye waxes the ends of his mustache in Mephistophelean fashion off the stage as well as on it, and his robust ideation of the practical side of life is as much his consuming philosophy in private life as it is when interpreting a play which expresses that sort of thing. He would not take a part of sentiment. To him it would be drivel. He would not countenance anything resembling symbolism. He would want to spell it cymbal.

This is not Lackaye's fault. It is the way the plays are running. It is the kind of work that is paying. It is the present American status, or rather, blindness.

Old-fashioned goodness and love may come back to us again over here in America. Nothing is so certain as reaction from every extreme. Besides, nothing can stop love, not even eugenics nor woman's suffrage nor her economic independence.

It may take something as primitive and naked as "The Bird of Paradise" to make us understand that hearts are still warm and that love is yet sweet, but we will get back to it after a while. Either romance or common sense will come along to the rescue of the poor little imaginary white slave and sever the chain that binds her to the box office and we will find her with rosebud mouth and eyes upturned, walking with soft steps in an old garden where the air is sweet with roses and the moonlight falls with a tender spell. Into this garden will come love, as young and winsome as before, and we who see it from the orchestra pit will once more admit its compelling sweetness.

Dramatic Reviews.

chum, standing in the shadow of the Lonesome Pine, he hails June, who appears in the tattered red homespun in which Hale first saw her. The humor of the situation appeals to both and they are drawn together at the foot of the lonely tree, where they sit and wait for the old Justice of the Peace to come and marry them. The original cast which will be seen here is as follows: June, Miss Walker; John Hale, George Bancroft; Bob Berkley, Frederick Forrester; Uncle Billy, George Woodward; Ole Hun, Lillian Dix; Judd Tolliver, W. S. Hart; Dave Tolliver, Willard Robertson; Loretty, Alice Martin; Cal Heaton, Cyrus Wood.

One week later the Mason will offer Julian Eltinge in "The Fascinating Widow."

Morosco.

At the Morosco Theater beginning this afternoon Manager Oliver Morosco will make another unusually interesting premiere by offering for the first time on any stage a new comedy by Douglas Wood called "The Prodigal Parent."

As an actor Mr. Wood is more or less well known to the American playgoing public, but this is his maiden effort as an author, his "Prodigal Parent" being the result of two years' work that promises to be rich in laugh-producing results.

"The Prodigal Parent" has to do with the suffrage question and while the author casts no reflections upon our women voters, he nevertheless has developed some brilliant fun out of the activities they have played in politics and other "games" heretofore thought exclusively for the male sex and he does take the very long but amusing chance of having his women workers beaten in the end by mere man.

The piece is in three acts, the action being laid in the small manufacturing town of Millport, in New England, and a small but prosperous city just being invaded by the suffrage movement.

It is brilliantly and consistently written; its dialogue of the keenest and wittiest sort, with situations of the same caliber, and unless the managerial expectations fall short local playgoers will, in "The Prodigal Parent," find a comedy that is really funny from the first curtain to the last and one that will, later on, further serve to firmly plant Los Angeles among the first-producing centers of America.

Mr. Morosco thinks so well of the new comedy that he has secured an option on the play and if it successfully weathers the "first performance on any stage" at the Morosco Theater, it will be offered to Metropolitan playgoers under his direction in the very near future.

Henry Kolker will make his farewell appearance with the Morosco organization in the splendid role of Gerry Germaine, the chief male character of the piece, while Grace Valentine will have another fine opportunity for an individual success of no small proportions in the part of Geraldine, his daughter, the chief feminine role of the play, and one of the particular sort that fits her to a nicety.

Cecil Kern is equally well cast in the role of Polly Cheeseman, a part totally different from that in which she made her first appearance with the Morosco company last week, while Helene Sullivan will return to the Morosco forces again in the part of Frances Roberts. Harrison Hunter will be seen to exceptional advantage as Lord Harry Trendall, while the other roles will be in the capable hands of Fanny Yantis, Florence Oberle, John Ellicott and Florence Cloak.

Majestic.

In New York's past theatrical season, notable for its many comedy successes, the greatest laugh-provoker was "Officer 666," by Augustin MacHugh, which ran the entire season at the Gaiety Theater to capacity houses. This famous farce comedy, fresh from its Broadway triumphs, will be seen at the Majestic Theater week commencing tonight with usual matinees.

In "Officer 666" the author is said to have handled his plot and characters with all the ingenuity and brilliant snap of the modern French and German school of dramatic construction. At the same time, it is paradoxically stated he has apparently shattered all the traditions of the stage, so individual and novel are his swiftly-evolved comedy situations complicated, hopelessly tangled and finally surprisingly straightened out.

Unlike most comedies the utmost suspense as to the outcome keeps pace with its continual provocative laughter until the final scene. Just when one thinks a glimmering of the solution is discernable, the next situation sweeps that idea away in a gale of laughter and renewed wonderment as to how the play is really going to end.

Orpheum.

"Seventy-five performers, mostly girls."

Reads like an ad for the biggest musical show that comes here, doesn't it But it isn't; it is the usual routine announcement of the Orpheum for its bill opening Monday matinee.

Count 'em—"The Song Birds," with William Buress, thirty-six; Mullen and Coogan, two; Franzeska and Schouten, two; Frosini, one; McLallen and Carson, two; Hoey and Lee, two; Carl Rosini, two, and "The Little Parisienne," twenty-seven. Figure it up. It's the biggest bill in point of numbers ever presented in vaudeville—and in quality it is up with any of them.

"The New Song Birds" is Victor Herbert's travesty on the war between Oscar Hammerstein and the Metropolitan Opera people in New York, brought down to date, with the principal characters true to life. The biggest singers of the day are admirably impersonated and travestied; Mr. Hammerstein is easily recognized by his wonderful hat and cigar; Mons. Gaggagagagi is equally easily assigned, and then the singers themselves, with the chorus also, are placed without effort. There is a lot of comedy in the skit; some wondrous music of true grand opera caliber, with a finale that is superb. The whole offering has a class and standing that has not been approached musically in vaudeville history. Mr. Burress is a perfect replica of the redoubtable Oscar, and his own characterization is alone a gem. Such acts as this come once in a lifetime, and in this case, every possible aid to its perfection has been employed. It will be found a delight musically—how else could it be with the Herbert music—while the comedy is keen and stinging.

Mullen and Coogan are sidewalk patter and song deliverers, of exceptional merit. The pair will be found equipped with a lot of new material, and will make it most interesting for everyone. Mme. Franzeska is the admitted prima donna of Holland; has been decorated by Queen Wilhelmina, and is a singer of rare voice, power and excellence.

Burbank.

"The Third Degree," Charles Klein's thrilling play of present-day police methods, has scored such an unqualified hit at the Burbank Theater that it will be continued for one more week—a second—beginning with the usual matinee performance today.

Not only has the play itself again achieved a genuine success, but Selma Paley has again scored an individual triumph—this time in the powerful dramatic leading role of Mrs. Thomas Jeffreys, Jr.

Miss Paley long ago demonstrated her worth as a prima donna, but even her most enthusiastic admirers were truly surprised by her brilliant and effective emotional work in this very difficult role, which has taxed the ability of the best-known actresses on the American stage.

"The Third Degree" contains all of the elements that go to make up the biggest of modern dramatic successes—an intensely interesting story, the heart-rending trials and devotion of a young wife whose husband has been unjustly convicted through the third-degree system, in which the author raises a powerful argument against the use of such methods by our police system. The big climaxes in "The Third Degree" are dynamic in force and dramatic intensity, and the play grips an audience from the rise of the first curtain to the last.

It was not intended by the management to allow "The Third Degree" to be given for more than one week, but the tremendous demand for seats and popularity of the play has made it necessary for one more week in order to accommodate all of those who have been unable to witness the splendid performance.

Following "The Third Degree" Manager Morosco will make the biggest offering of the entire season, when "The Quaker Girl" is given for the first time by any stock organization in America—or, in fact, anywhere in the world. Months of preparation have been given the "Quaker Girl," thousands of dollars expended for costumes, and a number of well-known musical comedy stars engaged especially for its presentation here, and it promises to prove by all odds the biggest production that has ever been offered on a stock stage.

Lyceum.

Ben T. Dillon and Will King, the popular Spring-street comedians, have formed a co-partnership for the purpose of carrying on a general law practice at the Lyceum Theater, commencing with the matinee today. "The Law-Makers," a tried and true Dillon and King success, is the forthcoming production. It's the cream of hilarious musical entertainment. There is a laugh in every line and ludicrous complications aplenty. Tuneful musical numbers at frequent intervals and graceful dances by shapely girls have been plentifully mixed with the comedy.

When Mike and Ike first make their appearance in the garb of janitors, and immediately assume the duties and responsibilities of their lawyer employer, you know that something unusually laughable is going to happen. First, they open his mail and pass upon the contents therein. The next in rotation on the court calendar is a divorce case. After dispensing with this important issue in a satisfactory manner, they take up the case of a love-sick couple anxious for a dip into the sea of matrimony. The young lady's papa is on the track with a violent temper and a sure-fire automatic. At this point Mike, Ike, the terrified couple and papa engage in several ludicrous complications.

The leading comedy roles of Mike and Ike will be portrayed by Ben Dillon and Will King, while to Maude Amber has been intrusted the part of Alhambra Clubs.

The Wednesday Afternoon Club of Alhambra was delightfully entertained last week at the clubhouse with an interesting harsichord recital presented by George Schoenefeld.

He appeared clad in Colonial costume and gave a very interesting description of the quaint instrument upon which he later played. "The radical difference between the piano and the harpsichord," he said, "is in the manner of producing the tones. Upon the piano, the result is achieved by pounding the strings with hammers, while upon the harpsichord the strings are twanged with the fingers. The lives of most of the great composers of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries were centered about the harpsichord."

In his picturesque apparel, looking as if he had just stepped out of an old-time painting, Schoenefeld gave a fine programme, interspersed with the biographies of the various composers.

The Alhambra Round Table was entertained at the home of Mrs. Mary Buchter of East Main street on Friday afternoon. Following the formal opening reports were submitted from the chairmen of the standing committees. The Philanthropy Committee has taken up the work with eager interest, the club members responding generously. Miscellaneous current events were presents, and followed by papers upon modern schools and education, with a discussion of the merits and demerits of the present system, led by Miss S. J. Brierley.

Mrs. James Nairne, past president of the Garfield-avenue Parent-Teachers' Association gave an illuminating talk upon the work of the organization in connection with hospital work, and told of the great benefits bestowed upon helpless or diseased children.

Mrs. Walker, instructor in music in the grades, spoke enthusiastically of the uplift of music and its ability to stimulate to higher aims and ambitions.

At the next meeting "civics" will occupy a prominent place on the programme. Mrs. James D. Nairne will talk upon "Municipal Government." Robert Jordan, president of the Alhambra Chamber of Commerce, will speak on "Sewers and Sanitation." The history of the Hebrews will be reviewed by Mrs. Mary Buchter and Mrs. McIlvane. The meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. T. G. Challoner, No. 511 South Marguerita avenue.

School of Dalcroze Methods.

Madame W. von Meyerinck leaves Los Angeles today for her home in Marin county—"Lanikeha" at Larkspur—after spending a year or more in Los Angeles, where she has become well known in the musical colony. After spending some time in the North, she plans to go, soon after the holidays, to Germany, to Hellerau—the Garden City—about four miles from Dresden, where Jacques Dalcroze has established his training school for his famous eurythmic methods. Dalcroze is coming to this country in 1915 with a number of his pupils to give an exposition of his work. Madame von Meyerinck plans to establish a training school at "Lanikeha" and it is to arrange for this that she goes to Germany. At present there are but three other schools of this method in the world besides that Hellerau the others being in Russia, in Austria and in London. A good deal of interest has been aroused among local musicians concerning the establishment in Marin county of this school.

Cosmos Club's Choice Programme.

Miss Frieda Peycke will entertain the Cosmos Club with a programme of her original compositions next Wednesday afternoon. Miss Elizabeth Gordon of Chicago, who has written the words of Miss Peycke's charming songs and who is known as the author of "The Flower of Children" and "The Bird Children," will be the guest of the club. Miss Peycke will give some new groups of children's educational songs and piano prologues.

The Shakespeare section of the club held its first meeting of the season at the home of Mrs. R. C. P. Smith, No. 1044 Grattan street, last week, and the current events class met at the home of Mrs. W. F. Anderson on Oak street.

Time-to-Time Club.

The Time-to-Time Teachers' Club will hold its fall meeting on the afternoon of October 25 at Hotel Virginia, Long Beach. Luncheon will be served at 1 o'clock and cars will leave the Pacific Electric station at noon.

Current Events Class.

The class in current events conducted by Mrs. Charlotte Conover held its first meeting last Tuesday morning at the home of Mrs. William Lacy, where it will continue to meet throughout the season. Mrs. Conover's first talk was in the nature of a resume of striking events of the summer.

Highland Park Ebell.

Mrs. Charles Hall, who has so often entertained the drama section of Ebell, gave of her talents last Tuesday, for the benefit of the Highland Park Ebell, presenting Zangwill's "The Melting Pot" to the intense interest of her audience. This week this club will give a garden party on Wednesday on the grounds of Mrs. Jessie Knight at No. 5175 Pasadena avenue, for the benefit of the clubhouse fund. Some novel and strong attractions will be presented.

The civic section of the club was organized last Monday with a large attendance and great enthusiasm. Plans were laid for the betterment of the locality, prominent among them being a project for lights and police protection for Sycamore Grove.

Worry and Hurry.

There are two little demons we have to combat,
And their names are Worry and Hurry;
They play the deuce with our nerves and all that,
But still we keep on with our flurry.
We hurry through breakfast, then off like a shot,
We worry through work till the end of the day,
We hurry through dinner, after which, like as not,
We hurry again to be off to a "play."
We hurry the baby as fast as we can,
Kindergarten and high school and college, you bet,
Are raced through in our hurry to make him a man,
'Till his brain is a jumble, his nerves all upset.

Then we wonder why half of the world's inefficient,
As we rampage along in our flurry
I am sure this very good reason's sufficient,
It is due to our Worry and Hurry
Do you think, after all, it is worth what we pay,
In nervous prostration and numberless ills?
Why can't we take time to live, day by day,
For truly and surely, it's hurry that kills.

Late Autumn Suits
$25.00 to $100.00

There seems no end to the season's suit fashions, and each lot arriving is pronounced smarter, more wearable than the last.

Duvetine and peau de peche, velours de laine in stripes, diagonals and brocaded weaves; wool poplins, cheviots and satin-finished broadcloths are in the front rank. The range of fashionable colors is all-embracing—navy, mahogany, terra cotta, plum, taupe and tete de negre are much admired.

Surprisingly good-looking suits are shown at $25.00 and from that the prices range on up to $100.00.

New Motor Coats
$25.00 and $35.00

In coats the pronounced English model is a strong leader; the materials, weaves and colors are as attractive as the style. Velours de laine, soft lamb's wool, English and Scotch cheviots, loop yarn weaves and zibelines are in great demand. Handsome Coats, at $25.00 and $35.00.

A Coat Special $19.50

In the lot of motor and utility coats we offer tomorrow at $19.50 are many you not likely will see again this season at the price. They have every modern style feature of cut, material, color and trimming. We count them most unusual.

Paris Blouse Styles
On Display

Exclusiveness is but one of the characteristics of these high-class blouses.

They are shown in lace, net, chiffon and silk, each individual of its class. The dropped shoulder, the new kimono sleeve, the late trimming ideas, the novel collar and sleeve effects, all combine to make the showing particularly fascinating. Those of chiffon and silk come in colors to match the suit, the lace and net specimens in white or cream color. Prices $5.75 to $50.00.

Dramatic Reviews.

[illegible] Clark, an actress. Robert C. [illegible] will play Jack Aster, and [illegible] Van Pelt, Col. Houston. [illegible] Trelease as Edna, Jack Wise [illegible], and Margaret McKenna [illegible] character role of Abigal [illegible] complete the cast.

The musical programme arranged by Producer Dillon and Musical Director Hayward will be far from ordinary. The opening number consists of "At The Devil's Ball,"' and "[illegible] Devilish Rag," will be sung by [illegible] Columbia Four abetted by the [illegible] Girls. Maude Amber will introduce for the first time here, her [illegible] song hit, "Be Sure He's [illegible]." "Madam Tetrazine" has been [illegible] for Jack Wise and chorus, [illegible] "Roll on Missouri" will be sung by Blanche Trelease assisted by the chorus. A specialty by the Columbia Four, and a song by Robert C. [illegible] complete the programme.

Pantages.

Edwin H. Flagg, the official scenic artist of the Pantages circuit, and otherwise known to fame as the guy who has been fined fifty-seven times for exceeding the speed limit in forty-[illegible] States, has turned his artistic [illegible] into a new channel. The [illegible] will be seen this week at Pantages in a spectacular extravaganza [illegible] Mr. Flagg calls "The Golden [illegible]." It is a fairy story, as all extravaganzas ought to be, with [illegible] central character known as Dolly, [illegible] wants a baby brother. In her [illegible] wanderings in Babyland [illegible] of the little playmate, Dolly [illegible] things that would wake up [illegible], but Dolly sleeps through it and is only awakened by the [illegible] bringing the new little baby [illegible] Flagg with his mastery of scenic [illegible] to show her.

The story is a very pretty one, and [illegible] has given us a series of pictures of Dreamland that satisfy the imagination and set a new standard [illegible] vaudeville. In the course of her [illegible] in Babyland, Dolly visits the [illegible] of the World and dances with [illegible] Belles, and is then swiftly [illegible] back to King Midas's palace, [illegible] everything is of gold, and made by the magic touch of the king. [illegible] Favar will appear as Dolly [illegible] bunch of well known Los Angeles girls are listed as "Fairy Play-[illegible]."

Another feature of the week which has been specially produced for the Pantages circuit is "A Bit of Old Ireland" with Charlie Reilly, the Irish [illegible] in the central role. The [illegible]'s and the O'Grady's are [illegible] represented in the cast and [illegible] of dancing and singing [illegible] give further realism to the [illegible] Walter Montague is the author, [illegible] piece was given its first [illegible] two weeks ago at Pantages San Francisco.

[illegible], the strong man and juggler [illegible] Irving Roth, the humerous [illegible] who was the center of merriment [illegible] the Lasky Hoboes last season, [illegible] characteristic musical monologue. Connolly Sisters, a pair of [illegible] with songs and dances, [illegible] and chic to the occasion. [illegible] and Lewis are scheduled to [illegible] the comedy section of the show, [illegible] for which their qualifications are fully recognized. The [illegible] Weekly and Pantages Rag-[illegible] complete the list.

The Empress.

[illegible] splendid headline feature of the Sullivan and Considine bill [illegible] at the Empress Theater with [illegible] matinee tomorrow, Karno's [illegible] London comedy company of [illegible] splendid funmakers will [illegible] the Empress stage in no [illegible] than their world renowned skit, "A Night in a London Club."

Everybody who patronizes popular vaudeville will remember this company of funmakers, for they [illegible] appeared here on numerous occasions and always scored a genuine [illegible] and attracted capacity audiences [illegible] their engagement and it is [illegible] predict that the Empress will [illegible] to its utmost capacity [illegible] the engagement here next [illegible].

[illegible] with the company returns [illegible] Chapin, whose appearance in [illegible] the last three years have [illegible] fully as fine a reputation as a [illegible] of the inebriate as Billy [illegible] formerly enjoyed. Their "[illegible] in a London Club" is a riot [illegible] from start to finish, being the [illegible] of the "souse" at a very [illegible] given at a clubhouse on the [illegible].

[illegible] in importance on the new [illegible] is Roland West's company of [illegible] offering West's latest satire "When Women Rule." In [illegible] of the militant suffragette, and [illegible] here in California, "When [illegible] Rule" should prove of more [illegible] worth as a laughmaker. [illegible] recently presented in New York [illegible] was sent to the Pacific Coast [illegible] Sullivan and Considine circuit [illegible] same cast that won success [illegible] New York.

[illegible] and Byall should also provide [illegible] the brightest spots on the new [illegible] their new songs—songs that [illegible] new and that have not been [illegible] every vaudeville stage in [illegible] as is usually the case with [illegible].

[illegible] to the fun portion of the [illegible] will be Oubrey Pringle, Violet [illegible] company presenting the new "Keeping an Appointment." [illegible] sketch is novel and refreshing [illegible] and affords every member [illegible] splendid cast excellent opportunities to distinguish themselves. their amusing and melodious skit, "Fun in the Schoolroom," will divide headline honors next week at the Hippodrome, beginning Monday afternoon, with the Aviator Girl, whose act, a spectacular departure, is one of the most startling and beautiful ever offered on a popular-priced stage.

In addition, there will be five other splendid features, every one of which is of top-notch caliber. The Howard Sisters are two girls of sensational appearance, and they will offer a society tango that is as daring as it is clever. Their costumes will be the last word in feminine apparel.

As usual, a big feature of the new bill will be Abram & Johns, this time in a western sketch they call "The Stranger." In it thrills and throbs mingle, and both players have splendid opportunity to do their best work.

There will be two really excellent musical acts. One is The Alvinos, melody banjoists, who know what to play as well as how, and their rival is El Cota, known in vaudeville as the Paderewski of the xylophone, on account of his wonderful manipulation of this popular instrument.

The seventh big act will be the Ashley Cooper players, presenting their sketch, the "Newsboy's Debt," and three photo-plays will make up what promises to be a great bill.

Hamburger's Arrow Theater.

Mary Fuller, the famous Edison photo-player, will be featured Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday in Hamburger's Arrow Theater in an Edison release, "The Girl and the Outlaw." It is a drama by Frank McGlynn. Mary Fuller is the girl who wanders away from the picnic party in a game of hide-and-seek and becomes lost in the deep forest. In her attempt to find her way home she plunges deeper and deeper into the woods, until she is at length hopelessly lost. At last she comes on Jim Dawson, an outlaw, encamped in an inaccessible portion of the forest. The manner in which she is taken back to civilization, which convinces her father, who is a Sheriff, that Dawson is not the man wanted, is carefully worked out by the director, Walter Edwin.

Kitty Gordon Coming.

Kitty Gordon is coming! That has been the byword of the theatrical circles of this city for many days, and when the fair lady does appear in Joseph M. Gaites's production of the big New York success, "The Enchantress," at the Majestic Theater for one week commencing Sunday night, October 26, her reception promises to be the equal of any given a star of Miss Gordon's prominence.

The excellent merits of the book, which was prepared by Fred de Gresac and Harry B. Smith, are given a musical setting by Victor Herbert that is in Mr. Herbert's best style. His score, beautifully orchestrated and freshly melodious, possesses frequent bursts into passages that savor of more grandiose compositions than most comic operas are wont to be. So musically "The Enchantress" is a genuine operetta, with a largely augmented orchestra, for Joseph M. Gaites has sent along his own musicians.

The action of "The Enchantress" takes place in the village of Zergovia, a mythical Balkan kingdom, where a young prince is about to ascend to the throne and choose a wife, who must be of royal blood. Into the court comes Vivien Savary, a beautiful opera singer, whose enchanting beauty dazzles the eyes of the prince. A scheming prince of war, eager for his King to fall into the snares of the siren, so that the destinies of the empire may fall into other hands, urges the fair prima donna to cast her lot carefully.

She, who happens to love the prince, really prevents his sacrificing his throne to win her by obtaining his abdication papers from the Minister of War in a scene where the game of diplomacy is played with an exceedingly pretty finesse. Then, to make matters completely happy, it develops that Vivien is a princess, after all, and may marry the adoring prince, thereby upsetting the plans of the enemy.

The first act, showing the throne-room in the royal palace of Zergovia, is a scene of exceptional magnificence, with all the chorus in court costume as ladies and gentlemen in waiting. The second act is a fascinating study in color, everything being done in different shades of lavender, even to the lights and lamp shades, the scene showing a room in Vivien's villa on the banks of the Danube.

In every detail Mr. Gaites has struck the eye of splendor and the engagement is most important for those theatrically inclined.

Hair Grew 4 Inches In a Few Weeks

A St. Louis Lady Increased the Length of Her Hair Four or Five Inches in a Few Weeks With This Simple Home Receipe

A well-known St. Louis lady, after using a simple recipe on her hair which she mixed at home, made the following statement: "Without exaggeration, my hair has grown four or five inches." The recipe she used is as follows, and any lady or gentleman can mix it at home: To a half-pint of water add 1 oz. of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and ¼ oz. of glycerine. Apply to the scalp two or three times a week with the tips of the fingers. It not only promotes the growth of the hair, but removes dandruff, scalp humors and prevents the hair from falling out.

It darkens streaked, faded, gray hair and makes it soft and glossy. These ingredients can be obtained from any drug store at very little cost and mixed at home.—[Advertisement.

Autumn.

Thou comest, Autumn, heralded by a rain,
With banners, by great gales incessant fanned,
Brighter than brightest silks of Samarcand,
And stately oxen harnessed to thy wain!
Thou standest, like imperial Charlemagne,
Upon thy bridge of gold; thy royal hand
Outstretched with benedictions o'er the land,
Blessing the farms through all thy vast domain!
Thy shield is the red harvest moon, suspended
So long beneath the heavens' o'erhanging eaves;
Thy steps are by the farmers' prayers attended;
Like flames upon an altar shine the sheaves:
And following thee, in thy ovation splendid,
Thine almoner, the wind, scatters thy golden leaves!

Pictures by Fannie Duvall.

Fannie Duvall, one of the best known of Los Angeles painters, and one who has taken a very active part in our art life and development for an appreciable period, returned, not long ago, from five years of study and research in Paris. This was her second visit there. She went in 1900 also, but remained for a year only.

On her first stay she devoted the entire time to a particular line of work. She enrolled herself as a student of the Whistler School, and did not stray from that hedged-in precinct of sublimated art. The second trip, however, was in the nature of an adventure, for she studied a little in all the different schools, a great deal in the galleries, and even more out of doors.

She intends to go again, and as soon as possible. This time it will be to Venice, where there are some splendid schools of art instruction. She may stop in Paris on the way, though, and devote some weeks to work in the School of Modern Art—where only bright colors are used, opaline blues, greens, reds and yellows, no dull earthen hues.

Miss Duvall believes thoroughly in study abroad for the American painter. He needs to get new ideas, different points of view, other standards of performance. In Paris he finds "artistic atmosphere," that bracing ozone so necessary to the artist's life. He is stimulated to higher endeavor, because he sees exceedingly good work around him all the time. Too, when he is "stuck" and doesn't know how to proceed with his painting, he may go to the galleries and invoke the aid of the masters. For they knew how to paint!

Copying the masters is another method of study. It initiates the student into the mysteries of a technique that is absolutely right, besides teaching him the difficulty of doing a really good thing. Miss Duvall has done much of it in the past, and has done it marvelously well. But she has come to the conclusion that the results are not commensurate with the time expended. It takes too long to enter into another mans' spirit, and unless you do that your copy is valueless. The mere technique of your master is not enough—you must see as he saw, think as he thought, feel as he felt. No wonder good copyists are rare.

In the exhibition Miss Duvall is now holding at the Friday Morning Club, to continue through October and November, she shows a number of beautiful copies, though none of the seven or eight Corots she has done. The Botticelli she exhibits may be considered a tour de force in the art of copying. It is a small replica of the wonderful fresco brought from Florence to the Louvre some years ago, before Italy had become jealously watchful of her own art treasures. It was rescued from a complete coat of whitewash, its discovery being entirely accidental.

"Giovanni Turnabuoni Receiving the Gifts of Venus and the Graces" is the title of the fresco, the most perfect, the most beautiful in the Louvre. It has all the Botticelli naivete and grace, the Botticelli light and airy loveliness of color. I doubt if any one ever made a better copy of it than this of Miss Duvall's. She has faithfully recorded even the texture of the wall on which the original was painted. This superb copy of a masterly fresco ought to become the property of our permanent art gallery in Agricultural Park. Miss Duvall worked on it for three months.

Another brilliant bit of work in copying is Rembrandt's "Portrait of a Young Man," also in the Louvre. It has the beauty and charm of its original, the glowing color, the perfect modeling.

Besides these important copies there are also a number of very small canvases, almost all done in an afternoon, a few in an hour or two. Miss Duvall calls them "sketch copies." They do not pretend to be exact in every detail, yet each has caught the spirit of the artist it imitates. We have Millet's "Brush Burner," Turner's "Pont Neuf," a detail from Monet's "Le Dejeuner," "A Doorway" by Henri-Martin, an oriental scene by Anglada-Camarada, Besnard's "Entre Deux Rayons," a child's head which is a detail from a group by Carriere, and so on—brilliancy, tenderness, subtlety, sweetness and light in epitome, many moods of many men.

"GETS-IT" is a Wonder for Corns

No Fuss, No Pain, Sure and Quick. Nothing Like It. "Gets" Them Every Time.

You never used anything like "GETS-IT" for corns, before! You're sure at last that every stubborn corn that you've tried so long to get rid of is a "goner." You apply "GETS-IT" in two seconds, that's all. "GETS-IT" does the rest. There's no more fussing, no more bandages to fix, no more salves to turn the flesh red and raw. No more plasters to get misplaced and press on the corn. No more "pulling," no more pain, no more picking and gouging, no more razors.

"Nobody Knows How Good I Feel—Corns Are Gone at Last—"Gets-It" Did It!"

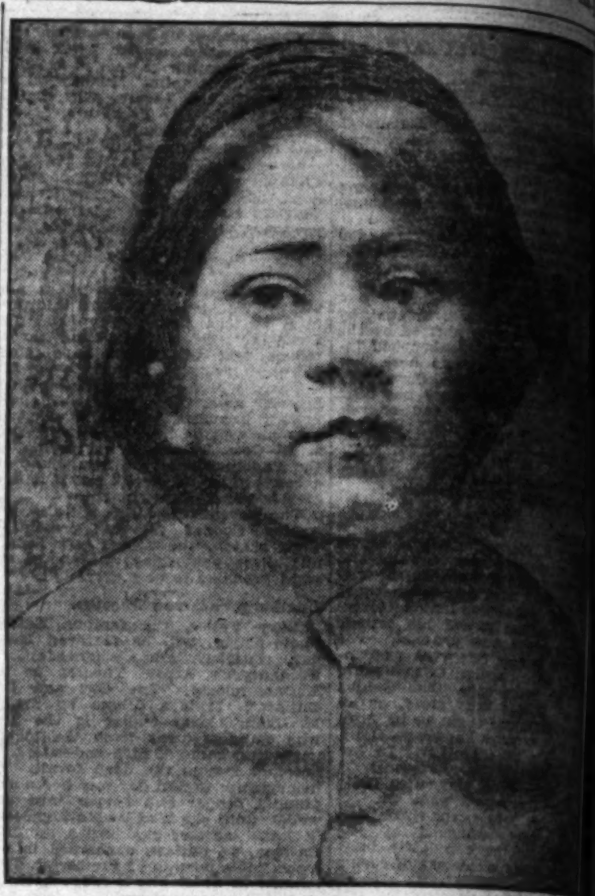
"GETS-IT" stops pain, shrivels up the corn, and the corn vanishes. "GETS-IT" never fails, is harmless to healthy flesh. Warts, calluses and bunions disappear.

"GETS-IT" is sold at drug stores at 25c a bottle, or sent on receipt of price by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago. Sold in Los Angeles by Owl Drug Co.—all stores.



The Chorister. By Fannie E. Duvall.

Miss Duvall's group of her own twenty-five-minute sketches is also interesting and forceful. She made them in various Paris schools. Over there, let it be known, any sketch class in any school is open to anybody on payment of a nickel. Students and artists must have a jolly time traveling from one side of Paris to the other, dropping nickels all the way.

However, our artist did much more in Paris than make sketches and copies. Those were her pastime—those and the happy loiterings in the colorful corridors of the Louvre and the Luxembourg. Her serious work was done out of doors and in her studio—along the Seine, around the gray turrets of Notre Dame, in the lingering sunlit Jardin du Luxembourg, and the quaint suburbs of Paris, and under the skylights of her eyrie in the Quartier Latin.

She found many subjects to her liking in the Luxembourg garden—though not so many as Claude Monet discovered in his famous haystack or in the lily pond, which he painted from almost the same identical point of view through all the hours of the day and all the seasons of the year. Particularly fresh and effective is her study entitled "Under the Hawthorn," pink blossoms aglow among the vivid greens of spring time in sunlight. Brilliant, too, is the little sketch of one of the stone lions of the charming garden. Below this small canvas hangs an antipodal study, equally well painted, though in more careful detail, "Stairway to Old Church, Auvers."

Delicate grays and lavenders give harmony to the strong painting, "Entrance to the Musee de Cluny." In "Ruin, Chauteau of Henry IV, Senlis," a pastel, the grays are remarkably well handled, and the glimpses of green beyond the dark corridors are correctly placed. Miss Duvall handles pastels, indeed, with a fine understanding of their possibilities and limitations. She does not tease them to death, neither does she use them too nonchalantly as mere instruments for laconic sketches.

Two pastel portraits, "A Chorister" and "Study of a Man's Head" are among the best things in the show. In these, as in the oil portraits from Miss Duvall's brush, the artist's appreciation of character and her ability to record it are in strong evidence. All these men and women are living human beings, sharply differentiated. "A Chorister" is an olive-skinned Italian boy in a red cloak. In "A Model From Tartary" the construction of the head is admirable, the full red lips are painted in a really masterly manner. In "A Jewish Model From Poland" the painting of the hands and drapery is noticeably good. But the background is execrable in color. In "Study of a Man's Head" drawing, modeling and color are excellent, and all is reposeful harmony.

Our artist is an adept in the painting of still life. She shows three examples of her work in this direction—"A Tea Table," "Grapes" and "Persimmons"—all pleasing in arrangement and in the rendering of textures. In color, too, they are delightfully fresh and sparkling.

The studies made in California—along the sea coast, in the canyons, at the mission of San Juan Capistrano—are numerous, but on the whole not as satisfying as those painted in Paris. Some of them, indeed, are crude and raw in color, labored and wooly in technique. Miss Duvall seldom paints a thoroughly satisfactory sky.

In the ideal exhibition of pictures the painter applies the law of elimination. He measures every canvas by his highest standard, and if it falls below that he rejects it. Publicity, white light beating cruelly on four walls, is a terrible test for beauty to undergo, be it in a woman or a picture—therefore, the astute artist becomes his own "carping critic." Had Miss Duvall been more critical she would have given a smaller exhibition, one more in keeping with her talent, which, at its best, is both virile and fastidious.

ART NOTES.

The fourth annual exhibition of the California Art Club, one of the most important exhibitions of the year, will be held in the Blanchard gallery, No. 233 South Broadway, for two weeks, opening tomorrow evening with a reception and private view. It will open to the public on Tuesday at 9 o'clock, to close at 5. Not open on Sundays. Every member of the club is entitled to show two pictures, and as some remarkably strong painters are enrolled, an exhibition of great interest and high intrinsic merit may be confidently expected.

To encourage and further the art interest and spirit in Long Beach, the Art Committee of the public library is now holding its annual local exhibition in the art gallery of the library building. The Library Commission has voted to have an annual exhibition of local art, and it is so included in the laws and rules now governing the library. The present exhibit contains oil paintings, water colors, ceramics, photography, architectural drawings by the High School pupils, pottery, basketry and embroidery, hammered copper [illegible] art craft work. The [illegible] draperies and woven landsc[illegible] Mrs. Harry Aylsworth is a [illegible] very attractive feature.

Julia Bracken Wendt has [illegible] New York to superintend the [illegible] in bronze of her notable [illegible] statuary for our new art [illegible] Agricultural Park. She will [illegible] for a month, possibly longer.

BITS OF VERSE.

The Long Road.

O it's weary I am of the miles [illegible]
  gone,
And the miles that are still [illegible]
For the white road beckons [illegible] stretches on
Past many a cottage door,
And I catch a glimpse through a [illegible]
  ticed pane
Or over the threshold [illegible]—
But it's shut my heart and [illegible]
  again,
For there's many a mile to go [illegible]

Though it's sick at heart at the [illegible]
  to go,
And the miles I have trod [illegible]
And the dip and turn of the road [illegible]
  low
Past many a quiet door.

A bit of a house when a body's [illegible]
With a smoke-wisp threading [illegible]
And a peat-warm corner [illegible] cold
When a wanderer's day is [illegible]
The kettle singing beneath the [illegible]
Crooning so cozy low—
But there's never a touch of [illegible] home latch
In the miles that are still to [illegible]

And it's sick at heart at the [illegible]
  go,
And the clutch of the evening [illegible]
With never the gleam of a [illegible]
  stone's glow
To cheer when the body's [illegible]

O the trail is sweet when a [illegible] young
And the springtime [illegible]
There's a laugh and song on a [illegible] tongue,
And a challenge at every [illegible]
But O the miles that are still [illegible]
With never a door my own,
With never a welcoming [illegible]
Or beckoning threshold-stone.

And it's sick at heart at the miles [illegible]
  go,
With the miles I have trod [illegible]
And the dip and turn of the road [illegible]
  low
Past many a quiet door.

Life's Gift.

Life's doors open and [illegible]
Life's lips kiss you and [illegible]
Life's own heart it will [illegible]
  Take it and wear [illegible]

Life's best gift will be [illegible]
Grief and passion and [illegible]
Toil and sorrow—but [illegible]
  Take it and bear it [illegible]

After pain will come [illegible]
Joy and laughter and [illegible]
Life will give of her best to [illegible]
  Take it and share it, [illegible]

Out-of-Doors.

Oh, it's ho! for the fields today[illegible]
  For the sweet, wide, out-of-[illegible]
  For the air like wine,
  For the crisp sunshine,
And the asters along the way.

And it's ho! for the quiet [illegible]
  For the flame on bush and [illegible]
  For the stream, leaf-strewn,
  For the rifle's tune,
And the quail with her [illegible]

Oh, it's ho! for the everywhere
  That's out under heaven's [illegible]
  For meadow and stream,
  And the hillsides a-gleam,
And the autumn that's in the air.

DIRECTS WAR FROM AFAR OFF.

General Controls His Troops in an Office.

Follows Moves of Armies Upon a Map.

Visitors to Paris Official Must Wear Gloves.

[A. P. Correspondence to The Times.]

PARIS, Oct. 5.—An excellent idea of what a modern land battle is like was obtained during the French army maneuvers, when Gen. Nicolas Chomer, commanding the 60,000 men of the Southern army, did not see a regiment during the five days nor on the final day of the battle did he hear a gun.

The general's headquarters on the last day were in a pleasant wayside tavern, twenty-five miles behind the firing lines, which extended about the same length. A large scale map of the region was spread upon a table, a row of telephones like that in a New York broker's office was on a wall in the dining-room, the tables of the field telegraphers were on the other side of the room, and wireless instruments cracked in an outbuilding. On the meadow adjoining military aeroplanes arrived and departed, adjutants taking the reports of the aviators.

Three colonels of the staff collated the telephonic, telegraphic and wireless reports and the airmen's observations, moving colored broad-headed pins on the map, thus indicating from moment to moment the relative positions of their own and the enemy's troops.

Gen. Chomer studied the map attentively. Now and then he gave an order concerning the movement of his troops or discussed with his chief-of-staff the significance of the information just received.

Gen. Paul Pau, the commander-in-chief of the rival Northern army, under much the same circumstances, sat some fifty miles away, sending his brigades and divisions into action, with no more of the tumult of war than is heard during a cable chess match.

MUST BE GLOVED.

Visitors to the Prefecture of the Department of the Seine are always "handled with gloves," for, according to a peculiar and ancient custom, permission to enter the Prefect's room cannot be obtained unless the caller wears gloves.

As soon as a gloveless person enters the reception-room the usher remarks: "Your gloves, please?" If the visitor replies that he has no gloves, the official says: "Then I will find you some." He keeps a large box filled with gloves of every size and shade, from which he provides the visitor with a new pair, for which he is expected to pay the equivalent of 50 cents.

The budget of the Prefect of the Seine for 1914 is estimated at an equivalent of $85,800,000, or $2,600,000 more than this year. Among the suggestions for raising the revenue is that a special tax shall be placed on foreign residents living in Paris, based on the rental of their houses or apartments. The American colony is very strong in Paris and if this recommendation were to be adopted, it would affect 2000 or 3000 families.

FLIGHT STOPS PLAY.

The success of Roland Garros's recent daring flight across the Mediterranean Sea has caused the postponement of a play which was shortly to open in one of the Parisian theaters. The whole plot of the piece apparently hinged on the impossibility of flying from France to North Africa, which is now shown to be easy. The Atlantic Ocean, it is stated, is to be substituted for the Mediterranean, but this will entail the rearrangement of so much of the play that it will not be ready for some time.

Wireless telegraphy has enabled the French and American authorities to determine within the one-hundredth part of a second the difference in time between Paris and Washington, but experiments are still in progress for the purpose of eliminating all errors.

The French government has sent a commission to Washington to renew jointly with the American officers at Arlington the exchange of wireless signals with the Eiffel Tower. It is composed of Martial Simonin, an astronomer of the Observatory of Paris; Capt. A. Carrier of the Colonial Infantry, and Naval Lieutenant Gignon. Prof. Henri Abraham of the Sorbonne sailed later to join the party, with the object of studying with photographic registration wireless signals and experiments in the velocity in the propagation of wireless waves. Later in the year the first party returns to Paris, and will be replaced by Eloi Viennet, an astronomer of the Observatory of Paris, and P. Auverny, an ensign of the navy, who have been working in the Eiffel Tower.

The American Navy Department at the same time will send an astronomer from the Naval Observatory in Washington and one or more officers, with the same objects, to Paris.

The officers of both navies will thus work first on one side and then on the other, so as to eliminate as far as possible the errors arising from the personal equation. The astronomical instruments used in the observations also will be employed first on one side and then on the other to correct such slight variations as may be due to mechanical imperfection.

PORTUGUESE ILLITERATE.

Latest Census Shows That About Three-Fourths of the New Republic's Population Can't Read or Write.

[A. P. Correspondence to The Times.]

LISBON (Portugal) Oct. 5.—Just about three-fourths of the Portuguese people can neither read nor write, according to the latest official census, which shows that in Portugal, Madeira and the Azores there was a total population of 5,960,056, of whom 4,478,098 were totally illiterate. There are 2,828,691 men and 3,131,365 women.

The Americans living in Portugal, 1645, outnumber the Italians, of whom there are 547, and the Germans, who have 969, and are nearly as numerous as the French colony with 1882.

The population of Lisbon is 435,359 and of Oporto, 194,009.

OIL FUEL SAVES SPACE.

The Battleship Queen Elizabeth Launched at Portsmouth Carries a Battery of Ten Fifteen-inch Guns.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

PORTSMOUTH (Eng.) Oct. 18.—Another novelty in battleships, the Queen Elizabeth, which carries an immense armament, was launched Thursday at the Royal navy dock yards here. Details of her construction have been kept secret. It is generally believed, however, that her armament is to consist of ten fifteen-inch guns, mounted in pairs in barbettes, while her secondary armament of four-inch or six-inch guns also is to be placed behind protected armor. Under ordinary circumstances the carrying of such a big battery would imply a considerable increase in displacement, but this has been obviated by the utilization of oil fuel in place of coal.

PONIES FOR AMERICA FROM SHETLAND ISLANDS.

Diminutive Animals Are Carefully Raised and Exported to Various Parts of the World Where They Command Big Prices—Women Knit and Sew While the Men Are at Their Menial Tasks.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

LONDON, Oct. 5.—The best and most aristocratic families in London and New York have suddenly revived the old fashion of training their children on Shetland ponies. The shipment of those sturdy little animals for America is going up by leaps and bounds, and wherever you go among the smart set in England you will now see these handsome little beasts carrying the children of the household. In fact, if you really want to be in the newest fashion, and to give children the time of their lives, you must have a string of Shetland ponies in your stables. Experts say Shetlands teach children self-reliance and domination and set off the natural beauties of the girls who canter them through the parks like no other ponies on earth.

Shetland ponies, of course, are to some people merely a general name for a small type of pony, but this is a mistake. These small animals are bred with as much care in the Shetland Islands as pheasants are bred and reared in covers in England and other sporting countries.

The Shetland Islands themselves are composed of some thirty or forty small islands, and three or four large ones. The largest, called the "Mainland," is a bleak, hilly island starting at the peninsula with Sumburgh Head as its commencement, and ending at Unst, a whale fishers' port, the first they touch on British soil.

Opposite Lerwick, the capital of the Islands, lies Bressay, one of the larger islands, and the center of the pony-breeding industry. Here they are reared and eventually exported to the United States and to Scotland, England, and other countries as required. A small, pure-bred specimen is somewhat valuable, fetching at the farm $200 or $250. Larger ones are less costly and only make about $25.

These animals are usually dark brown, shaggy little beasts with long black manes. Their temper is by some called playful, but vindictive would be more applicable. Whilst walking along one of the roads near Lerwick I had to run to shelter, as one of these charming animals made a dead set at me with ears back and teeth showing—I was informed that that is their usual reception of a stranger. They are owned by nearly everyone on the mainland, and act as draught-horses, being particularly strong. As a rule they are unshod.

LERWICK.

To get to this interesting series of islands I took boat from Limehouse Dock, London, and in thirty-six hours arrived in Aberdeen. From thence I went by another steamer for 18 hours to Lerwick, the capital of the Shetlands. Before actually arriving at Lerwick, early travelers who wish to enjoy magnificent rock scenery have enough and to spare, for on sighting Sumburgh Head, the most southerly point of the mainland, the eyes are literally fascinated by that headland surmounted by a magnificent lighthouse. The steamer follows this peninsula the whole way up—a distance of some thirty miles. Each mile presents new and delightful rock scenes unsurpassed on that southern coast.

Eventually I arrived in Lerwick harbor, which, by the way, is one of the best natural harbors in the United Kingdom. It is protected at its outlet by the island Bressay, six miles in length, which is the one already mentioned as the center of the pony industry. This harbor is capable of sheltering the entire British fleet, and is used by the admiralty as a base during the maneuvers.

Lerwick is a quaint town, nestling as it does round the harbor with a background of hether covered hills. The town is some 300 years old, but contains few of the old houses, although the principal street—Commercial street—is a remnant of the old order of things, inasmuch as it is merely an irregularly winding alley, about thirty feet wide, paved throughout with slabs of stone, there being no distinction between roadway and sidewalk. A store here and there encroaches on the street, which gives one the impression, when walking along it for the first time, that this must be a blind alley. On coming to the supposed terminus, however, one finds there is a way round and that the street meanders on.

The peasant population of the islands is extremely interesting. The male portion is mostly devoted to fishing and pony rearing. The female element stays at home, cures the fish, and, when that is done, carries peat, which is the only fuel used, in "creels," slung on the back. Whilst walking outside the town you see a regular procession of women coming and going, somewhat like ants moving their eggs.

They are all knitting as hard as they can, never looking at their work. The finished portion of the shawl is wound round their waist, leaving just enough free to work with. These are eventually taken to the stores and exchanged for the necessities of life. Barter is the usual mode of business among the poorer class. These people wear an extraordinary kind of shoe which they call "rivelins." It is made from a piece of untanned cowhide, the hairy side being outermost. I believe these rivelins are quite peculiar to the Shetlands.

The ponies are seen roaming about the hillsides quite uncared for, and seemingly wild, although they belong to the peasantry; these ponies, of course, are the larger and less expensive variety.

There is one distinctive peculiarity of all these islands, and that is, that there are absolutely no trees of any description growing. The inhabitants aver that they would spoil the view.

I took a small boat—which plies as often as required—across the harbor to Bressay, and by the courtesy of the proprietor saw over the pony farm. There were ponies of all ages and sizes, the smallest being the size of a large St. Bernard dog, and the foals were reminiscent of chamois. While on Bressay I also walked to the Orkneyman's Cave, which is situated at the extreme end of the island, with the Giant's Leg to guard the entrance—a small yacht can easily sail between these rocks.

Besides Lerwick, the capital, there is only one other town of any size, that being Scalloway. It is seven miles from Lerwick across the peninsula and was the harbor-town of Tingwall, the old capital of the islands. It boasts a castle, which was built in 1640 and inhabited by Patrick Stewart, then Governor of the islands. He was a particularly brutal and inhuman man, for there still remains a ring on one of the walls, through which a rope was run, to which he hanged a great number of the inhabitants for very trivial offenses, or none at all, sometimes, so the legend goes, other than refusing to pay him unlawful tribute. These executions were of daily occurrence and matters came to such a pitch that petitions were sent to Parliament, which caused him to be called to Edinburgh, where an inquiry was held. He was ultimately hanged.

His memory was so odious that the people destroyed the castle, and now all that remains are the four walls and the keep.

Picture of the Madonna Taken from Spello Cathedral by Thieves.

[By Cable and Direct Wire to The Times.]

ROME, Oct. 18.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Some tourists who visited the Cathedral of Santa Maria Maggiore at Spello today discovered that Pinturicchio's painting of the Madonna in the Capella del Sacramento, which is valued at $40,000, had been stolen and replaced by a copy. They informed the police, who interrogated the prior, Father Santarelli. The latter admitted the substitution and said he gave the original to Marquis Bernardo, an art dealer. The police arrested the prior and the Marquis. It is believed that the original of the painting has been smuggled to London.

COMMEMORATE LEIPSIC VICTORY.

Germans Dedicate Monument to Napoleon's Defeat.

Imposing Structure Erected on the Battlefield.

Stands Where Allies Drove Back Corsican's Army.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

LEIPSIC (Germany) Oct. 16.—On the field of the "Battle of the Nations," where just 100 years ago the defeat of Napoleon by the Allies virtually resulted in the liberation of Germany, there was dedicated today one of the most imposing battle monuments in the world. The ceremonies were notable even in this year of historic anniversaries in Germany.

The sovereigns of Austria, Russia and Sweden, the nations that fought with Prussia to break the power of Napoleon in Germanic Europe, sent their personal representatives, and all the federated princes and Mayors of the German empire were present. Thir host is King Frederick August III of Saxony, sixth in line of direct descent from that King Frederick August I, who fought with Napoleon against the Allies; whose troops deserted to the Allies on the decisive day, and who, himself, vainly appealing for terms, was taken to Berlin and kept a virtual prisoner for three years.

The structure dedicated is today by far the largest and highest in Europe. It stands just south of Leipsic, near Probstheida, the village out of which the Allies drove Napoleon on October 18, 1813, the decisive day of the "Battle of Nations." The fight had then raged for six days between the Austrians, Prussians, Russians and Swedes on the one side, and the French, aided by the Saxons and Wurttembergers on the other, when the deciding day came. On the following day Napoleon abandoned the contest, leaving behind 78,000 of his army of 180,000 men, 15,000 of them dead. The Allies, at a loss of 51,000 from a total strength of about 300,000, had made Germany free from foreign domination to the banks of the Rhine.

The idea of a monument on the battlefield was broached in the following year by Ernst Moritz Arndt, and found support from a number of prominent Germans and from a Russian diplomat. An organization was formed at Leipsic to keep alive the memory of the battle, but a king in captivity furnished grounds for abandoning the movement. The monument idea came up from time to time in the succeeding years, and in 1863, on the fiftieth anniversary of the battle, the foundation stone of a monument was laid.

Then came the wars of 1864, 1866 and 1870-71, and it remained for the German Patriots' Association, formed in Leipsic in 1894, to take the matter up and carry it to a successful conclusion. Four years later the necessary money had been raised, a design by Prof. Bruno Schmitz had been accepted and the first sod was turned for the work on October 18, 1898.

The monument stands on a hill about 100 feet above the level of the surrounding country. It is approached by a flight of 110 steps hewn in granite. On the base of the monument at the head of the stairs is an imposing relief, 180 feet long and sixty feet wide, the work of Christian Behrens. In the center of the relief is a heroic figure of Saint Michael. On each side of him Furies with torches hover over a battlefield strewn with dead. Above, in letters six feet high, is the motto of the anti-Napoleon warriors: "Gott Mit Uns" (God with us.)

The monument rises to a height of nearly 300 feet. It is of reinforced concrete, faced with porphyry. On the ground level is a crypt, suurounded by eight gigantic stone masks, representing fate. In front of each mask stands two warriors twice life size, holding the death watch. Above this crypt is a rotunda, enclosing the Hall of Fame. About the walls sit four figures, two male and two female, seven times lif esize. They represent Courage, Sacrifice, Exultation and Belief. The figures are the work of Prof. Franz Metzner.

Around the outside of the domed cupola which surmounts the monument, stand twelve gigantic warrior figures. The interiors of three of them are occupied by winding stairs and an elevator, giving access to a balcony near the top of the monument.

One striking thing is noted in connection with all the statues; not one represents any prince or sovereign. The uprising against Napoleon in 1813 was an uprising of the people, not of their rulers, and the new monument is a monument of the people. There is not a personal note about it.

ITALIAN JUDGES MAY STRIKE.

Lively Scenes Expected at First National Congress to Meet in Naples. Plan to Eliminate Incompetents.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

ROME, Oct. 4.—Lively scenes are expected at the first national congress of Italian judges and magistrates which is to meet in Naples.

The official organ of the new reform school of magistrates prints a short practical programme of ends to attain and the means for attaining them. The adhering judges demand the weeding-out of "numbskull," incapable and unworthy administrators of justice, who—they allege—constitute at least 20 per cent. of the Italian magistracy.

They ask that the position of judges shall be simplified into three categories with fixed minimum salaries of $800, $1000 and $1200 per annum, with a system of free competition for promotions.

Should the Ministry of Justice refuse to consider their plaint it is proposed to resort to "economic sabotage," consisting of a rigid application of legal procedure whereby magistrates can cite numerous superfluous witnesses to whom the maximum indemnity will be accorded, throwing upon the public exchequer a heavy burden of expense.

The Minister of Justice has been invited to the sittings, but in the circumstances he will probably not attend.

London.

REVOLT SPIRIT HITS ROYALTY.

Suicide of Princess Sophia Sign of the Times.

Intermarriage Question Stirs King and Queen.

English Women Tell What Men Should Wear.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

LONDON, Oct. 5.—It cannot have escaped notice that the modern princess is as deeply touched by the modern spirit of revolt as the militant suffragette. The sad suicide of Princess Sophia of Saxe-Weimar because her family would not let her marry young Hans von Bleichroeder is only one of the latest and most tragic manifestations of this spirit of rebellion which has rapidly gained force in recent years in almost every royal family on the continent of Europe.

King George has had his troubles in this respect, just like Queen Victoria and King Edward had; and it is clear to people in royal circles that sooner or later the ancient rule which stamps a royal princess as a member of a superior caste, and forbids her to marry outside a charmed imperial, royal or grand duke circle, will have to be swept out of existence. And any princess will have to be free, if she chooses, to marry any plain commoner or any American millionaire.

Francis Gribble, the biographer of dead European monarchs and the revealer of many a grisly skeleton in royal cupboards, is very keen on this point, and he calls to his aid the eugenist who knows beyond disproof how these arranged royal marriages usually mean unions between two near relatives and conequent insanity or disaster. Particularly he cites the annals of the ancient house of Hapsburg.

"The sympathies of the public at large are generally with the Austrian Emperor, Francis Joseph," he points out. "It pictures him as a most unfortunate old gentleman, whose relatives are perpetually disgracing him by their matrimonial caprices and pranks. Do what he will, it seems he can hardly get a single one of them in these latter times to marry a person of 'equal birth.'

"Princesses and princes, archdukes and archduchesses insist upon taking a leaf out of the book of King Cophetua and that romantic Archduke, John, who, some eighty years ago, married the daughter of the village postmaster. One of them calls himself John Orth and goes off to sea with a ballet girl; a second calls himself Herr Wulfing and takes flight to Switzerland with a star of the comic opera stage; a third takes the name of Herr Burg and settles down to domestic tranquility with the daughter of a high school teacher—quite unpresentable at court. It comes to his ears that the descendant of a fourth, being reduced to poverty, has taken a situation as waiter in a cafe at Budapesth, while the whole world rings with the proceedings of the lady who might, at this hour, have been Queen of Saxony if she had not preferred for her husband, first a Belgian tutor and then an Italian professor of music.

"Those, of course, have been the vagaries of comparatively distant relations of the Emperor, except Herr Burg, who is the brother of the Heir Apparent, but the revolt has also broken out in the immediate vicinity of the throne. The Heir Apparent himself is married to a lady who, by birth, is only just noble, and was turned out at an hour's notice from the house of the Archduchess to whom she was lady-in-waiting, because her portrait had been discovered in her imperial lover's locket.

"The widow of the Crown Prince Rudolph, Archduchess Stephanie, incurred the Emperor's displeasure by marrying a Hungarian nobleman, Count Lonyay. One of the Emperor's grand-daughters came to him with the confession that happiness was out of the question for her unless she was allowed to marry young Otto von Windischgraetz; while another of them gave her heart, and then insisted upon giving her hand, to the Baron Von Seefried, a mere lieutenant in the Bavarian Cavalry.

"The list is long enough, though it is not complete; and much pity has been lavished on Francis Joseph on the strength of facts set forth in it. 'How sad for him,' people say. 'So many mesalliances. He must feel as if there was a skeleton in every cupboard in the house.'

"But the eugenists know better. The eugenists say, quite frankly, that the Habsburgs are 'degenerates,' and they attribute that degeneracy, with equal frankness, to that 'inbreeding' which has, in the course of centuries, perpetuated and accentuated both physical and mental family taints. As Dr. Galippe has put it: 'The Habsburgs of Spain have long since been swept off the stage of history, disappearing in sterility or insanity. The Habsburgs of Austria, numerous though the representatives of the house are at the present time, will end by disappearing in their turn, as an old historic family, if they persist in their errors—that is to say, in their marriages with their blood relations.'

"And the eugenist adds that the recent revolt of the Princes and Princesses—not in the house of Habsburg only, but also in the house of Bavaria and most of the reigning German houses, including that of Saxe-Weimar—is due to the perfectly sound physiological instinct."

In England the matter will certainly be left where it is. It is an open secret that King George and Queen Mary are just now gravely concerned about the future of the Prince of Wales and of Princess Mary, and it may well happen within the next few days that King George will take a definite line upon the subject. He will then express his public disapproval of this system of inter-marriages with particular reference to the matrimonial plans afoot for his own children. He has already spoken freely to this effect to his intimate friends in private.

There are indications, too, that Francis Joseph has, in his later years, come round to saner and more tolerant views of royal marriages. He seems, at any rate, to have come to realize, albeit rather late in life, that the restrictions on royal marriages do handicap the members of royal families in the pursuit of happiness, and that if they cannot be altogether removed they might, at least, be modified with advantage. And King George and Emperor Francis between them can do a great deal to alter the present marriage rules in the royal families of Europe.

Much interest has been created among fashionable women here by the announcement that the Duchess of Fife will have pieces of white heather and myrtle in her bouquet when she is married next week. It is a sign that the happy bride-to-be shares the usual superstition of brides.

The manageress of a well-known London firm of florists told me yesterday that practically every wedding bouquet they made had included in it a little white heather and myrtle, and it was becoming quite the recognized custom later to have the myrtle planted and grow a tree from it. Thus in after years the sentimental could gaze upon what once formed part of the wedding bouquet.

Symbols in wedding flowers keep true to tradition. No bride would think of dispensing with orange blossoms, but there is a great diversity of taste as to the actual composition of the bouquets. Some prefer a mixed bouquet of lilies of the valley, white carnations and white orchids, with, of course, orange blossoms, white heather and myrtle. Others have a preference for white roses with the heather, orange blossom and myrtle.

Fashion is also a little capricious in the matter of the bouquets carried by the bridesmaids. In place of the old-fashioned mixed bouquet, bridesmaids now carry a simple bunch of madonna lilies with a little myrtle and white heather cunningly concealed at the back.

Meanwhile, however, Sir "Duggie" Dawson is frankly bored with the preparations for the royal wedding, of which he has principal charge. He dropped into a chair wearily the other night at Balmoral, and announced his firm intention to knock down the very next man who as much as breathed the word "wedding" in his presence. Scarcely had he spoken than the King entered the room and said: "Oh, by the way, Dawson, about the wedding——"

It was impossible for him to go any further, since not even the royal presence could prevent a smile running round the room. The King looked puzzled for a moment, but insisted upon having the incident explained to him, and then joined in the laughter.

Society is wondering whether Prince Arthur and his bride will prove important factors in the social world of the future. Frankly, it is recognized that the probability of the Duchess of Fife's adding much to the gaiety of the nation is not very large, but marriage sometimes makes a good deal of difference to a woman's outlook, and the announcement that Prince Arthur is planning house-warming festivities at Christmas is hopeful. As he does not intend to resign from his regiment—for the present, at any rate—a house at York will be necessary.

I hear, however, that the Prince is not house-hunting in the vicinity with much energy, and I understand that he feels that when he is on duty the Duchess may well pay visits to Scotland and to her mother and leave him to pursue the even tenor of his way. He has not abandoned his idea of doing something more than guard communications should there be a European blaze-up.

TO WED COUNT.

All engagements are announced as interesting, but one which is not yet announced and to which certain interest does attach is that between Lady Norah Noel and Count Robert Bentinck.

Lady Norah Noel toured with the Sheffield Choir on a memorable occasion when it went through the United States and Canada round the world, and the tour offered the rather unusual spectacle of a leading lady chaperoned by her brother, the eldest son of a peer. Lord Camden accompanied his sister, who is possessed of a fine voice trained at Dresden, and whose greatest desire was to try her luck on the operatic stage, a wish her father, Lord Gainsborough, had promised to gratify "some day." That some day is now likely to be.

Count Robert Bentinck is a young man with serious interests. His family is the Continental branch of the Bentinck family which achieved fame—and a dukedom—in this country.

One aspect of the pearl necklace mystery—this has been the pearl week in London gossip—that has affected many people has been the ill-treatment of the gems.

Jewelers especially shuddered to think what these most sensitive of precious stones must have suffered, stored away in dirty match-boxes, or lying loose in a workman's pocket or consigned to a sewer, as the missing ones probably were. It is sad to think of these homeless pearls in some ignoble obscurity of the great city. Contrast with their fate the treatment of the Duchess's pearls by Mr. Ruby, the jeweler, in "Lothair."

"I told her Grace," said Mr. Ruby, "wear them whenever you can; wear them at breakfast,' and her Grace follows my advice and wears them at breakfast. I go down to Havant Castle every year to see Her Grace's pearls, and I wipe every one of them myself, and let them lie on a sunny bank in the garden in a western wind for hours and days together. Their complexion would have been ruined had it not been for this treatment. Pearls are like girls, my lord—they require quite as much attention."

In real life there was the case of the late Lady Spencer, who wore her famous pearl necklace in her tour to Palestine, even when traveling on camels. She believed that the desert air did them good.

FOUND AFTER DEATH.

It does not do to decide too hastily that newly discovered jewelry is false. The other day a house and its contents in Belgravia were left by a relative to a lady who, having no particular use for them, decided to sell the house and the furniture. Before the sale she went round the house with her daughter, and in a dressing-room they paused at a chest of drawers.

The daughter opened one of the drawers, and found in it a handful of loose diamonds. They looked at them, and thought they must be sham. Their relative had been an old bachelor, and in any case it seemed preposterous that there should be a handful of loose diamonds lying about in this dusty old room, which had not been used for years.

However, the daughter decided to take the diamonds to her jeweler, and there she found that they were real stones of fine quality. Afterwards it was discovered that the owner from whom the house had come to the testator had been married, and his wife had her diamonds unset with the idea of giving them a new setting. She had died suddenly, the diamonds had been quite forgotten, and had lain in that drawer for many years.

MEDICAL WIZARD.

The recent birth of an heir to the peerage after a suspense of so many years is another feather in the cap of a famous London gynecologist, who has achieved so many similar successes. The first case which brought him into prominence was that of another distinguished peeress who had long yearned for a son and heir.

It is said that the medical wizard in question can not only ensure the birth of a child, but can also fix the sex beforehand; a very valuable gift in the case of families requiring a son and heir.

Smartest Novelty Suits of Styledom, $39

—A superb assortment of distinctive models that for cleverness of design and quality of materials and trimmings are truly extraordinary at this price! A particularly attractive suit shown in the illustration.

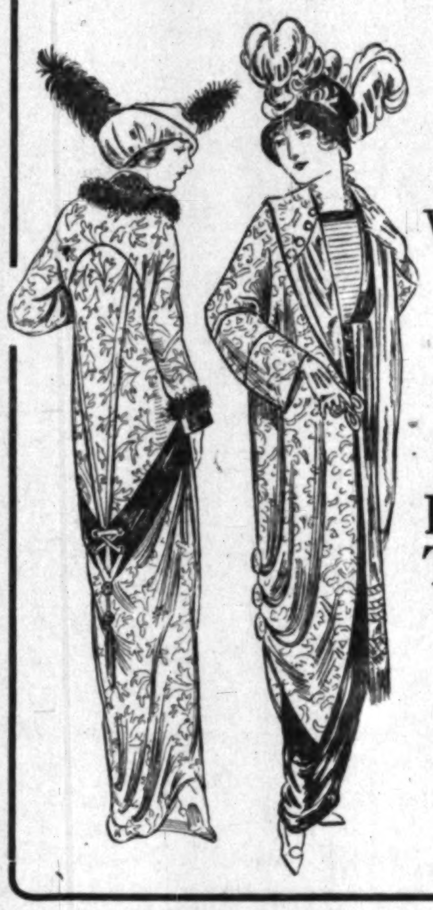
—Embodied in these suits are many unique effects that the discerning woman will at once recognize as belonging as a rule only to garments much higher in price. Materials are the fine, lustrous broadcloths, poplins, sponge cloths and matelasses, in such voguish shades as:

French Blue / Myrtle — Mahogany / Leather Shades — Purple / Tan and Taupe

—Fur bands are lavishly used for edging the collars and cuffs and the effect is luxurious and altogether pleasing.

—The model illustrated is of bright blue sponge cloth matelasse with turn back collar and cuffs of black velvet edged with fur. The coat is 33 inches long and has a broad band of velvet around the bottom and silk rings and lacers in the back. Sleeves of the kimono type extending into the yoke back. The skirt is tastefully draped.



VELVET COSTUMES at $25.00

—Just out of their boxes—very latest offerings of eastern fashion marts.

—These attractive dresses are cut on exceedingly modish lines and are shown in rich shades of purple, brown, navy and black.

—Fashion's increasing fondness for plaids is exemplified in these.

—Bodice and sleeve are of varied-colored plaid silks with wide bands of velvet. The neck is cut square and finished with lace frills, the fetching little vestee is of cream net and the cuffs are of velvet and lace. The girdle is of messaline in the same shade as the costume with long stole ends trimmed with bands of the plaid and finished with wide black silk fringe.

BEAUTIFUL PLUSH COATS
The Vogue—$35.00 and $45.00

—Undoubtedly this is a plush and velvet season! Never were these beautiful pile fabrics more in demand, especially for Miladi's wrap for semi-dress occasions.

—With their exquisite draping qualities, their extreme durability and the richness of coloring possible in no other weaves, they offer wide scope for the development of graceful and artistic modes.

—Notably popular pile fabrics are plain and brocaded plushes, plain and brocaded velvets and cut velours — all represented in this collection.

—French blue, rose, tan, taupe, brown and blacks head the list of wanted shades. Linings are of Pompadour taffeta or plain messaline and collars of fur or mouflon give a delightful touch of warmth and luxury. Large braid ornaments are used for fastenings.

BROADWAY, EIGHTH AND HILL STS.

Filmy Blouses, the Vogue, $3.95 and $5

—Tomorrow we feature the "Vanity Band" models, considered by critics of fashion remarkably chic and adorably becoming. The illustration suggests their clever style.

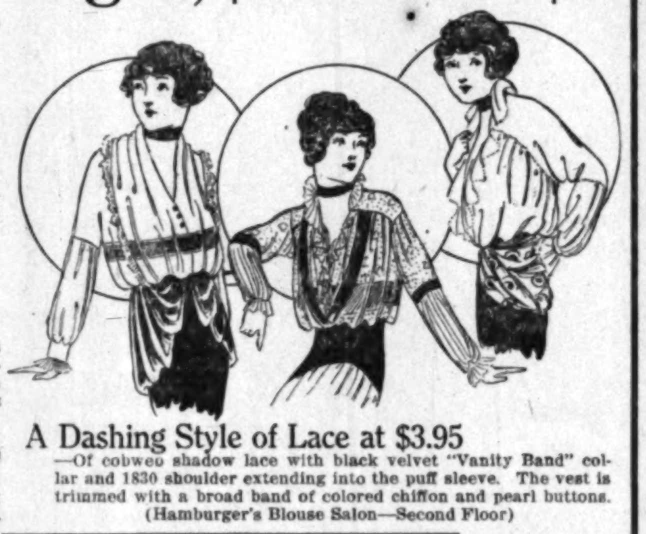
—The "Vanity" neckbands of black velvet are, in themselves, enough to impart a delightful air of difference and charm aside from the daintiness of filmy nets, shadow laces and lingerie and the cleverness of their fashioning.

A Charming Model of Fine Net at $5.00

—Beautifully embroidered in conventional design and shows the elongated shoulder effect. The long puff sleeves are finished with embroidered cuffs and frill of net and a double net frill finishes the embroidered Medici collar. Pearl buttons ornament the front fastening.

A Blouse of Net and Shadow Lace at $5.00

—The lining of this exquisite model is of plain net trimmed with ribbons which impart a coquettish dash of color. Long sleeves and low neck effectively finished with a double frill of net.



A Dashing Style of Lace at $3.95

—Of cobweb shadow lace with black velvet "Vanity Band" collar and 1830 shoulder extending into the puff sleeve. The vest is trimmed with a broad band of colored chiffon and pearl buttons. (Hamburger's Blouse Salon—Second Floor)

Fashion-approved Dress Hats at Only $20.00

—Modes smart Paris is wearing at a price of exceptional attractiveness.

—For Paris inspired this array of chic headgear—there's all the dash, the individuality, the "allure" that stamps the models of the best French designers. That the deft fingers of Hamburger artists have carried out these Parisian ideas means the lessening only of the prices. Hats of velvet and plush trimmed with fur, ostrich feathers, paradise and novelties in a diversity of clever effects. Black has most of prominence, but the autumn colors are well represented among them. The hat pictured is of black velvet.

Modish TRIMMED HATS
The Latest Styles for Street } $12.50

—Charming copies of models in vogue in the important fashion centers.

—Whatever the hue of your autumn suit you can find the hat to match or harmonize with it in this collection! A navy blue plush, perhaps, with its rolling brim slightly higher in the back and trimmed with blue moire ribbon and a wreath of velvet, silk and gold flowers in tones of pink, red, blue and green. Does the black hat have the stronger appeal? There's a modish style of plush with the high rolling side and trimmed with a high standing fancy feather. Black moire ribbon draped around the edge of this model gives the very soft line so much in evidence this season—and so very becoming! There's a style for every face and fancy. EXCUSE PRINCE FROM FAGGING.

Otherwise Henry Is Treated Like Other Boys.

At Eton He Wears Prescribed Hat and Clothes.

Labor Unions Declare Against General Strikes.

[A. P. Correspondence to The Times.]

LONDON, Oct. 5.—Prince Henry, King George's third son, is now a student at Eton, and it is said that he will be treated like any other boy, except for "fagging." Prince Arthur of Connaught, it will be remembered, was "fag" to one of the Astors and from this it is assumed by some that Prince Henry will have to adhere to custom and run messages and do other menial tasks for some lucky boy who has served his term at the same thing. Eton, of course, is democratic and a nick-name will certainly be found for Prince Henry, as there was for Prince Albert when he entered the naval academy at Osborne. The latter was known as "the lobster," although not with the same meaning as that term is used in America.

The style of clothing that Eton demands of her scholars has already been adopted by the Prince. His first day was occupied in buying his first silk hat, or "topper," as the Etonians term it, and he duly appeared in the tailless Eton jacket, broad collar and trousers turned up at the bottom. The last button of his waistcoat was, of course unbuttoned, as no Etonian, much less a new boy, would dare appear with the lower button buttoned.

There are many other things besides his lessons that Prince Henry will have to learn before he becomes an accomplished boy of Eton. On no account must he, until he has served his apprenticeship, indulge in the frivolity of a fancy waistcoat or rolled up umbrella, wear brown shoes or walk arm-in-arm with a fellow-voyager along the "High."

Almost infinite are the rules of Eton etiquette—where or when a fellow may smoke or drink "swipes" (ale,) under what circumstances he may call a spade an agricultural implement, on which side of the pavement he may walk going to Windsor (it is always the right-hand side,) and the exact set of his "topper" on holidays and high days.

When he is homesick he will learn that there is but one place where tears are shed, "The Waters of Babylon," and as to slang, he has a dictionary full of it to pick up. Prince Henry is to be a "dry-bob," that is, he will play cricket, and not be a "wet-bob," or rower. Generally the rower is considered to be more of a "blood."

NEW CUP CHALLENGE.

There has been considerable discussion in yachting circles here over the report cabled from America that the boat which is to defend the America cup is to be built of bronze and to have silk sails. One of the Shamrocks was built partly of bronze, and its advantage over steel in securing a fine polished surface below the waterline is well-known. Some English naval architects, however, favor a patent alloy of aluminum as material for the hull of a fast racing yacht. A small boat built in England of this material was raced in Belgium last season and found to be equal to any steel boat in point of stability at about half the weight.

Charles E. Nicholson, who is to build the new Shamrock, however, does not favor it, so it is not likely to be used in Sir Thomas Lipton's challenger.

As to silk sails, English yachtmen believe they sag too much and that what the American defender will be supplied with is really "union silk," which is largely cotton. The sails of the Shamrock IV will be made by the firm that makes the sails for all the best English yachts. The cloth used by this firm is specially woven for them and is not supplied to anybody else.

SYNDICALISM A FAILURE.

Syndicalism, which plays such a large part in the trade-unionism of continental Europe, has made little or no progress in Great Britain. In fact, some of the strongest trade union organizations in this country have declared against it.

First, there was the railwaymen's union, the executive of which decided against a sympathetic strike, another phrase for syndicalism, in connection with the Dublin strike. Some of the members of the union went out on strike in England sooner than handle "tainted goods" from Dublin, but they found no support from the officers of the organization and were therefore compelled to return to work. The bus drivers and conductors of London in their newly-signed agreement with the owners, have taken a similar attitude toward the sympathetic strike, and one of the clauses of the agreement expressly states that the companies are not to be affected by disputes with companies with which they have no direct concern. This is considered as big a victory for the companies as is the recognition of the unions for the men.

These decisions are a setback to those who advocate general strikes to secure redress of the workmen's grievances. The men's experience with this means of getting what they consider their rights has not been a very happy one in England, for the sympathetic striker very seldom gets any return for his self-enforced idleness.

Some of the leaders, including Phillip Snowden, the Socialist, have even gone so far as to say that the strike does not benefit the worker. With both sides organized, and all the money on one side, the strike is oftener than not a failure.

GOLF TXPENSIVE.

It is estimated that nearly $30,000,000 is spent on golf in the United Kingdom every year, and that of this huge sum only a little less than half, or $12,500,000, goes to the caddies.

The estimate has been made by a well-known golf specialist, who after a careful census has placed the number of players in the country at roughly 250,000. One-quarter of a million players pay on an average $25 a year each in club subscriptions, or a total of $6,250,000, which added to $250,000 for green fees, $6,250,000 for golf balls, $625,000 for clubs, and the amount which it is calculated the caddies collect, makes the total mentioned. The estimate gives one ball a week to each player, at a cost of 50 cents each.

Each golfer's expenses are placed at a trifle over $100 a year on the game alone, his railway fares or other means of reaching the links, and of course what he loses on his games, not being computed.

PASSED MANY BY.

Sir Herbert Tree, the actor-manager, has been telling the public of some of the plays out of which he might have made fortunes, which, however, went to other managers after he had refused them.

Speaking at a farewell luncheon to a brother actor, Sir Herbert said that had he produced five plays which had been offered to him, but which he refused, he would be a rich man. These plays were "Peter Pan," "Kismet," "Diplomacy," "The Daughter of Zenda" and "If I Were King," all equally successful.

The truth was, Sir Herbert said, no one was infallible. The greater one's experience, the more one knew that the merit of the play as a commercial factor could only be gauged in front of the public.

EIGHT COMMIT SUICIDE.

Men Involved with School Girls in German Town Take Their Own Lives.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

BERLIN, Oct. 4.—The town of Breslau is deeply moved by the discovery in its midst of a scandal involving many prominent men of all classes and occupations, and a vast number of middle-class schoolgirls of various ages who have been led astray by them.

A few days ago the police got wind of the scandal, which was mainly centered in the suburb of Ohlau. Fourteen arrests were made, and a large number of improper pictures were seized at the establishment of a druggist. Numerous other arrests have since been effected, and a telegram from Breslau today states that as a consequence of the disclosures eight of the men involved have committed suicide.

The number of school girls concerned is stated to be seventy-two. Among the men arrested are an officer, a retired police lieutenant, a baker, the owner of a hotel, a builder, a confectioner and the owner of public baths.

A deplorable feature of the affair is that many of the parents of the girls not only shut their eyes to what was going on, but actually promoted the relations with their children. Of those arrested, one, a dentist, has been released on bail.

Public indignation in Breslau is naturally intense.

EUGENICS IN SWITZERLAND.

Women Decide Prospective Brides Should Show They Are Physically Fit to Wed.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

GENEVA, Oct. 4.—The Society of Public Utility for Women, which has branches in all the chief Swiss towns, started a campaign last year on new and daring lines. They demanded that young women before marriage should be medically examined to prove that they are "fit subjects" to marry. The society urged young women to undergo the ordeal for the sake of themselves, their future husbands and for their country.

At present the society hopes only to make the measure voluntary, but it is trying to interest the cantonal authorities with a view of making it compulsory in the near future. Many girls have already accepted the advice of the society, and will thus become "certificated brides."

MISSES DUKEDOM.

Prince Arthur Is Made a Knight of the Thistle and Promoted in Army on Eve of Marriage.

[BY CABLE AND DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, Oct. 18.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] It has been rumored for some time that King George would confer a royal dukedom on Prince Arthur of Connaught on the eve of his marriage to the Duchess of Fife. This was not done, but by a royal decree he is created a Knight of the Thistle and promoted from a captain to a major of his regiment. The Times denies that it was ever intended that a dukedom should be conferred upon him.

WIRELESS ON ALL CRAFT.

UNION MAY MAKE DEMAND.

LONDON, Oct. 18.—The executive council of the National Sailors' and Firemen's Union, at an emergency meeting, has decided to take a ballot of members of the union on the question whether they were prepared to refuse after May 1, 1914, to ship on board any ocean-going craft not equipped with wireless.

True to His Trust.

[Pittsburgh Telegraph:] Congressman Robert P. Hill of Illinois told one at a social gathering which proves that there are cases in which a thing may be guarded entirely too well.

Some time ago, according to the story told by the Congressman, a city contractor was given a road to build in a rural section, and when the following Saturday night came he had proceeded so well that the operation was surveyed and staked out.

Wanting to go to his home in the city over Sunday, the contractor of the town went to the Mayor and asked him to see to it that the stakes weren't burned for firewood before he returned on Monday morning.

Monday morning came and with it the contractor. Hastening to the operation, he found to his dismay that every stake had disappeared. Quick steps then to the office of the Mayor.

"See here," exclaimed the contractor, showing large symptoms of agitation. "I asked you to look after those stakes for me, and every blessed one of them has been stolen." "Oh, no, they haven't," was the prompt assurance of the Mayor. "The stakes are all right. I had them put in the town hall for safekeeping."

Whittling and Thinking.

[Indianapolis News:] Frank Johnson, a Civil War veteran of this city, and some whittler, too, answers the oft-repeated question: "Do whittlers think about anything else when they whittle?" Mr. Johnson says that an old, experienced whittler whittles subconsciously and that the act of whittling does not interfere with his thoughts in regard to the responsibilities, cares and worries of life. He either thinks and whittles or whittles and thinks. Both are done simultaneously, yet each is wholly independent of the other.

The Lost Hessians.

[Indianapolis News:] In the ragged mountains of Virginia live the lost Hessians, a queer and interesting people. They are the descendants of the Hessian prisoners who were confined at Charlottesville during the Revolutionary War. At the close of the revolution the Hessians were released in a body. They determined to march back into the Ragged Mountains and establish a new home in those hills. Here they and their descendants have lived ever since. They put up their rude cabins made of logs and mud, and they have had no other kind of dwelling from that time to this.

Impressions.

SAYS AMERICANS ARE IRASCIBLE.

Japanese Count Analyzes Western Temperament.

Figures Show Divorce in Tokio Is Decreasing.

Cost of Living in Empire Touches High Mark.

[A. P. Correspondence to The Times.]

TOKIO (Japan) Oct. 4.—Discussion of the American-Japanese controversy gave occasion recently to Count Shigenobu Okuma, former Japanese Foreign Minister, to express his impressions of American temperament.

The problem was a vast one, he declared—more far-reaching than is commonly thought by the Japanese people. It was a problem whose solution depended upon patience and endurance as well as diplomatic tact. Japan, which had regained after a long struggle the right of decision in her own affairs, must now acquire the power to have a say among the great nations on all questions involving her interests.

Meantime the United States will remain a difficult problem, he said, not only to Japan, but to the whole of Europe. He added: "Great Britain has been time and again annoyed by the haughty and eccentric manner in which America behaves herself. The arbitration and Panama tolls problems are the latest illustrations."

The veteran statesman continued: "What makes the matter more troublesome is the tempestuous and irascible mood of the American people. One moment they rise and rage like madmen and in the next drop to nonchalance. For instance, the California problem seems already sinking down to the lethargic level. You never know the vagaries of the American psychology."

However, Count Okuma is brightly optimistic and believes Japan and America will eventually settle all their problems even if it takes a century, for both are united in strong friendship and common interest.

DECREASE OF DIVORCE.

One of the most striking features of the new census report of Tokio is the rapid decrease of divorces. In 1904 there were twenty divorces to every 100 marriages. In 1911 the percentage had fallen to sixteen in 100.

This decline is attributed to an important change that is slowly but surely taking place in the family system of Japan. The growth of individualism and the greater opportunities for the average citizen to advance on a basis of intelligence and capacity have affected the family system so much that certain distinct results are already noted.

Greater freedom of choice is permitted among the young people and the influence of the mother-in-law over the new household has considerably diminished. Until western influences began to affect the Japanese social system the newly-wedded bride always entered the home of her mother-in-law and obeyed her in her every action. This state of affairs often led and does lead now to discord and divorce. But the assertion by the daughter-in-law of her rights and the tendency for new couples to establish a home by themselves has changed all this.

THE CENSUS.

Although Tokio is said to be almost as large in area as London, its population is, according to the latest figures, only 1,900,000.

Big as it is in extent, Tokio is constantly spreading out and the question of transportation looms up as a tremendous problem for the near future. The modern electric car system supplies the great masses with a means of transport, but it is believed some substitute must be found for the old-time, picturesque rickshaw which requires such a length of time to travel between distant points. It is not unlikely that the electric motorbus of the great European cities may find its way to Tokio as a solution of the problem.

Tokio's growth has made other rapid changes and the most notable is in the cost of living. This is about three times as high as it was ten or fifteen years ago. Newly arriving foreigners who come to live in Japan are astounded. They find that the cost of living in Japan is as high as in Paris or London, though the absence of theaters and restaurants and the general places of amusement reduce the possibilities of expenditure for the luxuries of life.

The increase in Japanese taxes is the fundamental cause of the higher cost of living. It has caused the laborer to triple his wage in the last twenty years and everything else has followed in its wake.

PICTURESQUE MOB.

The difference between a Japanese and other mobs was demonstrated during the popular manifestations to demand the sending of armed forces to China to punish the Chinese for attacking Japanese in Nanking.

The gathering was certainly more picturesque than a western mob and it balanced at times between the tragic and the farcical. At one end of the vast Hibiya Park the huge band-stand was jammed with frenzied orators, with in front undulating masses of Japanese in flowing, artistic robes, almost all wearing wooden sandals over bare feet and the great majority jauntily swinging walking sticks as they sauntered back and forth to hear the hoarse-voiced agitators and to gossip over the events of the day. Occasionally they would stop to stare curiously at the few foreigners present.

The slightest incident served to agitate this vast concourse and send it rushing down the field, the wooden shoes making the clatter of a force of cavalry. Hundreds climbed trees and hanging their wooden shoes across the boughs, took in the show from their points of vantage. A pioneer suffragette dragged herself to the band stand and urged the help of Japanese women to the cause of the meeting.

Even sheets of rain failed to shake the spirit of the mob, and all afternoon and night students and workmen continued to harangue the crowd, which refused to be called off despite hunger and thirst until daybreak.

The demonstration indicates the tendency of the masses to have a greater voice in the doing of the empire. It was an illustration of the growth of democracy.

A father, having occasion to upbraid his son for extravagance, said that "when he was a boy, his father never gave him more than a dollar at a time," when the young man replied, very gravely: "I hope, sir, you don't intend to compare your father with mine."

Berlin.

KAISER'S BALLET SCHOOL TURNS OUT PREMIERES.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

BERLIN, Oct. 5.—Even great men have small troubles, and one of Kaiser Wilhelm's small troubles is his ballet school. Wilhelm has a very decent sized ballet school with always at least fifty scholars, boys and girls. This is not much compared with Czar Nicholas's 150 pupils, but it is enough to produce good dancers. And the choice is enormous. Every year on the appointed day from 300 to 500 small Berlin boys and maids collect outside the Koenigliches Schauspielhaus, where the ballet school is, and offer themselves as dancers, all swearing (or letting their parents swear,) that they have shown at home the genius of Taglioni.

These are the best child dancers of Berlin. Every one of them is made to show her or his talent, and has a chance of acceptance, and free care and education for ten years. The aim of every poor Berlin father and mother is to get the family genius into the Kaiser's ballet school. The belief is that this is an easy thing, and that glory looms ahead. First the infant will be looked over by the ballet school director, Herr Graeb. Next it will be seen by Count Huelsen-Haeseler, the Kaiser's adviser on all dance matters.

BACKED BY KAISER.

Fraeulein Gasperini was until a few years ago a famous dancer at Berlin Royal Operahouse, and was later directress of ballets there. Then Wilhelm II took her, and appointed her manageress of all dances at his place, and it is she who holds the rehearsals which precede Kaiser Wilhelm's Court balls. She gives the Kaiser good advice about his balls, and his ballet school, and Kaiser Wilhelm takes it—sometimes. Naturally there is disappointment when out of 500 applicants five are taken. They then are put to hard schooling.

In addition to studying dancing for ten years, the Kaiser's pupils must study other things. They get a first-class secondary education. The ballet school is almost the only school in Prussia where co-education obtains. Boys and girls are taught together, both dancing and the sciences. As a rule, co-education is condemned in Germany. The education authorities are against it, but they approve of it in the Kaiser's ballet school. The boy ballet students generally turn out well, and when they reach military service age get into the army as privileged one-year volunteers. That is, they figure as young gentlemen soldiers who serve only half the lawful term, eat well, and wear nice clean uniforms, and nice clean spectacles. It is the splendor of the education which Kaiser Wilhelm gives which makes so many want to join his ballet school.

Ten years go in reading, 'riting and 'rithmetic. "As if," says Herr Lanz, a critic, "a premiere ballerina assoluta wanted arithmetic. A ballerina is always rich. Even if she knew integral calculus she wouldn't be able to count her money."

Of late there are rumors that the Count Huelsen-Haeseler is to go, and that he will be replaced by somebody not yet known. Huelsen-Haeseler has been ten years chief authority over the opera, the Royal Theater, and the royal theaters at Hanover, Wiesbaden and Cassel. His family has been in the royal theater business since 1851. The news that the Count was to go caused—when it was believed—great joy to some people—people who resent the opera being flooded with geniuses from America, Austria and Russia, and who resent non-Prussian plays being put on the stage, while hungry Prussians clamor for engagements and royalties.

German theater-goers are highly displeased. They have no opportunity for intellectual converse with the ballet ladies, but every season see only their ankles. Conversely, the Prussian education authorities are pleased. It is said they have the power to fine even Kaiser Wilhelm if the pupils at his ballet school do not get their education regularly. But nobody on earth has the power to fine Kaiser Wilhelm because his ballerinas' ankles are too thick, or not supple enough, or simply won't work.

Which is, perhaps, to be regretted.

KAISER FACES FAMILY FEUD.

Only Daughter Who Married Prince Ernest Is Partisan of the Guelphs. Family Conference Called.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

BERLIN, Oct. 4.—A remarkable family feud has been opened in the Emperor William's own household.

The Kaiser's only daughter, Princess Victoria Luise, who married the Duke of Cumberland's son in May, last, has become such an ardent partisan of the Guelph cause that the Emperor has become much concerned over the matter, and has decided to call a family conference in order to see what can be done.

On the marriage of Princess Victoria with the only surviving son of the Duke of Cumberland, the heir of the Guelph claims in Germany, it was concluded that the longstanding feud between the House of Hohenzollern and the descendants of the last King of Hanover, had been healed, the Guelph claim to the throne of the one-time independent kingdom being finally abandoned. It will be remembered, too, that the bridegroom, in a letter in April to the Imperial Chancellor, stated that his father had handed over to him his rights in the government of the Duchy of Brunswick "in the expectation of the repeal of the Federal Council's decisions of 1885 and 1907."

The kingdom of Hanover, the recovery of which for the Cumberland family was the aim of the Guelph party since its annexation by Prussia in 1866, was linked with Great Britain for over a hundred years—from the accession of George I to the British throne till the death of William IV. As the Salic law prevailed there, on the accession of Queen Victoria in England the crown went to Ernest Augustus, Duke of Cumberland, the fifth son of George III.

After a brief but stormy sway, Hanover was lost to the Guelphs through the opposition of the blind George V to Prussia's schemes of aggrandization. When the moment arrived for a decision to be made whether support should be given to Austria or Prussia, the two great protagonists in the battle and the change that altered the face of the Germanic countries, the wrong side was chosen. Prussia asked Hanover to remain neutral during her war with Austria. King George refused. There was the briefest of struggles in June, 1866, and the smoke of battle had hardly died away before the fiat had gone forth that Hanover no longer existed as a kingdom, but as a mere province of victorious Prussia. There has always, however, been a loyalist party working for the return of the Guelphs.

Hitherto the Kaiser has persistently declined to recognize the claims of the Cumberland family to the kingdom of Hanover, and also to the dukedom of Brunswick, the succession to which fell to the family later.

"FAITHER TOITON'S" WIDOW.

Ex-Catholic Priest Is Once More in Trouble, and Is Held in a Paris Jail.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

PARIS, Oct. 4.—Arrested primarily on a charge of swindling, M. Toiton, a Catholic ex-priest, is said to be concerned with other crimes of a more serious nature.

Some time ago M. Toiton was suspended from his clerical office, but he, nevertheless, continued to wear the garb of a priest, and he was a well-known and prominent figure in the lower parts of Paris.

Happening to be walking along a certain street one day, an acquaintance of the ex-priest saw a woman meet with a slight accident while getting off a tramcar. The man helped the woman—a young and pretty widow—into a neighboring cafe, and, finding that she was of independent means, he subsequently called upon her on several occasions, and pressed his intentions, posing as a lieutenant in the army. During one of these visits he introduced "Father Toiton" as his cousin. The result was that the impressionable widow agreed to be "married" to the "lieutenant" by Toiton.

A few days later the woman's lover stated that he was ordered to Morocco for a little time, and suggested that in the meantime his fiancee should dispose of her furniture and valuable books, for which he had no room in the new home he was preparing. The "priest" offered to act as intermediary in this matter and the widow consented.

When, however, she went to keep an appointment with the amorous "lieutenant' she found him missing; "Father" Toiton was also found, on inquiry, to be missing; and so were the valuable books and furniture which had been removed for "sale."

Now that the ingenious "priest" is under lock and key, the police are engaged upon investigating into his career, and it is believed that uglier things than swindling will come to light.

Niece of Former Hungarian Minister Elopes With a London Merchant and Is Married.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

BUDAPEST, Oct. 4.—Great excitement has been caused here by the escape of Countess Elsa Serenyi, the niece of a former Hungarian Minister, from a convent near Vienna, and her elopement with Herr Alfred Bader, a merchant, whom she married in London.

It had been represented that the Countess was of weak mind, and sanction was obtained to have her placed under guardianship.

Telling the story of her adventurous life, she says that she was put in a convent when she was seven years of age. Seven years ago her parents forced her into marriage that turned out to be unhappy. She became separated from her husband, and shortly afterwards lost her little son.

Entering a sanatorium, she made the acquaintance of Herr Bader and fell in love with him, but her relatives opposed a marriage with the merchant and had her placed in a convent. Later her father had her taken to Duka, in Hungary, and urged her to marry a Count, threatening to put her in an asylum if she did not fulfil his wishes. On her refusal to marry the Count she was put in the convent, from which her lover rescued her.

A young man took a letter to Herr Bader, and when the inmates of the convent were asleep the Countess entered the garden, climbed over the wall, jumped into an auto, and was driven to Vienna. Herr Bader took her to London, where the marriage took place.

The couple then returned to Vienna and tried to obtain the forgiveness of the Countess' parents, but without success. Her father took action against her husband for abducting her, but nothing came of it. Meanwhile doctors declared that she was of weak intellect, and her relatives, acting on this report, sought to have her marriage annulled.

The Countess and her husband then traveled to Zurich, where she placed herself under the observation of two mental specialists, who found that her intellect was normal.

She has given up all hope of obtaining her father's forgiveness, her husband is now connected with several Vienna firms, and she has obtained a position in an office and earns a salary of $30 a month.

Basement Store

Crepe de Chine Dresses Bought Underprice; on Sale $15.00

—A season's surplus stock of Crepe de Chine bought markedly underprice from a prominent Eastern manufacturer of silk gowns and made up especially for our Basement Store, into stylish frocks that manifest characteristics of fashionable New York models. 'Twas a "pure luck" "buy" that makes possible such an economy.

—The models illustrated show their distinctiveness of style. To see them in their filmy softness and beauty is to want one for your fall and winter's wardrobe.

—One model with V-shaped neck is finished with pointed lace, and the set-in sleeves are trimmed to match. The front of the waist has silk-covered buttons of self material and is fashioned with a pleated silk girdle and bow in front. The skirt is draped and trimmed with buttons of self-material to match—all very new and exceedingly chic.

ST. PAUL'S CATHEDRAL.

Site Has Been Occupied by Cathedral, Church and Temple from Earliest Known Times.

[New York Herald:] All London has been looking up at men working feet above the street gilding the cross and ball which surmount the dome of St. Paul's Cathedral, at the top of Ludgate Hill, in the heart of the city. Lacking the beauty of Westminster, St. Paul's still has its dome, which is the visible symbol of national dignity, and the Londoner who does not jealously preserve it is regarded as no true citizen.

Recently there has been considerable excitement about the condition of the cathedral and a strong opposition has developed to the proposed tram subway that would run under it. Already there are cracks and other signs of decay in the building, due, in part, it is alleged, to the vibrations of the heavy motor buses that rumble past constantly on all sides. The construction of the subway would endanger it still further.

England can ill afford to lose this famous public monument. The golden cross draws the eyes to a site that has been occupied by a cathedral for more than 1300 years. Bede noticed that early in the seventh century a cathedral was built here by Aethelbert of Kent at the instance of the missionary Mellitus, who became its bishop. Even before that, tradition says that a Roman temple of Diana crowned the hill.

The cathedral was rebuilt in 1083 with the consent of William the Conqueror. In 1561 it was struck by lightning and the fire did great damage. Later the great fire of London almost completely destroyed it. The present structure was built according to the designs of Sir Christopher Wren and Inigo Jones.

The foundation stone for the new building was laid in 1675, and the last stone in 1710, the cost of the building, £850,000, being in great part defrayed by the duty on sea-borne coal. The dome is the most interesting feature of the cathedral, its general structure having been derived by Wren from the Pantheon in Rome. It is in three parts, from the outer one of which, made of timber and lead, rises a lofty lantern or spire terminating in the gilt ball and cross that have recently been treated to a new dress of gold. The gilt ball is six feet in diameter. The dome has an open balustrade, which is popularly known as the Whispering Gallery.

St. Paul's, to most of those who hurry by intent on busy errands, is a familiar landmark. It is also a memorial of the city's growth. Within its walls are monuments to many of England's soldiers, statesmen and literary celebrities. Great services and ceremonies have taken place there. It is still the seat of the London Bishop of the Established Church. The Lord Mayor, who is, ex officio, an officer of the cathedral, and other prominent citizens are therefore uniting to prevent the construction of a subway along a route that would endanger this noted cathedral.

MILITANT ENGLISHWOMEN.

The Suffrage Question Has Produced a Revolution in a Heretofore Reserved and Steady People.

[Metropolitan Magazine:] There are facts in this world that are never questioned—such as the sun shines, kings are born and not made, that water is wet and dogs can bite. Together with these the world has always taken judicial notice of the fact that the English are a reserved and steady people, that they hate innovations and speak in gentle tones; that they are loyal to their traditions, and that the worst thing that can be said of an Englishwoman is that "she's in bad taste."

And yet I have witnessed a scene where a gentle, middle-aged woman, with the type of face of "the mother back home," was fighting a policeman with the intensity and viciousness of a street rowdy; of another one like her patiently bearing the steady pummeling of a big brute of an officer while she clung with her English tenacity to her suffragette flag. I have seen girls, at an age when good looks count more than bread and butter or coronets, bearing bravely the marks of mutilation—dulled and blood-shot eyes and bad complexions and a racking cough caused by forcible feeding; or sewn-up face scars and dislocated jaws and broken noses, the handiwork of some street hooligan or policeman.

But what is more surprising still is the fact that in line are thousands of other young girls, hundreds of middle-aged mothers and scores of gray-haired grandmothers ever willing and anxious to get into the thick of the fight, though they know that the cost may be crutches and broken backs for life—even life itself.

FREAKS.

During the trial of the divorce action of John F. Crigolett at Cleveland O., against whom one of the charges was that he went to lodge meetings and then told his wife, although she did not approve of them, Judge George L. Phillips said: "A wife objects to lodge meetings, why tell her about them? What she doesn't know won't hurt her." The judge refused a divorce.

When Horace S. Bowen of South River, N. J., was married recently, his father's wedding present consisted of a profitable milk route.

Charles Roberts, a Greek freedman, at Tulsa, Okla., claims to be the father of fifty-one children, and says he can establish his claim to having the largest family in the United States, and possibly the world. He first was married in 1868 and of that union nineteen children were born. He has been married several times since and says he now has thirty-three children living. Twenty-nine are married and Roberts's great-grandchildren are legion.

In Social Circles, Squares and Triangles

THE WEEK.

[illegible] RECEPTIONS, DINNERS, WEDDINGS AND THE LIKE.

[illegible] opening for what promises to be a happy social season will be the large reception Friday evening to be given by Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Johnson who, surrounded by nearly 300 friends, will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary. The half century of wedded life will be rounded out by this prominent couple at a lovely evening party given at their hillside home, at No. 1221 [illegible] street, where they will be assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. [illegible] O. Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. [illegible], Jr. Unbonneted ladies include Mrs. W. J. Chichester, Mrs. C. E. Staub, Mrs. W. E. Not only have Mr. and Mrs. Johnson been married fifty years but they have spent more than half of the time in this city and on their orange ranch at Riverside, where seven years were passed while Mr. Johnson was regaining his health. The wedding was solemnized in Galesburg, Ill., where the bride and groom remained [illegible] years before moving to Riverside.

In honor of the occasion an old-fashioned musicale programme will be rendered, and among some of the numbers will be "My Old Gray Bonnet," "When You and I Were Young, Maggie" and "Silver Threads Among the Gold."

[illegible]

Congratulations are being heaped upon Mr. and Mrs. Hugh K. Walker, over the arrival of a handsome baby boy. Mrs. Walker was formerly Miss Fanny Todd Carpenter.

[illegible] Honored.

A charming affair of Thursday was a theater party at the Orpheum followed by tea at Hotel Alexandria given by Mrs. George Fusenot of [illegible] avenue. Miss Sophia Ku- [illegible], who is to wed Richard Culver, young attorney of this city, was the special guest, and dainty arrangement of blossoms brightened the table, where covers were laid for members of the younger crowd.

[illegible] San Francisco.

Mrs. H. Montague Porter of Rancho Monte-Ferdo is visiting in San Francisco.

[illegible] Nuys.

Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson Smith Harris of Rancho Monte-Ferdo, of Van Nuys, are entertaining over the week-end Mr. and Mrs. Edwin C. [illegible] and family of this city. Quail hunting and quail dinner are among the delightful plans.

[illegible] Hostess.

A luncheon of twelve covers was presided over during the week by Mrs. David McCoy, who entertained at her home on West Twenty- [illegible] in compliment to her [illegible], Miss Marguerite Gal- [illegible] of St. Louis, and for Mrs. [illegible]son of Australia, who was formerly Miss Helen Wells of [illegible]. Yellow chrysanthemums formed a pretty centerpiece.

[illegible] to Wed.

Miss Gladys Moore, the attractive and accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Adolphus Moore of No. [illegible] South Carondelet street, will become the bride, November 12, of Robert E. Brown, the service to be a quiet home affair. Miss Moore is remembered as one of the maids at the Rindge-Mushet wedding, and she also served at the Simpson-Hardy wedding.

[illegible] Reception.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Gilbert Nottage, the latter formerly Miss Madge [illegible], were at home informally Friday afternoon and evening. Yellow chrysanthemums and pink carnations [illegible] the rooms where the young couple were assisted by Mrs. Louis [illegible], Dr. R. Nottage, Miss Lucile [illegible] and Miss Irene Turner.

[illegible] Snowden Hostess.

Complimentary to Miss Constance [illegible]ingham, who is betrothed to [illegible] Snowden, Mrs. John W. Snowden of No. 2458 Budlong avenue entertained with a five hundred party [illegible] last. Mrs. Snowden was assisted by her daughter, Miss Mildred, who will be maid of honor at the wedding. The home was decked with chrysanthemums, while baskets of [illegible] Brunners and maidenhair [illegible] the small tables where refreshments were served. The young people sharing the fun were Miss [illegible] Hinsley, Miss Myrtle Brown, Miss Leah Marsh, Miss Francis Mc- [illegible], Miss Donahue, Miss Margaret [illegible] of Kansas City, who is passing the winter here, Miss Doris Reed, Miss Delta Kapp, Miss Marguerite [illegible], Miss Mary Chisholm, Miss [illegible] Chisholm, Miss Veronica McDonald, Miss Ruth Dallman, Miss [illegible] Barry, Miss Dolly Barry, Miss [illegible] Snowden, Miss Martha Har- [illegible] and Mrs. Thomas.

[illegible] Mary Party.

Members of the Princess Mary Chapter, Imperial Daughters of the British Empire, gave a card party [illegible] evening at the Fowler apartments. Following the games supper was served. The committee in charge [illegible] Mrs. Aubrey Allen, Mrs. [illegible] Deerlin, Miss Lalla Fagge, [illegible] E. Magee and Miss Mabel [illegible]

[illegible] Barbara Gossip.

The summer social season in Santa Barbara and Montecito was formally opened Friday afternoon with a dinner dance given at the Santa Barbara Country Club by the members, the affair being a "Dutch treat." Social leaders now are planning for winter festivities, it being expected that the coming season will be the liveliest in many a year.

A large number of local and Montecito society folks took advantage of the opportunity for an evening of pleasure on Saturday when they went to the Potter for the weekly dance. Prominent among the dancers were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Chickering, Mrs. [illegible] of Los Angeles, the Misses [illegible] Henshaw, Marguerite Doe, [illegible] Brackenridge, Emmeline Childs of Los Angeles, Gladys Keeney and the Messrs. Harlow Frink, Allan [illegible], Howard Johnson, Elliott [illegible] and others. At one of the tables were Mr. and Mrs. Milo M. Potter, Dr. and Mrs. Oliver Dwight Norton and several others. Mr. and Mrs. Philip H. Rice of Goleta entertained a number at another table. [illegible] Taylor of Pittsburgh also entertained a crowd.

Mrs. William Miller Graham and Mrs. Joel Remington Fithian left the [illegible] part of the week for Los Angeles, where they are to be the guests of Col. and Mrs. McKinstry.

Mr. and Mrs. William Frew of Pittsburgh have returned to Montecito from San Francisco to pass a short time with Mrs. Frew's parents, Dr. and Mrs. C. C. Park, before going East for the winter.

Mrs. Emmeline Childs of Los Angeles, who has been at the Potter for the last two months with her daughter, Mrs. A. W. Redman, and granddaughter, Miss Emmeline Childs, and Mrs. Hicks returned to their southern home Monday. Miss Childs came back to Santa Barbara Friday and attended the dance at the country club. She will leave early next week for New York to join her mother, Mrs. O. W. Childs.

The appearance here Wednesday of Margaret Anglin in a matinee and evening performance was the occasion for a turnout of society, and, following the night show, Miss Anglin was the guest of Mrs. William Miller Graham at the latter's beautiful Montecito home.

Miss Nina Jones, the attractive daughter of Mrs. Milo M. Potter, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Walter Filer at the Fairmont Hotel in San Francisco. She will return home in a fortnight. The Potters have been planning to spend the winter in Europe, but recently were compelled to give up the contemplated trip.

Society folks are planning to participate in a parcels party to be given at the residence of Dr. and Mrs. J. R. Poore in Montecito next Monday, the affair being a benefit for the Cold Springs school. Among those who will take an active part are Mmes. William G. Henshaw, Oliver Dwight Norton, Edwin H. Sawyer, Ogilvy, Davison, Dowson, Driver, Charles Frederick Eaton, Macy, Seth A. Keeney and Hull, and the Misses Hull, De la Guerra, Gladys Ogilvie, Marguerite Doe, Gladys Keeney, Marcia Brackenridge and Marion Campbell.

Musical Evening.

Notable among affairs of the week was the musicale which had for its host and hostess Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cardell of Manhattan place, who asked friends to meet Walter Oleney of London, Eng. An enjoyable programme was presented by the guest of honer, Mrs. Guy Bush, Mrs. Theodore Davis, Miss Vida Smith, Royal Smith, Miss Letitia Williams and the hostess. The home was transformed into a beautiful garden with quantities of carnations and tropical ferns. In receiving, Mrs. Cardell was assisted by her daughter, Miss Marguerite, and her house guest, Miss Margaret Pewtress; Mrs. Grace Mabee, Mrs. Charles F. Ellis, Mrs. Frank Ayers and Mrs. E. M. McNish.

The following afternoon Mrs. Cardell and her daughter presided at a reception for which 150 cards had been issued. In the receiving line were Mrs. James T. Fisher, Mr. Oleney, Mrs. Mabel Turnbull, Mrs. E. M. McNish and Miss Pewtress. Punch was served by Mrs. Gordon Gilholm, Miss Bernice Foulkes and Miss Ada Parsons. Miss Williams, Mrs. Bush and Mr. Oleney gave selections during the receiving hours.

Plan to Sail.

Mr. and Mrs. A. McNally, who left this city August 20 for a tour of the North and East, will sail on the White Star liner Conopic on the 28th inst. for a year abroad. Mr. and Mrs. McNally visited Mrs. McNally's old home in Canada and Mr. McNally's birthplace on King Edward's Island.

Informal Dance.

Another fraternity affair was the informal dance given by the Delta Phi frat Friday evening at the home of one of its members on Harvard boulevard.

For Bride-Elect.

Miss Mona June Eskey, who is betrothed to James W. Dunham, was the honoree Friday afternoon at a bridge luncheon given by Mrs. A. C. Davidson at her home on Monmouth avenue. The residence was artistically decorated with pink cosmos and chrysanthemums and the prizes hand-painted china plates. Refreshments were served at two tables, where the bon-bons were held in little gold baskets with tiny slippers pendant from the handles.

A variety of dainty brides done in water-color held covers for Mrs. James Lane Crandall, Mrs. John Johnston, Mrs. Milton Newton Eskey, Mrs. Rex Hardy, Mrs. Lawrence Field Kelsey, Mrs. Harry Dehu, Mrs. Kenyon F. Lee, Mrs. George Ellis, Mrs. Frederick Hastings Rindge, Mrs. Harold Waddington, Mrs. Theodore Cadwalader, Mrs. Jack Huber, Mrs. William P. Dunham, Mrs. George W. Randall, Mrs. Chesterfield Crank, Miss Mildred Landreth, Miss Marguerite Brown, Miss Frances Smith, Miss Marian Jacobs, Miss Amsden, Miss Bessie Baker, Miss Ethel Getz, Miss Agnes Whittaker, Miss Gladys McLachlan and Miss Gertrude Ward.

Parties for Bride-elect.

Miss Doris Hudson, the bride-to-be of James S. Woollacott, was the honoree at many handsome parties this week. On Friday afternoon she shared honors with Miss Eva Bailey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Warder Bailey, No. 668 West Twenty-eighth street, who has just returned from Sweet Briar College, Virginia, at a beautifully-appointed reception given by Mrs. Lewis Clarke Carlisle at her home, No. 674 Ardmore avenue.

Pink and green were the prevailing colors throughout. The drawing-room, where the receiving line stood, was canopied with pink enchantress carnations and ferns, and the mantel was banked with the same flowers. The same color scheme prevailed in the library and hall.

The large tea table set with a handsome lace cloth over pink satin was centered by a beautiful Tiffany glass basket filled with Kilarney rosebuds, the handle tied with a huge bow of pink ribbon, the streamers reaching out on the table. Other features of its decoration were the cut-glass dishes filled with bon-bons. Presiding here was Mrs. William S. Cross, who chose different ones of the ladies to pour. At the punch bowls were Miss Helen Thresher, Miss Marie Nichols and Miss Winifred Howland.

The hostess was assisted in receiving by Miss Doris Hudson, Miss Eva Bailey, Mrs. Frank D. Hudson and Mrs. George Warder. Other unbonneted ladies were Mrs. William S. Cross, Mrs. Willets J. Hole, Mrs. Allison Barlow, Mrs. Charles H. Toll, Mrs. George P. Thresher, Mrs. J. W. McAlester, Mrs. Wilbur D. Campbell, Mrs. Raphael W. Kinsey, Mrs. Herbert D. Requa, Mrs. Ross Hamilton, Mrs. George E. Burrall, Mrs. Chester C. Ashley, Mrs. T. W. Whitaker, Mrs. Roy Bailey, Mr. and Mrs. William Bayly, Jr. Music was a pleasing feature of the reception hours.

Wednesday afternoon Miss Hudson was the honoree at a matinee party given at the Orpheum, followed by tea at the Alexandria, Miss Ruth Greppin of St. Andrews place being the hostess. The tea table was abloom with Gen. McArthur roses and foliage, and hand-painted sketches of dainty girls on cards marked covers for the hostess, Miss Hudson, Miss Llewellyn Jones, Miss Mary Turner, Miss Audrey Baughn, Miss Mary Bacon, Miss Helen Duque, Miss Louise Hunt, Miss Julia Vanderburgh, Miss Marie Nichols, Miss Winifred Howland, Miss Aline Wagner, Miss Genevieve Shafer, Miss Cecile Greppin, Miss Irene Kelley, Mrs. Frank D. Hudson and Mrs. E. H. Greppin.

Thursday afternoon Miss Genevieve Shafer, No. 621 St. Andrews place, entertained with a theater party at the Morosco for Miss Hudson. Later the guests were taken to the Alexandria for tea. A tall pink-shaded silver candelabra, the base banked with the dainty Cecile Bruner roses peeping out of masses of greenery, formed a centerpiece for the table, and hand-painted place cards were adorned with cupids, with large pink hats, and for the honoree with a special card, on which was a miniature bride. Covers were laid for Miss Shafer, Miss Hudson, Miss Marie Nichols, Miss Winifred Howland, Miss Ruth Greppin, Miss Bernice Lightner, Miss Ramona Richards, Miss Ruth Keller and Miss Gertrude Shafer.

The picturesque St. John's Church has been chosen by Miss Hudson for the scene of her wedding to James Woollacott, Wednesday evening, October 22, Rev. Mr. Davidson to officiate. A rehearsal will be held Monday evening, after which Miss Hudson will entertain the members of her bridal party with a dinner at her home, No. 1910 South Hobart boulevard. Covers will be laid for Miss Hudson, Miss Marie Nichols, Miss Winifred Howland, Miss Ruth Greppin, Mr. and Mrs. Leland Neiswender and Messrs. Wade Brashear, Kenneth Rublee and Clifford Vigus, James S. Woollacott and Mrs. Mary D. Woollacott, Albert Woollacott and Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. Hudson.

Home From Eastern Trip.

Mrs. G. W. Storrs of Hotel Darby arrived home from a six weeks' eastern trip during which time she visited in Chicago, Cleveland and Painesville, O., her former home, where she was much entertained by old friends.

Luncheon Delightful.

Mrs. D. J. Holbrow of San Fernando and Mrs. G. H. Alpeter entertained with one of the smart luncheons of the week ,at the home of the latter, No. 2061 West Thirtieth street, Thursday afternoon. A profusion of pink cosmos adorned the home, while the same flower arranged in a low basket resting on a handsome lace and embroidered doily, formed an attractive centerpiece for the table. Halloween was suggested by the place cards, which were ornamented with black cats and witches. After luncheon fortune telling and cards delightfully passed the afternoon.

Guests included Mrs. E. F. Powers, Mrs. L. J. Stocks, Mrs. F. C. Delano, Mrs. G. H. Gower, Mrs. Regina Clawsen, Mrs. A. Peterson, Mrs. J. P. Kwasigroch, Mrs. George Bacon, Mrs. William Bacon, Mrs. E. O. Peet, Mrs. D. J. McLain, Mrs. Lillian Feery, Mrs. J. Darby and Mrs. E. Lewis.

In New York.

Mr. and Mrs. John Catron of Playa del Rey, who left this city in their automobile for a transcontinental trip, are passing some time at Hotel Astor in New York before returning home.

Coterie Club.

Halloween novelties characterized the luncheon given Thursday afternoon by Mrs. R. B. Wilson, complimenting the members of the Coterie Club at her home, No. 1706 West Thirty-ninth street. The rooms were bowers of beauty with an effective

Money Saved by Making Your Cough Syrup at Home

Takes But a Few Moments, and Stops a Hard Cough in a Hurry.

Cough medicines, as a rule, contain a large quantity of plain syrup. If you take one pint of granulated sugar, add ½ pint of warm water and stir about 2 minutes, you have as good syrup as money could buy.

If you will then put 2½ ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle, and fill it up with the Sugar Syrup, you will have as much cough syrup as you could buy ready made for $2.50. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours. It keeps perfectly.

You will find it one of the best cough syrups you ever used—even in whooping cough. You can feel it take hold—usually conquers an ordinary cough in 24 hours. It is just laxative enough, has a good tonic effect, and the taste is pleasant.

It is a splendid remedy, too, for whooping cough, spasmodic croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a most vaulable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in guaiacol and other healing pine elements. No other preparation will work in this formula.

This plan for making cough remedy with Pinex and Sugar Syrup is now used in more homes than any other cough remedy. The plan has often been imitated but never successfully.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

WHY ARE Nemo Corsets? TRIPLE-STRIP
A BOON TO WOMANKIND

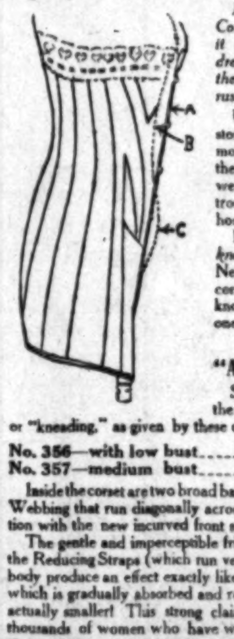
THEY GUARD YOUR FIGURE, HEALTH & PURSE

NEMO HYGIENIC FASHION INSTITUTE

The Unseen Nemo "Bridge" That Carries Women to Safety

The Nemo "bridge" is one of the features that have made the Nemo Corset famous; yet few know what it is, and no one can SEE it. This diagram gives an idea of what it does:

The dotted line (B) indicates the natural outline of the uncorseted figure. (A) shows a Nemo front steel, slightly curved inward at the lower end, then going straight to the bust-line. The abdomen (C) is repressed and supported. The region of the diaphragm is "bridged," keeping all pressure from the stomach region (B).



No woman wearing a Nemo Corset, no matter how tightly it is laced, ever feels that dreadful crushing pain over the stomach which makes her rush home to get her corset off.

Undue pressure upon the stomach region is a very common corset-fault; also, one of the greatest dangers of corset-wearing, as it causes digestive troubles, headaches, and a host of other ills.

Millions of Nemo wearers know by experience that the Nemo is the most comfortable corset in the world, but few know why. The "bridge" is one of the reasons.

Improved "Auto-Massage" Model

Steady pressure discourages the formation of fat. Massage or "kneading," as given by these corsets, drives it away.

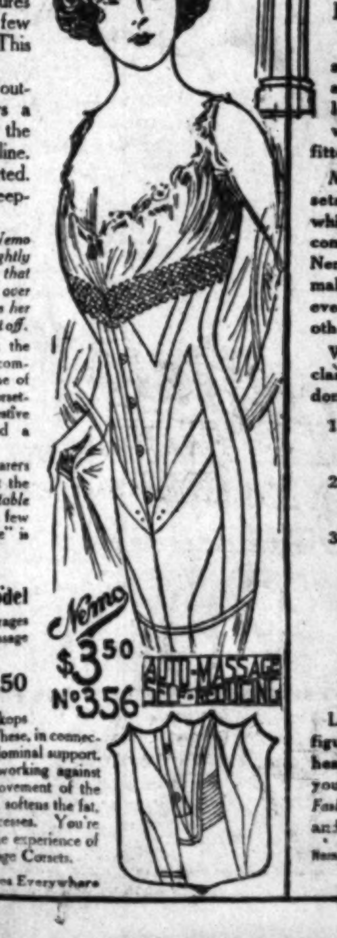
No. 356—with low bust.................. $3.50
No. 357—medium bust..................

Inside the corset are two broad bands of semi-elastic Lastikops Webbing that run diagonally across the groin section. These, in connection with the new incurved front steels, give excellent abdominal support.

The gentle and imperceptible friction of these bands, working against the Reducing Straps (which run vertically), with each movement of the body produce an effect exactly like hand-massage. This softens the fat, which is gradually absorbed and removed by natural processes. You're actually smaller! This strong claim is fully proved by the experience of thousands of women who have worn Nemo Auto-Massage Corsets.

Other Nemos—$3.50, $4 and $5. In Good Stores Everywhere



Bulletin No. 33

Wearing Nemo Corsets is a good habit, and one that never leaves any woman who is once properly fitted in the right NEMO.

Not wearing Nemo Corsets is a very bad habit, which is quickly overcome when the right Nemo, correctly adjusted, makes the wearer forever dissatisfied with all other corsets.

We know of only three classes of women who don't wear the Nemo:

1. Those who know nothing about the Nemo.
2. Those who have tried to wear the wrong Nemo.
3. Those who have been talked out of Nemo comfort by dealers who are interested in "something just as good"—which doesn't exist.

Be Wise!

Here's some of the greatest millinery news this store has ever printed---read every word of it

Our hats and their prices have set the town a-talking

—Yes! and they have set women buying, buying, buying until every day now sees hundreds of hats go out to new homes and hundreds more new hats come in to take their places!

—Monday there will be ready—

—At $5.00—Velvet-moire and plush hats in a wide variety of styles—all smartly trimmed.

—At $7.50—Turbans, sailors and medium sized brimmed hats of plush, satin and silk. Some ostrich trimmed.

—At $9.75—Soft tams and draped caps of velvet with ostrich and mock goura and paradise trimmings.

—At $13.75—Fisk street and dress hats of silk, velvet with rich Fitch fur and ostrich trimmings. Blacks and colors.

—At $17.50—and $22.50, $37.50 and $45 are imported beauties and copies of foreign models—each worthy of a full description.

French velvet shapes $7.50

French flowers

—At 39c—silk and velvet flowers that are worth $1.25 and more.

—At 59c—single flowers and clusters that are worth $2.25 and more.

—At 79c—bands of flowers and corsage bouquets worth $3.25 and more.

Floral Shop, Second Floor.

—French dress hat shapes of panne or erect pile velvet—some from Fisk—some from Vogue—all of them the very newest of Fashion's ideas—.

—There are some with plaited crowns in the new tam-effects—some with high side flares and others with flat brims.

—They come in all wanted shades and black—

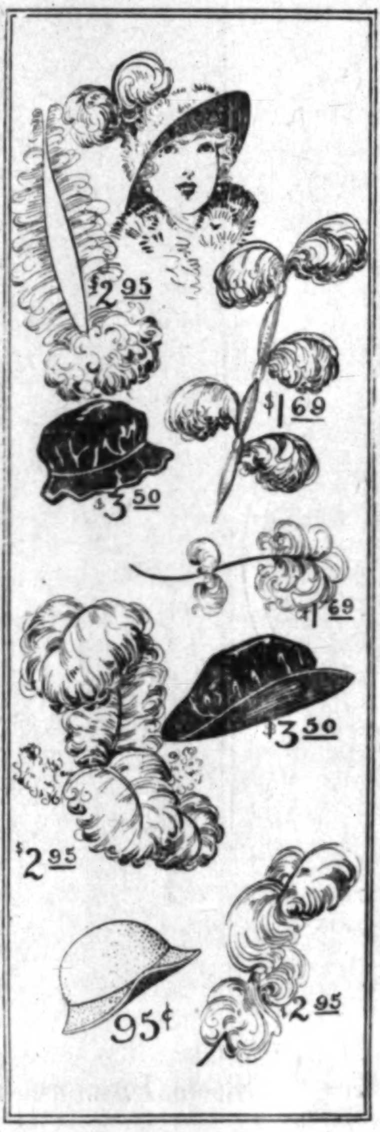
—Priced to be "better values" at $7.50.

Women's and misses' silk velvet shapes . . $3.50

—These would be conservative values at $5.00.

—Some are mushrooms with shirred brims and puffed crowns—some are turbans with full crown sewed on narrow collars—then there are draped toques, too—All black.

Second Floor.



—We believe it's the greatest millinery news Los Angeles women have read in years—at any rate it's news of an event that no woman will care to miss.

—And here is the news!

—A great purchase made by our millinery buyer who is now in New York brings hundreds of hat shapes and novelty ostrich (like the illustrations) to sell at half and way less than half.

—Note each and every one of the items that follow. Don't judge their importance by the amount of space we have given them in this advertisement.

—Plan to see the displays in the windows tonight and be here bright and early Monday morning.

$5 and $7.50 ostrich novelties $2.95

$3.50 Ostrich Novelties at . $1.69

—Another great Monday event that is second in importance only to the great $2.95 sale—

—In this lot are swirls—spirals—sweeps—pom pon clusters and tuffs on quills in every wanted color.

—Note the styles shown in the drawing!

—We're conservative when we quote their worth at $3.50!

—Think of it! The very ostrich effects most in demand right now—at this ridiculously low price!

—The pictures show some of the styles—but they fail absolutely to carry any idea of the unusual quality of the plumes. They are all long fiber, male stock and were made up by one of the most famous manufacturers in the whole country—

—They're his samples—that's why they came to us at this low price! Why, you can buy them Monday at $2.95 instead of $5, $7.50 or more.

—Note the pictures again—and remember please that the prices attached are for the Ostrich exclusive of the shapes!

$2.95 felt hat shapes at 50c

—Reads most like a fairy tale, doesn't it? Yet every word of it's true and there is more to tell!—

—They are all new this season's hats—in a bright finished felt—both small and medium shapes in all colors.

—There are dozens and dozens of them, but we expect to see them all gone long before noon.

—We repeat—$2.95 hat shapes at 50c!

$3.95 to $5 felt shapes 95c

—Seems as though each item is just a little better than the ones that have gone before.

—These shapes at 95c are bright finished French felts with soft silky nap and in the most favored new styles—

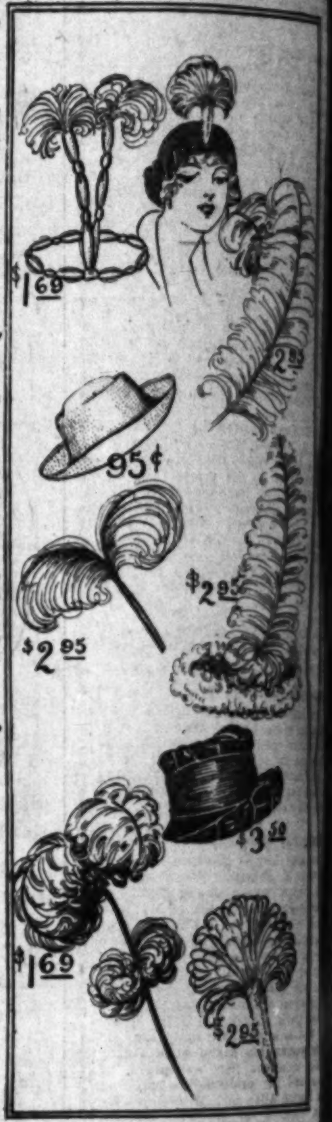
—They come in both solid and two-toned effects—$3.95 to $5.00 values at 95c.

Plush shapes at $1.75

—And there are velour shapes, too, with soft crowns and narrow, straight brims—then there are others with high crowns and rolled brims.

—Hat shapes that you would consider extraordinary values at $3.95 and $4.95—all go into this "better value" event at $1.75.

—The colors included are—brown, navy, taupe, gray, blue and black—Second Floor.



The dresses that go into this great Monday sale at $14.95 are the kind you'd expect to pay $22.50 to $32.50 for —And the only reason in the world for their being $14.95 instead of $22.50 and $32.50 is because our garment buyer was in the office of a big eastern manufacturer when plans were being made for their stock clean up. Such a sensationally low price was named that the deal was closed and the dresses were on their way to us almost before you could say "Jack Robinson."

—There are both street and evening frocks of rich brocaded satins, crinkle crepes, crepe de chines, messalines and peau de peche—many of them have exquisite shadow laces used in profusion.

—Note the two styles shown in the illustration to the left. Aren't they quite as attractive as any you've seen at $22.50 or even $32.50? The color range includes Copenhagen, mahogany, brown, navy, black and all pastel shades.

New novelty suits and coats just arrived---they're specially priced $25

Fur sets special at . $25

—The fur department offers you Monday special values in muff and scarf sets of American Fox—beaver—wolf—raccoon—eastern mink and pointed fox. Third Floor.

—The suits are all distinctive new models that you will be not a little surprised to find at this low price.

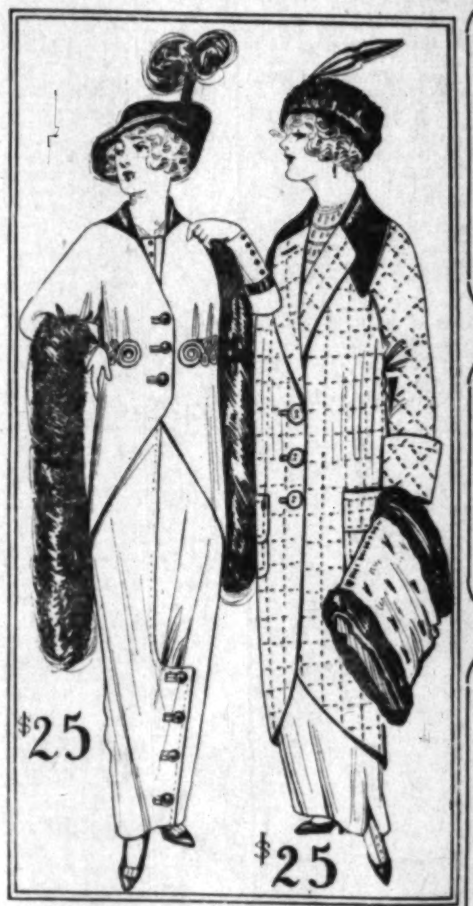
—The suit coats are cutaways—some with graceful, sloping lines—some sharply cutaway and others with fullness suggesting the Empire blouse.

—All of the favored new materials in all of the most wanted colors are among them—Note the one pictured.

—The coats are warm, snug affairs that women will be glad to have for cool, rainy winter wear. There are styles for motoring, for street wear and for dress wear, too. All sizes.

—Note the one illustrated.

Third Floor.



Notes from the jewelry shop

—Some very pretty new vanity cases of German silver have just come to sell at $1.00. They're three compartment affairs with just the fittings that women find like best.

—New jeweled topped hat pins have just been unpacked—these are marked 25c pair.

—Tango beads are in great favor now—we're showing them at 50c.

Center Aisle.

Silk sash girdles at . 50c

—A new lot of these came late last week—

—They're pretty gathered styles all stayed so they'll hold their shape—

—They're finished with pretty buckle rosette—all colors—50c.

Center Aisle.

Marabout and fur trimmings

—The Whole Fashion World has taken to the new fur trimmings with delight and it's little wonder, they're so unusually pretty, so delightfully different—

—The marabouts are mostly in light colors and black and white—priced 50c and 75c yard—

—The furs range from 1 to 3 inches in width and come in black, brown, tan, gray and white. Priced 25c to $1.00 yard.

North Aisle.

There is a "La Marquise" corset made just for you —and it's a corset that will give you greater satisfaction than you had supposed you could obtain in a corset at $5.00.

—Fashion's every whim is carried out to the letter but you'll be most interested in knowing more than anything else that they mean greater comfort and better health to you.

—Let our expert corsetieres fit your model to you Monday—Private fitting rooms.

Fourth Floor.

40 white crepe de chine waists have come to sell at $3.75

—Note again, please— there are just 40 of them!

—They're all made of an exceptional quality of crepe de chine with yoke—collars and cuffs set with hemstitching.

—The necks are cut low with Dutch collar effect—the sleeves are long and finished with dainty cuffs.

—At $3.75 you will think them the best of the "better values" the waist shop has told about.

New waists of lace and crepe de chine $6.50

—The lace waists are in a wealth of pretty styles, all with low necks and long sleeves—

—The crepe de chine waists are made with low neck and frills down the front—the sleeves are long—

—The very waists that are in most demand right now—just a few of them to go at this price Monday—

Fourth Floor.

Petticoats of messaline $1.95

—A splendid lot of petticoats in just the right width and colors to be worn with the new Fall suits—

—They are far from being the kind of skirts you would expect at $1.95—

Flannelette night gowns $1

—Low and high neck styles of soft, warm flannelette in plain white and in dainty striped effects.

—They're cut generously full and long—the yokes are made double.

Fourth Floor.

Dainty underwear of crepe de chine

—Milady who desires the acme of perfection in dainty clinging underwear will be glad to know about this exquisite silk underwear which is ready on the fourth floor.

—It comes in white and pink with delicate trimmings of lace and embroidery.

—Gowns at $8.95 and $10.00.
—Combinations, $5.95 and $6.95.
—Bloomers at $4.50.
—Petticoats at $5.00 and $6.95.

Fourth Floor.

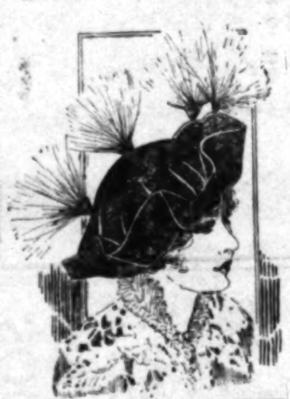
A Great Millinery Reception

—will be held in the 2nd floor salons on Monday, at which the superlative difference, and character, and desirability of Bullock's hats will receive a distinguished exploitation—

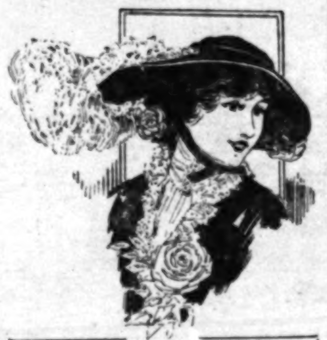


2—A unique model of soft green velvet; handsome feather osprey—a Bullock interpretation after Reboux—

—New hats will be shown, not in overwhelming numbers, but in variety over which the charm of individuality will reign supreme. Hats that are not like other hats—with flashes of art, and style, and personality—that reflect the most beautiful ideas of Fashion and at the same time give to them new charm.

—The Bullock Hats that will be shown on Monday will be as extremely interesting as those magnificent Parisian creations of Georgette, Lewis, et al., that have come thousands of miles to bring to the women of Southern California the most brilliant thoughts from the leading Ateliers of France.

—To every woman this announcement is addressed as an invitation—Come to the second floor and see this display of Fashion's most glorious millinery, Monday.



—1—The above hat is a Bullock model—of black velvet—with peach blow ostrich plumes. Bridle strap under chin. Exclusive.

—"The Draped Turban is the rage—it seems to have taken the city by storm"—

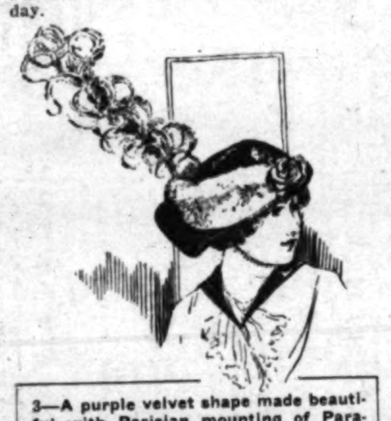
—Comes the wire from Fashion's capitol—

The Draped Turban

—is at Bullock's in infinite variety—Showing the closeness of the union between this store and style—

—Conservative, distinctive, practical, handsomely designed of dark, rich colored velvet, with nap that is almost fur. Mounted with flowers and feathers, trimmed with velvet wings, snug fitting and fascinating.

—A display well worth while will be made at Bullock's, Monday, 2nd floor—$12.50 to $19.50.



3—A purple velvet shape made beautiful with Parisian mounting of Paradise and Fitch fur—a Bullock creation of rare charm.

Cordova and Other Leather Wall Coverings

The subject of wall treatment—upon which depends so much of the harmony of the home interior—deserves the devoted attention of home lovers.

It is a study in itself—a study in which the "California" can assist you most practically with its wealth of suggestions in all the newest and most acceptable wall coverings.

Especially worthy of your attention is our present unusual display of elegant Cordova and other rich leather effects—plain hide effects in all colors with harmonizing band borders and applique ornaments for the dining rooms.

Rich verdure effects for the dining rooms. Exclusive crowns and panels for libraries, and exquisite all-over effects for the halls.

These leather coverings are all hand-made and represent the very highest type of interior decoration.

And equally important as the wall coverings themselves are the services of the men who are here to assist you in proper selection and in working out the most harmonious results at lowest cost.

We court the opportunity to prove that, in point of values—service and extent and quality of stock—the "California" in all its departments offers unequaled inducements. Come in any time for a visit of inspection without feeling obliged to buy.

SOCIETY.

recent guests of Miss Florence Francisco, who entertained at the Westrada in honor of Miss Mildred Moore. The reception-room was bright with yellow chrysanthemums arranged in tall vases and the guests enjoying this happy affair were Miss Glenna Barber, Miss Anna Murphy, Miss Mildred Moore, Miss Nell McKinnon, Miss Margaret Harvey, Miss Marguerite Lyons, Miss Susie Jane Winebrinner, Miss Catherine Phelps, Miss Phoebe Hawey and Miss Eva Kirkpatrick.

Wedding Announcement.

Announcement is made today of the wedding of Miss Ruth Wood Foote and J. Ross Beck which was solemnized at San Bernardino August 30, Rev. William Prince officiating.

Engagement Made Known.

Mrs. T. E. Baird of No. 1755 West Adams street, announces the engagement of her daughter, Miss Esther, to Ward Wells Montgomery.

In New Home.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Wiggins entertained recently in their new home on Manitou avenue, celebrating their cotton wedding anniversary. Cotton novelties formed artistic decorations and unique cotton shades subdued the lights. Place-cards were hand-decorated with women and in one corner a tiny ball of cotton was tied. After dinner games were played, the successful prize winner being Mrs. Ward Freeman. Others present were Mr. Freeman, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence O. Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. P. A. McAlfrey, Miss Marie Scholz, Miss Josephine Scholz, W. W. Wiggins, Joseph Scholz, Andrew Scholz, Arthur Scholz, Paul McAlfrey, Hector McAlfrey and Baby Scholz.

From Memphis.

Col. and Mrs. I. F. Peters of the Bryson had as their distinguished guest during the week Robert McKella, one of the best-known railroad officials of the South. With several friends he came here from Memphis in his private car. He was honored at a dinner party on Friday evening. Col. and Mrs. Peters who have come here to make their permanent residence were leaders in the social circle of Memphis and will be at home to friends throughout the winter at the Bryson.

Entertaining Relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Seth Marshall of Arrowhead Hotel are enjoying a delightful visit from the former's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Marshall and the latter's sister, Miss Jessie Davies, all of Painesville, O. Automobile rides over the splendid California automobile highways and spins through the many beautiful cities adjacent to Arrowhead are passing the days in a most delightful manner while daintily-appointed dinners in the evening followed by a game of bridge, complete the day's recreation. The guests will pass a couple of weeks at the resort.

From New Mexico.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. McGaffey are domiciled at the Bryson. They have come here for the winter season from Albuquerque where Mr. McGaffey has extensive timber and lumber interests. Many friends in Southern California will be glad to know of their return.

Menlo Park Guests.

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Batchelder have come down from their beautiful country home at Menlo Park and are going to make their home at the Bryson for an extended period, possibly all winter. Mrs. Batchelder has a wide circle of friends in Los Angeles who will be delighted with the announcement of the permanency of her sojourn.

Sorority Party.

The Alpha Sorority of Occidental College entertained Friday in honor of their alumnae. The affair was in the nature of a house warming for the sorority's new home at No. 5353 Abbot place. A dainty supper was served, and the favors, which contained a picture of the house, were especially appreciated. About thirty-five guests from the active and alumnae chapters were present. The hostesses for the afternoon were Misses Rowena Rogers, Katherine McClung, Harriet Moore, Mabel Sharp, Margaret Lord, Mary Weymouth, Nellie Boring, Faith Hardy, Olive Hutchinson and Agnes Goudge.

At the Bryson.

Mrs. M. B. Hazeltine is visiting friends at the Bryson. She came here from Prescott, Ariz., and will remain for an indefinite period.

Marriage Surprise.

The marriage of Miss Agnes Jones Goodwillie, the attractive daughter of Mrs. Agnes J. Goodwillie of Hollywood, to Harlow McConnell Kimball, which was held Friday, October 10, at Santa Monica, before a few relatives, came as a great surprise to their many friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Kimball, who are both popular in the suburban town will be at home to their friends in the new home, No. 358 Harper avenue, Hollywood, after December 1. Mrs. Kimball was, before her marriage, a prominent member of the faculty of the Hollywood High School.

Charming Hostesses.

The Misses Vida and Corinne Lovejoy were the charming hostesses at a card party given recently at their home, No. 1075 North Hobart boulevard. A happy afternoon was spent playing five hundred, Miss Ruth Spaulding winning the first prize.

Chrysanthemums were used to good advantage in the living-room, while yellow rose buds carried out the scheme in the dining-room. Here a suggestion of Halloween was cleverly carried out in the decorations and appointments. Jack-'o-lanterns were hand-painted on the tally cards.

Those present were Misses Elizabeth Rathburn, Ruth and Mary Suman, Ruth Spaulding, Gertrude Hovey, Gertrude Young, Cecile and Helen Wood, Margaret Winkleman, Rita Winkleman, Helen Gore, Cecil Jenkins, Gladys Kratz, Harriet Blake, Elnetta R. Spaulding and the hostesses.

Towel Shower.

A "towel shower" was cleverly planned and given last week by Miss Lillian Nolan of No. 1340 Fuller avenue for Miss Carolyn Barton, whose pretty wedding occurred in the Hollywood Christian Church, Wednesday evening. A pink scheme, the bride's favorite color, was carried out in the pretty decorations, carnations being used in all the rooms. In the dining-room, where a dainty lunch was served, after cards were enjoyed, two immense Japanese baskets filled with the pink blooms and fern were placed at either end of the table. Later a tray of towels, embroidered, initialed and crocheted, were presented to the popular bride.

Bridge Club Entertained.

Many clusters of the ever popular La France roses furnished artistic decoration for the home of Dr. and Mrs. A. B. Leavelle, Friday evening, when Mrs. Leavelle was hostess to the members of the Auction Bridge Club and their husbands. The club prizes went to Mrs. A. G. Greenwood and Mrs. Leavelle, and the guest prizes were awarded Frank Hance and Mr. Greenwood. The scores were tallied on Japanese cards.

Among those enjoying the pleasant affair were, Mr. and Mrs. Will Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. James B. Irsfeld, Mr. and Mrs. George L. Eastman, Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Greenwood, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hance, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. B. Kilner, Dr. and Mrs. Walter E. Deering, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Barton Hinckley, Mr. and Mrs. Frank K. Galloway, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gorham and Dr. and Mrs. Leavelle.

Progressive Dinner.

A unique affair of the week was the progressive dinner party given by Mrs. C. T. Clark, Mrs. J. M. Lucas and Mrs. B. E. Loper, in honor of Miss Ethel Clark, Corliss Lucas and Bernie Loper.

The guests gathered at the beautiful Clark bungalow on Fifty-first place, early in the evening and at 7:30 p.m. were ushered into the dining-room and given an old-fashioned Dutch dinner. The scenery and drawings were realistic of the Fatherland. The feature of the many table decorations was a large windmill. Little Dutch flags at each plate added to the charming effect.

From there the party progressed to the home of Mrs. J. M. Lucas on West Eighth street. Here was a splendid lawn party. The table was beautifully decorated and the clusters of Chinese lanterns gave it a picturesque effect. Assisting Mrs. Lucas in serving were Mrs. B. S. Cathscard, Charles De Long and William Okell.

The scene then shifted to the home of Mrs. B. E. Loper on Crown Hill. Here the guests were treated to one surprise after another. The rooms were artistically decorated for the occasion, while in the dining-room pink chrysanthemums added brightness to the table. After the young folks had dined a door opened into another room and one got a glimpse of an old gypsy fortune teller sitting in a tepee. Singing and dancing wound up an enjoyable evening.

Among those present were the following: Miss Ethel Clark, Miss Florence Stewart, Miss Rose Roth, Miss Frances Potter, Miss Mabel Saldall, Miss Bessie Gaul, Miss Edna Stevens, Miss Marie Kennedy, Miss Tenny Street, Mrs. Grace Hansen, Bernie Loper, Jack Gaul, Corliss Lucas, Guy Gunderson, Lex Crooks, Jack Marleau, Joe Boehner, Verne Hanes, Ben Tooley and Frank Light.

Miss Southworth Honored.

One of the many complimentary affairs for Miss Lena Mae Southworth, who became Mrs. Carl A. Bundy, Wednesday, was the dinner party given by Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Edwards at their home, No. 3635 Arlington avenue. Yellow and white, the same scheme employed at the wedding, was used in adorning the table and rooms.

Mrs. Van Zandt Home.

Mrs. Barker Van Zandt, formerly of the Frontenac apartments, has just returned from a three months' trip East, and is located at the La Salle apartments. Mrs. Van Zandt will shortly entertain with a tea and reception in honor of Mrs. J. M. Grigsby and Mrs. William Bruning Brown, both brides.

Spanish Luncheon.

The new country home of Mrs. W. R. Riedell at San Gabriel was the scene of a unique Spanish luncheon Wednesday, when Mrs. Riedell entertained Mrs. William Eckhart, Mrs. Will Brown, Mrs. Rey Sperry, Mrs. William Weller, Mrs. C. C. Noble, Mrs. George Eno, Mrs. E. J. Epling, Mrs. L. L. Cottle, Mrs. Tom Brown, Mrs. C. E. Wagner, Mrs. C. A. Holden, Mrs. Henry Wilcox, Mrs. Carl Hernendez, Miss Townsend, Miss Minnie Ward and Miss Vera Holden.

Beautiful Church Wedding.

A beautiful church wedding took place last Wednesday evening at the Hollywood Christian Church, when Miss Carolyn Barton and Clifford Huntley Wilcut were united in marriage at 8:30 o'clock by Rev. Lloyd Darsie.

The bride was attired in an elaborate gown of white brocaded charmeuse made entrain, trimmed with rich princess lace and white chiffon roses. Her long veil was caught to her train with the princess lace. She carried a shower of bride roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Jessie Wilcut, the maid of honor, was lovely in a creation of pink charmeuse and shadow lace. Her bouquet was pink rosebuds and maidenhair fern, tied with tulle streamers.

The little flower girl was Lois Reed, who wore a pretty white frock and carried a basket of rose petals, which she scattered in the pathway of the bride. Mr. Harold O. Barton, brother of the bride, was the groom's best man. The ushers were Messrs. Linton Smith, Carl Jarett, and Clyde Linn. The bride was given away by her father.

Mrs. Ben Meerdink sang "The Sweetest Story Ever Told," Miss Marjorie Melville presiding at the piano. The artistic little church was a bower of pink carnations, pink tulle, quantities of fern and masses of greenery. After the ceremony a wedding supper was served at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lester T. Barton of No. 1259 North Hoover street. Here the living-room was tastefully done in white and green. An immense wedding cake made an effective centerpiece for the bride's table in the dining-room.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilcut motored to San Diego, where they are now spending their honeymoon. Upon their return they will reside at No. 650 East Twenty-third street.

Chrysanthemum Show.

Great preparations are being made for the public chrysanthemum show to be given by the Hollywood Woman's Club Wednesday afternoon and evening October 29, in Hollywood. The club will be assisted by the Los Angeles County Horticulture Society, which will take charge of the decorating and the entries made by the different nurseries of Los Angeles, all of whom are urged to exhibit their blooms. Mrs. Jacob Stern is chairman of the committee, and is greatly pleased with the interest being shown in the coming event, which promises to be the best exhibit of chrysanthemums ever held in Los Angeles.

The famous chrysanthemum salad made by Mrs. Philo J. Beveridge will be served during the afternoon and evening. The proceeds will go for the clubhouse building fund. Many of Los Angeles, Pasadena and Hollywood society folk are planning to attend the rare show.

Moeller-Spencer Wedding.

Miss Helen Holmes Spencer, the charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Spencer of No. 139 Larrabee avenue, Sherman, became the bride of Benjamin Moeller Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock. The impressive ring ceremony was used, and performed by Rev. Edwin P. Ryland of the First M. E. Church of Hollywood.

Miss Faith Harding announced the arrival of the bride with Lohengrin's "Wedding March." Miss Spencer had no attendants and walked through an aisle of asparagus fern with her father, who gave her away. She was attractive in a gown of white crepe, which was effectively draped and trimmed with lace. In her hair was a cluster of lilies of the valley, and her bouquet was a beautiful group of forget-me-nots and lilies of the valley, arranged with maidenhair fern.

Mr. and Mrs. Moeller left immediately for an extended wedding journey to parts unknown. Mrs. Moeller was head assistant at the Hollywood library for a number of years.

To Tour the World.

Under the direction of D. F. Robertson the following from this city will leave November 18 on a six months' cruise of the world: Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Dawson, Miss Mildred Dawson, John Dawson, Miss S. N. Collins, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. [illegible] and Dr. and Mrs. A. Thorp.

They will sail from San Francisco November 19 on the new Japanese liner Chiyo Maru, proceeding [illegible] Honolulu, Japan, Korea, Manchuria, China, the Philippines, Java, [illegible]mah, India, Ceylon, Egypt and Africa, after which they will proceed by automobile through Europe, returning by the Panama Canal.

In New York.

Mrs. James S. Schneider of Los Angeles is in New York for a shopping trip and to visit friends en route. She will make stops on her return trip in Chicago, Denver and other cities. Mr. Schneider joined his wife there this week and they will return to California together.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Catren of Los Angeles, who made the trip from California in an automobile, are in New York at the Hotel Astor, where they will make a stay of a week before starting on their return trip. They said, in an interview, that the trip was a delightful one and was completed without mishap, and that they will not again be satisfied with travel by railroad, as the beautiful views and the excellent roads encountered nearly all the distance made the trip an ideal one. From New York they will go to Washington, and visit many of the larger cities in the East and Middle West before returning to their home.

Visit the Beach.

The Misses Elsie Jones, No. [illegible] North Moreland avenue, and Amy [illegible] Gordon, No. 4811 Pasadena avenue, passed the week-end at Mrs. [illegible] Kalamazoo cottage, Manhattan Beach.

ART AND ARTISTS

BY ANTONY ANDERSON

Pasadena.

QUITE the most important society function among the few which interested Pasadena and Altadena society folk last week was the wedding of Miss Katherine Wright, eldest daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Wright of Lake avenue and Roy Bryant of Detroit, Mich. Rev. John Gilbert Blue, assisted by Rev. C. A. Spaulding, performed the ceremony in the Westminster Presbyterian chapel, which was beautifully decorated in rustic style with [illegible] wood ferns, asparagus plumosus and fir trees. A touch of color was given in hanging baskets filled with pink roses caught with pink tulle butterfly bows. Miss Christine [illegible] played Lohengrin's wedding march as the bridal party entered the chapel, led by the little flower girl, Grace Brunbaker, and the ring bearer, George Buchanan. The bride was attended by two maids, her sister, Miss Frances Wright, and her cousin, Miss Florence Davis, both wearing gowns of pale pink crepe de chine, and carrying shower bouquet of Cecil Brunner roses. The bride wore a gown of French file neva, trimmed in rose point and seed pearls. Her veil was fastened with orange flowers and her bouquet was a shower of lilies of the valley. Edsel Ford of Detroit acted as best man and the ushers were Messrs. James McDonald, [illegible] Thompson and M. J. Brunbaker. Two hundred and fifty guests witnessed the ceremony, following which was a reception at the home of the bride, to which 150 invitations were extended. Mr. and Mrs. Bryant, who left Wednesday evening after the wedding, will make their home at Dearborn, Mich.

Miss Ruth White entertained Thursday afternoon with a five-hundred party, which was arranged for the purpose of making formal announcement of the engagement of Miss Grace Anderegg and Frank [illegible]mund of Milwaukee. Wild daisies and wood ferns combined to make a charming decoration for the rooms and the hostess was assisted by her mother, Mrs. Eveleen White, Mrs. Homer A. Baldridge, and Miss [illegible] White in entertaining. Those present were Misses Mae and Grace Anderegg, Helen Sutliff, Bessie Campton, [illegible] and Ruby Braly, Helen Dickinson, Drusilla Allen, Madeline [illegible], Grace Dickinson, Mmes. [illegible] Brooks, Joseph Leddy, Charles Mc Cormick, Joe Thornburg, [illegible] Jones, James Messer, Lawrence [illegible], Samuel Bierbauer, Arthur [illegible]court and Lucius Wilson.

Miss Doris Archer of East [illegible] street was given a pretty [illegible] party Tuesday evening in celebration of her eighteenth birthday. [illegible] and music entertained the guests, eighteen in number.

Miss Annie McAdam, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McAdam of North Orange Grove avenue, was married Tuesday evening at the home of her parents to J. Edwin [illegible] in the presence of forty relatives and friends by Rev. W. A. [illegible], an old-time friend of the family. Miss Kathryn [illegible] and Lawrence McAdams, as flower girl and ring bearer, were the only attendants, and the wedding march was played by Miss Grace McAdam, sister of the bride. The bride's gown was of white silk poplin veiled with shadow lace, and she wore a chaplet of roses. Her flowers were a shower of bride roses. After the reception which followed the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. [illegible] left for San Diego for a honeymoon visit.

Mrs. E. C. Barrett of [illegible] street entertained the members of the Plaudertasche Club Tuesday afternoon, with twenty-four members present. Mrs. G. H. Barrett, aunt of the hostess, who was one of the [illegible], added to the pleasure of the afternoon by giving several German [illegible] and Miss Genevieve Church [illegible] also gave a group of German [illegible].

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. [illegible] and son, George White of South Orange Grove avenue, who have been traveling in Europe several months, are expected home the latter part of the week and are now in New York.

Mrs. H. B. Ford of Detroit, Mich., gave one of the prettiest entertainments of last week when she entertained at dinner sixteen members of the Wright-Bryant bridal party at the Hotel Maryland, in honor of Miss Katherine Wright and her fiance, Roy Bryant of Detroit, Mich. Mr. Bryant is a brother of Mrs. Ford, who came to Pasadena for the wedding. The table decorations were most lovely, Maryland roses and pink accessories being used.

The Altadena Country Club has issued invitations for a large Halloween party to be given at the clubhouse, Thursday evening, October [illegible], and the details of the celebration are in charge of Shirley Vance [illegible]. One requirement is that all guests shall appear in juvenile costume.

Mrs. Ida Braden of North Los Robles avenue entertained the [illegible] Club Wednesday afternoon at the [illegible] Triangle, where the [illegible] beautifully decorated with [illegible] white cosmos. Mrs. Harry [illegible]fer gave several vocal selections [illegible] Margaret Holland furnished [illegible] numbers. Others present were [illegible] F. A. Atwick, H. H. [illegible] Ogier, Frances Burke, [illegible] J. W. Coleman, and M. H. [illegible]

G. Lawrence [illegible] street was the host at a [illegible] at the Altadena Country Club [illegible]

Effective, Economical Complexion Beautifier.

(Julia Orff in The Clubwoman.)

One reason I so strongly recommend mercolized wax is that it really takes the place of several different cosmetics, saving time, patience and expense. It is better than any cleansing cream, better than any massage cream, and better than any rouge, for accomplishing the results for which such articles are used. As the wax actually absorbs an old, faded or discolored cuticle, a little each day, the underlying skin, which gradually appears, is clearer, softer, healthier-hued and more youthful than any cosmetic-made complexion. Spreading on a thin coat of this wax at night, washing it off mornings, in a week or so produces a marvelous transformation. Just one ounce of mercolized wax, obtainable at any drug store, will do the work. There's nothing better to remove freckles, moth patches, liver spots, sallowness, blotches, pimples or blackheads.

For wrinkles and loose, saggy skin I invariably recommend a face bath made by dissolving 1 oz. powdered saxolite in ½ pt. witch hazel. This has remarkable astringent and tonic properties.—[Advertisement.

Monrovia.

A "SURPRISE" wedding was made public early this week when it became known that John Casner, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Casner, had quietly slipped away to Santa Ana, procured the necessary license and as quietly married Miss Ellen Sutten of Azusa. The young man kept his secret carefully for two weeks. His absence from home on the day of his wedding was explained to his father by saying that he had attended a baseball game.

Daniel E. Brown was married Tuesday evening to a former Monrovia young lady, Miss Leona E. Wood, at the home of her parents in Los Angeles. This wedding was also unknown to the bride's and groom's many friends and acquaintances until after the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Brown will be at home later in the month at their charming new residence on South Mayflower.

The beautiful Los Rios Rancho, the country place of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Rivers, was turned into a fairyland Wednesday evening, when Henry and Nairn Rivers and Harold Davis of Los Angeles entertained a company of young folks from Monrovia and Los Angeles. The party was held in the wonderful Japanese gardens of the estate, and vari-colored lanterns lit the picturesque surroundings with soft hue colorings, tempered by the golden glow of the big harvest moon. A large dancing pavilion proved the biggest drawing crowd, and here, after an al fresco super under the trees, the guests gathered. Unusually delightful music was furnished by the Ad Club quartette. These accomplished entertainers played for the dance numbers and sang between whiles. Many of the guests came before evening, so as to enjoy the beauties of the garden before dark.

On Tuesday evening at the Wildrose school, Monrovia and Duarte parents and teachers met for the first official reception of the Federated Parent-Teacher Association. The big reception-room of the school was handsomely decorated with all sorts of autumn flowers, cosmos, goldenrod and crysanthemums predominating. Mrs. Alice Lewis Costello, president of the Federation, presided at the meeting. Rev. Clark Marsh, president of the Monrovia school board, opened the formal programme of the evening by an address that brimmed with good wishes for the teachers and parents. Mr. Marsh was followed by a catchy musical number by the "tambourine girls" from the Duarte school. These young ladies were dressed in Gypsy costumes and gave an excellent number. Included were Miss Aileen Northup at the piano and the Misses Ivy Anderson, Helen Hoagland, Adela Shepherd, May Geis, Ethelbert Church, Merel Church, Doris Dówne and Florence Whitcomb. Fetching numbers by Charlotte-avenue school girls, in folk dances and flower songs by Orange-avenue girls, concluding with a quaint and dainty number by two little maids, Loa Connor and Ethel Crall, representing buttercups, and singing a delightful little buttercup song. The conclusion of the evening was a social hour, during which the guests were served with punch.

FOREMOST among the social functions of this season was the opening reception given by the officers and directors of the Womans' Club in the clubhouse on Monday afternoon. The hostesses who received in the auditorium were Mmes. J. A. Osgood, Frank Wright, W. H. Ingraham, C. C. Nourse, R. A. Kimball, Fairbanks, N. T. Brown, W. S. Andrews, H. T. Fennel, Saunders and Taylor. During the afternoon Mrs. J. A. Osgood gave a charming welcome address and entertained the guests with an interesting talk on her recent trip to Boston, via Panama. Readings by Mrs. Sherman Roberts of Pasadena, and musical numbers by Miss Zink of Los Angeles were greatly appreciated. The decorations throughout were most artistic. In the lobby bamboo and pampass grass were artistically arranged as also in the auditorium. Here about twelve small tables with dainty doilies and a centerpiece of white roses and greenery added much to the general beauty as well as the sociability of the occasion. In the dining-room, pink roses and cosmos were utilized on the table, and dainty candelabras cast a soft glow over the tea and coffee urns which were presided over by Mrs. J. A. Osgood, Mrs. W. H. Ingraham, Mrs. C. H. Baker and Miss Annis Coffey. Refreshments, which carried out the same color scheme, were served by Mmes. Goodfellow, G. Hallett Johnson, Rust, J. R. Allen, W. E. Walker, who were assisted by the Misses Hallie Kuhn, Dorothy Mitchell, Loraine Wright, and Gladys Kimball. A most pleasant time was sent by the guests present, who numbered about a hundred.

Miss Florence Vannier entertained a few friends informally last Thursday afternoon at her home, complimentary to Mrs. Louis Blatz of La Mirada, who has been visiting here for a short time. The afternoon was pleasantly spent with sewing, and refreshments were served. Those present were Mmes. James Hawks and Lewis, the Misses Ruth and Daisy Hawks, Edith Blumer, Lydia Webster and Annis Coffey. Out-of-town guests were Mrs. J. H. Hart and Mrs. Edward Hart of San Marino.

Mrs. William Dennison entertained the Eleven and One Club very charmingly on Tuesday evening at her home on Grand View avenue. This was first meeting of the season and a most delightful time was spent by the guests present. Those who enjoyed the evening were Mrs. Earl Mollenkopf, the Misses Marguerite Anderson, Mildred Sherman, Anna Janson, Ruth Sparks, Hilda Caley, Belle Caley, Verna Trible, Marion Decker and Avis Preston.

Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Pierce returned Wednesday from San Diego, where they have spent the past ten days visiting at the home of their daughter, Mrs. W. K. Maull. Mr. and Mrs. Pierce motored there and back and enjoyed a most pleasant tour of Riverside and San Diego counties.

Miss Marguerite Anderson of Long Beach is spending the week here as the guest of Miss Mildred Sherman.

The Modern Priscillas were very enjoyably entertained this week on Thursday afternoon at the home of Miss Edith Blumer. A very pleasant time was spent by those present, there being about thirty.

"A Stomach Like Other People's"

A dyspeptic always covets "A Stomach Like Other People's." His restricted diet, self-denials and sufferings, from which others are immune, depress his spirits and so postpone his recovery.

Stomalix

is a natural and rational stomach remedy; it gently but surely removes the unpleasant sensations that cause depression, and gives the dyspeptic "A Stomach Like Other People's." Entirely harmless, endorsed by distinguished Physicians, it is a wonder-worker for the stomach.

Glendale.

A BRILLIANT function in the form of a reception was given Wednesday by Mrs. Virginia Hunter and her fair daughters, Miss Hunter, Mrs. Guittard, Mrs. Mangum and Mrs. Harris, Jr., at No. 1623 Patterson avenue. In the receiving line in the drawing-room with the hostess were Mrs. Claude Bernard Guittard, Mrs. Luther G. Brown, Mrs. Mary Howard Gridley, Miss Ruth Scarborough and Miss Bertha Lull. On the beautiful early English dining-table a handsome lace cluny cloth had in the center a heavily-chased bowl filled with asters shaded from a deep purple to a light lavender. Here presided Mrs. George Albert Mangum and Mrs. Edwin Kirby Harris, Jr., while the Japanese butler served sherbert and dainty cakes. In the library Miss Virginia Hunter was assisted by Mrs. E. H. Willisford, Mrs. Ida Harris, Mrs. D. Winslow Hunt, Miss Stella Walter and Mrs. A. E. Williams. The gowns worn were as follows: Mrs. Virginia Hunter, soft black silk with an overdress of old Spanish lace, which has been in the family for years, her only ornament being a diamond sunburst. Her beautiful white hair was smartly dressed with a small ostrich tip.

Miss Virginia Hunter was most becomingly gowned in a white embroidered voile robe over silk chiffon.

Mrs. Claude Bernard Guittard's gown was a Parisian creation of elegant simplicity, soft panne satin over rose petal chiffon silk, and exquisitely embroidered on the waist with an immense butterfly of Nile green chiffon, gold thread and jewels.

Mrs. Edwin Kirby Harris's girlish gown was hand-embroidered in Balkan colors of green and French blue.

Mrs. George Albert Mangum and Mrs. Edwin Kirby Harris, Jr., were both bewitchingly gowned in dainty lingerie robes.

Miss Stella Walter wore a beautiful embroidered white lingerie gown.

Mrs. Howard Gridley looked stately in wistaria silk.

Mrs. Luther G. Brown wore a beautiful black panne satin.

Miss Bertha Lull, blue messaline trimmed in coral.

Mrs. E. H. Willisford wore rich black silk.

Mrs. A. E. Williams, black velvet with overdress of black chiffon embroidered in gold.

Mrs. D. Winslow Hunt, a beautiful gown of exquisite crepe de chine in a soft shade of gray.

Miss Ruth Scarborough was gloriously gowned in faint pink crepe de chine trimmed in brown fur.

Miss Ida Harris, French blue silk.

Mrs. Virginia Hunter and her daughters, Miss Hunter, Mrs. Guittard, Mrs. Mangum and Mrs. Hargis, Jr., will be at home very informally at their respective homes, Nos. 1624, 1628, 1632, 1636 Patterson avenue, Glendale, commencing Monday, November 3, the first Monday of each month.

One of the many pleasant society events of the week at this place was the surprise party tendered to Mrs. Mary O'Neill at her home, No. 1548 Pioneer drive, Monday evening by a number of her friends. When Mrs. O'Neill answered a knock at her front door she found about forty friends. Each guest carried some sort of refreshment, these being combined and served during the evening. Games were played and music was enjoyed. After an hour of games the rugs were rolled back and the remainder of the evening was passed in dancing.

Mrs. E. H. Willisford was at home Monday afternoon between 2 and 5 o'clock, at which time she very delightfully entertained a number of members of the Congregational Church of this city. For the affair the home was prettily decorated with an abundance of seasonable flowers and greenery. Tea was served by the hostess during the afternoon.

What figured prominently among the social happenings of the week was the pink and white luncheon which was presided over Tuesday afternoon by Miss Sophie Goff at her home at No. 312 Belmont street. Decorations were in pink and white, smilax and roses being used, a cluster of roses serving as the centerpiece for the table. The guests present were Mrs. Henry Ward, Mrs. W. L. Harris, Mrs. George Ward, Mrs. Mary Turner, Mrs. Frank Fern, Mrs. T. H. Addison, Mrs. L. E. Starkey, Miss Lillian Ward and Miss Eusebia Fern.

RHEUMATIC PAINS PROMPTLY DISAPPEAR

Relief Comes After Taking Few Doses of Croxone

It is needless to suffer with rheumatism, and be all crippled up, and bent out of shape with its heart-wrenching pains, when you can avoid it.

Rheumatism comes from weak, inactive kidneys, that fail to filter from the blood the poisonous waste matter and uric acid; and the only way to overcome it is to remove the cause.

Croxone does this because it neutralizes and dissolves the poisonous substances and uric acid that lodge in the joints and muscles, to scratch and irritate and cause rheumatism, and cleans out and strengthens the stopped up, inactive kidneys, so they can filter the poison from the blood and drive it on and out of the system.

Croxone is a truly remarkable medicine for rheumatism, kidney troubles and bladder disorders. You will find it differs from other remedies. There is nothing else just like it. It matters not how old you are, or how long you have suffered, it is practically impossible to take it without results. Relief follows the first few doses, and you will be surprised how quickly all misery and suffering will end.

An original package of Croxone costs but a trifle and all druggists are authorized to sell it on a positive money-back guarantee. Three doses a day for a few days is often all that is ever needed to overcome the worst backache or urinary disorders.—[Advertisement.

THE TARIFF RAISES DIAMOND VALUES.

The new tariff law, recently enacted, increases the duty on diamonds and thereby places an added premium on their value.

Anticipating this condition, Brock and Company made extensive purchases of the finest stones and are thereby still able to supply their patrons at former prevailing prices.

Our showing of perfect blue white and extra white unmounted stones and masterfully wrought gem-set pieces has no counterpart in the Southwest.

Those interested in the purchase of gems, will find our exhibit of surpassing interest, both from the standpoint of superiority of selection and of value.

Redondo Beach.

A PRETTY wedding was celebrated Wednesday evening at the Christian Church when Miss Mamie Schmidt and Charles Stock were married by Rev. Harold K. Vann. Miss Viva Knowlton acted as bridesmaid and Frank Schmidt was best man. After the marriage a reception was tendered Mr. and Mrs. Stock at the church parlors by Mr. and Mrs. George Schmidt, the bride's parents. The church was prettily decorated with white chrysanthemums for the occasion. After a honeymoon spent in Santa Barbara, Mr. and Mrs. Stock will live on Gertrude avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Oster, who were married Wednesday morning at San Pedro, are spending their honeymoon at this beach. The bride was Miss Kathryne Smith, daughter of Mrs. Minnie Smith Watson, of Pittsburgh, Pa. The marriage took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Beck of Seventh street, San Pedro, Rev. Mr. Burrows officiating.

The bride is a society girl of Pittsburgh and has been traveling in the West for the past three months with her mother. The groom is a San Pedro business man.

Huntington Beach.

THE Woman's Club held an interesting session Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. C. O'Connor on Main street, Mrs. G. A. Shank reading an entertaining paper on the South after the war, and Mrs. Roy H. Chapin telling of many-sided Franklin. Preparations are being made by club for the entertainment of the Federation of Woman's Clubs of Orange County, which meets here next Wednesday.

G. F. Morcom, an uncle of Mrs. F. R. Stanford, is here to spend the winter at her home on Orange avenue. He has just returned from a year's stay in England.

W. A. Johnstone and wife and Mrs. S. Douglas of Whittier enjoyed Sunday in this city as guests at the home of R. A. Johnstone on Seventh street.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Smith of Long Beach were guests here during the week at the residence of John Porter.

Santa Monica.

AN auction bridge tournament, which promises to hold the attention of beach society for some time, was begun at Hotel Windermere Wednesday afternoon. More than thirty tables were filled with guests brilliantly gowned, sitting amid banks of greenery and flowers. Entries were made in teams. The committee in charge, Mrs. Henry J. Slater (chairman,) Mrs. George H. Hutton, Mrs. T. J. Stephens, Mrs. William Davis and Miss Grace Carr were congratulated on the success of the first day's play. Eight handsome prizes await the winners.

Mrs. William H. Harrison complimented Mrs. J. Stanley White of Seaside Terrace with a pink and white luncheon recently. Dainty Cecile Brunner roses and maidenhair ferns were used in the decorations for the table. Place cards were daintily hand-painted, marking places for Mrs. Morris Van Brunt, Mrs. A. G. Wangenheim, Mrs. Fred Hudson, Mrs. W. D. Newerf of South Pasadena, Mrs. White and Mrs. Harrison.

Laurel Canyon.

MRS. F. J. EPHLIN was the charming hostess on Thursday to the Card Club. The luncheon tables were decorated with dainty Cecile Brunner roses and the hostess was assisted by Mrs. E. Clark Comer of Hollywood and Mrs. E. B. Ballard of Los Angeles. Prizes were won by Mrs. E. W. Kidder, Mrs. E. C. Comer and Mrs. Gerald Tully. Other ladies present were Mmes. F. M. Rublee, Jr., C. S. Mann, K. V. Redpath, F. M. Price, Don Porter, M. H. Boehner, J. A. Matthews, D. M. Small and R. D. Vercler.

The Monday Night Club was entertained by Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Vercler at their new home, that has been most appropriately named "The Beacon." Those attending were Messrs. and Mmes. K. V. Redpath, F. J. Ephlin, F. M. Rublee, D. M. Small and E. Clark Comer of Hollywood.

At a recent meeting of the Mountaineers Club the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Dr. D. M. Small, vice-president, F. M. Rublee, Jr.; secretary, J. W. Park; treasurer, E. W. Kidder; directors, L. A. Newman, G. D. Tully and J. A. Matthews.

Tropico.

THE FIRST meeting of the club year of the Tropico Thursday Afternoon Club was held at the home of Mrs. Wesley H. Bullis on Central avenue, Thursday, and was marked by a large assemblage of club members and their guests. Decorations of bright-hued autumn blossoms and varied-hued foliage added a charm to the occasion. Mrs. Bullis was assisted in receiving by Mrs. B. F. Storer, Mrs. A. J. Becker, Mrs. Wayland Chapman and Mrs. Ernest M. Davids. Following the usual routine of business, Miss Bessie Stoddard of Los Angeles, member of the Children's Playground Committee of the city, gave an interesting talk on the school as a social center.

Daniel Webster, member of the Tropico City Council, accompanied by his son, Joseph H. Webster, Ernest J. Morgan, and Charles M. White, has returned from a week's trip to Imperial Valley. The party motored to the valley, visiting San Diego while en route.

N. F. Thrasher of Kings City, Mo., arrived in Tropico Thursday, and will visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Maxwell of Park avenue.

Ontario.

THE members of the Shakespeare Club were entertained Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Roy Lyman Henry, in Beverly Square. Pink roses were used in decoration and light refreshments were served. Those present included Mrs. Charles Otis Goss, Mrs. Howard Montrose Shattuck, Mrs. Benjamin F. May, Mrs. William P. Rayner, Mrs. William Puzey Arden, Mrs. Howard Raymond Berg, Mrs. Isaac Jones, Mrs. Henry Hamer Dilworth, Mrs. Benjamin F. Warmer, Mrs. William Starbuck Fenton, Miss Ala Ballou, Miss Frieda Graettinger and Miss Kathryn Salter.

Complimentary to Dr. Roy C. Buchman, Mrs. Hickman Phillips very pleasantly entertained Monday evening. The affair was in the shape of a musical, a delightful programme being rendered. Mrs. Phillips was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. Robert Orwig Brackenridge. The guests included Miss Helen Fitzgerald, Miss Katheryn Middaugh, Miss Mary Goss, Miss Florence Kirkpatrick, Miss Flor-

Earlier Styles are Better And the Empire Shows Them

The first new styles to be put out, at the first of the season, or, later, when styles have changed perhaps very slightly, in the middle of the season, reach the Empire first. This insures you better made garments, for no manufacturer is going to be careless in the making of a style sample which may bring him thousands of dollars worth of trade.

Therefore, get your suit HERE. Therefore, get it NOW.

Be Better Dressed for Less

Why We Sell $25 SUITS COATS and DRESSES for $15

Because we are upstairs, on the second floor, where rents are hardly half those that downstairs merchants have to pay. Because our expenses are lower in every department. Because we buy samples for less than the prices quoted on regular lines.

Guaranteed Alterations FREE

Every workman in our alteration rooms is an expert, experienced tailor. We give you REAL man-tailored alterations. We back them with our guarantee of a perfect fit.

AND WE MAKE THEM FREE!

What It Means to Buy An EMPIRE GARMENT for $25

It means a whole lot better value, for a whole lot less money. Our $25 line is chosen with exquisite care, and with just one question in mind when we select it, "Is this line going to excel in value and style range, any $40 line that any other store can show?"

If a suit will fulfill that requirement, it is worth your seeing.

Fels-Naptha Soap does better work in the best way. Just because a thing is new doesn't say that it isn't as good or better than the old things we have been used to. If you don't know about Fels-Naptha Soap, it is time that you learn.

Our grandmothers made their own soap with scraps of fat, lye and other things. Nowadays we buy our soaps, Times change, and so do women.

Fels-Naptha Soap is one of the changes that means a lot to tired housekeepers. It means a way of doing work well. It means saving a lot of time and trouble. It means using cool or lukewarm water; it means making things look bright and new. Anything—paint, woodwork, kitchen sinks or greasy pans, the weekly wash, fine laces, heavy blankets—looks better if done with Fels-Naptha Soap.

Follow the directions on the Red and Green wrapper.

ANTY DRUDGE

Anty Drudge Disagrees With Some People

Mrs. Oldway—"I told Mrs. Newfangle the other day that I wouldn't be hired to do things the way she does. Why, she says she never boils her clothes any more since you told her about some sort of soap to use. I don't think clothes that aren't rubbed and boiled are fit to wear."

Anty Drudge—"I certainly did tell her about Fels-Naptha Soap. You may like to do things the hardest way, but I know Mrs. Newfangle's clothes are just as clean as yours, and look whiter, without half the hard work. I tell every woman about Fels-Naptha Soap, and more's the pity if they are too foolish to try it."

OPENS UP NOSTRILS, CLEARS HEAD, ENDS COLDS OR CATARRH AT ONCE

Instantly Relieves Swollen, Inflamed Nose, Head, Throat—You Breathe Freely—Dull Headache Goes—Nasty Discharge Stops.

Try "Ely's Cream Balm."

Get a small bottle anyway, just to try it—Apply a little in the nostrils and instantly your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages of the head will open; you will breathe freely; dullness and headache disappear. By morning! the catarrh, cold-in-head or catarrhal sore throat will be gone.

End such misery now! Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" at any drug store. This sweet, fragrant balm dissolves by the heat of the nostrils; penetrates and heals the inflamed, swollen membrane which lines the nose, head and throat; clears the air passages; stops nasty discharges and a feeling of cleansing, soothing relief comes immediately.

Don't lay awake tonight struggling for breath, with head stuffed; nostrils closed, hawking and blowing. Catarrh or a cold, with its running nose, foul mucous dropping into the throat, and raw dryness is distressing but truly needless.

Put your faith—just once—in "Ely's Cream Balm" and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear. Agents, Sun Drug Company.

In honor of Mrs. Elijah Danforth Abrams, formerly of this city, but now of Long Beach, Mrs. Jacob Cullen Wright very pleasantly entertained Thursday afternoon at her home, No. 403 West California street.

The afternoon was spent at fancy work and a luncheon was served. The guests included Mrs. Charles S. Traphagen, Mrs. Frederick W. Willmert, Mrs. Everett W. Henry, Mrs. Clara Gale Peabody, Mrs. J. W. Seapy, Mrs. Otis L. Harper and Mrs. Lewis E. McCann.

The members of the Wednesday Bridge Club met in their first gathering of the season at the home of Miss Frieda Graettinger, No. 412 West F street, Wednesday afternoon. Plans for the coming year were discussed.

When Your Appetite Comes Back to You

It Is a Sure Sign Your Stomach Is Able to Work — Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Will Give You a Rousing Appetite.

It is the greatest joy in the world to be able to eat what one wants and no misery can compare with that which comes when an appetite fails.

When the stomach cannot digest food the system revolts at the very idea of eating, but when the digestive apparatus is restored to its normal condition every quality of mind seems to make a man cheerful.

"That's the Way I Used to Look. What'a you think of me now?"

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets mix with the food you eat. The stomach by its peristaltic action churns and moves the food around the stomach walls, the powerful ingredients in these tablets instantly begin digesting the food as they are forced through it and around it.

These tablets regulate the strength of gastric juices. If there is too much acid or alkali then Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets reduce or dilute these evil conditions and prevent the irritating and raw stomachs which always come with dyspepsia, indigestion, etc.

It is the very essence of pleasure to a stomach sufferer to know that he can digest any meal if he will only take a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet after eating.

The use of one of these tablets after meals will in a very short time restore your appetite to its normal condition and you will be able to enjoy your food with an old-time relish.

Every drug store carries Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. Price, 50 cents.

Fresno.

MISS JEANNIE BEVERIDGE who is home for a short visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Y. Beveridge, her sister Miss Elizabeth entertained a number of friends Tuesday afternoon in her honor. The living-rooms were beautifully decorated in long stalks of golden rod and other autumn decorations. Fancy work and conversation took up the greater part of the afternoon, later tempting refreshments were served. The guests who enjoyed Miss Beveridge's hospitality were: Mesdames Frid Turnbull, Parker Friselle, Ronald Good, Misses Eleanor Webster, Dorothy Noble, Leora Schaffer, Constance Beveridge, Helen Rogers, Marcia Edwards, Rene Dalton, Anne Tupper, Tinie Spence.

Miss Edith Cory who has been spending the summer at Del Monte and San Francisco returned home the early part of this week.

The members of the Wednesday Afternoon Card Club were the guests of Mrs. W. W. Carycroft this past week. Auction bridge as usual was the game of the afternoon, the refreshment period following. Miss Constance Beveridge was the substitute guest for the afternoon. The guests were Mmes. W. W. Craycroft, Florence Breed, Harry Craycroft, James Gearhart, Maude Elliot, Milton Dearing, W. J. Cleary, Ward Minturn, Arthur Perkins, J. C. Forkner, Misses Jennie Wishon, Ethel Shaver, Eugenia Miller and Lillian Dunn.

Mrs. H. R. Glaw entertained in honor of her mother, Mrs. R. G. Glaw of Waterloo, Iowa, Tuesday at her apartment at the Brix. Mrs. Glaw and her husband are new arrivals in Fresno and intend spending the winter months here. Those who had the pleasure of meeting this charming visitor were: Mrs. A. J. Simpson, Mrs. H. L. Kalthross, Mrs. J. O. Greenwell and Mrs. Tim Walton. At the close of the pleasant afternoon dainty refreshments were served.

Mrs. Ed. Ferguson of Forthcamp avenue is enjoying a visit from Miss Leora Houghland of Long Beach. Miss Houghland expects to visit here for several weeks and numerous attentions are being planned in her honor.

QUIT MEAT IF YOUR BACK HURTS, FLUSH YOUR KIDNEYS WITH SALTS

Meat forms uric acid, which clogs Kidneys, irritates Bladder or causes Rheumatism.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink.—[Advertisement.

The Doctor's Advice

by Dr. Lewis Baker

The questions answered below are general in character; the symptoms or diseases are given and the answers should apply to any case of similar nature.

Those wishing further advice, free, may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College Building, College-Ellwood streets, Dayton, O., enclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply. Full name and address must be given, but only initials or fictitious name will be used in my answers. The prescriptions can be filled at any well-stocked drug store. Any druggist can order of wholesaler.

"Mason" writes: "For years I have been taking medicine to cure constipation, liver trouble and the usual diseases that come from that source. Headaches, sallow skin, kidney trouble, dark spots before my eyes, dizzy spells and twinges of rheumatism are getting worse."

Answer: Take three-grain sulpherb tablets (not sulphur.) They are packed in sealed tubes with directions and are convenient, effective and highly curative for such ailments as arise from chronic constipation. If you are dyspeptic, also take tables. triopeptine.

"MRS. A. D."—Incontinence of urine can be controlled by using the following: Tincture cubebs, 1 dram; tincture rhus aromatic, 2 drams, and comp. fluid balmwort, 1 oz. Give from 10 to 15 drops in water one hour before meals.

"OMA W." writes: "I have suffered with catarrh of the head for many years. This has become so bad that it has affected my blood, also my stomach and bowels to a very great extent. I shall appreciate an immediate answer, as I suffer greatly."

Answer: I would advise you to purchase a 2-oz. package of Vilane powder; take one-half teaspoonful of the powder and add to this a pint of warm water; snuff the water from the palm of the hand through the nostrils several times a day. Make a catarrh balm by mixing one teaspoonful of powder with one ounce of vaseline, or lard will do, and apply as far up the nostrils as possible. For the stomach, bowels and blood I would recommend the following tonic: Syrup sarsaparilla comp., 4 ozs.; comp. fluid balmwort, 1 oz., and 1 oz. of fluid ext. buchu. Mix by shaking well in a bottle and take one teaspoonful after each meal and at bed time.

"Gloria" writes: "I would like you to prescribe a good hair and scalp treatment. I am bothered with itching scalp and dandruff. My hair is faded and falling and none of the remedies I have tried have done any permanent good."

Answer: Go to your druggist and obtain a 4-oz. jar of plain yellow Minyol. Apply as per directions. This treatment differs from all and I have actually seen the astonishing transformations which result from its use. The dandruff and itching are conquered with two or three applications, while it makes the hair glossy, wavy and full of intense natural color.

"Myrtle" writes: "Owing to my extreme thinness I am frequently embarrassed by slighting remarks of young people. Can you prescribe a safe remedy to increase my weight?"

Answer: I have so many gratifying reports from the users of three-grain Hypo-Nuclane tablets, that I have become to regard these valuable little tablets as a specific and prescribe them to all who are anemic, thin, wasting, nervous and debilitated. I recommend that you begin their use at once and continue regularly until your system is able to assimilate the fatty elements of your food; then you will grow plump and have plenty of red blood, with color in your complexion, bright and sparkling eyes of health.

"Sick M. G." writes: "I have been affected for some months with rheumatism and have taken much medicine in vain. Please give prescription that will cure."

Answer: The most efficient prescription I have ever given for rheumatism is: Iodide of potassium, 2 drams; sodium salicylate, 4 drams; wine of colchicum, one-half ounce; comp. essence cardiol, 1 oz.; comp. fluid balmwort, 1 oz., and syrup sarsaparilla comp. 5 ozs. Mix and take a teaspoonful at meal time and at bedtime.

"Farmwife" writes: "You once recommended a home-made cough-syrup. I tried it and found it the best cough and cold syrup that I ever heard of. It was so prompt in relieving the severest coughs and colds and a pint bottle made at home lasted so long that I have forgotten the ingredients. Kindly publish again."

Answer: The splendid laxative home-made cough syrup is made by mixing a 2½-oz bottle of concentrated essence mentholaxene with a home-made sugar syrup. Directions on the bottle tell how to make and use. It is a fine, cheap remedy.

"Johnson" writes: "I am bothered greatly with indigestion. Things I like to eat nearly always cause a heavy ill-at-ease feeling in my stomach, and my breath is bad, while I am nervous, irritable and frequently cannot sleep."

Answer: A very excellent treatment, which is widely prescribed for its gradual curative action, as well as the instant relief it affords, is tablets triopeptine, packed in sealed cartons. Take a pink tablet after breakfast, white tablet after dinner and blue tablet after supper. Continue and the curative agencies should soon restore natural digestion.

"Mrs. M. C." writes: "I am recovering from long illness, but am very weak, nervous, sleepless and have little appetite. Can you give me a good tonic restorative treatment?"

Answer: Have the following prescription filled and take a teaspoonful before meals: Syrup of hypophosphites comp., 5 ozs.; tincture cadomene comp., 1 oz. (not cardamon.) Mix and shake well before using. This is a fine nerve tonic and system tonic for old and young.

John R. Mc asks: "Don't you think it is wise to take medicine to reduce my weight? I weigh about 55 pounds too much."

Answer: I do think so; and a very convenient and effective flesh-reducer medicine is sold in sealed tubes with full directions for home use. It is called 5-grain arbolone tablets and any well-stocked pharmacy can supply them. They are essentially good.—[Advertisement.

You are invited to the exhibit of these fashions for the Fall and Winter seasons 1913-1914

Monday to Saturday, Inclusive
October 20th to 25th, Inclusive

Maryland Hotel, Pasadena

It was impossible for anyone to do justice to a real Paris display before the date announced for our Opening, as most of the Paris manufacturers did not show their styles before the 15th of August; Callot Soeurs did not open for display before the 21st of August, and Paul Poiret's last show was August 24th. Thereby any person can figure that if the goods were shown that late in Paris, for a house to make a worthy, genuine and thorough display it would be almost impossible to do it before the time that we have set for this grand display.

four seasons and her departure to her future home in Imperial is regretted.

Mrs. Harry Kingman entertained with a delightful family dinner of ten covers Sunday in celebration of the birthday of her little daughter Velma, and also the anniversary of Mr. L. P. Kingman's natal day. The rooms of the pretty home were in Halloween decorations and the centerpiece of the beautifully-laid table was a huge golden pumpkin borne on a golden tripod.

Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Bohnert, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Oleweiler and daughter Mary attended the Chadwick-Gartrell nuptials at Ontario Thursday evening, last.

Dr. and Mrs. S. G. Huff of Huntington Park were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brimmer Tuesday. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Porter Brimmer and Mrs. Amelia Kendall.

Miss Fay Klophenstein of Campbell, Neb., is the guest of her grandmother, Mrs. Sarah Klopherstein, and other relatives for the season.

Mrs. H. R. Stewart returned Tuesday from a visit of several months with relatives in Kentucky, Indiana and Illinois.

Mrs. C. T. Letourneau and daughter Sarah of Portland, Or., are guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. Richards and daughters.

Miss Amanda Tinkler and father, J. Tinkler, are entertaining Mr. Logan of Abirlene, Kan.

Hemet.

MRS. ANNIE E. BURNHAM of Hemet was given the first prize at the Riverside County Fair for the best work in tatting.

Norman Dilworth and Miss Myrtle Palmer, who were married two weeks ago in Ohio, arrived in Hemet this week and will make their home on the Hemet tract, Mr. Dilworth having erected a modern bungalow. Miss Palmer was formerly head of the commercial department of the Hemet Union High School, and is an accomplished young lady. Mr. Dilworth is a well-to-do rancher.

Bert Jolly and family of Los Angeles are visiting relatives here this week. They will remain here for several days.

Ray Brant arrived this week from Montana and will remain here with his parents.

Rev. W. M. Harkness arrived this week from Long Beach, where he attended the Methodist conference. He has been returned to Hemet for another year. Rev. Harkness has done splendid work for the Methodist Church here.

The women of the Episcopal Guild plan to hold their annual fair on December 10.

Amos Churchill spent several days in Los Angeles this week, visiting his father, A. Churchill, Sr., who recently arrived from Illinois.

Glendora.

THE REV. AND MRS. L. O. FERGUSON, recently called from Modesto to assume the pastorate of the Christian Church, were given a reception by the members Tuesday evening. The auditorium was filled to its full seating capacity as a mark of approval and appreciation of the new pastor.

The Rev. Duley B. Snudden, pastor of the M. E. Church, in an excellent address welcomed the Rev. L. O. Ferguson and his wife. Addresses of felicitation were also delivered by Pastor Stafford of the Christian Church at Covina, McIntire of Azusa and Ward of San Dimas.

Thursday evening a reception was given the Rev. and Mrs. D. B. Snudden at the Glendora Operahouse. The Rev. D. B. Snudden is back for his second year at the special request of his congregation as a just recognition of devotion to duty and splendid services rendered the past year. The address of welcome was made by Rev. A. B. Embree and was expressive of the high esteem in which the pastor is held and the pleasure experienced over his return, that he might finish the new church edifice now in course of construction and continue his services in the line of endeavor so well begun.

A wedding of more than usual interest was celebrated at the elegant home of Mrs. J. A. S. Brubaker, when her haughter, Vera Brubaker, was united in marriage to Clark Lewis in the presence of about seventy friends, Elder R. England, president of the Lordsburg College, officiating. The wedding march was exquisitely rendered by Miss Daisy Fenton. The bride was gowned in a pale pink crepe de chine over white silk messaline with trimming of pearls and rhinestones. The groom is a son of J. A. Lewis, real estate broker and capitalist. Mrs. Brubaker, mother of the bride, is prominent in social and church circles.

El Centro.

THE executive board of the Women's Ten Thousand Club gave the first of a series of social affairs last week at the home of Mrs. A. L. Nuffer. The reception was informal, a portion of the guests filling the tables for progressive whist, while the remainder entertained themselves with their sewing. The whist prize offered for the winner at this reception was a beautiful olive fork, and was captured by Mrs. J. W. Lindner. A grand prize will be given the member who has the highest whist score at the end of the series of entertainments.

Mrs. J. V. Wachtel entertained in honor of Miss Jean Mead of Kansas City, at an informal reception Saturday evening. The house was tastefully decorated and appropriate refreshments were served. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hershey, Miss Markel Wachtel, Messrs. Leonard Wachtel, Winthrop Pier, John Prendergast, David Duncan and Clarence Gage.

The woman's auxiliary of the State street Christian Church held a meeting at the home of Mrs. Sprague Wednesday afternoon, which proved one of the most interesting sessions in the history of the organization. An excellent programme was provided by Mrs. W. G. Conley, Mrs. Oscar Sweeney, Mrs. A. G. Campbell and Rev. J. N. Smith of Holtville.

Whittier.

THE home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Coulthurst was the scene of a pleasant gathering Monday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Alpha Zimmer, who left Tuesday for Corona, where they will make their home. A musical programme was rendered by Mrs. Craig, Dr. B. F. Bryan and Mrs. A. M. Ganter.

Oxnard.

CLUB WOMEN to the number of 250, from all sections of Ventura county, attended the annual picnic of the Ventura County Federation of Women's Clubs held in Foster Park, Casitas, Wednesday. All came in costume, representing different nations. National characteristic dishes formed part of the menu of the different clubs, and members contributed national songs and dances to the programme of the afternoon. The serving of tea and wafers in a Japanese booth by Somis women concluded the most successful event of its kind ever held in the county.

Miss Stafford Daniel [illegible] a number of friends in compliment to her guest, Miss Ethel [illegible] with a juvenile party.

Owes His Life to This Lung Remedy

If you neglect a continued cough or cold, you are in constant danger of easily contracting serious Lung Trouble. The cough or cold which does not yield to ordinary treatment should be a warning to you and preventive measures should be taken as soon as possible. In many cases Eckman's Alterative, a remedy for Throat and Lung Troubles, has brought permanent recovery. Read this:

Catherine Ave. and Ascot Place,
Queens Court, L. I., N. Y.

"Gentlemen: In the year 1908 I was taken with a heavy cold and a nasty short cough. I went to several doctors, who gave me a lot of medicine. Finally, I went to a specialist, who gave me creosote that made me sick of all kinds of food; consequently I failed in health. I then went to the Catskills, and seemed to get better, but the cough still kept up. I stayed there for one year, and then went to a farm near Jersey City, a very sick man. About the time of my return, my brother recommended Eckman's Alterative to me very highly. It is now nearly two years since I first took it. I am now well, and I dare say that I would have been buried long ago if it had not been for Eckman's Alterative."

(Affidavit) JOSEPH J. TROESCHER.

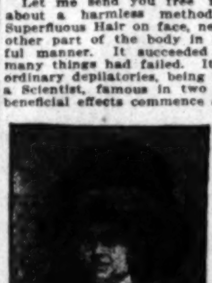
Eckman's Alterative has been proven by many years' test to be most efficacious for severe Throat and Lung Affections, Bronchitis, Bronchial Asthma, Stubborn Colds and in upbuilding the system. Contains no narcotics, poisons or habit-forming drugs. Sold by The Owl Drug Co. and leading druggists. Write the Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for booklet telling of recoveries and additional evidence.

Superfluous Hair

I Will Tell You Free How to Destroy Your Superfluous Hair Without Pain or Injury.

I Cured My Own Growth Forever and I Will Tell My Secret Free.

Let me send you free full information about a harmless method that destroys Superfluous Hair on face, neck, arms or any other part of the body in a most wonderful manner. It succeeded with me after many things had failed. It is nothing like ordinary depilatories, being the invention of a Scientist, famous in two continents. Its beneficial effects commence at once.



For a long time I was sorely troubled by a hideous growth of Superfluous Hair on my face and arms. My face was indeed a sight. I grew almost to hate myself for my unsightly appearance. I tried everything I ever heard of for Superfluous Hair, but never with any result but to waste my money or injure my skin.

But today, although it is now a long time since I used this method, there is not a trace of Superfluous Hair on my face, arms or anywhere else. I got rid of it easily and without pain or any annoying features through following the simple advice of a well-known scientist who was Professor of Chemistry at an English University.

Realizing from experience what it means to be afflicted with a masculine hairy growth, I am willing to give the benefit of my experience without charge to any woman who cares to write me. All I ask you to do is to send your name (stating whether Mrs. or Miss) and address and two stamps for postage and I will send you in full detail, the advice and instructions which resulted in my own cure after all else failed. Address Mrs. Kathryn B. Jenkins, 350 B. J. Wentworth Bldg., Boston, Mass.

The Home Beauty Parlor

by Betty Dean

Audrey: In these days of short sleeves and low necks it is vastly important what kind of whitener you use. Ordinary face powders or talcum will not successfully hide the summer's tan and they won't stay on. The best way out of the dilemma is to get 4 ounces of spurmax and mix in ½ pint of hot water; add two teaspoonfuls glycerine. This is a splendid lotion for making the skin look fresh for a long time. It will not rub off like loose powder, and has a protecting effect on the skin of lasting benefit. It is very economical, too. For a fine wrinkle remover see answer to Miss Hazel.

Miss Helen L.: Weak eyes are not only a draw-back to looks, but neglecting them often leads to serious eye troubles. Dissolve an ounce of crystos in a pint of water. A few drops of this in each eye every day will strengthen your eyes and make them sparkling and brilliant. You do not say whether or not you wear glasses, but in any case this simple, inexpensive tonic will prove soothing and helpful as well as beautifying.

Mrs. Meadows: Your unhealthy hair seems to indicate that the hair follicles secrete too much oil and this will lead to dandruff and other hair troubles. You are wise to take it in time, and I strongly advise the use of the invaluable canthrox for a shampoo. Get a package at the druggist's, and mix a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water. This is plenty for a good washing, and will give you the effects of a fine treatment at a professional Beauty Parlor at small cost. Notice the fluffiness and silkiness of your hair afterwards. This is caused by the fact that canthrox gets rid immediately of the excess oil and all dirt and dandruff.

Phyllis Lee: Yes, there is always the danger of increasing flesh too fast when you once begin to take it on. Perhaps it would be well to begin reducing now before you feel the fat a burden. Try this simple remedy—it will require no dieting or special exercise beyond sensible living. Get 4 ounces parnotis and dissolve it in 1½ pints water. Take a tablespoonful before meals. It is not disagreeable, and you will experience no bad effects.

Miss Hazel: The person who guessed you to be older than you are was doubtless influenced by those crow's-feet which you say are creeping about your eyes. Let me repeat the formula that I have often given in this column. Mix an ounce of almozoin in half a pint of cold water; add two teaspoonfuls glycerine. Let stand over night. At the first application of this greaseless beauty cream you will feel the skin contract and it will stay firm because this fine preparation puts health and strength into the tissues as well as gives firmness and clearness to the skin. Don't delay getting this benefit.

Donna Bella: You are right!—"Rats" must go, and it is a good thing. It is not only unnecessary, but unhealthful to clutter up the head with false hair, nets, veils, etc. Better than all of these is a good healthy head of hair, which you, yourself, can easily obtain at small expense. Twice a week rub into the hair this tonic—made by dissolving one ounce of quinzoin in a half-pint of alcohol and adding a half-pint of cold water. Hair specialists agree that a good quinine hair tonic destroys dandruff germs and prevents the stringy, matted condition of the hair. For a fine shampoo see answer to Mrs. Meadows.

Alice H.: I have often given the formula for a greaseless cream jelly. It appears again today in answer to Miss Hazel.

Pocahontas: That dark, muddy look to your complexion may have nothing to do with any skin trouble. From what you say I fancy you are only run down and would advise this tonic for the next few weeks: Dissolve an ounce of kardene in a half a pint of alcohol; and one-half cup of sugar and enough hot water to make a full quart. Take a tablespoonful before each meal. The expense of this is slight and there is no remedy known so energizing as this old-fashioned regulator. After all, you know, health is beauty.

Good Care of the Hair Makes All Women Fair

Hair—natural, snappy, well kept hair is woman's greatest beauty. The hair first attracts attention. Nice, clean, fluffy hair, growing on the head it adorns, makes for personal charm more than a clear complexion, regular features or a handsome gown. Beautiful hair, which commands admiration everywhere, is almost always associated with the use of that

Well Known Scalp Prophylactic

NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE

The worst enemy of good hair is dandruff caused by an invisible microbic growth or germ. That the destruction of this germ may be accomplished by the intelligent use of Newbro's Herpicide is proven by the experience of thousands of people. By the removal of dandruff, further loss of hair may usually be prevented and there is a decided increase in life, lustre and luxuriance which constitute hair beauty. There is a subtle and delightful odor about Herpicide that never offends, but appeals to every one. It contains no grease, and will not change the color of the hair. The itching scalp which accompanies dandruff may generally be relieved by the first few applications. There is no need for any one to be deceived by other preparations that have adopted the Herpicide advertising claims. You can avoid possible disappointment by insisting upon having genuine Herpicide.

Send 10 cents for sample bottle and booklet to The Herpicide Co., Dept. S., Detroit, Mich.

were children's costumes, blind-man's buff and other childish games were played, and the refreshments further revived school-day memories. About twenty guests were present.

The autumn dance of the Comus Club was an enjoyable affair. Orange and black decorations were effectively used, and punch was served during the evening.

The Santa Clara Catholic Church was the scene of the wedding of Miss Mary Gill to Howard McDonald Tuesday. Only relatives and close friends of the couple, both of whom are prominent in Oxnard, witnessed the ceremony. A wedding breakfast was served prior to the departure of the bridal pair for a honeymoon in San Francisco and vicinity.

Miss Flora Haddox became the bride of Bernie Charles Edmunds of El Monte at a quiet wedding at her mother's ranch home, Rev. S. W. [illegible] performing the ceremony.

Ralph Christy entertained a number of friends at a beach party at Hueneme on the occasion of his birthday. Luncheon was served around a large campfire. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hummel chaperoned the party, which was composed of about a dozen members of the younger set here.

San Bernardino.

THE city lost one of its most charming and beautiful young women this week when Miss Ida H. Devening became the bride of Clinton [illegible] Deakins of Newport. The ceremony occurred Tuesday morning at the home of the bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. H. C. Devening, No. 837 [illegible] street, the ceremony being performed in the presence of the immediate family and a few intimate friends. The appointments for the ceremony were simple, but most beautiful. The young people left at once for San Francisco on their wedding trip of two weeks, after which they will make their home in Newport, where the groom is a contractor. Miss Devening was formerly secretary of the San Bernardino Woman's Club and is still an officer of the club. The bride also has rare dramatic ability and has often appeared in leading roles for amateur performances given by the Woman's Club and other organizations.

Hearts and cupids predominated in the unique and dainty decorations Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. S. Hooper, who entertained a large company of friends in honor of the approaching marriage of Miss Marjorie Hooper and Clement Dudley Perkins, November 17. A color scheme of red, green and white was carried out with flowers of the season, while dainty refreshments in shapes of wedding bells and hearts were served in the dining-room. Mrs. [illegible] J. Swanson, a sister of the bride, and Mrs. Perkins, mother of the groom-elect, poured coffee. The bride-elect was the recipient of a shower of many beautiful and useful articles. The guest company included a number of Miss Hooper's former university classmates and a large circle of personal friends.

A company of young ladies gathered Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. T. W. Duckworth to meet her niece, Miss Louise Schuster, who has come to San Bernardino to make her home, having formerly been a resident of Los Angeles. The hours were spent in jolly conversation, and partaking of refreshments, the color scheme carried out in the dining-room being in a dainty shade of pink. Cecile Brunner roses were used for the floral portion of the charming decorations.

The initial meeting of the Rosemary Club, composed of Past Noble Grands of the local lodge of Rebekahs, was held Wednesday at the home of Mrs. W. H. Parsons on [illegible] street. Plans for the winter

Huntington Park.

TUESDAY evening Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Snodgrass were surprised by the assembling of relatives and friends at their home, No. 210 Rita street, Huntington Park, the occasion being the anniversary of their marriage, which occurred in Topeka, Kan., twenty-three years ago, also the anniversary of Mr. Snodgrass's birth. The children were all present except their oldest son, William, and wife, who reside in Topeka, Kan. With reminiscences, music and refreshments, a pleasant evening was spent. The following were present: Mr. and Mrs. George Lockwood, Capt. and Mrs. George Lockwood, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Buchanan, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Lockwood, Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Steves, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Corona.

A FEW music lovers were given a rare treat at the impromptu musical given by Mrs. Juliet Powell Rice in honor of her niece, Mrs. Lida Davis Bacheller of Kansas City, who has been her house guest for the week. Several vocal and piano solos were splendidly rendered by Corona musicians, but Mrs. Bacheller was the delight of the evening. She is a cousin of Maude Powell the noted violinist, and what Maude Powell is to the violin Mrs. Bacheller is to the piano. Her memory is wonderful and her manner charming. She gave everything called for during the evening, playing Chopin, Schumann, Nevins, Schubert (arranged by Liszt,) Paderewski, Beethoven, Raff and others with the greatest animation and fine interpretation. Se has gone to Coronado for a time, but those who have met her are looking forward to her return with a great deal of pleasure, and several delightful affairs have been planned for her during her next visit here. The invited guests were: Mesdames Eugenia Baldwin Riggle, A. Braasch, Charles F. Hildreth, Charles A. Dickinson, Arthur Dickinson, T. C. Jameson, Ruth Blichahn, George Brown, Sanger E. French, T. A. Fraser, Charles R. Miller and Mrs. McGaughey of Rialto, and the Misses Grace Shepherd, Oliver, Larrabee, Eloise and Adelaide Jameson.

Mrs. E. B. Collier was hostess at a charmingly appointed dinner today in honor of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Ewing, who will leave soon to make their home in Los Angeles.

Miss Ethel Scoville has gone to Los Angeles for a short visit with friends before she departs for San Francisco where she will meet her sister, Mrs. Thayer of Seattle, Wash. The young ladies will visit in San Francisco and Berkeley for several weeks.

The Corona Country Club gave a banquet at the club rooms Thursday evening to a large number of their friends and members. The occasion was the annual election of officers and a most enjoyable time was spent throughout the evening. The club elected W. S. Clayson as president for the coming year, and the following directors were elected: R. L. Willits, Stanley Garvey, F. W. Kuster, H. M. Key, F. E. Snidecor and C. A. Holloway.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Turner and daughter Hazel of San Bernardino are spending a few days with Mr. Turner's aunt, Mrs. George Blurton.

The Auction Bridge Club met Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence White on Main street. A very appetizing dinner was served at 6:30 o'clock by the hostess, after which progressive auction bridge was enjoyed until a late hour. Mr. and Mrs. White secured the first prizes.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark Senger and little daughter are enjoying a few days recreation which they are spending with friends in Victorville. They will visit Mrs. Senger's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Taylor in Los Angeles, before returning.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Wood of Laguna Beach are visiting friends in this city for a few days.

Brawley.

MISS ORA ELSIE SCHINDLER and Mr. John Sherman Kuns were married at the home of the bride's parents Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Schindler on J street Sunday evening. The ceremony was performed by Rev. T. H. Wilkinson of the First Methodist Episcopal of Brawley. Following the service, Mr. and Mrs. Kuns and guests went to their home at the corner of Third and J streets where a wedding supper had been prepared by friends of the happy young couple.

Mrs. Jack Nevilles and Mrs. L. E. Sanford entertained with a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. Nevilles on K street Friday afternoon, complimentary to Mrs. L. E. Lewis whose marriage occurred recently. The guests included Mesdames Dan Rice, E. H. Cloes, O. C. Brackney, Jack Rumsey, G. W. Knight, C. C. Jenkins, R. G. Bryden, H. E. Bennett, John Robinson, C. H. McKnight, R. T. Harris, Joseph Likes and Miss Lois Jenkins.

Miss Winnie Layne entertained with a pretty party at her home Friday evening. Miss Layne was assited in entertaining by Miss Bernice Cooper. The guests of the evening were Misses Thelma Cooper, Goldie Pyle, Noami Campbell, Helen Millar, Mabel Leach, Amanda Cavaness Kate Hoveley, Lillian Layne. Messrs. George Campbell, John Applegate, Raymond Wilkinson, Cyril Prewitt, Charley Moore, Austin Lester, Marion Stilgebouer, Frank Hoveley, Merle Stilgebouer, Ben Lefner.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Eaton entertained with a dinner party at their home Sunday evening when they had as their guests Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Best, Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Edgar and Miss Hallie Best.

Mrs. J. D. Bennett and daughter, Miss Hilda Bennett, returned the first of the week from an extended visit to relatives at Flint, Mich. Mrs. and Miss Bennett were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Britton and Mr. Britton's mother, Mrs. M. R. Britton.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Malan of Long Beach and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Malan of Galesburg, Ill., are the guests of Leo Malan. Mr. and Mrs. R. Malan will spend the winter in Brawley.

Miss McNeal of Baltimore, Md., who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. S. Lyon left for Los Angeles, Wednesday morning where she visit.

Mrs. John P. Clark and Joseph G. Clark, mother and brother of Mrs. George C. Gay have arrived from Cransford, N. J., and will pass the winter in Brawley.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Walker returned Monday from a trip in the East which also included Oklahoma and Missouri. Mr. and Mrs. Walker were accompanied by their niece, Miss Minnie Hartsell who will pass the winter in Brawley as their house guest.

Miss Mary Kuffel is visiting in Los Angeles and at the beach.

Miss Faye Barnett returned the first of the week from Rocky Ford, Col., where she has been spending the summer.

Anderson Pipkin and sister Miss Louise Pipkin of Bells, Tenn., are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Cox.

Lawrence E. Creeden has returned from Cincinnati, O., where he has been the past month.

CHURCHMEN, SCIENTISTS.

Rev. Dr. Charles S. Vedder of Charleston, S. C., has now seen his eighty-seventh birthday. He has been rector of Charleston's Huguenot Church since 1866. He's a Confederate veteran, having been chaplain of De Saussure's brigade in the war years.

Rev. Andrew Gillies of Minneapolis declares that the condition of the working women in England warrant stern measures to obtain suffrage; that more than 5,000,000 of them are working for $1.85 a week, and that the ballot is the only solution of the wage problem.

The Rev. D. G. Zimmerman, 35, pastor of the Christian Church at Nortonville, Kan., whipped Bill Jones, a well-known character of that town, on the streets there when Jones addressed the minister in profane and abusive language. The city authorities did not interfere until the fight had been brought to a close, when both of the combatants were arrested. In court Jones was fined $14, but the minister was released.

The Rev. Anson Phelps Stokes, secretary of the Yale Corporation, while entering New Haven's City Hall to vote at the city election saw a huge sign reading: "Vote Yes for License" nailed up about eight feet high on the wall. He called a policeman and asked by whose authority such a sign was placed on a municipal building. He was not enlightened, and then he made a good running jump into the air and caught the license banner and pulled it down, remarking to a party of Yale men at his side that the City Hall was a non-partisan building and should not be the signboard for a campaign poster.

Dr. V. V. Anderson, psychologist and formerly assistant to Prof. Hugo Munsterberg of Harvard, has taken up his duties as a member of the staff of the Boston probation department. He will make a scientific study of criminals who come before the city courts, and one of his chief aims will be to find the reason for the repeated appearance of some offenders.

THE UNCHLOROFORMED.

Miss Marie Sanford, a professor emeritus of the University of Michigan, 77 years old, won a farm in Montana during the recent government land drawing and is planning to go out there to develop her property.

Susan Eaton, aged 85, of Madison, Me., boasts of having made more than 500 bed quilts by hand in her lifetime.

John Johnson, a 78-year-old war veteran of Philadelphia, has just cut two new teeth.

Thomas L. James, 82, who was Postmaster-General under President Garfield, afterward president of the Lincoln National Bank in New York City, and now chairman of the board of directors, is just home from a vacation spent in Scotland and Wales His recipe for keeping young is to "associate with young folk, take plenty of sleep and keep abreast of the times."

One of the most remarkable of the many foreign visitors to England this summer is Mme. Deschamps, a French woman, who concluded a few months' stay at Frensham Place, near Farnham, Surrey. Though 82 years old, she has engaged in golf, lawn tennis and other strenuous games every day. She has been at Frensham exhibiting as much zest and activity as the younger members of her family, with whom she has played.

An End To The Curse Of Wearing Worthless Trusses

No More Rupture Troubles
60 Days Trial
To Prove It

You Don't Have to Risk a Penny

Here is something absolutely guaranteed to keep your rupture from coming out.

You don't have to take our word for what it will do. You can try it sixty days—make a thorough test—without having to risk a penny—and see for yourself.

If it doesn't hold—if it doesn't keep your rupture from bothering you in any way—then it won't cost you a single cent.

The Only Thing Good Enough To Stand Such a Test

You know as well as we that you can't tell anything about a truss or anything else for rupture merely by trying it on. That's the worst of going to a drug store or local truss fitter's.

A truss or so-called "appliance" may seem alright when you first put it on, and afterwards prove utterly worthless.

The only way in the world you can make sure of exactly what you're getting is by 60-days actual trial.

And our guaranteed rupture holder—the famous Cluthe Automatic Massaging Truss—is the only thing of any kind whatever for rupture that you can get on sixty days trial—the only thing good enough to stand such a long and thorough test.

Something Nothing Else Does

The Cluthe Automatic Massaging Truss is so utterly different from everything else for rupture that it has received eighteen separate patents.

It provides the only way ever discovered for overcoming the weakness which is the real cause of rupture.

Just how it does that—entirely automatically—is all explained in the free book.

Will Save You from Operation

The Cluthe Truss has so thoroughly proved its merits that physicians in all parts of the world and surgeons in the U. S. Army and Navy now recommend it instead of advising operation. It has brought complete recovery in hundreds of cases after operation had proved a failure.

No Belt or Leg-Straps to Annoy You

That's why people who try this truss say it is as comfortable as their clothing. It is water-proof—will hold in the bath. Easily kept clean.

Get World's Greatest Rupture Book

Don't send any money—just write for our free book and find out everything you want to know.

Full of facts never before put in print. Cloth-bound—96 pages—20 separate articles and 23 photographic illustrations. Will save you from being fooled and save you from wasting money.

Explains why elastic and spring trusses are a wicked crime—why they are the ruptured man's worst enemy—why the law should stop their sale.

Exposes the humbug "appliances," "methods," "plasters," etc.

Shows why operation is often a needless gamble with death, and why, if a man manages to get well from the operation, he often has to keep on wearing a truss.

And it tells all about the Cluthe Automatic Massaging Truss and how you can try it sixty days and how little it costs if you keep it.

Gives endorsements of over 5000 people.

Better write for the book today—it tells things you could never find out by going to doctors or drugstores. Simply use the coupon or say in a letter or postal, "Send me the book."

Mr. C. C. Dixon

Manager of our Carpet and Rug Department

TWENTY-SEVEN YEARS' experience in the rug and carpet business—seventeen years of which has been spent with Pease Bros. Furniture Company and their predecessor the Niles Pease Furniture Company—places Mr. Dixon in a position to speak authoritatively on every phase of the important subject of "floor coverings." Twice each year Mr. Dixon goes into the eastern markets for the purpose of selecting the newest and best things to be had in the rug and carpet line. His intimate knowledge of the requirements of this "sunny southland" and of our thousands of discriminating customers insures our stock being always up-to-the-minute and superior to any other in the West. We invite your critical inspection.

Our line of Oriental rugs contains some splendid examples of the weaver's art—in exceptionally beautiful colorings, rare designs and richness of texture. They are correctly priced with the same low margin of profit that obtains on our other lines—no charge being made for sentiment or romance.

THE HELPING HAND.

"How far that little candle throws his beams!
So shines a good deed in a naughty world."

Washington and Lee University of Lexington, Va., is the fortunate recipient of the largest bequest that has been received by any educational institution for a long time. By the will of Robert F. Doremus, who was a member of the New York Stock Exchange firm of De Coppe & Doremus, the University will eventually receive more than $2,000,000. Washington & Lee will receive the entire residuary estate, or $1,903,002, upon the death of the widow, Josephine R. Doremus, who has a life interest, and will get $100,000 more upon the death of F. Harrison Doremus, father of the testator. Mr. Doremus was an alumnus of Washington & Lee.

Commendation for his act in braving a heavy surf, breaking over coral reefs to carry a line from the battleship Louisiana to the stranded launch of the battleship South Carolina near Vera Cruz recently, was the reward for Frank William Heins, chief boatswain's mate of the Louisiana. The commendation was received in a letter of appreciation from the Secretary of the Navy. Harry Crooks, ordinary seaman, and John Joseph Loftus, coal passer, of the torpedo practice ship Montgomery also were commended for the rescue of a drowning shipmate.

William Ehrlich, so frail that he weighs only seventy-two pounds, although he is 13 years old, is a hero in his East Side home, New York, but not from his own telling.

He led two other little lads, who were on a raft in the East River in diving to the rescue of a 4-year-old boy, who had tumbled off a wharf.

With his clothes dripping wet William went home conscious that he would "get a licking," as his mother had warned him not to go near the water.

He knew excuses would be of no avail so he meekly submitted to his mother's preparations for a good old-fashioned spanking.

He was lying across his mother's lap ready for business when a policeman, who had heard from the other boys of William's heroism, called to tell Mrs. Ehrlich how brave a lad he had proved himself. William escaped spanking and had a mother's hug instead.

Willard Steele, owner of Steele's Park, at Decatur, Ind., has offered to give the park to some benevolent organization. The park contains 140 acres, has 10,000 trees, a half-mile race track, three miles of boulevard, entirely encircling the tract, three miles of macadamized streets and an artificial lake of five acres. For twenty-five years the owner has been improving the park to offer it to some benevolent organization. He is 56 years old and has no children or wife. The park lies less than a half mile from Decatur and has been used for fairs. The owner has spent $70,000 on the park.

A total of $150,000 has been distributed among the 150 employees of George Wyman & Co., of South Bend, Ind., and several close friends, as an appreciation of their worth, from the late George Wyman. Individual amounts ranged from $50 to several thousand, Mr. Wyman not considering length of service, but aiming to place the money with those to whom the most good would result. The gift was made by Mrs. Clara L. Wyman in fulfillment of a wish by the merchant shortly before his death, but knowledge of the bequest was kept secret until the money was distributed.

C. F. Rapp, a rigger, had a narrow escape from death by a fall of forty feet through an iron pipe at the City Hall. He was saved by Charles Lewis, another rigger, who used his body as a plug with which to stop the pipe down which Rapp was falling.

Rapp was seated in a rigger's chair within the four-foot pipe, which extends up from the basement to the roof on the outside of the City Hall. It carries off the foul air from the boiler-rooms.

Rapp and Lewis were renewing the iron pipe. The former was seated in his chair between the fourth and fifth floors. Forty feet below Lewis, a big, strongly-built man, was also at work. Suddenly Rapp's chair ropes slipped and he fell. As he shot through the pipe he cried out.

Lewis heard and swung himself across the pipe. When Rapp hit him Lewis's nerve and strength held, and he managed to prevent Rapp falling to the basement. Neither was injured.

Miss Martha S. Hill, member of a pioneer Chicago family, who died recently, left benefactions of more than $100,000 to charitable institutions. The Art Institute receives $30,000; Relief Aid Society, $10,000; United Charities, $10,000; Illinois Humane Society, $5000; Young Men's Christian Association, $10,000; Hull House Association, $5000. Miss Hill was 68 years old and always had resided in Chicago. She had given to many charities, but had been active in none of them. There was only one society in which she was ever prominent.

MEN AND THINGS.

William White, 70, for thirty-six years an engineer on the Big Four passenger trains from Wattoon, Ill., to St. Louis, has been retired on full pay. During his thirty-six years' service he has never had a wreck and not a passenger has been injured while he was in the cab.

Dr. John H. Fager, Sr., of Harrisburg, Pa., took a fifty-nine mile walk on his fifty-ninth birthday.

H. H. Weaver, Jr., son of a millionaire Elizabethville (Pa.) distiller, was given employment as an ordinary freight brakeman on the Pennsylvania Railroad recently. He tried to keep his identity secret, but was recognized by former residents of his home town.

Miss Myrtle Swallow, an 11-year old schoolgirl of Moxham, Pa., wears her heart on the right side. She is rugged and in splendid health dispite the irregularity.

To test the courtesy of municipal employees, Mayor Albee of Portland, Or., the first man elected to the office under the new commission form of government, called up the city offices at 5 o'clock in the evening by telephone and asked each one for information, without telling his name. He selected 5 o'clock as the hour at which employees are anxious to stop work and hurry home. Every answer, he reports, was courteous and satisfactory.

"BY SPECIAL REQUEST."

BY JAMES M. WARNACK.

Yes, doctor, I know I'm dying;
Why, sure, and you know it, too!
You needn't be trying to fool me—
Gosh, I'm not feeling blue!
I'll admit I'm a trifle curious
To know what is going to be;
But I'm not worrying, doctor,
For it won't be long till I see.

Did you take many stitches, doctor?
Well, you did your job up neat.
Confound that automobilist—
He was on the wrong side of the street!
It's funny—they say that a fellow
Develops his soul through pain;
Well, a little less growth for me, doc,
And a little more cocaine.

So this is what it all comes to—
And this is the end of the lark!
A little song in the sunlight,
Then a dive out into the dark!
The dark? No, I'll never believe it!
The dark? No, it cannot be so!
Strange, that no one really believes that,
Though no one pretends to know.

Of course, people's ideas differ—
But I'd like to believe, tonight,
In things my mother taught me
When I was only a mite.
I'd like to believe in heaven,
And all those beautiful things—
And God, on a throne of glory,
And angels with golden wings!

Away with your high-brow doctrines,
And your vaunted quest of truth—
And give me again, for an hour,
The radiant faith of youth!
Away with your niggardly science
That sneers at a hungry heart—
And give me a God I can talk to,
A God who will take my part.

Deserve it? Who said I deserve it?
Are you trying to make me smile?
Well, I haven't been a bad man—
But what have I done worth while!
And yet, after all, what could I do,
Little me, in the great big plan?
Why, at times even He was disheartened,
That Lover and Friend of Man!

But if it is true, O Father—
(And I am believing it strong!)
If the halls of heaven are ringing
With laughter and gladsome song;
If you really are building fine mansions
In which all your children may rest,
Before I start out on my journey,
Let me make a special request.

Don't make a big blow of my coming;
I'd rather you wouldn't—that's square!
Don't send any bands out to meet me—
I'd be all embarrassed, for fair!
I'm just coming up for a good time—
And I'll have it; I never fail,
But don't bother to advertise me,
For I haven't a thing for sale.

And one other little arrangement—
Will you kindly write this down?—
I'd like to live in the country,
A good way out from town.
Yes, I know your burg is worth seeing,
And I'll visit you often enough—
Why, you'll see me each week of Forever,
And you'll get good and sick of my bluff.

So build me a country cottage,
Like the home I looked on last!
You can build it! The God of the future
Can surely remodel the past!
And you might just whisper to mother
To be at the door when I come—
But don't mention who it is coming—
Just hint it's a friend from back home.

And give me back every dear playmate
That I loved in the long ago—
Alice and Ellen and Mary,
And Jack and Willie and Joe,
And sweet little Rosie—Oh, mercy,
I never could think of 'em all!
But the ones I don't remember
I'm trusting that you will recall.

I think that your gold and your jewels
Are valued too highly on earth—
And I'm sure that in heaven I'll hold them
As baubles of feeble worth.
If you'll give me that little cottage,
Surrounded by flowers and trees—
With a million morning glories
And plenty of stingless bees!

Ah, they'll all be surprised to see me!
I'm dizzy! Say, doc—is this death?
Say, doc, do you think a man's feelings
And thoughts die away with his breath?
Well, I don't. Oh, no, I can't prove it—
And perhaps no one really knows
Till his boat is beached at the landing.
Well—I'm damned—if there ain't —little Rose!

OVER THE SEA.

Prince Henry of Bavaria has picked the Grand Duchess and ruler of Luxemburg as a bride. Though only 19 years of age the Grand Duchess has been on the throne a year and has developed a will of her own. One of her earliest official acts was to put her foot down when a bill that had passed Parliament and been signed by her mother was offered for her indorsement. Her mother had been ruling the country for several years as Regent, but that made no difference with the Grand Duchess, who promptly told mamma that it couldn't go through, for she wouldn't have it. So that ended the matter, and the Council of State diplomatically forgot the measure.

George A. Birmingham, creator of Irish characters, expects to make his first trip to the United States early this fall. The chief interest that brings him is the combined interest of his novels and his plays.

Miss Gerda Peterson, daughter of the Danish Minister of Agriculture, and Miss Keiser Neilson, daughter of the Minister of Education, have gone to London and entered into domestic service. The girls have gone to London to learn English and to enlarge their minds generally and feel that they can learn the customs of a country best in such lowly positions.

Bombita, the most famous toreador in Spain, has announced his retirement from the bullring. He killed his last bull October 19, for the benefit of the Bull Fighters' Pawnshop, an institution of which he is the founder. Bombita made his own fortune, estimated at $600,000, entirely from the ring and has besides given away great sums to benevolences. Bombita's real name is Ricardo Torres. He was a typesetter as a youth, but soon left this calling to follow his two elder brothers into the arena.

IN THE LIMELIGHT.

Speaker Clark was severely bruised while in a sleeping-car in the Pittsburgh railroad yards a few nights ago. An engine crashed into his car, and he was thrown heavily against the headboard of his berth and suffered bruises over his right eye, a welt on the top of his head, and his right shoulder was wrenched.

Gov. Colton of Porto Rico has arrived in Washington, and reports a successful result of his efforts to stamp out the lottery business on the island. It is said that formerly the natives of the island wasted nearly $2,000,000 annually on lotteries.

Prof. William H. Taft of Yale, ex-President of the United States, has agreed to give a course of lectures on "Legal Ethics" at the Boston University law school.

Andrew Carnegie, despite his 77 years, is still a keen salmon fisherman. He was the proudest man in all Scotland after succeeding in landing the finest fish caught in the River Ship, in Sutherland, this season. It weighed thirty pounds.

Rear-Admiral Aaron Ward, supervisor of New York Harbor, was placed on the retired list October 10. He has a total of twenty years and seven months sea service and the same amount of shore duty. He commanded the gunboat Wasp during the Spanish War and was advanced for conspicuous service in battle.

A. B. Judy, a philanthropist of Pontiac, Ill., is having a hard time getting someone to take a new $50,000 building off his hands free of rentals. Judy erected a school building and dormitory as a memorial to his mother and offered the new structure to the people of Milford Township for a high school. The Milford people thought they couldn't pay the coal bills and turned down the proposition. The Illinois Children's Home and Aid Society accepted the philanthropist's offer to occupy the building. One wing was damaged by fire and the society had to replace it at a cost of $20,000. It has notified Judy that it will get out at the end of the year. Despairing of securing another tenant, Judy today announced that he will give the building and 400 acres of land to the county if they will only take his $50,000 white elephant off his hands.

ACTIVE WOMEN.

Miss Elizabeth Burchanel of New York went to Dublin this summer to teach about 2000 children folk dances, at the invitation of the Countess of Aberdeen. When Lady Aberdeen was in New York last winter she was interested in the dancing in the public schools and so came the invitation.

Miss Ellen Pooley of Chicago was born in English Norwich in 1831, but she was brought to this country in 1834 and has lived here ever since. Last week she decided to become a naturalized American citizen and took out her first papers. Miss Pooley says she wants to vote before she dies and that her time is limited.

Miss Mary Hildreth of Butternut Farm, Plymouth, Mass., has adopted fourteen babies.

Mrs. Emancipation Proclamation Busbey, wife of the Mayor of South Vienna, O., died recently. She was born on the day and almost at the minute that Lincoln freed the slaves and was christened in honor of that event.

Mrs. Philip Martineau, the English landscape gardener, who is in this country, says that she wishes above all things to make a rose to bloom where before was waste land. The wealthy women of the country all have fine gardens attached to their places, she says, but the great middle class has been sadly neglectful of its opportunities to make bright with flowers the face of the world.

Miss Eva Leon Gotthell of New York City has been eight months in Jerusalem organizing a settlement of American nurses for district work among the poor, and founding a household school, in which the girls of Jerusalem are being taught domestic science. Nathan Straus gave the money that was needed for the work. Miss Gotthell was chosen to oranize the work because besides French, English, German and Italian she speaks Arabic and Spanish, the main languages used in Jerusalem.

Miss Helen Hillsher of Meeker, Colo., donned men's clothes and wore them for two years that she might earn a man's wages and gain enough money to enable her to acquire a college education. She now declares that she wouldn't go through it again for a million dollars.

An Aggressive Fish.

[Indianapolis News:] The aggressive nature of the plakat—a fish native to Siam—is the basis of a national sport. Under normal conditions the fish is of common-place appearance. If two are placed together in a tank the most remarkable change takes place, and with raised fins they prepare to give battle. The two fishes dart at one another with the greatest savagery, never ceasing till one is killed or until they are separated for future contests. While in this excited condition the colors of the fish are dazzlingly beautiful, and not till the end of the fight does he close his fins, when he resumes his usual dull appearance. The fishes are reared artificially and trained for these contests, which take place under license from the crown, and are a veritable source of revenue.

Watch Carefully the Child's Diet

Start Them Off Right With a Good Laxative and Then Watch Their Food.

Mothers are often unconsciously very careless about the diet of their children, forcing all to eat the same foods. The fact is that all foods do not agree alike with different persons. Hence, avoid what seems to constipate the child or to give it indigestion, and urge it to take more of what is quickly digested.

If the child shows a tendency to constipation it should immediately be given a mild laxative to help the bowels. By this is not meant a physic or purgative, for these should never be given to children, nor anything like salts, pills, etc. What the child requires is simply a small dose of the gentlest of medicines, such as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which, in the opinion of thousands of watchful mothers, is the ideal remedy for any child showing a tendency to constipation. So many things can happen to a constipated child that care is necessary. Colds, piles, headaches, sleeplessness and many other annoyances that children should not have can usually be traced to constipation.

Many of America's foremost families are never without Syrup Pepsin because one can never tell when some member of the family may need it, and all can use it. Thousands endorse it, among them Mrs. M. E. Patten, Valley Junction, Iowa, who is never without it in the house. Mrs. Patten says that Syrup Pepsin has done wonders for her boy, Ralph, who was constipated from birth, but is now doing fine. Naturally she is enthusiastic about it and wants other mothers to use it. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is sold by druggists at 50 cents and $1 a bottle, the latter size being bought by those who already know its value, and it contains proportionately more.

Everyone likes Syrup Pepsin as it is very pleasant to the taste. It is also mild and non-griping and free from injurious ingredients.

Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it postpaid by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 419 Washington st., Monticello, Ill. A postal card with your name and address on it will do.

NAMES MADE HISTORIC.

Discovery and Naming of an Important Harbor on the South African Coast.

[Boston Advertiser:] Lewis Harcourt, Secretary of State for the Colonies, and married to Miss Mary Burns of New York, niece of the late J. Pierpont Morgan, has just given his name to a newly discovered harbor which is destined to become the principal seaport of the entire West Coast of Africa.

One would have thought that the whole coast line had been explored. But to the amazement of everybody, Lieut. Hughes, R. N., commanding the English government yacht Ivy, while cruising along the West Coast, near where the river Bonny runs into the sea, discovered a creek not shown on any map or chart. Steaming up this creek and round a bend, preceded by a motor launch taking soundings, the exploring party suddenly came upon a series of rocky cliffs extending for several miles, averaging fifty feet above high water, and showing a depth right alongside of no less than seventy feet of water.

The creek now turns out to be one of the numerous outlets of the River Bonny to the sea, but at the same time the deepest one. This has been surveyed and cleared, and is at present being converted into the terminus of the Nigerian Railroad, a whole town having sprung up, with a wonderfully protected harbor, where vessels of the heaviest tonnage can come right alongside the wharves instead of being obliged to load and unload their freight several miles out to sea, after being conveyed with difficulty through the heavy surf of the Atlantic Ocean. The harbor is a wonderfully sheltered one, with a comparatively narrow entrance. It was that which led Lieut. Hughes on first discovering it to believe that it was a mere creek.

Lewis Harcourt was reluctant to yield to the suggestion of Gen. Sir Frederick Lugard, the Governor-General of Nigeria, that this wonderful West African harbor should be called by his name. But King George, on hearing about the matter—he is keenly interested in the enterprise—insisted that it should be known as Port Harcourt.

It is regarded as a special honor when the British Crown permits the name of one of its statesmen to be thus bestowed upon a new city. Queen Victoria was considered to have greatly distinguished in this fashion the late Earl of Kimberley, when she authorized him during his tenure of the Secretaryship of State for the Colonies, to give his name to the city of Kimberley, now one of the great centers of the diamond mining industry in South Africa.

The real economic and political metropolis of the huge Commonwealth of Australia, that is, Melbourne, is indebted for its name to that Lord Melbourne, who was the first Prime Minister of Queen Victoria's reign, as well as her mentor, and instructor in statecraft.

Halifax, in Nova Scotia, owes its appellation to the second Viscount Halifax, who was president of the Board of Trade and Plantations, a board which has since developed into the Colonial Department at Whitehall. Wellington, in New Zealand, takes its name from the Iron Duke, who won for England the battle of Waterloo and Auckland and Canterbury in the same Dominion, from Lords Canterbury and Auckland. Lewis Harcourt is now to be commemorated in a similar fashion; the only man to be thus honored since Lord Kimberley.

HYOMEI RELIEVES IN FIVE MINUTES

Help Comes Quickly When Hyomei Is Used for Catarrh, Coughs, Cold in the Head or Bronchitis

Quick relief comes from the Hyomei treatment for catarrh and all troubles of the breathing organs, such as stopped up head, sniffles, bronchitis, coughs or that choked up feeling. Put a few drops of liquid Hyomei in the pocket inhaler that comes with every oroginal outfit—just breathe it—and before you have used the treatment five minutes you will get relief from your catarrhal troubles.

Hyomei as sold by druggists everywhere gives a tonic healing effect to the air you breathe, destroys the catarrhal germs, stops the poisonous secretions, soothes the irritated mucous membrane and makes a marked improvement in the general health.

If you suffer from offensive breath, raising of mucus, frequent sneezing, husky voice, discharge from the nose, droppings in the throat, spasmodic coughing, watery eyes, or any other symptoms of catarrh, use Hyomei at once. It will banish the disease germs in the nose, throat and lungs, giving quick and permanent relief or money refunded.

Hyomei does not contain cocaine or any habit-forming drug. The complete outfit, including inhaler and bottle of liquid, costs $1.00; extra bottles of liquid, if later needed, 50 cents.—[Advertisement.

Women's Fashions Discussed by Mr. A. Cooper, Leading Authority on Tailored Suits.

THE fall season practically opens a new year for tailored garments. The styles of this season are such that the new effects will require especial art in their construction, says Mr. A. Cooper, the leading fashionable ladies' tailor and importer, in the Title Guarantee Building, corner Fifth and Broadway. The draped peg-top skirt effects, the deep sleeved, loose blouses, in which the sleeve cut is from the waist line, are not simple garments to produce successfully — and the ladies' tailor will be called upon to use his best art to modify the new styles to the taste of his customers, while there is no doubt that the plain-tailored effects with the peg-top skirt silhouette will continue to be the safe and sane choice of a large majority of "tailor-made women." The styles that will predominate in tailored suits will be the peg-top silhouette, Russian blouse, Mandarin sleeve and cutaway. The cutaway will reach the height of its popularity this season, and some of the most stylish effects in tailored suits appear with the cutaway in jacket and coat fronts; also the lap seam effects in the fancy cut of skirts. Mr. Cooper has given a great deal of study to the styles this season and can assure his customers that each garment made by him will be distinctive and modern correctly. His experience with Harvey of Boston, the leading tailoring establishment for women's wear, enables Mr. Cooper to dictate the fashions of the western world.

"THE WALLET OF TIME."

A Rare Book, Written by the "Plutarch of the Stage."

WINTER'S NEW BOOK. [illegible] OF TIME. Two volumes. By William [illegible] Moffat, Yard & Co., New York.

[illegible] my lord, a wallet at his [illegible]
[illegible] he puts alms for oblivion,
[illegible] monster of ingratitudes.
—[Shakespeare.

[illegible] may we bring from our store- [illegible] of rare words, reserved for [illegible] alone who have achieved [illegible] of high merit, such terms [illegible] as are spoken of the [illegible]. It is only once in [illegible] perhaps less frequently, that [illegible] praise will have un- [illegible] enthusiasm for a new book. [illegible] an occasion; this is a [illegible] for having been de- [illegible] bored by many promising [illegible]

[illegible] William Winter has no su- [illegible] critic, as a writer of lucid, [illegible] English. His laden mem- [illegible] by a masterly pen, and [illegible] Golconda of anec- [illegible] the most sparkling and [illegible] the most delightful [illegible] wealth of knowledge, ac- [illegible] by more than six years of [illegible] study, would have left [illegible] had he chose to play [illegible]. His courage is magnifi- [illegible] with a challenge at [illegible] below the high standards [illegible] have maintained on the [illegible] stage.

[illegible] been called the "Plutarch [illegible] Stage"—not by way of com- [illegible] by way of compliment. [illegible] Winter is eminently worthy, [illegible] and accurate critic and [illegible] of the warmest praise [illegible] admiration.

[illegible] two plenteous volumes [illegible] it is positively difficult to [illegible] to accommodate a [illegible] of space, because of [illegible] and interest of all [illegible] Winter has set forth.

[illegible] of the Stage.

[illegible] in the preface of his work [illegible] and the bitterness with [illegible] been attacked for ex- [illegible] views, the author says: [illegible] of wayward innovation [illegible] and sometimes im- [illegible] the plea for truth, [illegible] simplicity is not less es- [illegible] appropriate. It is no [illegible] that the administration [illegible] theater of late years [illegible] tyrannical and wicked, [illegible] actors and managers [illegible] endeavor might rea- [illegible] been expected have dis- [illegible] and themselves by [illegible], nor that in- [illegible] dominated by great and [illegible] supreme actors, like [illegible] Joseph Jefferson, or [illegible] today, throughout [illegible] States, subservient [illegible] illiterate bully and [illegible] views of a theatrical [illegible] of his theater, [illegible] keeps a 'department [illegible]

The names of many [illegible] and managers have [illegible] to these Mr. Winter [illegible] justice in a subsequent [illegible]

[illegible] elder Booth found his [illegible] the stage "he tried print- [illegible] the British navy; he [illegible] and sculpture, and he [illegible] of those trials came [illegible]

[illegible] Booth became eccentric. [illegible] have been told of his [illegible] in the woods; his [illegible] city to city; his mid- [illegible] the dress of Richard [illegible] capricious treatment of [illegible] ceremonies over [illegible] and birds; his compas- [illegible] with vagabonds; his [illegible] appearances; his moody [illegible] as an actor; [illegible] the Lord's Prayer [illegible] to convulse his hear- [illegible] and his terrific out- [illegible] passion on the [illegible] occasion "he felt it [illegible] the ham out of [illegible] that had been pro- [illegible] before he went on [illegible]

[illegible] Booth's character, this [illegible] is given: "No enemy [illegible], living or dead, a [illegible]. He promoted no [illegible]. He brought no dis- [illegible] profession. * * * He [illegible] of unique fame with [illegible] modesty and simplicity [illegible]

[illegible] Forrest was the first to act [illegible] the part of an American [illegible] in 1822. Once when [illegible] by ill fortune, Forrest [illegible] character of an itiner- [illegible] and having delivered a [illegible] interest of a [illegible] took up a collection [illegible] and so relieved his [illegible]

[illegible] such famed and hon- [illegible] Charlotte Cushman, [illegible] Tommaso Salvini, [illegible] and others, we are [illegible] Helena Modjeska made her first appearance on the America stage at San Francisco in 1877, that she soon won fame and the love of nation, and died at East Newport, the funeral services being held in Los Angeles on April 11, 1909. Concerning her, Mr. Winter says: "No artist more subtile and delicate than Helena Modjeska has appeared among the women of the stage."

"Divine Sarah" Criticised.

In the marked contrast to the almost tender manner in which he registered certain faults of Modjeska, is his round condemnation of Sarah Bernhardt. The "Divine Sarah" is of Hebrew extraction, was born in Holland and is ignorant of the date of her birth. Mr. Winter freely acknowledges her great energy and her dramatic passion, but insists that she has used every device "regardless of dignity and almost of decency, to excite public curiosity." When she made her first appearance in London "wild tales were circulated concerning her proceedings—some true, some false, no one of them more strange than the truth. Description was given of her coffin, in which, it was alleged, she sometimes slept, and of her pet skeleton, declared to be that of a man who had killed himself because of disappointment in a love affair. That grewsome object, it was said, held her bedroom mirror, before which she studied her parts, 'in dead vast and middle of the night,' the script being clutched in its bony fingers. . . . At social dinners Mme. Bernhardt rouged her face and painted her lips. . . . She declared herself affronted because at a festival at the Mason House, the Lord Mayor of London had appeared without a wig and because a bust of the Duke of Wellington was conspicuously displayed."

Her attempt to play the role of Denmark's melancholy Prince is called "her disgraceful desecration of Shakespeare's "Hamlet."

It is pointed out that Mme. Bernhardt has only learned new words and presented old variations of the same character under new names. He declares that within her field she is a wonderful performer, but that her field, "unhappily, is one of morbid eccentricity, and the better its most typical images are presented the less desirable they show themselves of being presented at all."

All of the roles in which she has won fame have consisted in the portrayal of a cat-like courtesan bent on seducing a man victim and who usually kills one or more persons by way of expediting the ambition. Mr. Winter does not believe that her fame will endure, saying "the laurel that is rooted in a bed of horrors soon withers and dies."

Maud Adams Not Great.

Maud Adams is not classed as a great actress. He says: "No actress has been more prosperous, and considering the fine opportunities that have been provided for her, and making due allowance for her hard work, good intentions, and occasional felicity, no actress has risen to great prominence on the American stage, in any period, possessing so little intrinsic talent or having done so little to deserve position and reward."

Blanche Bates, he thinks, would have been a great actress had she remained true to her classical ambitions and not surrendered them for the more dubious roles of the later period. He has high praise for Mrs. Fiske, but deplores the fact that she sometimes turns to Ibsen's plays, which he abhors as those "whose spirits toil in frame of villainies."

"Mrs. Warren's Profession" and all the plays of that ilk are scathed by his analysis and criticism, and he regrets that they should be so well supported by the American public as "Pomander Walk" when that fine play and others might as well be seen.

Discussion is given to "The Thief," "The Easiest Way," "Oliver Twist," and others that are well known at this day.

Mr. Winter has written a wonderful book, and he has written it with force and unsparing criticism for those who would degrade the stage as a place of dubious amusements, instead of as a place of education and refinement.

INEFFECTUAL COMPARISONS.

THE TWO GREAT REPUBLICS, ROME AND THE UNITED STATES. By James Hamilton Lewis. Rand, McNally & Co., Chicago and New York.

THIS book of United States Senator James Hamilton Lewis neither convinces nor satisfies. By his own admission it is not scholastic, and by ours it is not even scholarly. In the preface he made a promise which is unfulfilled and in "The Comparison" he is neither authentic nor definite. Moreover, it is contradictory, ineffectual and obscure. It cannot be understood by one who has not a greater knowledge of Roman history than the author has displayed, and one possessing such an understanding will certainly not agree with the implied contentions.

The preface promises much that will be of interest, but the promise is not kept. Says the author: "In this book I have proposed to compare conditions recorded in Roman history with those existing in America that should warn, by reason of the results at Rome. . . . The main purpose of this book is to compare events as they transpired in the one republic and in the other."

The chief comparisons that Mr. Lewis makes are those of the inequalities of wealth in the two republics and "the influence of a large and constantly-increasing class of demagogues, possessed of knowledge of human nature and endowed with skill in the management of men, yet entirely lacking in principle, patriotism or any sense of public obligation."

He begins by attempting to outline for the reader's convenience the Roman legislative assemblies, and then calls attention to the fact that Rome was the first great melting pot, and hastens on leaving the reader to use what judgment may be at his command to determine whether the melting pot is a benefit or curse. A cursory sketch of Roman history follows, in which demagogues are soundly rated, the martyrs and patriots lauded.

If it was his purpose—and by the opening sentence in the preface as quoted above it seems to have been—to show that conditions exist in the United States analagous to those which brought about the Roman republic, a careful reading will prove that he has defeated his intention by the illustrations presented.

The two things that did more to overthrow the Roman republic than aught else was the acquirement of all agricultural lands by patricians and the subsequent furnishing of free grain to the plebelans by the State. The latter was done to make the poor satisfied with pauperism.

Mr. Lewis and anyone else will look in vain for a parallel condition, or a tendency toward a parallel condition in the United States.

Slavery, which encouraged idleness, and usurous rates of interest, which beggared the honest husbandmen, also are two evils that conspired to wreck the Roman republic that are not found in that of the United States.

Rome began as a city, and the city at no time during the republic was not the mistress of all the possessions won by Roman arms. Her wealth came from plundered cities and countries, rendered allies by subjugation.

Our republic began as a nation. Our possessions are too insignificant for any sort of a comparison with those of Rome, as Mr. Lewis admits. If this republic was dominated by the city of Washington and one or two States adjoining it, if the citizens of every other State were subservient to Washington and yet denied the civic liberties of Washington residents, then there would be some reasonable basis for comparison between the conditions of this republic and that of Rome.

In referring to the success of the plebeians in securing the publication of the manual of laws with full information (304 B. C.) the author takes occasion to say: "The present attempt to monopolize legal education in the United States, and to attack all movements which might tend to a general diffusion of legal knowledge among the mass of the community, is merely another manifestation of the same spirit which animated the Roman patricians in their long contest to keep all legal knowledge from the plebeians."

Imagine any author of the present day saying anything so preposterous as that there is a present attempt to monopolize legal education in the United States, and then imagine that author as a United States Senator and you will understand how utterly unqualified he is to write a book on the comparative conditions between the Roman republic and this republic. With the colleges grinding out law students by the wholesale, with men from every walk of life studying law at home and passing bar examinations and achieving distinction in the profession, with law books for sale in every book store, with all the magazines carrying advertisements offering to teach law by correspondence, then to have a United States Senator, of all people, solemnly declare that there is a present attempt to monopolize legal knowledge!

Mr. Lewis evidently did not read his manuscript so closely as some other persons have since it was published, for in one place we find advanced "the word 'king' was regarded with sufficient hatred that the mere accusation made against any public leader that he was seeking to make himself king was generally sufficient to utterly destroy his influence, even when such charges were unfounded and unsupported by evidence."

In another place to find: "It is always one of the most difficult of tasks to persuade the citizens of any republic that any political leader is actually planning the overthrow of the republican form of government." This blindness, he goes on to say, is not restricted to any one race or age.

Still again, in his conclusion, the author says: "The effect of a mere name, both in Rome and in the United States, has always been unduly great. The charge (even when entirely unsupported,) that a Roman politician was aiming to make himself king was generally sufficient to drive him from power."

Surely an author who will make such unqualified and conflicting statements in the same book is not to be relied upon as a competent critic of any republic.

One analogy Mr. Lewis does draw, but it chances to be an analogy that could be drawn between any two republics, kingdoms or monarchies on earth where leaders, as the result of the ballot, arise, and it is: "The impossibility of the voters being able to discriminate between the true reformer and the unscrupulous demagogue."

In conclusion we are told that "it is plainly to be seen that conditions in the United States of America have tended toward those of Rome, which preceded the latter's downfall," and, perhaps, expected to believe it.

Mr. Lewis has discussed the characters of the prominent men who appeared in the Roman history of the period touched on by him, with a bias that causes him to flay all historians who have failed to agree with his opinion. He condemns those who found fault with the Gracchi and those who have found praise for Caesar, never overlooking an opportunity to pour out the vials of his wrath on all "demagogues."

IN THE MUCK.

DAMAGED GOODS. By Upton Sinclair. John C. Winston Company, Philadelphia.

UPTON SINCLAIR'S novelization of Brieux's play, "Les Avaries," is certainly not the most delightful reading. But the author has written something which, had it appeared in fiction long ago, might have resulted in the salvation of many human beings from great suffering—from the horrible consequences of the most loathsome of diseases, begotten of the most bestial sensual carelessness and filth. The average individual will not read a scientific treatise on this subject—he probably could not understand it if he did. He will not listen to preachments. Fiction, like the dramatic production, is more comprehensible to him.

The play from which this book has drawn its substance was presented in a most impressive manner, first at the Fulton Theater in New York, and then at the National Theater in Washington. A representative audience of statesmen, diplomats and humanitarians witnessed it, and a blessing was asked by a noted divine in Washington before the performance. It may therefore be realized with what seriousness the revelations of the drama were received by the public. The reader of Sinclair's book may be assured beforehand that he will find in the volume no food for pruriency. In the very beginning is a page from the ordinary record of the so-called "man of the world." The man puts all thought of the episode behind him in the joy of his betrothal to Henriette. But presently the full consequences of the episode come upon him. Unwilling to allow himself to believe, he induces others to talk, without betraying himself. What he learns forces the terrible truth upon him. Then comes the tremendous scene with the specialist, in which the grandeur of the man of science stands out, and the cringing cowardice and selfishness of the younger man under his terrible affliction is made manifest. The doctor forbids George's marriage inside of three or four years, as the time necessary to remove contamination from the blood—if it may be removed at all. But George, facing economic complications — possibly financial ruin, as well as the destruction of his romance—puts himself into the hands of a quack, who pronounces him cured in four months' time, and deliberately disobeys the specialist. He believes that he has put his defilement forever behind him, until his child is three months old. Then the second big climax of the story is reached. His mother has, unknown to him, consulted the family doctor, who sends her to the very specialist who advised George before the marriage. The specialist comes to the house, and sternly issues his ultimatum to the young man and his mother. He commands that the infant be taken away from its nurse and brought up by bottle, for the nurse's protection. The order is savagely resisted by mother and son, since the child is frail. After a tense scene the nurse, who has overheard, creates another, and while she is shrieking her denunciations, the wife appears at the door, and learning the truth, takes the child and flees from her husband's roof.

There then follows a most interesting exchange of ideas between the doctor and Henriette's father, a deputy, in which the latter is shown the futility of the legal operations against the unfortunate women who gain their livelihood by a questionable traffic. The doctor calls attention to the fact that some man was invariably the primal source of infection. He urges that in the homes and in the schools the "gigantic and rigorous conspiracy of silence" concerning sex matters be broken. And in answer to the deputy's suggestion that "there are curiosities which it would be imprudent to awaken," states that "such curiosities cannot be smothered," and calls attention to the fact that they are usually satisfied by "blasphemies and profanations." Pornography is admitted," he says finally, "but science is not."

MIMOSA.

THE MEMOIRS OF MIMOSA. By Anne Elliot. Moffat, Yard & Co., New York.

SINCE the journal of Marie Bashkirtseff, perhaps, never has so vitally personal a document been exploited in print as these memoirs of Mimosa. They are such an intimate revelation of the inmost thoughts, emotions and passions of a woman who had resolved "to live every moment of her life" that it is small wonder the author does not furnish a clue to her true name. Not that the book is wildly and extravagantly improper—not in the least. It is far removed from coarseness, both in substance and in style. In fact, it is written very much after the manner of the French authors, who never come down heavily on a flat, objective word or phrase, when handling delicate subjects.

Mimosa is a woman not without ideals. She is epicurean, refined, mental, keenly artistic. But unfortunately for her, all of her ideals are sensational. Exceedingly daring, even as a very young girl, she yet demands of all of her admirers respect. She demands of every situation that it be without blemish of vulgarity. Thus it is that, while her vivid and daring personality plays upon the emotions of men, she is free of what is regarded as the final sin for women when she comes to her marriage. And it is not because she has not been exposed to experience and temptation.

As a little girl of 14 she writes in her diary: "life is delicious, school is beastly. I don't see what is the good of learning things from books. Everybody should be taught to read and write, then let loose to learn things for themselves. What do I care about the holy Roman empire, or Magna Charta, or what is the greatest common multiple of some number or other? What good will it do me to know? I only want to live—live—live—and feel." Later she writes: "I seem to be finding things out every day, and some of them quite beastly things. My childhood is over, and I dislike being a woman very much. Of course, you don't realize you're a woman when you're a child, and the first shock is very great. . . . I have secretly made up my mind never to 'behave like a lady,' and to be as much like a boy as I possibly can. Boys have a ripping time, and nothing to upset or worry them as we have. If only I had been born a boy."

Mimosa, possessing a feverish imagination, spends much of her time dreaming out romances before she is old enough to live them. But she is scarcely more than 1s when she commences to live them also. The first comes when she hurls herself into a railroad compartment beside a nobleman whom she has been regarding worshipfully at a distance. The second is when she sees a "god-like being shifting straw" in a field, where she has run to elude the attentions of a callow admirer. Though she is still scarcely more than a child, this becomes her first engagement. When she has become "the best girl rider in the hunt" she meets an English nobleman, a flirtation with whom takes her to London. She breaks with him, and breaks with her country "Strephon" and goes on the stage. A double flirtation with the actor-manager and the "Oberon" of "Midsummer Night's Dream" ends in disaster, and she fitfully turns her back on both. But she has had a taste of publicity, and cannot live out of the limelight. With a perspicacity uncanny in a girl of 17, she gets it by inducing a big costuming firm to make her a sensational costume, with which to ride in Rotton Row. The rest she accomplishes by making an arrangement with a society paper. She becomes a society drawing-room entertainer, and after a series of sensational experiences, including a trip on the continent with a millionaire dyspeptic, with whom she is on terms of merely good comradeship, and whom she refuses to marry in one of her fitful moods—she finally marries a young man, who, with her help, gains a seat in Parliament. And here is where Mimosa wrecks—and where many other women have and will probably continue to wreck—those who have not the innate integrity of character to rise above it—upon the reef of the husband's neglect and indifference. The right man could have made of even a Mimosa, a good mother and a noble and devoted wife.

"I wish we could try all experiences, and that one condition did not preclude another," confesses this extraordinary woman. "If, for instance, one could be both a mother and an old maid, a saintly virgin and a cocotte, how interesting it would be to compare the different states, to balance one against the other, and decide which really afforded the purest extract of life and joy. I can well believe, as we are told, that the saint finds an ecstasy in renouncing carnal pleasures, and it may be greater than arises from carnal pleasures, since we are not all body, sense, earth, but compounded of flesh, fire, dew, spirit, emotion and imagination."

WITH THE AUTHORS.

Immediately before the serial publication of one of his books, M. Anatole France went on a long vacation. "I divided my manuscript," he says, "into separate parts for each day, and saw them arranged in pigeonholes in the newspaper office. Unfortunately the printer took them out in vertical instead of horizontal order." Which goes to show that the composing-room is no mean power to be reckoned with. M. France's disconnected gems, however, brought in as many letters of praise as usual, and only one or two protests, which is a little commentary on the watchful een of the public.

Maurice Farnman writes to Capt. A. M. Mellor, author of "The Airman:" "I have just read your work on the art of becoming an aviator, and cannot tell you how much it interested me. The readers will find a clear account of what it is necessary to do in order to begin to learn to fly, what not to do and the amusing side of the life of an amateur pupil of this sport."

George Matthew Adams, the author of "You Can," certainly did it himself, before he commenced to advise others. The son of a minister, he worked his way through high school and college by sweeping out a factory and a church, grooming horses, mowing lawns, taking care of furnaces, and any other work that offered. After being graduated, he ran an elevator while studying advertising. He procured a job with a big agency, worked out a new idea for classified advertising with a big newspaper, and presently saved enough to start his own newspaper syndicate, which is now flourishing. Mr. Adams is described as a "hustler with ideals." He himself states that the biggest thing he ever did was to become the father of twins.

The John Lane Company's discovery of the Canadian humorist, Stephen Leacock, who is enjoying such a triumphant career through the magazines and his own books in this country, has evidently led them to look again. The search has resulted in "The Drift of Pinions," a volume of selected verse by Marjorie L. C. Pickthall, a poet of promise and achievement.

She is not strictly a discovery, because Scribner's, Harper's, Century, Youth's Companion, Metropolitan, American and the Atlantic Monthly have made her known to America. The Boston Transcript in a column and a half review says: "To praise a thing so perfect, so absolute, so uniquely inspired, would be to intimate some doubt of one's readers' perception or taste."

Dr. Isador H. Coriat, the author of "Abnormal Psychology," is at present engaged upon a complete revision and enlargement of that work, which has now become the standard work on that subject. It is interesting to know that this book was the first ever published in the English language on the subject of the abnormal phases of hypnotism, hysteria, etc.

Madame Van Saanen Algi, the author of "Wild Grapes" (published by Moffat, Yard & Company,) has recently joined her husband, who was called, in the spring, by the Minister of War, to Roumania, in order to prepare for war in the Balkans. Madame Algi joined the army with other young Roumanian women in the capacity of a Red Cross nurse.

Kate Dickinson Sweetser, whose "Book of Indian Braves" has just been published, admits that she has three fads: Autographed books, of which she has a valuable collection; girls' club work, and, thirdly, her cat. He is large and black and lies most of the time on Miss Sweetser's desk when she writes, watching the pen with gleaming eyes. "Just a common kitchen cat," says his mistress, "but, oh! what temperament!"

Hamlin Garland, author of "Cavanagh, Forest Ranger," has himself just been spending a month among the forest rangers and Indian agencies of Montana, gathering material for a new book. The rebuilding of his home at West Salem, Wis., which was burned last year, is now completed. Mr. Garland will soon start on a trip to New York, and expects to spend a large portion of this winter in the East.

J. R. Shaver, whose "Little Shavers" have been collected from the pages of "Life," and put into a book, which the Century Company will publish, curiously enough never makes the acquaintance of the little people who furnish him his material, but spends many hours watching them on the streets of the East Side, and in the New York parks.

BOOK NOTES.

Interspersed with strains of pure literary worth, the poetry in "A Symphony and Other Pieces," John Lane Company, of Arthur Legge, shows flashes of sarcasm or scorn touched with literary quixotism. He rails against present day tendencies in the following words:

> We are admonished not to waste
> Regret on diamonds, when paste
> Is molded with so fine a taste."

And he disposes of the unjust critics of a deceased poet accusingly as squirting "ink to spread their darkness—literary cuttlefish."

Messrs. Henry Holt & Company's first three fall novels have found English as well as American publishers. "The Garden Without Walls" is issued in London by William Heineman; "The Dust of the Road" by Messrs. Chatto & Windus, and "Morning's War" by Methuen & Co.

The Century Company is issuing "Algebra, First Course," by Professor W. C. Brenke of the University of Nebraska, and Miss Edith Long of the Lincoln (Neb.) High School faculty. The work is volume one in a new series in correlated mathematics for secondary schools.

Messrs. Houghton Mifflin announce that they have in active preparation a "Guide Book to Japan" by T. Philip Terry, uniform in every respect with the same author's popular "Guide to Mexico." The volume contains twenty-seven maps and plans specially drawn for it, and the newest extant. It will consist of 850 pages, and is bound in flexible cloth, pocket size. This thoroughly up-to-date guide book will fill a long-felt want, as those in existence have not been revised according to changes which have taken place.

Houghton-Mifflin also announce a revised edition of Miss May Sinclair's "Three Brontes," originally published last year. A notable feature of the new edition will be a new introduction, in which Miss Sinclair deals very vigorously with the questions aroused by the recent publication in a London newspaper of the correspondence between Charlotte Bronte and M. Heger, with whom she was supposed to have been in love.

Kate Douglas Wiggin, Mary Johnston, and Meredith Nicholson are among the authors of the seven novels "which have never appeared serially," to be brought out this fall by Houghton-Mifflin Company.

Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett's "T. Tembaron," which is running serially in the Century Magazine, is to be published in book form by the Century Company, October 24.

Ruth McEnery Stuart's new fall book will be "Daddy Do-Funny," published by the Century Company. It is a book of real negro folk-lore told in the form of songs sung by an old plantation philosopher to the pickaninnies around him. J. H. Clements has made seventy illustrations for the book.

Harper & Brothers announce that they have in press for reprinting "In the Courts of Memory," the reminiscences of Mme. de Hegermann. They also announce six new books: "Partners," by Margaret Deland; "The Main Road," by Maud Radford Warren; "Finding His Soul," by Norman Duncan; "The Work of the Rural School," by J. D. Eggleston and Robert W. Bruere; "The Story of a Page," by John L. Heaton, and "Camping on Western Trails," by Elmer Russell Gregor.

The Richard G. Badger Company announces for mid-October "Vie De Boheme," by Orlo Williams; "A Layman's Apology," by Gilbert M. Tucker; "The Story of the Soil," by Cyril G. Hopkins; "Psychotherapeutics," revised edition; "Fireflies," by Alicia A. Van Buren.

"Popular Government, Its Essence, Its Permanence and Its Perils," which is representative of ex-President Taft in his two newest offices, containing, as it does, some of his most important addresses and discussions—is about to be published by the Yale University Press.

LITERARY CHIT-CHAT.

Solitude is a beautiful and desirable condition, every sane-minded author will concede. I never realized the value of it so much in my life as when I first arrived in New York and took up my abode in the home of a kind, chaperoning lady, who had a pair of youngsters a bit my juniors. I never could do any writing until everybody was in bed. And after working until 3 o'clock in the morning there was no sleeping late, for the kiddies were astir at 7 o'clock. I was therefore under the painful and scandalous necessity of "baching" it in a three-room apartment of my own. But too much solitude is bad, too. One must make frequent excursions forth among people who will prove a stimulus and incentive. An opportunity for such excursions is afforded by Edwin Markham to young poets and other litterateurs (or "literats," as the poet sometimes facetiously labels his fraternity,) as well as to artists upon other lines. In his many-windowed home on Staten Island, not far from the old-time place of George William Curtis, he is particularly glad to welcome visiting Californians, for his native West has never lost its hold upon him, and he sings of California, "My heart keeps going back to it through all the earthly ills." We used to gather from miles about, never minding two-hour car rides and the trudging through deep snow to meet each other at that jovial board, and to swap experiences and wit—those of us who possessed the latter. And one of the wittiest was the poet's wife, Catherine, a poet and once a school teacher in California. Her wit was delightful for two reasons: it was piquantly Irish, and unexpected.

Mr. Markham is now bringing to a close a work upon which he has been engaged for some years. This book, which he calls "New Light Upon Old Riddles," is a survey of the revelations of the great seers of the world, and discusses the problems of the here and the hereafter. It digs deep to find the real ground of religion, below the shifting sands of ages, rationalizing the views of the life to come, where each man finds his own place through the inexorable gravitations of character. So shall the poet's friends rejoice, for the completion of this work will mean that he will return to the big epic, begun years ago, some of the stirring cantos of which it has been the present writer's privilege to read in manuscript. In the Christmas Century Mr. Markham is to have a long narrative poem, as beautifully illustrated as was his famous "Juggler of Tourraine," which appeared in the same magazine. "The Shoes of Happiness," as it is named, is a story whose scene is laid in Turkey, and whose telling takes the reader through palace, mosque, bazaar and khan. The poem is in something of a new vein for Mr. Markham, as there are bursts of roistering humor to vary the more quiet, poetic passages.

This poet, by the way, famous for many years, waited until quite recently to write his first love poem, "Virgilia," which was followed shortly after by another, "The Homing Heart." Both were published in the Cosmopolitan Magazine and excited widespread comment. In intensity they seemed to hold the concentrated essence of ages. "Virgilia and Other Poems" is a volume promised for next year, which will take up the garnerings of ten years past. Mr. Markham's Christmas and Easter narratives alone would fill another fat volume. The late Richard Watson Gilder said of him that few were able to so effectively tell a story in verse.

Westerleigh Park seems to be a sort of storm center for poets and other authors. Edith Thomas lived there for some time; and Mrs. Florence Morse Kingsley has a most charming home in the borough. Miss Thomas has recently moved to New York City, where she is now one of the regular readers on Harper's magazine. All magazine devotees are acquainted with her keenly beautiful verse, and her admirers are eagerly awaiting a volume of her collected poems.

Florence Morse Kingsley—just returned from her summer camp at Lake Hopatkong—is a motherly-looking little person, the wife of a minister, whose cheer and aid she is in his parish work. Mrs. Kingsley is the author of one of the best new thought stories in print—"The Transfiguration of Miss Thelara." This story is being prepared for stage production at the present time by one of the big theatrical managers of Manhattan, and Mrs. Kingsley is hard at work on the play script. Mrs. Kingsley has written a shelf full of books.

Strange how gossip will float about, even in the world of letters. Sometimes it is true, sometimes it isn't. Here's a sample that isn't. It has been reported that John Lane, the London publisher, had been restrained from publishing a book by Lord Alfred Douglas, entitled "Oscar Wilde and Myself." The writ, it was announced, was obtained by Robert Ross, executor of Oscar Wilde's estate, because of certain revelations made in the text. The cable further states that no arrangements for such a book have been contemplated by John Lane at any time.

The "poetry shower" with which the children of Indiana honored the Hoosier poet on the 7th of this month, must have been a unique affair. Each child sent congratulations in verses of his own composition. The Indianapolis Star, in order to stimulate interest in the shower, offered prizes to the five children whose poems received the most favorable criticism at the hands of a committee of competent judges. The first gift was a full morocco de luxe set of the biographical edition of the complete works of James Whitcomb Riley, a new work now in process of publication. The second, third, fourth and fifth were the same edition, but in less elaborate bindings. This edition is the first published complete collection of Riley's compositions both in prose and in poetry. It contains more than 200 poems which have never apeared hitherto in any of his volumes. Furthermore, it includes a complete biographical sketch, told largely in the poet's own words. More than fifty illustrations are used.

John Stuart Thomson, author of "China Revolutionized"—Bobbs-Merrill Company—which is said to be the "book of the hour" in London, both in this volume and another upon which he is working lays down the details of an elaborate plan, in which he suggests the arrangement that Britain shall guard the Atlantic, so that the whole American fleet may be drawn to the patrol of the Pacific.

Albert P. Onetto, head waiter at a Providence hotel, has broken every record for finding pearls in oysters. When he opened what he thought to be a sandy oyster he found thirty-nine small white pearls and one black one. The total collection is valued at several hundred dollars.

buyers to a great distribution that commences Monday morning—

—The quality and character of Bullock's Rug Store is well known—as is also the attractive nature of Bullock's regular prices and the magnetic character of the special rug events that have been announced at intervals by this store, and that have proven such splendid successes—

—Now comes a striking happening—a sale in which we are able to put out (as stated in the headline) the strongest rug values that we have been able to announce in months—

—Body Brussels Rugs are to be the feature—at sensationally low prices—that will mean savings of almost 33⅓ per cent. And the reason for these values is a general stock adjustment —in which short lines, discontinued patterns and rugs which have been used as store samples are to be simply hurried away—

—It's to be an event of events—a chance to save that no one who needs new rugs should overlook.

Eight 9x12 foot Body Brussels Rugs at $18.95

—Almost 33 1-3 per cent underworth—A splendid weight—in 8 good patterns, most of them small figured effects in tan combinations. A remarkable offering at $18.95.

"Sorosis Shoes" for Women---that's the Reason

—Hundreds of women are coming to Bullock's to buy their shoes.

—The past week has seen Bullock's Shoe Store reach a new pre-eminence—Great, complete lines of SOROSIS SHOES for women have come to reinforce the fine varieties of quality shoes that have built up such a splendid business at Bullock's—

SOROSIS

REG. U.S. PAT. OFFICE

—Sorosis, the shoes that are building up to an ideal; the shoes worn and demanded by thousands of women the wide world over, the shoes that set the standard for style, quality and value. Notable for their beauty of design, perfection of leather and workmanship, and the variety of their styles. They have come to Bullock's because the women of Southern California demanded that they should come, and because they recognized the importance of having THE STORE WITH AN IDEAL as their Los Angeles home—

—Visit the Shoe Section on Monday, see the Sorosis shoes and the other superb winter styles in Footwear for women that are there in such extensive varieties now—

—At $5.00 are Sorosis boots of patent colt or black satin with plain toes.

—At $5.00 are splendid street boots of black, brown or gray suede, of patent colt or dull kid, with cravenette tops.

—Then there are the famous Sorosis RX Shoes, recommended by physicians and foot specialists—See them—Monday—Plan to buy the new shoes you need at Bullock's. First Floor.

At $4.00 are button boots of fine black kid, others of dull calf or patent colt—Some with low flat heels.

—At $3.50 are the well-known Sorosis Comfort Shoes of soft kid—lace or button styles.

Special

—With every purchase in the Shoe Section Monday, we shall give an Ideal New Folding Shoe Horn, Free—

—Very strong and serviceable—A necessity if you would keep low shoes shapely—Every one should use a shoe horn—

Buy Athena Underwear Monday at Bullock's

—First, the age of no underwear; then, the primitive underwear age; now the remarkable new Athena Underwear—

—These are great Athena Underwear days in the knit underwear section. For two years women of Los Angeles and Southern California have been testing Athena Underwear in comparison with all other makes of good underwear — They have proven the superiority of Athena Underwear beyond the possibility of a doubt—For women and children—Athena Knit Underwear sets a new standard of comfort and service and value.

—The Athena Patent fitted seat, the most remarkable advancement in underwear designing, gives fullness where most needed, prevents binding or gaping of seat.

—The Athena Three-Cornered Gusset relieves strain at the thigh, giving greater comfort and longer wear. A feature that women compliment greatly.

—The Athena Garment is correctly tailored in every part from shaped shoulders to tapered ankles. Fits a woman perfectly. Unlike other underwears.

—The Athena Elastic Cuff prevents the sleeve, whether long, short or elbow length—from stretching down or creeping up the arm. An important feature.

—THE ATHENA LOW NECK GARMENT is narrowed to fit the back, with extra fullness for the bust; THE ATHENA METHOD OF SIZING perfects garments THAT FIT PERFECTLY the figures they are intended to fit.

—that have just come from Paris—Women who have seen them, cannot find words to express their enthusiasm over them—Brilliant in design and color—they are being bought rapidly at 85c yard.

—There are other Dress Woolens—so many of them that our advertisement cannot attempt to tell the story—Make a shopping note to look them over, Monday—First Floor.

—Brisk buying has already begun.

—There is every reason why you should commence your Christmas shopping now—Fourth Floor.

Bullock's Basement Store

A Splendid Surprise—New Suits Priced $14.75

8.8x12 foot Rugs $9.95

—And, mark you, they are neither mismatched patterns nor otherwise imperfect.

—Instead they are perfect one-piece Tapestry Brussels rugs with all-wool face, and in neat designs.

—Eight feet, eight inches by twelve feet, $9.95.

—Seven feet, six inches by nine feet, $7.95.

—Five feet, nine inches by nine feet, $6.95.

9x12 foot Velvet Rugs $18.50

—Heavy, close-pile velvets, guaranteed all-wool face—American standard velvet, not the crude imitations in jute-faced rugs that will neither wear well nor hold their colors.

—These velvet rugs are in neat all-over patterns and in dependable colorings.

—Nine by twelve feet, $18.50.

—Eight feet, three inches by ten feet, six, $17.50.

Carpet Samples for Rugs

—Sample lengths of carpets and corners of big rugs that have been carried by traveling men are priced absurdly low, giving you a chance to make them into rugs at very low cost.

—27x27-inch Tapestry Brussels, 39c each.

—27x54-inch Tapestry Brussels, 98c each.

—22x54-inch Axminsters at $1.25 each.

—27x54-inch Velvet weaves at $1.29.

—27x72-inch Axminsters at $1.98.

Women's Underwear

—At 50c—Fleeced cotton union suits in high neck, long sleeve model.

—At 98c—"Augusta" union suits of fine ribbed bleached cotton—perfect fitting, well tailored garments in high neck, long sleeve, ankle length style. Sizes 34, 36, 38. Remarkable values at 98c a suit.

—At $1.25—Silk and wool union suits—"seconds" of the "Forest Mills" goods, but the imperfections are scarcely noticeable. Sizes 5 and 6. Rare values at $1.25 each.

Undermuslins* 49c

—Corset covers and gowns of soft finished muslin, finished in embroidery and lace, and ribbon runners—undermuslins that will surprise women who think daintiness must necessarily be costly.

Princess Slips* 49c

—Made of double faced outing and neatly finished with embroidery edging, and deep ruffle at bottom—warm, durable, well shaped garments at 49c.

—Sizes 4 to 14.

Boys' Hats* 39c

—New felt hats in convertible shapes with stitched brims—comfortable, stylish, serviceable hats for small boys, 39c.

Out-Size Petticoats* $1

—Serviceable, well made skirts of sateen and percaline, flounced in two different styles.

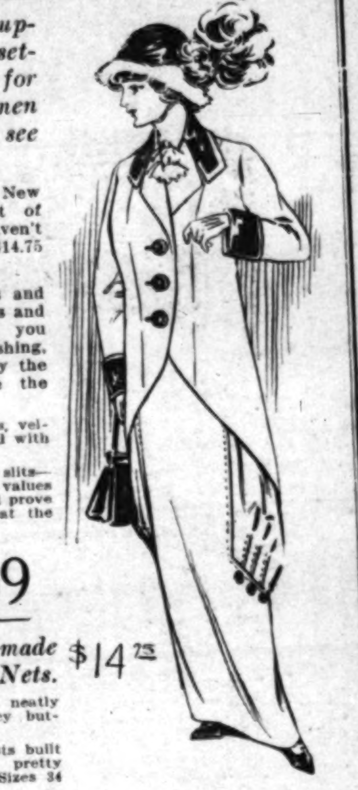
—The Basement Store is upsetting precedent again—setting another new standard for style and value. Women should certainly throng to see these new suits at $14.75.

—Just in from our buyer in New York. They express the latest of Fashion ideas in a way you haven't been led to expect of Suits at $14.75 or near it.

—Of notably good serges, cords and ratines—in gray, navy, new blues and black—Just think of it! But you should see the tailoring and finishing, the linings, and the perfect way the suits fit, to really appreciate the strength of the values.

—Cutaway fronts, long back effects, velvet cuffs and collars, some trimmed with horn or velvet buttons.

—The skirts plain, or draped with slits—Sizes 36 to 46. Values that are values—so important that Monday should prove one of the greatest suit days that the Basement has known—$14.75.

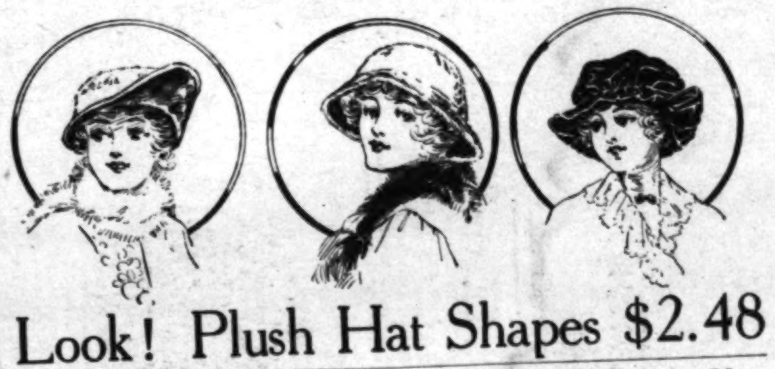


Waists $2.69

—Correct as to style, made of excellent Silks and Nets.

—Striped and fancy silks, neatly trimmed with lace and fancy buttons.

—White and cream lace waists built over net foundations—very pretty models in the latest style. Sizes 34 to 44, $2.69.



Look! Plush Hat Shapes $2.48

—Now for another Millinery stir in the Basemnet Store on Monday—

—Few women who will not recognize the remarkable nature of these values—Plush hat shapes, of any quality, would be more than attractive at $2.48. These Plush hat shapes are of a quality that should cause extraordinary selling.

—Just 11 dozen of them—in silk, zibeline plush. Wanted colors and black.

—12 different styles (note the pictures of 3).

—At the merest fraction of worth—Monday, while they last, at $2.48.

New Styles in Buckram Frames at 39c Each

—New Tam velvet shapes in several styles — (silk, velvet, mind you!)—Black, Navy and Brown, $1.98.

—Plain Tams in 4 styles—Black and colors, at $2.98.

—Ready-to-wear Felt Hats—Black and colors, 98c.

Shepherd Checks* 19c

—Not the printed checks—they're woven in—yarn dyed. In buying these 36-inch checks at 19c you are making a noteworthy saving.

Plisse Crepe* 10c

—Soft, dainty plisse crepe at 10c a yard, solely because it is in 3 to 10-yard lengths. But so long as you can get the required amount of the chosen pattern by taking two or more pieces, why not save half the usual cost?

10 Yds. Longcloth $1

—And it is a nice chamois finished fabric, too—a grade universally sold at a much higher price.

Crinkle Crepe* 12½c

—Seersucker stripes in blue and white, pink and white, tan and white at 12½c a yard. Close to 1000 yards in this lot, but even that amount should go out before Monday noon, at THAT price.

Galateas* 15c *yd.

—28-inch galateas of good sturdy texture, in a splendid variety of patterns and colorings, 15c a yard.

Fine Nainsooks* 18c

—Fine, indeed—count over 100 threads to the inch—and they are in 36 to 45-inch widths. "Seconds" from the high-priced nainsooks, yet the imperfections are hardly worth noticing.

Silk Foulards, Messalines 29c

—Heading the list of many remarkable offerings in the Basement Store Silk Section is

A 500-yard lot of all-silk foulards and striped messalines of the grade commonly sold at practically three times that price.

—40-inch All-silk Crepes at 89c—Another underprice offering. Soft, rich chiffon crepes in light blue, mais, royal and navy blues, gray, helio and coral shades.

—35-inch All-silk Messaline, 95c—A messaline of unusual luster and splendid texture in over a dozen of the most wanted shades.

—40-inch All-Silk Charmeuse, 95c—A truly wonderful fabric for so little money—it has the body to insure good service. Just 3 colors—King's blue, emerald green and American Beauty shades.

24-inch Printed Satins, 39c—Handsome brocaded designs for evening dresses, and for coat linings, and for dainty slips. Artistic patterns in Copenhagen, pink, mais, old rose, Nile green, heliotrope, white and cream.

36-inch Coin Spot Charmeuse, 85c—Every thread silk—a soft, pliable fabric in nearly a dozen of this season's choicest colorings.

36-inch Poplins, 95c—One of the most demanded silks of the season, in nearly 20 different shades.

23-inch Brocade Charmeuse, 49c—and every thread silk, mark that. But the quantity is limited. Navy, brown, taupe, reseda.

Underpriced Footwear, $1.49

—Underpriced, yes—DECISIVELY underpriced.

—Many worth double.

—Not merely a little lot of odds and ends—there are at least a thousand pairs, including buttoned boots in patent colt, dull calf, tan calf, suedes and fabrics; pumps of patent colt, and dull leathers, gray suede, champagne kid, brown satin; slippers of black, white, blue and pink satin.

—In some cases a good range of sizes, in others, broken lines grouped together and priced at about half their average worth—$1.49 a pair.

—Surely this offering will serve to acquaint many economical women with the advantages of buying in Bullock's Basement Store Shoe Section.

SPECIAL NOTICES—

TO HAVE GRAY HAIR NOW AT THIS AGE OF scientific advancement is not a sign that we give in to the inevitable; it is simply a sign of personal neglect. I am using the latest electrical apparatus in restoring gray or faded hair to natural color, a process which produces only a pleasant, mild stimulation, felt and enjoyed all over the body, although the highest electrical frequency is used. For producing a clear, youthful skin, free from wrinkles and blemishes, the original Sanford Bennett Electric Face Mask is by far the best thing in the market. Quick, effective and safe. G. C. PROF. C. IRVIN ALTHOUSE, NOTED ASTROLOGER AND PALMIST OF NATIONAL FAME AND REPUTATION.

STUDIO PARLORS, 539½ S. BROADWAY.
A RESIDENT OF LOS ANGELES 30 YEARS.

PROF. ALTHOUSE is an experienced practitioner in the science of modern ASTROLOGY, by which he has made many REMARKABLE PREDICTIONS. The horoscope shows the powerful influence of the planets in ALL AFFAIRS OF LIFE. It shows diseases, deaths, love and marriage, financial affairs, investments, changes, talents, environments, about children, relatives; when and where to travel, what to seek or avoid; when in danger of losses, troubles, etc., etc.; also your good periods coming—GIVING DATES of these events for the FUTURE.

PROF. ALTHOUSE read E. H. Sothern, Nat Goodwin, Schumann-Heink, Gadski, Admiral Schley, David Starr Jordan, ex-Gov. Pardee, ex-Senator Clark, Senator Smoot, Baron Rothschild, Gen. Chaffee, Edison, Sousa, Modjeska, Sembrich, Julia Marlowe, Anna Held, Jefferson, Capt. Hobson, Lillian Russell, Calve, Admiral Evans, H. E. Huntington, De Wolf Hopper, Maxine Elliott, Ethel Barrymore, etc.

PROF. ALTHOUSE'S SKILLED work must not be classed with other readers. Do not waste money on the idiotic advice of HUMBUG astrologers, palmists, psychists—those doing dishonest work.

PROF. ALTHOUSE also gives expert PALM READINGS with each astrological reading.

DR. J. A. LARSON writes: "I want to say that your reading was the most satisfactory I have ever had in my life. I know a great deal about these sciences, and I consider your work as the most THOROUGH and RELIABLE of any reader in the United States." Readings given by mail, also.

PROF. ALTHOUSE'S wonderful proficiency in the casting of HOROSCOPES and in HAND reading has brought him a LARGE and SUCCESSFUL PRACTICE. The most private confidences are reposed in him, and his advice is sought in the most difficult and critical circumstances. Personal attention given. STRICT PRIVACY. HIGHEST GRADE OF WORK that skill and many years of experience can produce. HIGH-CLASS PATRONAGE solicited.

Daily and evenings; Sunday, 10 to 3.
STUDIO PARLORS, 539½ S. BROADWAY.

PERSONAL—

MRS. MASSON,
the noted palmist of London, England, may be consulted at 322 S. SPRING ST. by those desiring CAREFUL, CONSCIENTIOUS AND SCIENTIFIC HAND READINGS FROM ONE OF THE FOREMOST PALMISTS OF THE DAY.

The earnest student and thinker will soon learn in his investigations along psychological lines that that which pertains to occult phenomena proper can readily be distinguished from crude and oft-exposed SLEIGHT-OF-HAND TRICKS, the most common of which is the telling of the subject's name, age, etc., AFTER HE HIMSELF HAS WRITTEN THAT information.

PALMISTRY, HONESTLY PRACTICED WILL NOT tell you your name, but it WILL give you information of considerably greater value in every-day life.

Your vocation, your present line of work, matters of health and domestic life, financial conditions and ways and means of climbing out of a rut of ill luck into wide paths of success and prosperity, can all be told you through scientific palmistry WITHOUT A SINGLE QUESTION, WRITTEN OR VERBAL.

MRS. MASSON DOES NOT APPEAL TO IGNORANT SUPERSTITION, BUT TO THE FINEST INTELLIGENCE.

HIGH-CLASS PATRONAGE SOLICITED.

PERSONAL—
NEAL DRINK HABIT TREATMENT.

The Los Angeles Neal Institute has been established at 945 South Olive street for years. More than one thousand drinking men and women have been restored to sobriety and usefulness. The Neal Drink Habit Treatment will remove the craving for drink in three days. It is safe and sure—it never fails. Hypodermic injections are never used. Home treatment can be arranged for if desired. Do not waste time and money taking "Secret Cures" and cheap "sobering up" treatments, but go to a reliable institution where satisfactory results are always assured. For information call, or write or phone G. U. NEAL, Manager—brother of Dr. Neal the originator of the Neal Treatment—whose direct supervision always assures patients a "square deal." Phones: Broadway 4002, A4072. Will send automobile for patients day or night.

SCIENTIFIC LECTURE. THE SOUL, ITS ORGAN and development. J. W. Corey, M.D. The Soul is no longer a mystery; its organ has been discovered and can be developed with mathematical exactness. Interesting and attractive. Do you know anything about the Soul? If not, you can know if you desire to know. The Soul is as superior to the Mind, as the Sun is to the Moon. The Soul soars, the Mind grovels.

The human mind is imprisoned in the magic circle of its own ideas without power to go beyond its limits; its boundary reached, it knows not whither to go. The insatiable thirst for some immediate knowledge of things beyond the powers of the mind, is almost universal, and must be answered in no uncertain terms. Science has formulated an answer. Sunday, Oct. 19, 3 p.m. Music hall, 232 South Hill st. Silver offering. Soul Text Books, Cloth, $1; paper, 75c; valuable literature free.

JOHN A. MORRIS, ESOTERIC SCIENCE TEACHER, will lecture at 8 p.m. Friday, October 24, 521 W. Pico st., on "MY PHILOSOPHY OF LIFE." TO LET—
FIRST-CLASS BUSINESS LOCATION.

To Let—"The Junction Store," 1049 So. Main st., opposite the junction of Broadway and Main, and below the junction of Main and Spring, with the traffic of all three streets. More people pass this store than in locations farther north, where rents are five to ten times as high.

The store is 125 feet deep, with 15-foot yard and alley. The front 80 feet is 20 feet wide, and the rear 45 feet is 35 feet wide. The high ceiling and wide portion are ideal for a mezzanine floor, without making the establishment look small or overcrowded.

It is one of the best-lighted and best-ventilated storerooms in the city. Brand new and clean.

The rent is low.

FOR SALE—

Jubilee Incubators have placed more poultrymen on the road to making money out of poultry than any other machine made. Ask any successful poultryman and convince yourself without waiting until you have made a failure with some other make.

Poultry Breeders' UTILITY EGG MASH is the proper feed to develop pullets and moulting hens. It is composed of egg-making materials and insures healthy fowls and eggs. $2.10 per 90-pound sack, $1.95 per sack in 5-sack lots.

P. B. S. H. Scratch Food contains a variety of grain, seed, sunflower seed and beef scraps in their proper proportions, making a feed necessary to obtain best results from poultry.

A tablespoonful of Dr. Hess Poultry Pan-a-ce-a fed in the mash for twenty hens once a day will keep them healthy, shorten the moult and produce eggs. Ask for free sample.

MINING—

AN ATTRACTIVE GOLD MINING PROPOSITION. Property for sale or lease at a very low price. Located on the railroad and near a smelter. Well developed and equipped with mining machinery. Good buildings, gasoline hoist, cars, etc. Active Operations can be commenced at once. A responsible miner can get a long lease on small royalty basis, and can make the output pay for the mine. Ore values run from $20 to over $100 per ton. 1000 feet of development work done. A golden opportunity for the right party with some capital to properly work a mine. Have good description and can show the property at once. Call for report and see samples. I have been on this property and know it is all right. HARWOOD ROBBINS, 218 I. W. Hellman Bldg., Los Angeles, Cal.

OKELL CORE DRILLS DO THE WORK PROPERLY and economically, and test your ore bodies and save you money, both in time and expense. If you really want to know the truth about that property and what it contains, get one of the machines and extract a core that is five inches in diameter, and you need not guess one minute. Write us for particulars.

NOTICE.

In dealing with us you are dealing with the original inventors of these machines, which we have highly improved in the last few years.

The All Blacks.

PERSONAL MAKEUP OF NE ZEALAND RUGBY TE

The Men that Are Setting the Western Footbal on Fire Are Athletes in Every Sense of the W Have Strength, Speed and Wonderful Skill—L Perfect in Rugby.

BY OWEN R. BIRD.

SINCE the New Zealand All Blacks have been riding rough shod over our devoted aggregations of American Rugby players, a thousand and one questions have been asked as to how they do it. It has been shown before, that their style of play is finished, fast and wonderfully efficient, that the forwards are as good—in all departments of the game—as the usual run of star backs. The backs, themselves, use all the known tricks and many more that are not known, in advancing the ball. The play is open and terribly telling against the American teams—which seem to be helpless before the dazzling attack of the invaders, but it would be well to put down a few facts concerning the warriors that make up this wonderful organization, that has been sweeping all before it this season.

ALL ARE SPRINTERS.

Before going into individual detail, I would like to say that as a whole, the men are big, strong, full of fight and nearly everyone is a sprinter of no mean ability. This last statement has been proven several times already. On one occasion Best, former Santa Clara star and now with the Olympic club and who is a ten-second man every time he starts, got away once with a fifteen-yard lead, but was caught, before he had traveled thirty-five yards, by Dick Roberts and pulled down like a grammar school boy running away with a stolen pie.

Some of the Stanford men broke away in the games played this week on the Cardinal sward, only to be nailed as if they were standing still, by the speedy men from over the sea.

I have heard many times, both from the Waratahs and the All Blacks that the American player tackles more fiercely and roughly than any other type of player, but I also notice that the All Blacks are able to serve out the same brand of stuff when the occasion demands it. In fact, in the first game with the University of California, the Bears started to rough it a bit and came out at the little end of the horn after a few minutes of work. So I am led to believe that they are not so gentle after all, in the fair land at the other end of the Pacific Ocean.

THE WARRIORS THEMSELVES.

Now for the men that make this great combination possible. Alec McDonald, captain, is the only member of the original All Blacks—that became world famous in 1906—now on the team. He is 31 years of age, but plays a great game at wing forward. In fact, none of the teams pitted against him so far, have been able to get their back fields to working, owing to the fact that Alec smothers any and all plays that are started on the other side of the opponent's scrum. He, like all the rest, is remarkably fast and a sure passer.

Vice-Captain Mitchinson, generally plays at wing three-quarters, although he works equally well at center three. In fact, he is capable of playing any backfield position on the team and plays it brilliantly. He is very aggressive and is full of trick stuff, that makes it very difficult to anticipate his play.

H. M. Taylor, the scrum half, is the ideal half-back. He is very cool, when in action, passes accurately, uses rare judgment and seems to have almost uncanny ability to pick the weak spots in his opponent's defense, as seven out of ten plays—started by him—are successful. On the defense he is a tower of strength and his great speed makes him a very dangerous man, when running with the ball.

REVOLUTIONS INJURE LOS ANGELES BUSI

SAN PEDRO, Oct. 18.—Few realize the fact that the revolutions that have been raging in Mexico for the last thirty-five months have injured business in Los Angeles and her port.

The increase of the prosperity of the city and the shipping along her water front have been so great that the amount of business lost from Mexico has not been noticed except by a few. The Southern California Lumber Company had a contract to supply the Cananea Consolidated Copper Company with 1,000,000 feet of mining timber per month for twelve months, but due to the disturbed conditions of the State of Sonora, Mexico, where the mines are located, the contract was cancelled. It is probable that other local lumber companies were selling in Sonora and Sinaloa another 1,000,000 feet per month. Today nothing is being sold from here, although a little Wets and Drys of Anaheim Charge Everybody Concerned Except Themselves With Fraud—News Briefs.

SANTA ANA Oct. 18.—The "drys" of Anaheim today brought a civil action to annul the registration of about forty-five men and women whom the "drys" believe are lined up with the "wets" and whose registration the drys believe are illegal.

Five or six "drys" are also named as defendants with the expectation that their registrations, which are considered doubtful, will be declared illegal by the courts.

The "drys" declare that the "wets" have registered every possible voter, and that among the 700 new names added by the "wet" registration clerks are many who lack the residence qualifications of voters and a good many who cannot read the Constitution. The "drys" assert that they have evidence sufficient to purge the rolls of the names of several dozen "wets." The election is November 6.

FACT AND COMMENT.

The game of holding up the city, the county, the State, and the Federal government for real estate that happens to be in demand for public uses is an old one. No one blames anyone else much for getting all the traffic will stand for land thus sought, unless, of course, it be the man whose interests will be particularly favored by the contemplated public improvement. The average property owner holds that when governmental authority goes so far as to condemn land, and hence to force a sale, it oughtn't to object to paying a price that is more or less fancy. Probably the fact that there is the element of compulsion in the transaction accounts in a large measure for this attitude. Greed, quiescent under ordinary, every-day circumstances, is bound to manifest itself in various degrees of intensity, too, when the obvious opportunity for exploitation arrives; and it can't be denied that there is a little of this often deplored characteristic in the best of us. The average human is pretty apt to look out for No. 1. The civic dreamer and the professional altruist may not like it, but when it gets right down to cases we're pretty much all alike, the dreamers, the altruists, and all the rest of us.

The above is apropos of public improvements in general. It is submitted as a candid statement of fact and in order that there may be no misunderstanding of the tenor of certain comments to follow.

FACT AND COMMENT.

The game of holding up the city, county, the State, and the Federal Government for real estate that happens to be in demand for public uses is an old one. No one blames anybody much for getting all the traffic will stand for land thus sought, unless, of course, it be the man whose lands will be particularly favored by the contemplated public improvement. The average property owner holds that when governmental authority goes so far as to condemn land, and hence to force a sale, it is right to object to paying a price more or less fancy. Probably the fact that there is the element of [illegible] in the transaction accounts in large measure for this attitude. Greed, quiescent under ordinary every-day circumstances, is apt to manifest itself in various degrees of intensity, too, when the golden opportunity for exploitation offers, and it can't be denied that there is a little of this often deplored characteristic in the best of us. The average human is pretty apt to look out for No. 1. The civic dreamer and the professional altruist may not be, but when it gets right down to cases we're pretty much all alike, the dreamers, the altruists, and all the rest of us.

The above is apropos of public improvements in general. It is submitted as a candid statement of fact and in order that there may be no misunderstanding of the tenor of certain comments to follow.

The Fact and Comment man has maintained that the proposed Silver Lake Parkway for Northwest Los Angeles was one of the public improvements that Los Angeles absolutely could not afford to lose by any kind of default. It has been pointed out time and again in these columns that this great addition to the park and boulevard system meant more than merely a new park, much as that park might be needed. The writer has endeavored to show, what must be patent to every thinking individual, that the creation of the Silver Lake Parkway means the conversion to useful purposes of waste lands and the wiping out of a city eyesore. There is nothing new about all this. What is now to be considered is the fact that certain owners of the frog ponds and useless slough lands required in the park board's scheme for the parkway are endangering the success of the entire project by an exhibition of greed that is as ill-considered as it is preposterous. There is such a thing as overdoing the ancient game referred to at the beginning of these comments.

Alarming the Goose.

In their astonishing rapacity a few of the owners of the northwest swamp lands are overlooking facts which sensible calculation would long ago have revealed to them. The parkway assessment district, which is expected to take the role of the goose that lays the golden egg, may (if these hold-up efforts are not modified,) refuse to perform this time-honored function. That would be misfortune enough for the city at large, but it would be a never-to-be-forgotten catastrophe for the fellows who own the mosquito bogs. The city has, in the best of faith and with the entire approval of those who are to pay for the lands condemned, offered for the useless holdings desired figures considerably in excess of those that their owners would dream of expecting from any private source. Both the city officials and the people comprising the assessment district are tacitly reconciled to being gouged to a certain extent. It doesn't follow, however, that by the same token the city is going to submit to being sand-bagged. One thing is sure and that is that there are going to be some sunken cat-tail gardens for sale at slaughtered prices if this Silver Lake project ever does fall through.

The pathetic predicament in which one of the Bimini slough land holders would find himself in case the parkway proceedings were to go awry appeals particularly to the Fact and Comment man. This owner unblushingly swore that his undrained land, forty feet below the level of the nearest street and all but hopeless for either residential or income purposes, was worth $50 a foot. Even the city appraisers, hardened to such things, as they necessarily are, found it difficult to maintain their equilibrium. Fifty dollars a front foot will buy high, sightly frontage, with gas, water, electric light and sewer connections all in and ready, in many parts of the western Wilshire district. It will purchase lots from 150 to 175 feet in depth in sections built up with two-story houses costing from $5000 up to $20,000 and over. Some of the rarest bargains in apartment-house and flat sites are to be had at the same figure.

The joke—and it will be a grim kind of a joke—will be on the owner of this $50-a-foot waste land, if he and others of his blundering kind do succeed in killing the parkway enterprise, for the city has actually offered him in the neighborhood of $20 a foot for his property. The writer ventures the belief that if anyone prior to the EUROPEAN NOBLEWOMAN PLANS SUPERB VILLA.

Baroness Von Zinnerman, Winter Resident of Los Angeles for Many Years, to Build Palatial Home in Oak Knoll Section—House and Grounds to Be Like Great Baronial Estate.

ALTHOUGH she has a castle on the Rhine, a palace on the Riviera, and a mansion on the Hudson, Baroness Rosa von Zimmerman, member of the Germany aristocracy, world traveler and winter resident of Los Angeles during many of the dozen or more years that have elapsed since she fell in love with America and its people, never until this year definitely picked out that particular spot of earth upon which she should establish her permanent home. With all the fair lands under the blue canopy of the sky to choose from, she selected Southern California.

The Baroness, who is at present in New York City, has entrusted to Frederick Heinlein, a leading architect of this city, the task of designing and building for her the superb villa in which she expects to spend the rest of her days. This splendid structure, planned in the style of the Italian Renaissance and second in size and magnificence to no other residence in the Southland, will crown a sightly elevation in the center of a thirteen-acre tract in the beautiful Oak Knoll section. It will be near the palace of H. E. Huntington at Shorb. Its site will adjoin that of the Hotel Huntington on the east.

Plans for the palatial dwelling are nearing completion and construction bids will be secured within the next few weeks. The grounds are now being put in shape for the landscaping work. The place is to be ready for occupancy early next year.

The residence of the German noblewoman will be a truly baronial estate. The architect has been called upon to plan an establishment that will be unique among the great residence places of this section. The Baroness is a lover of animals and it is her hobby to have them on her estates. On the $100,000 Oak Knoll site she will have erected in addition to the house itself, stables for horses and cows, kennels for her dogs, coops and runs for fowls, and a gigantic aviary. The buildings will be of attractive appearance and scientific construction and will house the elite of the domestic animal world.

THIRTY ROOMS IN ALL.

The villa will look to the south and will command a magnificent panoramic view of the entire San Gabriel Valley. From the rear several ranges of mountains will be visible.

The residence will have a frontage of 204 feet and an average depth of forty-nine feet. The greater part of the building will have a height of three stories. The basement will occupy nearly the entire ground area and will be constructed of reinforced concrete to the first floor level.

The walls of the first, second and third stories will be faced with white pressed brick, the trim being of light blue brick and stone. All the roofs will be of terra cotta clay tile. The wide porches extending across the front and sides will have stone columns, balustrades and rails, and will be floored with tile. The main entrance, with its steps, will be of marble.

The basement of the villa will be devoted to a variety of uses and will contain a ballroom, a large billard-room, retiring-rooms, a laundry and ironing-room, wine and vegetable cellars, a heating-room, and toilet and bath facilities for the servants.

One approaching the house by way of the front terraces will enter a reception hall 32x36 feet in size, with a grand staircase leading to the second floor and a secondary stairway descending to the billiard and ballrooms. At the rear of the hall will be a conservatory, the main feature of which will be a bronze fountain. On the first landing of the staircase will be placed a pipe organ.

MARBLE LOGGIA.

To the left of the reception hall will be a music-room, 19x31 feet in size, a library and a studio, each of the latter rooms being 18x23 feet in size. To the right of the hall will be the dining-room, 25x31 feet in size, and a parlor of the same dimensions, both opening onto rear terraces. Adjoining will be a breakfast-room. On the same floor will be the kitchen and pantries, a built-in refrigerator, storerooms and the servants' dining-room.

The second floor will contain four suites of rooms, each containing a bedroom, dressing-room and bath, together with three guest rooms with baths, maids' rooms, a sewing-room and sleeping porches. In the center of this story will be a large marble-walled loggia opening onto a balcony. The third story will be given over to servants' rooms, a large sitting-room and storerooms.

All the rooms of the first and second floors will be richly finished in hardwoods and the floors throughout will be of the parquetry type. The main rooms will be paneled and will have ornamental ceiling cornices. The plans call for marble and tile mantels in the parlor, dining-room, library and principal bedrooms. The windows throughout will be of the casement type and will be glazed with plate and art glass.

The house will be as completely appointed as a metropolitan hotel. It will be heated by steam or hot water and will have a ventilating system and vacuum cleaning plant. Electric switches controlled from each floor will make possible the instant illumination of the entire residence. An automatic fire and burglar alarm system will be installed.

The garage will be in architectural keeping with the house. The stables and other outbuildings will have plastered exterior walls and tile roofs.

The grounds will be elaborately terraced under the direction of the architect, the walks and drives following the contour of the site. The gardens will be laid out after a formal plan and will be as extensive as any in Southern California.

Heinlein was also the architect of the handsome residence erected by the Baroness von Zimmerman about eight years ago in St. James Park. This place is now the home of W. H. Perry.

PLANS COLONIAL BLOCK.

Southern Investor in Northwest Suburb to Erect Imposing Business Building on Hollywood Boulevard.

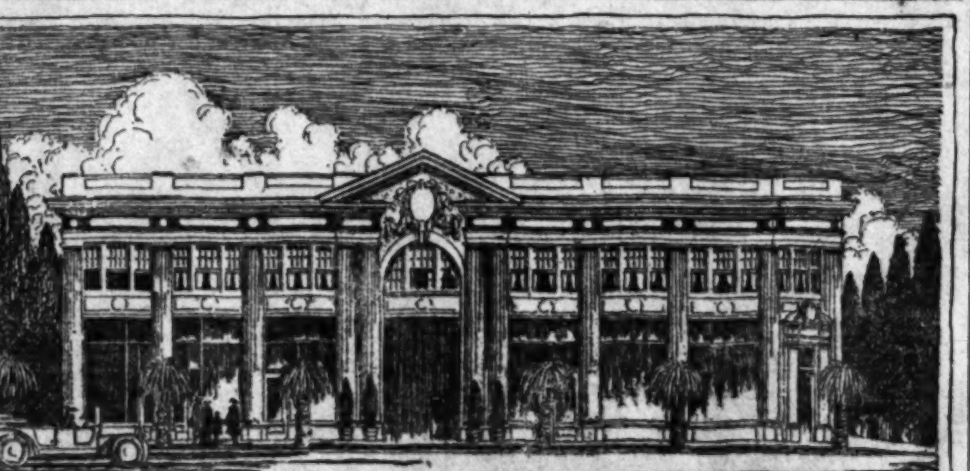
Plans for a handsome two-story brick structure to house a bank, stores, a picture theater and offices and to be erected at the southeast corner of Hollywood boulevard and St. Andrew's place, are being prepared by Architects Oliver P. Dennis and Henry Harwood Hewitt. The builder is L. D. Hines, formerly a leading business man and capitalist of Memphis, Tenn., and whose recent extensive purchases of frontage in Hollywood have constituted the real estate sensation of the year in the northwest suburb.

The building projected by the former Tennesseean will be of classic design, suggesting as nearly as is consistent in a commercial structure, the colonial architecture of the South. It will have a frontage of 103 feet on Hollywood boulevard and a depth of ninety feet. The portion to be devoted to banking purposes will be at the west end, the entrance being directly at the corner. The picture theater will be in the center of the structure and in its lobby will be the stairs leading to the second floor. The main entrance will be strikingly beautiful, with its fluted columns and colonial pediment. The front of the structure will be faced with white glazed brick.

The site of the building is a portion of a plot fronting 300 feet on Hollywood boulevard, by 190 feet on St. Andrew's, and which was purchased a short time ago by Hines from Nelson A. Dunning, the latter being represented in the deal by D. D. Ellis, with the Monarch Investment Company. The property is one of the sightliest holdings on the boulevard and is surrounded by a four-foot parking set with palms. These trees will be left intact, according to Hines, even after the district shall have become the important business center which he predicts it will soon be.

BUSINESS LEASES.

E. W. Cason & Company report the following business leases: storeroom, southeast corner Sixth and Figueroa, to Peters & Arnold Chocolate Shop, $125 per month for a term of years, total rental, $7500; storeroom at No. 324 West Seventh street to the Bezzo Cloak Company, for a term of years, $5000; store in Rosslyn Hotel to E. C. Eberle, for a term of years, $18,000; and space in the Angelus Hotel to E. C. Eberle, $7200.



Fine improvement projected by L. D. Hines for Hollywood corner.

OUR idea of a home is one both PRACTICAL and ARTISTIC. By careful thought we manage to instill certain INDIVIDUALITY into each home.

It quite frequently happens that the PROSPECTIVE BUILDER'S IDEAS and PURSE do not correspond. In such cases our PRACTICAL knowledge comes to the rescue, and often where others have hopelessly FAILED, WE SUCCEED.

We build homes from the modern five-room cottage, at $900, to the most elaborate dwelling. It rests with the INDIVIDUAL, entirely, what his home will cost. By concentrating our PURCHASING POWER, combined with our PRACTICAL knowledge, and being in a position to DISCOUNT our BILLS, we can, for a given quality of work, discount our competitors' prices.

We build either by contracts on a fixed fee of 10 per cent. of estimated cost of work, or on our own lots in Los Angeles, Redondo and San Pedro, on easy terms.

We make no additional charge for our Architectural services, if we build, or if we fail to satisfy you both as to price and design.

Our REFERENCES are PEOPLE for whom we HAVE BUILT, who FREELY indorse us.

We make liberal building loans.

Six Beautiful Bungalows

PRETTIEST LITTLE SUBDIVISION IN LOS ANGELES

Manzanita Tract

Take any car out of Hill-street station, 12 minutes' ride to De Frees street, toward Hollywood; 5-cent fare; car every three minutes—the big red kind.

Handy to the new Normal School. Time to buy is now. Every one of these homes has an individuality of its own.

The only close-in subdivision of this class in Los Angeles, in the foothill country toward Hollywood.

Mr. Dudley is custodian; lives there. Mr. Packard, if telephoned at this office, will call for you with automobile at any time.

You are under no obligation. We want you to tell your friends about these Bungalows.

Easy terms if you want to buy. Pay like you would rent. You save the landlord's profit.

FOR SALE—

FORCED SALE. IDEAL HOME.
6-Room Bungalow to Be Sold.

We have one of the most beautiful 6-room bungalows in the city. It has hardwood floors in every room, closets and even rear porch. It has a big cement front porch. Every room has most beautiful decorations, the electric light fixtures costing us over $160. The plumbing was selected as if for a $10,000 home.

But we need money and we need it awfully bad, and we are going to get it this week, because we are going to put this house down to a price where it will sell.

An even $4000 will buy it.

It is located in one of the high-class residence districts, close to West Adams st.

There is no commission in this for other agents, so please don't bother us unless you are a direct buyer.

The house was built by day labor and the plans were thoroughly worked out; it is a most beautiful home and an absolute sacrifice.

Reasonable cash payment will take the house. Anywhere from $300 to $500, and the balance just like rent.

For further information call up either MRS. ELLIOTT or MRS. MARTIN, West 1158; evenings, Boyle 404 or F1367.

FOR SALE—

WILSHIRE HOME
AT A BARGAIN.

A $50,000 residence; unquestionably one of the most artistic and complete homes in the city, built by the owner for a home. Lot 92x220 feet, twelve very large rooms, conservatory, ballroom, three baths, servant quarters, double garage, Italian gardens and fountain, spacious verandas, beautiful vine-covered pergolas, exquisite flowers and rare trees. Curtains, draperies and some rugs go with the house.

This is the best bargain in the Wilshire section, owner will sell for thousands less than actual cost. Property shown by appointment only. Call or address owner's representative.

FOR SALE—

WILSHIRE HOME—ONLY $8500.
9 ROOMS, FUMED OAK FINISH.

Here is a house fronting on a 100-foot paved boulevard in the choicest part of the North Wilshire district, that surpasses any $10,000 home in the section; the living-room and library extend across the entire front of the house; the library is slightly elevated and separated from the living-room by plate-glass doors, affording a very striking effect; there is a massive colonial fireplace in this room; the dining-room, beautifully paneled, is especially attractive and opens onto a side veranda. The Chinese breakfast-room is most unique. Upstairs are four large bedrooms, a fine big sleeping-porch and a tiled bathroom. All the rooms are expensively and artistically decorated. There is a furnace, automatic water heater and garage; lot is 52x180. This house is a snap. Phone for appointment.

BEST LOT VALUES IN ENTIRE ONEONTA PARK DISTRICT.

Everybody knows the Oneonta Park district is one of the most beautiful and delightful residence sections around Los Angeles. It is only a question of actual location and price. I have several fine lots there, in the best locations, and at prices that cannot be duplicated. For instance, 50x150 for $1100; one dandy corner, 50x150, $1200; another a little better, same size, $1250. Excellent neighborhood, high ground, 7 car lines, only 20 minutes out, fine view mountains and valley. School two blocks away. No pioneering, high-class homes all around. Easy terms can be arranged. Don't take my word that these lots are bargains. Investigate yourself. Will show them at any time if you will phone me.

FOR SALE—
BELOW VALUE,
BUT MUST SELL.
At 315 and 319 S. Flower st., we own two lots, 40x150 each or combined frontage of 80 feet. Present improvements are two 20-room rooming-houses bringing in good income on investment. Without doubt this is the best apartment or hotel site in the city; only half block from Third st. tunnel; absolutely the closest apartment-house site to the center of the city's business activity. It is the best rental district, most popular and most sought after.
Now listen. Adjoining frontage is held at from $500 to $700 a foot. We are closing an estate and in order to get this off our books we will sell for $400 a front foot either of the lots or both. This is $16,000 for one lot or $32,000 for both. Will sell for small cash payment and easy terms for balance. Will lease on good terms. Will accept first mortgages on trust deeds or good paper for part or all payment. Regular commission to all agents.

FOR SALE—

SOMETHING WORTH WHILE.

If you are looking for the most exclusive, restricted residence tract in Hollywood, take a look at the Taft-Hollywood subdivision, located on Hollywood blvd., between Van Ness ave. and Wilton place.

How would you like to live in a tract in which no home could be built of less value than $4000 and not less than two stories in height, with three bedrooms and bath upstairs? A tract in which no apartment or flat could be built and one in which only single dwellings are allowed.

Up to date, there is no home on the tract that has cost less than $5000. Before you can purchase in our tract, we must know what you are going to build.

We also have two beautiful homes for sale on the tract, one of ten and the other of eleven rooms. There is no better buy in the city at $12,000. These homes were built with the sole object of setting the standard of building in the tract.

For sale—Biggest snap near Holly blvd. property. Tract office open 2 to 5 Sunday.

ONE-TENTH DOWN AND TEN YEARS TO PAY THE BALANCE.

ONLY FORTY MILES FROM LOS ANGELES, IN THE ESPERANZA DISTRICT.

Here is the land you can afford to buy, right in Los Angeles county; land that stands on its merits and shows its real worth when you inspect it. Land that is conveniently located adjacent to busy towns. Land that will produce big crops and a prolific growth of alfalfa, and is excellent for pears, apples, plums, peaches, apricots, vegetables and berries.

The soil is a decomposed granite loam, and will grow anything that can grow on good land.

The water question is settled here, and the positive proof is best shown by the big wells in this district, which furnish an abundance of pure water.

This is the kind of land we desire to have you see. It is a pleasure to show this land because it is satisfying, and is really better than the things said about it, and is selling rapidly.

Never again will you have the opportunity to purchase such good land at the remarkably low price of $40 an acre, and just think of having such unheard-of terms as one-tenth down and ten years to pay the balance.

See this land before you think of putting a dollar in land anywhere else.

EXCURSION SUNDAY.
There and back the same day.

FOR SALE—

FRUIT AND FARM LANDS IN

THE FAMOUS SAN JOAQUIN VALLEY.

The Delano-Porterville Early Orange Belt.

This locality produces an early orange of superior quality four to six weeks earlier than those of Southern California, which bring the highest prices in local and eastern markets. More money will be made by purchasers of 10 and 20-acre tracts here than in any other locality in California.

The soil is a dark, rich, decomposed granite loam, no alkali or hardpan; any amount of good pure water, 30 to 50 feet; every condition is most favorable to orange groves, alfalfa or general farming.

This is far better land than is being sold in Southern California for $1000 per acre. We are selling this land $125 to $200 per acre, on easy terms. 10-acre tracts $16.50 per month.

YUCAIPA VALLEY—

FOR SALE—

YUCAIPA VALLEY.
"RED APPLE" LAND.

The delicious flavor and the rich color of the Yucaipa Valley apples places them easily at the head of California fruits. The extra fancy red winter apples grown in this district command the highest market prices—the grower gets $1.50 a box net in the orchard.

Our South Bench tract is the cream of the Yucaipa Valley. Rich decomposed granite soil, thirty feet deep. Entirely sheltered against all hard winds; pure melted snow water is already piped to the land under pressure, for irrigation and domestic use; only two to four miles to station on main line S.P. Railroad, near beautiful Redlands.

Don't wait till Yucaipa orchards are selling at $1000 to $2000 an acre, but come in now and get the choicest of the cream, with water ownership, at $285 an acre, on very easy terms. See Yucaipa now, and the apple trees loaded with fine fruit. You'll be convinced that Yucaipa Valley apple orchards are yielding $500 to $1000 an acre a year.

MAKE YOUR SELECTION NOW. Join our next excursion to Yucaipa; leave Los Angeles 8:30 a.m., return here 6:10 p.m. FREE TRIPS TO BUYERS. Call or write for literature. Los Angeles office open till 9 p.m.

BY SAN DIMAS REAL ESTATE COMPANY,
SAN DIMAS, CAL.

If you anticipate purchasing citrus property it will pay you to spend a day with us in the San Dimas, LaVerne and surrounding districts before you buy. We are the oldest real estate firm in this vicinity and have sold a million and a half dollars' worth of citrus property, principally in this district. Our best advertisements is the kind words of those with whom we have had dealings. We have some very attractive propositions both in large and small groves. We have one particularly good buy in a 20-acre, full-bearing grove with at least a $10,000 crop now on the trees. We have several splendid buys in 5 and 10-acre properties, and an excellent buy in a 55-acre grove. A1 water conditions; excellent soil. Just the thing for a combined country home and gilt-edge income proposition, lemons, grapefruit and Valencias.
The best compliment to our district we know of is the fact that during the past six months numerous sales have been made for cash at from $2500 to $3000 per acre. We have a few gilt-edge trades. We shall be glad to give more details upon request by letter, or to show these and other properties to any one interested.

FOR EXCHANGE—

I AM TOO OLD TO WORK!!!!
Up in Kings County I have a great big ranch, all in cultivation. I am farmed out. I have decided to quit it for good.

If I can get something pretty good in Southern California, that will give me a fairly good income, or something that I can turn quickly, if necessary, I will trade the old ranch off, providing I can get something of equal value.

See my old friend,
JOHN H. HOLLOWELL,

FOR EXCHANGE—
EXCHANGES OF MERIT.
Our Exchange Department refuses to handle any trades that are in any way off color, or inflated.
We check up every offering listed and guarantee the truth of all our representations.
The following properties are offered either separately or as a whole.
Submit your offerings and we will have our client pass on them at once. We have no time to waste on wildcat propositions. We know values in California, and will consider only good properties.
For any of the following properties we will accept Los Angeles, Long Beach or Pasadena income, or approved country property.
$12,000—Mortgage $2500. Equity $9500. Inglewood City.
A whole city block, surrounded by four streets; contains 16 bungalow lots; improved with good 7-room house and barn; also a splendid tennis and handball court; all fenced; nearly all covered with thrifty fruit trees 4 to 7 years old. This property would make a perfect suburban home or could be sold in lots as described above. Only two blocks from High School; about five blocks from public school, and five blocks from First National Bank.
$2400—Clear. 90x120 ft. East side of Moneta ave., between 90th and 91st streets. Curb and sidewalk in and paid for.
$1500—Clear. N.W. corner 91st st. and Main st. 45x131. Unimproved, except street work done and paid for.
$1200—Clear. Inside lot. 45x131. West side of Main st., between 90th and 91st. Street work done and paid for.
$5000—Clear. Lot 60x160, west side Highland ave. near Franklin street, Hollywood. Sidewalks, curbs and street paved. Street work paid for. Street car before the lot.
This lot is suitable for very high-class apartment house and is very advantageously located for this purpose.
$4000—Trust deed $2000. Equity $2000. 4-family apartment house. Two stories. In city of Watts.
This is a cheap house, but would be very desirable for family of moderate means to occupy one apartment and rent the other [illegible] for its income.
$4000—Clear.
160 acres in Victor Valley. Land [illegible] located. Deep, rich soil. [illegible] properties being improved with orchards.

RARE OPPORTUNITY—
Well-known, successful business men are organizing a close corporation for the purpose of growing spineless cactus on large acreage of choice land. This land in cactus will pay a profit of $100,000 or more in two years. Two or three men can join now as directors and owners, investment required $1000 to $5000. These amounts should pay $2500 to $12,500 yearly. I will show you a cactus acre that is paying $3000 yearly. No risk is attached as the land is deeded to the company and your money goes into planting cactus. As a matter of fact your investment will be worth five times what it cost in one year and ten times that in two years. Let me prove it to you. This opportunity means a fortune—a life income of $5000 to $25,000 yearly to you, if you have the money and confidence in what you can see for yourself. Active interest, salary to right man. See MR. RIDEOUT, 909 Van Nuys Bldg., corner Spring and Seventh sts.

CAN OFFER ABSOLUTELY INSIDE DEAL ON local acreage subdivision syndicate to one or two people. Only few thousand dollars more needed to close up list. Amounts from $500 to $1000. WANTED—$1000 TO $10,000.
I have notes aggregating $10,000, executed by one of the strongest concerns in Los Angeles, with nearly a half-million dollars in cash invested in its business. These notes have a year to run and draw interest at the rate of 6 per cent. I will discount them so as to put them on a 12 per cent. basis. Any amount from $1000 to $10,000. This is very high-grade paper and will be paid on the day that it matures. If 12 per cent. and absolute safety interests you, please make an appointment for interview. Best of bank references furnished and fullest opportunity for investigation given. This advertisement means exactly what it says. If you have not the funds available, from $1000 to $10,000, don't waste your time or mine. For full particulars address D, box 440, TIMES BRANCH OFFICE.

MILLIONS IN SIGHT.
New mining district quietly uncovered, adjoining old Comstock Bonanza Mines in Virginia City, Nev., which have paid more than $700,000,000 in dividends. We have developed immense body of ore with our own capital; now we want capital for mill. A few dollars may make you independent. A good return absolutely certain, as it is already uncovered. No salaries paid, not large office rent or expenses low capitalization. We solicit thorough investigation. Stock worth 50c, now offered for 25c for quick action, fully paid and non-assessable.

CONSOLIDATED REALTY COMPANY.
When this stock reaches $140 a share, as it should very soon, I have clients who will sell several hundred shares for cash. In the meantime exchanges for other stocks and properties will be considered. The next dividend of this substantial and well managed company is not likely to be passed, but if it is the market value of the shares should be increased accordingly. Recent careful investigations by cold blood valuators show Consolidated Realty Company to be very strong and its shares intrinsically worth more than $200 each. Watch the market.

ALSO

I have other dividend-paying stocks, interest bearing securities and other properties for sale on a cash or term basis, or for exchange. See me for safe and profitable investments. J. A. COLDWELLS, 637 S. Hill St., Los Angeles.

THE STOCK MARKET—
Has been quiet and inactive during the past week but I believe that during the coming week announcements of great importance affecting no less than three of the low-priced listed issues will be made, and I further believe that these announcements will be of such a nature as to cause a strong upward movement. The market looks as though it would advance to much higher prices during the next month; therefore purchases made at present quotations should show handsome profits in that time.
Information and quotations on any security furnished free upon request.

Grain.

GOOD SUPPORT RALLIES WHEAT.

DEMAND DOES NOT LAST AND VALUES AGAIN RECEDE.

Market Closes Weat at a Shade Lower to Shade Higher and Corn Finished Down, With Oats Unchanged—Selling of Packers Acts as Weight to Provisions.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—Much-improved support rallied wheat today from a decline that had reached 11 cents a bushel, but the demand did not last, and values again receded. The market closed weak at a shade lower to a shade higher. Corn finished ⅛ to ¼ @ ⅜ down and oats unchanged to ⅛ up. In provisions the outcome was a shade to 10 cents decline. Lightness of offerings carried the corn market up-grade for awhile. Oats reacted with other grain after an early bulge due mainly to shorts covering. Selling which was laid to packers acted as a weight on provisions.

Stocks and Bonds.

TURN IN TIDE HITS STOCK.

LEADING SECURITIES GO UP SEVERAL POINTS.

American Beet Sugar and Can Common and Preferred Are Not Affected by the General Rise. Bank Statements Reflect Freeing of Credits.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—The turn in the tide on the stock exchange, which began in a hesitating way yesterday, came definitely today. Leading stocks were marked up 1 to 2 points. The tone of the market was strong from first to last. Can common and preferred and American Beet Sugar were the only important exceptions to the general movement. It was generally conceded that the chief impetus for the advance was derived from short covering. The September statement of domestic export was above expectations, showing a gain of $19,000,000 over the corresponding period in 1912. An increase of $20,000,000 in cotton accounted for the improvement. The weekly reviews of the commercial agencies indicated that general business was more active than a year ago. Unofficial reports from Washington that important changes would be made in the currency bill by the Senate Committee were classed by speculators as good news. The outstanding feature of the bank statement was an actual reduction in loans of $24,580,000, which reflected the freeing credits as a result of the week's liquidation. There was a corresponding reduction in deposits and as the amount of currency was virtually unchanged, the surplus showed a substantial increase. Bonds were irregular and derived little benefit from the rise in stocks. Total sales, par value, $650,000. United States 2's registered advanced 2 3-4, the 2's coupon ½, the 4's 1-8; and Panama 2's 1-4c on call 1 on the week.

New York Curb Stocks.

[Furnished by E. F. Hutton & Co., Members New York Stock Exchange, 118 West Fourth street, Los Angeles.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Cigar Stores was active and weak, selling down to 88⅝. Mining issues in the majority of cases were unchanged. There was a better tone in oil stocks. Boston coppers opened steady and fairly active. The tendency was toward improvement, in response to the better action of coppers in New York. Large fractional advances were made in Granby, Calumet & Arizona, and North Butte. There was heavy trading in Arizona Commercial, which advanced 3-8 point. Butte & Superior continues well bought, around 30. Late trading was dull, but advances were well retained. The close was strong but quiet.

FIRST WHITE SOX-GIANTS GAME AN AWFUL JOKE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CINCINNATI (O.) Oct. 18.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Amid Arctic cold and the jovial joshes of the frapped fans, the White Sox and the Giants started their great world's series tour. If they can't play any better ball than they did in this inaugural game, they will never get any farther than Manila.

As a ball game it was worse than terrible. Anyway, Joe Benz, bridegroom, so opines. The entire population of Bathville, Ind., where Benz infests during the winter, came down to cheer and remained to howl.

Between innings they gave Benz a handsome loving cup easily holding 20 cents' worth, if you know the barkeeper.

The Giants hit and the Sox played like men who have long been dead. But the Sox drew first blood. Weaver's triple and Crawford's single netted one in the first period. After that they were mainly inocuous. They couldn't hit Mathewson with a shovel, and Tesreau (bridegroom) was also too much for their alleged intellects to fathom. They did flash on the short rally in the sixth, when Weaver soaked a single and was walloped around, but in the main their efforts were closely akin to those of a legless man trying to climb an elm. The score:

GIANTS.

FIRESTONE TIRE CO. GETS NEW MANAGER.

With an ever growing [illegible] it became evident during [illegible] and summer months of [illegible] the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company must establish a separate [illegible] and shipping department [illegible] of that branch of its business [illegible] O. Brandes has been engaged [illegible] ager.

Mr. Brandes has had years of experience in European and American markets and his wide acquaintance and intimate knowledge of world wide trade conditions make him particularly fit to handle the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company's [illegible] business.

Born in Hamburg, Germany, [illegible] Brandes until 1905 maintained a European residence. For the last [illegible] years, however, he has been in America, for the greater part of that [illegible] with concerns dealing in [illegible] goods.

KNIGHT TIRES TO HAVE GUARANTEE.

An interesting announcement has been made by the Knight Tire Company through the Halliwell Company to the effect that in the future the 5000-mile guarantee on Knight tires will be abolished, and instead the company will back its product [illegible] unlimited mileage.

The reason for this [illegible] move, according to W. H. [illegible] is: "So many of our customers [illegible] reported records of over [illegible] for the Knight tires, that the company feels safe in offering this guarantee. If a defect in one of [illegible] shows up, no matter what mileage [illegible] recorded, we will be more than pleased to make the necessary adjustment.

"From all over the Coast [illegible] have come in regarding the wonderful service and long life of the [illegible] tire, and the extension of the company's guarantee will only back up our statements in regard to the [illegible] ity of the Knight tire."

Reports from the police department of Louisville, Ky., show that the motorcycles used in this department have already paid for themselves in fines collected from violators of the [illegible] who would not have been apprehended without the aid of the [illegible] wheeler.

Much Too Good.

ALL BLACKS AGAIN BEAT STANFORD BY BIG SCORE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PALO ALTO, Oct. 18.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Stanford was again the victim of the black peril. All Blacks, 56, Stanford 0. The undying pep of the Cardinal coupled with the wonderful skill of the All Blacks resulted in a clean, hard-fought and spectacular game of Rugby. Speed and snappy passing kept the ball on the move, while dribbling, in direct contrast to Wednesday's game, was a negligible factor.

A second string Cardinal team was used, as the regulars show evidences of too much work and are being rested.

These men, fighting for places on the team, put up a more determined scrap and got away with many offensive plays, endangering the visitors' goal time and again. But they were hopelessly outclassed by the best ruggers in the world, now at home on a turf field, and playing at their top speed.

An opportunity once seized upon by the visitors never lacked for support, as they invariably played in pairs or trios.

Open and offensive play, which would have squelched an equal team, when used against the All Blacks, resulted in the Cardinals own undoing.

The speed of Roberts and McGregor, of the visitors, was almost unbelievable, and the tackling of the Cardinals was that of the old game.

Stanford's scrum held and the New Zealanders fought for every inch gained. Urban, Crary and Davidson starred, and Patterson in his second game of Rugby was a great surprise.

In session one, the All Black took the kick-off and honors were even for thirteen minutes, until Loveridge went over from a two-yard scrum. Four minutes later in a pretty passing rush, Mitchinson to Roberts to Stohr, another try was made, with Roberts converting. In ten minutes more two tries had been made. Murray went over from a dribbling rush with Lynch converting and Atkinson made a thirty-yard run with Wylie scoring. No conversion.

Just before the gun two more scores went up. At the thirty-yard line Gray got the ball and passed to McGregor, who went over. A moment later, from a passing rush, Stohr went over, Stohr converted both tries. Score for the half, 26-0.

Stanford took the kick-off and in eight minutes after a series of passing rushes Murray went over. From a scrimmage on the line the ball rolled over and Atkinson and Douglass fell on it. Stohr kicked after seventeen minutes of play McGregor received the ball on the forty-five yard line and in a spectacular run dodging the entire opposition, went over. No conversion.

Murray went over from a twenty-yard line out and after another spectacular fifty-yard run Roberts went over.

In the last ten minutes three more tries were made. From a twenty-yard scrum Gray passed to Mitchinson, who went over, and the try was converted.

In a forty-five yard run Roberts dodged the entire back field and went over with Mitchinson kicking just before the gun, Mitchinson picked up the ball at the two-yard line and went over. No conversion.

Score 56-0.

Stanford: Front rank, Wines, Peck, Hall; middle row, Dubendorf, Watkins, Halsted, substitute rear rank, Whitaker, Sundstrom, Ogden; half, Tilton; fives, Davidson, Patterson, Wynee substituted for Davidson; center, Andrews; wings, Crary, Urban; full, Kauffman, Davidson.

Wonderful.

ENGLAND AT LAST GRABS A GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WILMINGTON (Del.) Oct. 18.—Miss Gladys Ravenscroft of the Bromborough Club, England, former champion of Great Britain, defeated Miss Marion Hollins of Westbrook, L. I., this year's metropolitan title-holder, 2 up, after a sharp contest in which both played good and bad golf here today.

Both players were nervous at different periods, but Miss Ravenscroft was the steadier of the two. Miss Hollins got into frequent trouble by making bad drives, but would come up strongly and get into the game again with shots that won applause. She, however, could not take advantage of the bad breaks made by her English rival. Her inability to do this helped her to lose the championship.

Both Miss Hollins and Miss Ravenscroft were good in their long game, but were uncertain and at times weak in their approaching and putting. Notwithstanding that Miss Ravenscroft at several periods was off her game, she covered the eighteen holes in 86, the best score of the tournament. Miss Hollins's score was 91.

The American player opened the match badly. She had the first hole practically won, as Miss Ravenscroft got into a bunker and lost a stroke. Miss Hollins played her third stroke too strongly and overshot the cup, and the best she could do after that was to halve the hole.

Miss Ravenscroft won the second, 3 to 4, and Miss Hollins squared the match on the third, 6 to 5. The next three holes were halved and on the seventh Miss Ravenscroft was 1 up. The eighth and ninth were halved. Coming in Miss Hollins squared the match on the tenth, only to go one down again on the succeeding hole. The twelfth and thirteenth holes were halved, and Miss Ravenscroft won the fourteenth, which made her [illegible] Miss Hollins took the fifteenth, and [illegible] making her 1 down, and [illegible] two were halved.

With one chance left, Miss Hollins drove into the brook ditch on the eighteenth and took two to [illegible] On her fourth she was [illegible] and as her chance appeared hopeless she did not play out the hole. Miss Ravenscroft was just short of the green on her drive and pitched over [illegible] second so closely that she had [illegible] chance for par, 5, had she [illegible] to hole out.

Despite the weather, showers falling intermittently during the [illegible] largest gallery of the week [illegible] the two players. After Miss Ravenscroft had been felicitated by Miss Hollins, the gallery rushed forward and showered congratulations upon the British player. Miss Muriel Dodd, the present British and Canadian champion, who was defeated by Miss Ravenscroft in the semi-final round on Friday, was one of those who greeted the [illegible] astic of those who greeted the titleholder.

The prize which now goes to England was held by Miss Margaret Curtis of Boston, who won the title in 1911 and 1912. Miss Curtis entered the 1913 championship [illegible] was defeated in the first round on Tuesday by Miss Caroline Painter of Chicago. Prior to Miss Curtis's possession, the American championship was held by Miss Dorothy Campbell, former British champion, in 1909 and 1910.

LOS ANGELES STOCK EXCHANGE.

National Pacific Shows Good Tone on News that New Well Is Yielding Fair Oil Output.

Except for a show of strength in National Pacific, accompanied by heavy trading, the market was featureless yesterday morning. The cause for the interest in National Pacific is the recent coming in of the company's well No. 5, which produced at latest advices about 240 barrels per day. Sand interfered with production to some extent. The output of the company's properties was 650 barrels the latest day for which reports were received. Changes in Union issues were nominal. Los Angeles Investment was unchanged. Home Telephone bonds were firmer at the close. Mining issues revealed a little easier feeling.

SAN FRANCISCO EXCHANGE.

Tonopah Stocks Show Stength in Spots—Nevada Hills Drops Four Points—Rest Quiet.

(Furnished by E. F. Hutton & Co., Members New York Stock Exchange, 118 West Fourth street, Los Angeles.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 18.—Nevada Hills was a weak feature of the morning trading, closing 68@70—off 4 points. This is a new low. Tonopah stocks were unchanged to 2 points higher. Goldfields and Manhattans were unchanged. Comstocks were easier on small business. The market seems to have lost all its old time snap.

New York Cotton Market.

(Furnished by E. F. Hutton & Co., Members New York Stock Exchange, 118 West Fourth street, Los Angeles.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—The market was uninteresting today. Cables were of easier prices due to selling from this side, and a better weather outlook was revealed in last night's official forecast. Opening prices here were just about in keeping with the weakness abroad, but the market promptly steadied up on reports of rain in the Central States, with later forecasts for generally cloudy and unsettled weather over the entire belt tomorrow. The situation looks fairly balanced at the moment. The trade is waiting on weather developments, and should frost be delayed another ten days it will be found hard to maintain current prices.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

The week closed without any changes in general produce lines. Buying was off a trifle yesterday morning and quotations were easy on fresh vegetables and most fruits. The end of the grape season is approaching and decided advances are looked for in most varieties this week. The muscat season is practically over and most black grapes, with the exception of the cornichon, are at the close of the harvest. Tokay, red emperor and malagas are hanging on well and will be represented in fresh arrivals for another two weeks. Figs are much higher than two weeks ago. The season on white Spanish, Calmyrna and practically all other varieties, is at a close. New dried figs are arriving fast in the hands of the jobbers and are holding at an advance figure for the opening of the season, instead of a lower one, due to the fact that the crop was short. Other dried fruits are pouring in from various parts of the State and throughout the list prices are very firm.

On staples there were no changes yesterday morning. Eggs were very firm and 48 cents was paid for fresh ranch white eggs on the street. Only 84 cases were received from the surrounding territory. Butter receipts were 19,866 pounds and the market on this commodity was wavering, stock selling from 31 to 32, creamery extra grade. Cheese arrivals were 1759 pounds. The demand was light.

Potatoes have shown considerable more firmness during the past week on account of very light receipts. A shade advance was scheduled during the middle of the week and further rise is looked for within a few days. Receipts were 2460 sacks yesterday. Onions were steady at prevailing prices without a change in six days. Beans were steady. Sweet potatoes fluctuated with the supply. Only 72 sacks were brought in yesterday.

Apple receipts were 7507 boxes. The height of the season is at hand and the market is very active on this fruit. Good buying is the rule, retailers preparing for their winter business and putting some stock into storage for that time in order to make the difference between present quotations and what apples will be around the holidays and later in the season. Bartlett pears are in good demand and bringing a high quotation. Other pears are not very plentiful. Peaches are about at the end of the season and some are coming from storage. A few nectarines are also coming from storage, but they show considerable shrinkage and are not at all the fine fruit that comes from the trees early in the summer. Some plums are also being taken from storage.

Reasons Why 7% Improvement
Bonds Issued By California Cities
Are the Best Investment
REASON NO. 4.
The system of issuing improvement bonds by California cities is admitted by municipal experts to be the best of any State in the Union. It has been in force for twenty years and millions of dollars have been invested under it, the volume steadily increasing from year to year. Satisfactory experience through a long period of time is the best test for any security.
We have City Improvement Bonds always in stock ready for delivery. We can supply any amount, $100 or $100,000.

Owl Drug Preferred Stock
Pays 8% Net
This is a strictly non-assessable stock in a "going" and highly successful enterprise. It has practically a bond security, being a first charge against all the earnings and assets of the Company. We recommend it as an investment of positive merit, knowing as we do that for present requirements the Company is amply financed and earning large profits; and that the proceeds from stock sales are going into extensions of business that add to the Company's strength and earning power. Stock sells at par; can be bought in lots of a single $100 share upwards. If you want your money to earn a large return, placed where large margin of security protects you "Owl" Preferred is the investment for you. Circular and statement on request.

Local Stock Market Activities

By Jno. O. Knight.

Oil shares held most important place in a week's trading that was without special feature. Prices for the most part were well maintained, but there was a lack of the buoyant spirit that ushered in the early activities of the month.

Belief is growing that great improvement in the oil stock market may be looked for in the comparatively near future. There is no question that foreign interest in the world's petroleum situation is becoming very keen. And since California holds premier place as an oil producing section much attention is naturally being focused in this direction. Both English and Dutch interests have been active for a year or more securing a foothold in this State.

Even France is getting excited over oil, although French interest has been largely centered up to this time in Russia. Latest reports from the Paris Bourse tell of a veritable boom in Russian oil shares enlivening a market in the French capital that is otherwise without feature.

Continuation of these outside influences at a time when the local situation is already vastly improved is bound to result in a broadening interest in the California oil industry upon a scale out of all proportion to the little flurries that have occurred now and again in past years. Local oil men are becoming enthusiastic and it surely does look as if better times were in store for them.

Los Angeles Investment Company stock opened the early part of the week at $1.95, then sold down to $1.75 and closed yesterday at $1.80.

In the insurance list quotations during the week were approximately as follows: Great Republic Life, $7 to $7.50; Los Angeles Fire Insurance, $6.75 to $7.25; Western States Life, $9 to $9.50 and California National, $9 to $10.

Los Angeles Public Market shares are now quoted at from 45 to 50; Funding Company ranges between 25 cents and 30 cents and California Delta Farm Lands is quoted at $48 to $52.50. Some demand has developed for San Joaquin Light and Power common at from $14 to $15. The preferred is held at around 70.

Arizona.

NOT POLITICAL, SAYS GOV. HUNT.

Arizona Executive Denies He's a Carranzista.

Just Wanted to Shake Hands With Rebel Chief.

Overlock Asked to Resign by McReynolds.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Oct. 16.—While not so considered on this side of the line, it is apparent that Mexicans generally regard as politically significant Gov. Hunt's civility at Nogales last week to Carranza and Maytorena, leaders of the Constitutionalist cause in Northern Mexico. The Governor, standing on the American side of the line, shook hands across the line with the Mexican insurrectos and exchanged words of pleasant greeting. He denies emphatically, however, that in this action he meant anything of political significance, though not denying that he has his own personal sympathies in the Mexican trouble. It is reported that the exchange of courtesies is considered in Sonora as a pledge of the sympathy of Arizona with the Constitutionalists and also that the Huerta regime in the City of Mexico has made the affair a matter of diplomatic correspondence.

Within a short time the office of United States Attorney for Arizona will be passed to a Democrat, the resignation of the position by Joseph E. Morrison having been formally tendered, it is understood, on request of the Department of Justice. Mr. Morrison has held the office since January 1, 1910, but was reappointed by President Taft at the time of Statehood for Arizona, from May 1, 1912. It had therefore been generally considered that he had yet more than two years to serve. That his service has been active and able is conceded. He is now preparing for a Federal court term in Phoenix, with more than 150 cases to be prosecuted, and it is improbable that a change in the office will be had before the end of the court term. There is belief that his successor will be Thomas Flynn, who was law partner at Prescott of Senator Henry Ashurst. The Phoenix Democrat this evening is authority for the statement that the Department of Justice also has asked for the resignation of United States Marshal C. A. Overlock, whose tenure of office is about the same as that of Morrison.

Atty.-Gen. G. P. Bullard has submitted to the Governor an opinion that the provisions of a law covering the State's participation in the cost of the Yuma wagon bridge has been met by the guarantee in Southern California of the $25,000 contribution expected from California, but lost through the failure of Gov. Johnson to sign a bill making the appropriation. When the guarantee has been made good by cash, the State Auditor of Arizona will then proceed to draw $25,000 more and the combined sums will be sent to Washington, to be expended with $25,000 voted by Congress, in the construction of the bridge under Federal plans and supervision.

Alfred Astyuts and Frank Crecenza, wanted by the Los Angeles police, have been arrested in Phoenix and will be returned to California for trial. They are accused of the embezzlement of jewelry valued at about $1000 from the Brilliant Jewelry Company of Los Angeles. Jewelry valued at about two-thirds that amount was found on the men and in their room, as well as several Los Angeles pawn tickets for watches. Detective Gill, a California officer, is here on the case, and will return with the prisoners.

Yesterday in Phoenix were married William K. Fetter, a Williamsport (Pa.) railroad man, and Miss Mabel McNeil, daughter of Homer H. McNeil, formerly of Phoenix, now a Los Angeles business man.

WOULD SELL BONDS.

FRESNO, Oct. 18.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] The Fresno County Supervisors today decided to apply for the purchase of State highway bonds to the extent of $150,000. This amount is sufficient to construct the State highway from Fresno City to the southern county line, a distance of twenty miles. The State Highway Commission had previously agreed to construct a twenty-foot highway, four feet in excess of the regulation width, from Fresno to Fowler, a ten-mile stretch.

FISH LIKED BEER.

Disported Themselves in Great Shape When the Malt Beverage Was Poured into the River.

[Western Canner and Packer:] A story from Marion, State of Indiana, shows that fish will drink beer when they get a chance, and they will drink it to excess on occasions. On the 30th of July the United States revenue officer caused 2,000 barrels of beer to be poured into the Mississinewa River. The beer was turned loose from the bridge, and it mixed freely with the waters in the nearby vicinity. Fish all along the river evidently got wireless news of the fact, and they made for the bridge. That they imbibed freely of the beer is attested to by hundreds of people who gathered on the bridge after the fish had attracted attention to themselves by their free and easy conduct.

Carp, catfish, suckers and bass all disported themselves by cutting capricious capers in the currents of the river. Many of the fish indulged in acrobatics, throwing somersaults, flipflops and fin-springs. They, however, refrained from any attempts at turkey trotting and split dancing. So, it may be surmised, that a fish never entirely loses its head or self-respect even when intoxicated.

Of course the inhabitants took advantage of the fish while they were under the influence of the beverage that makes for cheer. The natives waded into the shallow waters of the Mississinewa and waylaid the easy denizens of the stream. Many of them caught fish in their hands and every one who wished to carried home as much as desired. Thousands of pounds of fish were taken out of the river. Some men caught as much as one hundred pounds each. Operations continued as long as the fish felt the effects of the beer.

Those who ate of the fish declare that the meat had a very distinct and agreeable flavor, and they long for another occasion when the revenue officer will pour beer into the river. Probably bottles of beer might be used to bait fish with in the Mississinewa with success in the future.

You are not experimenting when you buy Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. You are getting a preparation that has an established reputation for good.—[Advertisement.

R. B. Young,

Newly-elected president Southern California Chapter American Institute of Architects.

NAME NEW PRESIDENT.

R. B. Young Chosen to Head Southern California Chapter of American Institute of Architects.

R. B. Young, senior member of the firm of R. B. Young & Son, was unanimously elected president of the Southern California Chapter of the American Institute of Architects for the ensuing year, at a well-attended meeting of the chapter membership at the Hoffman Cafe, last Tuesday evening. Albert C. Martin was elected vice-president and Fernand Parmentier and August Wackerbarth were chosen to succeed themselves as secretary and treasurer, respectively. J. J. Blick of Pasadena, was made a director.

The chapter voted to send a committee to the annual convention of the institute, to be held in New Orleans in December, to boost for the selection of Los Angeles as the convention city in 1915. This committee is soon to be named by the new president. The Los Angeles architects are determined to work hard that this city may add this additional convention to the great number of similar gatherings already scheduled for the exposition year.

APARTMENT LEASED.

F. K. Albrecht, a local hotel broker, reports the leasing of an attractive new seventy-five-room apartment-house, now being built by the Maine Building and Investment Company for Miss Blanche Middlecoff at the corner of Tenth and Alvarado streets, to Mrs. W. A. Sanson. The rental contract calls for a term of ten years at a total leasing consideration of $75,000. The lessee, it is announced, will spend approximately $15,000 in furnishing and decoration and will open the place about December 1. The building will occupy a lot 150x150 feet in size and command an unobstructed view on all sides. It will contain a large lobby, restrooms, an amusement-room and sun parlor, in addition to the various suites.

COUNTIES TO CO-OPERATE.

FRESNO, Oct. 18.—[By A. P. Day Wire.] That forty out of fifty-eight counties of California have to date signified their intention of sending delegates to Oakland next Monday afternoon for the formation of a State counties' exposition association was stated today by President Chris Jorgensen of the San Joaquin Valley Exposition Association, who called the meeting. The purpose of the proposed association is to secure co-operation in the preparation of exhibits for the Panama-Pacific and Panama-California expositions, to arrange for special days and to discuss advertising methods and other subjects. Members of the State Exposition Commission have signified their intention of being present and Gov. Johnson is also expected to attend.

CONVENTION CLOSES.

FRESNO (Cal.) Oct. 18.—[By A. P. Day Wire.] With election of officers and the selection of San Diego as the 1914 meeting place, the third annual convention of the California Association of Nurserymen came to a close this afternoon. Officers elected are as follows: President, D. W. Coolidge, Pasadena; secretary-treasurer, Jenry W. Kruckeberg, Los Angeles; vice-presidents, T. E. Mabee, Fresno; John Vallance, Oakland; Walter Birch, San Diego; E. Wightman, Chico; Arthur Cann, San Jose. It was the general understanding that San Francisco will get the 1915 session. The delegates this afternoon were taken for sightseeing trips. Tonight they will participate in a big banquet at the Sunnyside Country Club.

ELSINORE.

ELSINORE, Oct. 18.—One hundred and twenty-eight votes were cast today at the grammar-school election to vote on $3000 bonds. Ninety-eight votes were cast for the issue and twenty-seven against. There is general rejoicing over the outcome. The issue is to be used for the purchase of more grounds and for improvement on buildings and grounds. The vote is the largest ever polled in a school election here and shows the remarkable gain in school interest in the past four years. Formerly seven or eight votes would be all that were polled at school elections.

OUT-OF-TOWN SALES.

The Arthur W. Kinney Company reports the following out-of-town sales: Joseph T. Sewell to W. M. Studebaker, house at No. 171 Date street, Riverside, $3000; N. K. Potter to F. A. Harlow, thirteen-acre orange grove, with bungalow, on California avenue, Monrovia, $24,500; Dr. Rose to E. M. Stark, forty-four acres in San Fernando Valley.

WILL AUCTION LOTS.

Col. L. J. C. Spruance, who owns 147 lots in the tract known as Granada Park on the Pacific Electric Covina car line, has instructed Reed & Hammond, auctioneers, to sell the property at auction. The tract has been laid out with cement curbs and sidewalks, oil-tamped streets and other improvements. Gas, water and electricity are available.

YUCAIPA VALLEY.

J. Saunders, R. N. Boggess and W. C. Weaver, recent buyers of apple lands in the South Bench tract of the Yucaipa Valley, have let contracts for the construction of homes, according to Claussen Bros., agents of the Redlands and Yucaipa Land Company. The valley's apple orchards are reported to be bearing this season.

Fact and Comment.

parkway proceedings had ever offered the gentleman in question as much as $20 a foot for his precious ditch acreage he would have shivered in his boots in an agony of suspense until the money had been put in his jeans.

Worth Following Up.

That recent comments in this column on the subject of the proposed widening of Washington boulevard between the city limits of Los Angeles and Venice have met with the approval of the property owners identified with that important movement is evidenced by the letters of commendation received by The Times since the publication of the editorial in question. The project is, in the opinion of the Fact and Comment man, one of the most pressing that has recently been brought before the Supervisors. It ought to have had an early consideration and as yet nothing has been done about it.

Washington boulevard, the most congested thoroughfare in Los Angeles county, is paved at the present time with a sixteen-foot crown, a ribbon-like surface scarcely wide enough to permit of the passing of two automobiles. The boulevard is the scene of constantly recurring accidents at all times of the year. The crown is actually so rounded that to travel over it in rainy or foggy weather, even at slow speed, is to invite disaster. From Los Angeles to Venice the county owns a right of way of sixty feet, yet at its widest points the pavement is only twenty-five to thirty feet in width, with deep ditches on each side of the roadway. It is now universally admitted that the county displayed a lack of foresight in the planning of this great seaward-extending boulevard.

The county forester intends soon to plant trees along both sides of the roadway. If the forestry department utilizes ten feet on each side of the boulevard for parkway purposes, there will be left a strip of highway only forty feet in width. This would not be such a calamity if the county would pave the entire forty feet, but there has been no promise that this will be done.

The best solution of the whole problem is that offered by the committee which recently petitioned the county to accept as a gift a strip of land ten feet in width on each side of the roadway, from the city limits of Los Angeles to the city limits of Venice. This committee, composed of W. I. Hollingsworth, Harry G. Holabird, Harry H. Culver and M. J. Nolan, representing a host of property owners, and Miss Sybil Geary of the Automobile Club, holds that eighty feet is none too wide a right of way for a boulevard which is used as Washington boulevard is used. The same committee argues that the county, which must soon take steps to widen the roadway anyhow, could well afford, in return for receiving deeds to these ten-foot strips of land, to pave a sixty-foot surface and to plant its trees alongside of this truly splendid boulevard.

It is a belief in which the Fact and Comment man concurs. It is high time Washington boulevard was made an adequate and a safe thoroughfare. Given the opportunity, the county might as well do the thing right while it is about it.

FOR THE AGED POOR.

Los Angeles Woman to Found Home for Unfortunate Persons Too Old for Self-Support.

Having for her purpose the establishment of a home for aged men and women, Mrs. Hanna A. Baldwin of this city has acquired 120 feet of frontage at No. 6915 Franklin avenue, in Hollywood, as a site for the proposed institution. The property adjoins the beautiful foothill residence of R. B. Lane and is high and sightly.

Plans for the contemplated home are now shaping and these call for an attractive brick building three stories in height and affording accommodations for seventy-five persons. The depth of the lot is 160 feet, affording ample space for lawn and gardens. Mrs. Baldwin stated yesterday that construction upon the building would not be begun until next year. She announced also that the project would be of a philanthropic nature and for the benefit of the very poor.

OVERLOOKING THE SEA.

Orpheum Theater Manager Buys Large Brentwood Park Site and Plans to Build Fine Home.

With the purpose of establishing a beautiful home overlooking the sea, Clarence Drown, local manager of the Orpheum Theater, has just purchased a large site in Brentwood Park. The property acquired has a frontage of 350 feet by a depth of 250 feet and is high and sightly ground which lends itself admirably to artistic landscape gardening.

Work on the laying out of the grounds of the contemplated home will be begun tomorrow. Drown announces that he will set out a large number of rare trees and shrubs and that it is his intention to make the place one of the most beautiful homes of the fashionable Brentwood Park section.

The sale to the Orpheum manager was handled by J. Albert Campbell of the Braly-Janss Investment Company.

FOR TEN-YEAR TERM.

Local Hotel Brokers Enter Landlord Class by Securing Lease on New Hope-Street Apartment-House.

Whilton, Hahn & Bishop, hotel brokers, report the lease of an apartment-house to Harry W. Hahn and Karl D. Bishop of Cleveland, O., for a ten-year term. The building, which is now nearing completion at No. 1325 South Hope street, is a three-story and basement brick structure containing eighty rentable rooms, divided into two and three-room apartments. There is a large lobby and parlor finished in hardwood, an amusement and billiard-room and sun parlor. The building was designed by R. W. Young & Son and is costing approximately $55,000, according to the owner and lessor, Emma P. Manning.

Mrs. Agnes Michaels of Tucson, Ariz., has secured the lease and furnishings of the Ritz apartment-house at the corner of Fourth and Lucas streets, through the same brokers. Mrs. Michaels paid a given cash consideration of $6500 for the furnishings, the lease being assigned to her. The Ritz contains sixty-five rooms, divided into two and three-room apartments. The lease has nine years to run and calls for rental of about $45,000. Stanton Bros. are the lessors.

BIG DAY'S RECORD.

One Hundred and Ten Building Permits Granted Last Tuesday. Last Year's Totals Eclipsed.

One hundred and ten building permits, the record for a single day in the annals of the building department, were granted last Tuesday. The size of the total was largely accounted for by the fact that Monday was a holiday, the builders being compelled to wait a day to file their applications. The day was nevertheless a remarkable one. If every permit taken out on Tuesday represented a building to occupy a fifty-foot lot, the new structures called for by the one day's permits would improve more than a mile of vacant frontage.

Thus far in the month of October there have been granted 845 permits for buildings to cost in the aggregate $1,030,894. The totals for the corresponding period of last year were 958 permits and $1,478,495. To date for the year there have been issued 13,622 permits for structures to cost in the aggregate $27,614,156. The figures for last year at this time were 12,995 permits and $25,300,307. There is no doubt in the minds of the building department officials that 1913 will eclipse the great 1912 totals by a considerable margin.

EXCHANGES REPORTED.

SAN JACINTO, Oct. 18.—C. D. Cheshire has exchanged his twenty-acre improved place on Central avenue for two houses in Riverside. The Riverpect avenue. Lyman C. Darling has exchanged his dairy ranch on Central avenue for a house and lot on First street, San Jacinto, and town property on Colton avenue, Riverside, the exchange being made with A. D. Record, who, in turn, immediately sold the dairy property to F. B. Record, who has since disposed of it to Arthur Pierce.

TO COMPLETE HOSPITAL.

Bids are about to be advertised for by Architect Norman F. Marsh, for the further improvement of the buildings of the Los Angeles Medical Department of the University of California, at No. 737 North Broadway. The plans contemplate the completion of the new hospital unit started two years ago and the repainting of the other buildings. This hospital will be provided with sun rooms, roof garden and other accessories. It is intended to supply a want and need of the community for an up-to-date institution, with rates so moderate that persons in moderate circumstances who do not wish to go to the County Hospital and yet who can ill afford the private hospitals, will find a place where good care will be given them. The out-patient department or dispensary of this institution now gives practically free treatment to over 20,000 poor citizens of Los Angeles every year.

Big Demand for Shares

A few days ago we announced the first offering of treasury shares of the PANAMA NAVIGATION & COMMERCIAL CO., at the ground floor price of 50c. Our offer met with remarkable and instant success. The papers had been on the street but two or three hours when the first block of shares was sold in our office. Since then, a constant throng of buyers has compelled us to increase our office force in order to handle the business.

Subscriptions have been pouring in from all sides; by telegraph; by telephone; by mail, and brought in personally. Knowing, as we do, the large profit-earning possibilities of these shares, we anticipated a lively demand; but we did not expect that they would meet with such extraordinary favor. It simply shows that the people have awakened to the immense possibilities of steamship transportation, and here is the reason:

Enormous Profits in Steamship Lines

Fleet of six steamers to open up vast riches of the south coast.

Millions of dollars earned yearly by the steamship companies.

Safest investment known. Steamships and cargoes fully insured against loss.

Never before in the history of Los Angeles has the person of moderate means had such a chance to buy shares in a steamship company at the ground floor price.

Why? Because steamship shares have been recognized the world over by the millionaires as the safest and most profitable place to invest their own dollars. Does this signify anything to you?

The PANAMA NAVIGATION & COMMERCIAL CO. is the people's company and you, individually, can buy but 10,000 shares, thus keeping it always the people's company.

You won't have to wait a year for profits.

DIVIDENDS will begin to accrue immediately our first steamer is placed on the run. Reserve your shares at once before the price advances.

Shares Now 50c—Advance to 60c

Midnight Saturday, Oct. 25—Buy Now at Ground Floor Prices

BECAUSE they are a safe investment. Your money invested in the operation and purchase of steamships is secured against loss by the Marine Insurance Companies.

BECAUSE they will earn large and regular dividends, the steamship business being one of the most profitable known.

BECAUSE you can keep in daily touch with the business of the Company, the headquarters being right here at home, and you can inspect the books at any time.

BECAUSE you don't have to wait for your profits, as dividends begin to accrue the minute our first boat is placed on the run.

BECAUSE the business of the Company is in the hands of men of experience, integrity and high standing.

BECAUSE this is the best investment ever offered.

BECAUSE you can buy shares at the ground floor price of 50 cents, and pay cash or easy payments.

MILL PLANS ENLARGED.

New Long Beach Woolen Plant to Be of Much Greater Capacity Than Originally Contemplated.

LONG BEACH, Oct. 18.—Work upon the new woolen mills in the industrial district started Thursday with redoubled energy. The company is proceeding under the old incorporation, though there will be some changes in the personnel of the officers. It is expected that F. W. Stevens, for twenty years a leading citizen of Long Beach and interested in much of its harbor and industrial progress, will be elected president and treasurer of the reorganized company.

The plans have been greatly enlarged and the new building, instead of being a one-story structure, will be 60x200 feet, and two stories high. It will be what is known as a three-set mill, capable of consuming 1800 pounds of wool daily; will employ sixty people at the start and produce from 600 to 1000 yards of 6-4 goods daily. It will begin with fifteen looms. This is only the first unit of the mill, which, it is said, is already tendered business sufficient to take the output of an establishment double its capacity.

J. F. McAfee, for fifty years a woolen mill expert, who has operated his own mills in Kansas for a long period, will have entire charge of the mechanical operations for the new plant. The Dutro-Wren Construction Company of Long Beach has charge of the building operations. It is expected that the looms will be in operation and cloth actually in production before the close of the present year. The enterprise, it is said, will represent an investment of $120,000.

PLANNING THIRD SCHOOL.

Los Angeles Architect Designing Last of Three Long Beach Grade Buildings.

LONG BEACH, Oct. 18.—Plans are being prepared by A. Burnside Sturges of Los Angeles for the third of three grade schools which he has been commissioned to design for the Board of Education of this city. Bids for two of the buildings are now being secured. The site for the third has not as yet been definitely determined upon, but will be secured within the next few weeks.

The school now being planned by the Los Angeles architect will be two stories in height and of brick construction. It will have a frontage of 165 feet by a depth of sixty-five feet. The design is attractive, the walls being faced with selected brick laid up in brown mortar. The entrance treatment is particularly effective, tile insets being used for the ornamentation.

The basement will contain a large auditorium accessible both from within the building and from the outside, and which will be available for community gatherings. On the same floor will be domestic science and manual training departments, shower baths and the heating plant.

The main story will contain six classrooms, teachers' rooms, a library, a bookroom and a kindergarten department. There will be six classrooms on the second floor.

RECORD FIGURE FOR RANCH LAND.

LIVELY MARKET REPORTED IN IMPERIAL VALLEY.

Two Hundred Thousand-Dollar Trade Concluded Near Rockwook. High Price for Tract Between El Centro and Imperial—New Subdivisions Popular.

EL CENTRO, Oct. 18.—One of the largest real estate transactions in the history of Imperial Valley took place last week when B. E. Colvin sold the Evergreen ranch, which was formerly owned by G. W. Bothwell, to a party of San Diego men, who are to take immediate possession. The Evergreen ranch comprises 1200 acres, and is situated three miles east of Rockwook. The deal entails a transaction of $200,000 in trade and cash, which amounts to about $166 an acre, one of the best prices yet received in this locality.

Another important sale was that of the east 160 acres of the I. W. Gleason ranch, situated between El Centro and Imperial. The land sold for $300 per acre, which is one of the highest prices on record in the valley, for land not bought for immediate subdivision.

A number of different subdivisions have been placed on the market of late, most prominent among which is the Cuyamaca tract and a new tract of the Villa Farms Company. The Villa Farms tract of forty acres adjoins the townsite on the north and was placed on the market a short time ago by the company's agent, Raymond Moore, who announces that over half of the one-half-acre lots have been sold to date and the construction of four modern bungalows was commenced last week. The Cuyamaca tract of forty acres joins the townsite on the west and is owned and being handled by the Hermon Brothers. This land is subdivided into one-half-acre tracts. Two bungalows are in the course of construction and others are contemplated.

G. D. Armstead is about to erect a $10,000, two-story brick office building on the corner of Fifth and Broadway, opposite the Hotel Oregon. The contract has been placed for the construction of an $8000 brick building just west of the postoffice, on Main street, by Mrs. J. N. Hart. It is the first of a number which are to be erected in the near future to fill the gap on Main street between the postoffice and the new Barbara Worth Hotel. Offices in these buildings are already spoken for.

The region around Brawley, known as the north end, is showing a great deal of activity in the real estate line. The Hartson Land Company of El Centro has just sold two eighty-acre tracts north of Brawley for $75 and $110 respectively.

REMODELING HOTEL.

BALBOA, Oct. 18.—Mr. Levy, who has leased the Balboa Hotel for a year, is letting the contract for the remodeling of the entire front of the building. This work is to be started immediately and to be finished before the winter tourists begin to arrive.

BELT LINE ASSURED.

Six Months' Effort of Those Working for New Glendale Railway at Last Crowned With Success.

GLENDALE, Oct. 18.—After six months of hard work the boosters for the new electric line to the eastern section of this city have been rewarded by knowing positively that the road will come. Thirty-seven thousand of the $40,000 necessary to bring the road has been subscribed and the remaining portion has been guaranteed by twenty-five of the leading men of the city. This money will be used to purchase a right of way, which will be given to the Pacific Electric company. The line will branch from the present Pacific Electric line at Tropico, will circle the eastern portion of the city and will connect with the Pacific Electric again at the corner of Brand boulevard and Broadway, thus forming a belt line. The members of the committee who are responsible for the bringing of this line are R. A. Blackburn, chairman; G. B. Woodberry, secretary; F. H. Vesper, treasurer; Dr. R. E. Chase, T. W. Watson, Frank Zerr, H. T. Tupper, Irving H. Oliver, W. W. McElroy, P. A. C. Moore, Mrs. M. L. Tight, Spencer Robinson and J. A. Eppinger. The city of Glendale gave $1000 to the railway fund.

Glendale is forging ahead in the street-improvement work. At the meeting of the Trustees Tuesday evening the contract for the improvement work on Canada boulevard was awarded to the Johnson-Shea Company. The aggregate cost of the work will be about $55,000. Bids were called for the improvement of Ninth street between Glendale avenue and Brand boulevard. The improvement of Riverdale drive was ordered started, this work to consist of sidewalk, curb, grading and macadamizing. Bids for the improvement of Apeeche way were called for. The City Engineer was instructed to prepare plans and maps of the proposed drainage system of Verdugo Canyon.

One of the largest real-estate deals closed recently at this place has just been consummated by G. W. Bercaw, representing the owners of property at the corner of Adams and Third streets, which was purchased by eastern buyers for a stated consideration of $10,000. The new owners expect soon to begin the construction work on several new homes.

REPORTS PROGRESS.

R. L. Forsyth, local sales agent for the West Sacramento Company, returning from a visit of inspection of the lands being developed by that corporation across the river from Sacramento, reports that the work of laying out the big 11,500-acre tract has practically been completed. He states that the property is now entirely surrounded by levees, all of which, with the exception of one, have been completed by the engineers in charge of the work. The extensive highway system of the tract, comprising fifty miles of macadamized roads and twenty-five miles of concrete boulevards, is also being finished. Work will soon be begun, according to Forsyth, upon twenty bungalows to be erected by the West Sacramento Company.

CULVER CITY ACTIVITIES.

The Culver building at Culver City was opened during the past week, the first occupants being the sales force in charge of the Harry H. Culver Company's selling activities at the new townsite. Ground was also broken for a number of bungalows. Other improvements are being rushed. A large searchlight installed recently on top of the Culver building, was put in use for the first time, last night.

FRESH LAURELS IN BUILDING.

More Permits Granted Here Than in New York.

Statistics Show Los Angeles at Top of List.

Is Fourth in Valuation for Year to Date.

Los Angeles has won fresh laurels in the national construction field by leading all other cities in the United States in the number of building permits issued during the nine months ending September 30, with every prospect of keeping at the top of the list until the year is over. Los Angeles led at the quarter, at the half and at the three-quarter posts in the race for building supremacy, and is now ahead of New York City, its nearest rival, by the comfortable margin of nearly 1000 new structures for the year to date. It is altogether likely, in fact, that this city will gain still more on its big eastern rival in the next three months, owing to the dropping off in building operations on the Atlantic Coast with the coming of cold weather.

Definite figures are available for seven of the leading cities in the country, including New York, Chicago and Philadelphia, the only places that even approximate Los Angeles in the number of new 1913 buildings. The totals for two cities, Detroit and St. Louis, are easy to estimate, thanks to the fact that figures for both places are complete with the exception of a single month's aggregate in each instance. The statistics herewith quoted are from the monthly tabulations gathered by Construction News of Chicago, the national authority on questions pertaining to building operations. The Windy City publication's figures for such cities as Cleveland, Boston, Baltimore, Pittsburgh and Cincinnati are complete enough to indicate that these places are behind the cities for which a rating is possible.

The splendid Los Angeles total of 12,774 separate building items effectually proves that this city, although just at the moment experiencing a slight falling-off in construction activity, is nevertheless a hive of animation as compared with other large places. New York, with its five great boroughs and its 5,000,000 population, has to its credit for the first three-quarters of the year, 11,954 permits, or 820 less than the Southwest metropolis. Philadelphia boasts a total of 11,535 permits, and Chicago has an aggregate of 8482 permits. Seattle stands at fifth with 7494 permits.

In point of money expenditure for 1913 buildings, Los Angeles holds its customary position of fourth, after New York, Chicago and Philadelphia. The lead of the last-named city is comparatively small, and Los Angeles will undoubtedly narrow the margin before the year is over.

Following are the totals of permits and valuation for nine leading cities:

	Number Permits Jan. 1 to Sept. 30.	Total Valuation.
Los Angeles	12,774	$ 26,583,262
New York City	11,954	100,228,349
Philadelphia	11,535	32,768,000
Chicago	8,482	67,692,907
Seattle	7,494	7,909,400
*Detroit	7,000	22,000,000
*St. Louis	6,500	12,500,000

LIBRARY CONTRACT LET.

Long Beach Man to Build Structure Given by Carnegie to Huntington Beach—Pavilion Leased.

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Oct. 18.—W. B. Lambert of Long Beach has been awarded the contract for the construction of the Carnegie library at Huntington Beach. The cost of the building will be $10,000. The site is on Walnut avenue adjoining the Huntington Inn. The city already owns a good selection of books, and money has been appropriated for the proper maintenance of the institution.

The Huntington Beach Company has leased the old pavilion on the ocean front adjoining the new pier, to the city of Huntington Beach. The city will maintain the pavilion as a sunroom.

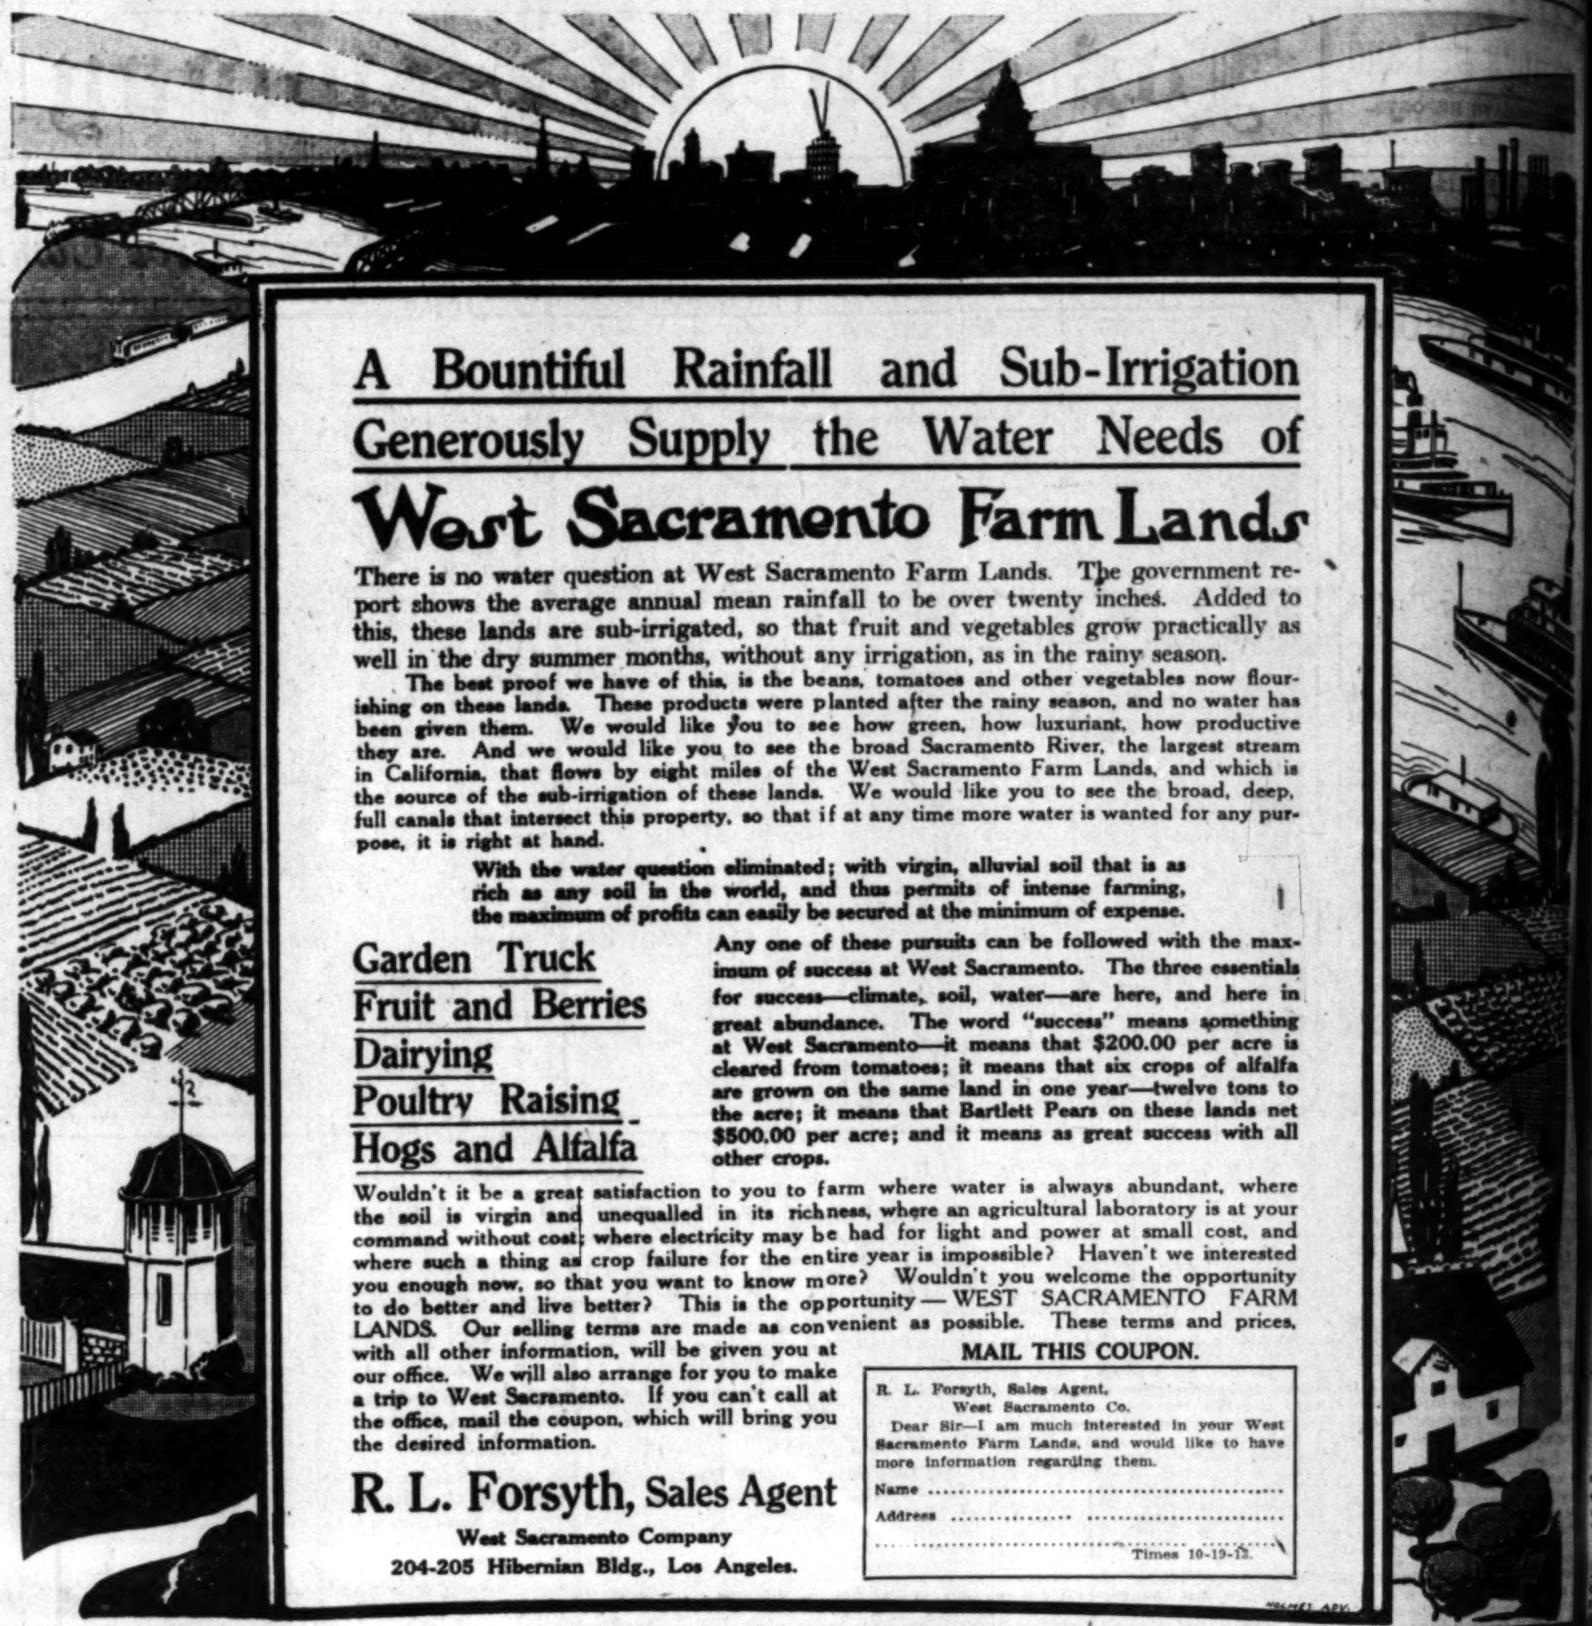
Plans are under way for the bulkheading of the strand for a distance of three or four blocks from the present bath-house. The purpose of the bulkhead is to provide some sites on the water front below the level of the bluff for necessary concessions.

WANT SEA WALL.

EAST NEWPORT, Oct. 18.—A petition is being circulated among the property owners in the vicinity of the bay front on Bay Island for the erection of a substantial sea wall to extend for several blocks. This movement is being received enthusiastically by all the owners of this section and there is a feeling that the work will soon be done. It is the intention to ask the city of Newport Beach to stand one-half of the expense of erecting this bulkhead as it will border on Bay avenue, a public thoroughfare. F. O. Engstrum, the Los Angeles contractor, who is at present erecting a handsome twenty-room home on the bay front has signed a petition with the rest of the owners, and has stated that he is ready to erect the wall in a substantial manner, and do the work at actual cost. He advocates a wall eight feet high, with four feet beneath the sand.

ON WEST SEVENTEENTH.

Among the attractive new west side apartment-houses is a three-story frame and plaster structure just completed by George L. and Alice Berger at No. 626 West Seventeenth street. The building occupies a ground space of 40x115 feet and contains forty rooms in two and three-room suites, together with a lobby and assembly-room. The building was planned by F. J. Borgmeyer. The property will be managed by the owners.



A Bountiful Rainfall and Sub-Irrigation Generously Supply the Water Needs of West Sacramento Farm Lands

There is no water question at West Sacramento Farm Lands. The government report shows the average annual mean rainfall to be over twenty inches. Added to this, these lands are sub-irrigated, so that fruit and vegetables grow practically as well in the dry summer months, without any irrigation, as in the rainy season.

The best proof we have of this, is the beans, tomatoes and other vegetables now flourishing on these lands. These products were planted after the rainy season, and no water has been given them. We would like you to see how green, how luxuriant, how productive they are. And we would like you to see the broad Sacramento River, the largest stream in California, that flows by eight miles of the West Sacramento Farm Lands, and which is the source of the sub-irrigation of these lands. We would like you to see the broad, deep, full canals that intersect this property, so that if at any time more water is wanted for any purpose, it is right at hand.

With the water question eliminated; with virgin, alluvial soil that is as rich as any soil in the world, and thus permits of intense farming, the maximum of profits can easily be secured at the minimum of expense.

Garden Truck
Fruit and Berries
Dairying
Poultry Raising
Hogs and Alfalfa

Any one of these pursuits can be followed with the maximum of success at West Sacramento. The three essentials for success—climate, soil, water—are here, and here in great abundance. The word "success" means something at West Sacramento—it means that $200.00 per acre is cleared from tomatoes; it means that six crops of alfalfa are grown on the same land in one year—twelve tons to the acre; it means that Bartlett Pears on these lands net $500.00 per acre; and it means as great success with all other crops.

Wouldn't it be a great satisfaction to you to farm where water is always abundant, where the soil is virgin and unequalled in its richness, where an agricultural laboratory is at your command without cost; where electricity may be had for light and power at small cost, and where such a thing as crop failure for the entire year is impossible? Haven't we interested you enough now, so that you want to know more? Wouldn't you welcome the opportunity to do better and live better? This is the opportunity—WEST SACRAMENTO FARM LANDS. Our selling terms are made as convenient as possible. These terms and prices, with all other information, will be given you at our office. We will also arrange for you to make a trip to West Sacramento. If you can't call at the office, mail the coupon, which will bring you the desired information.

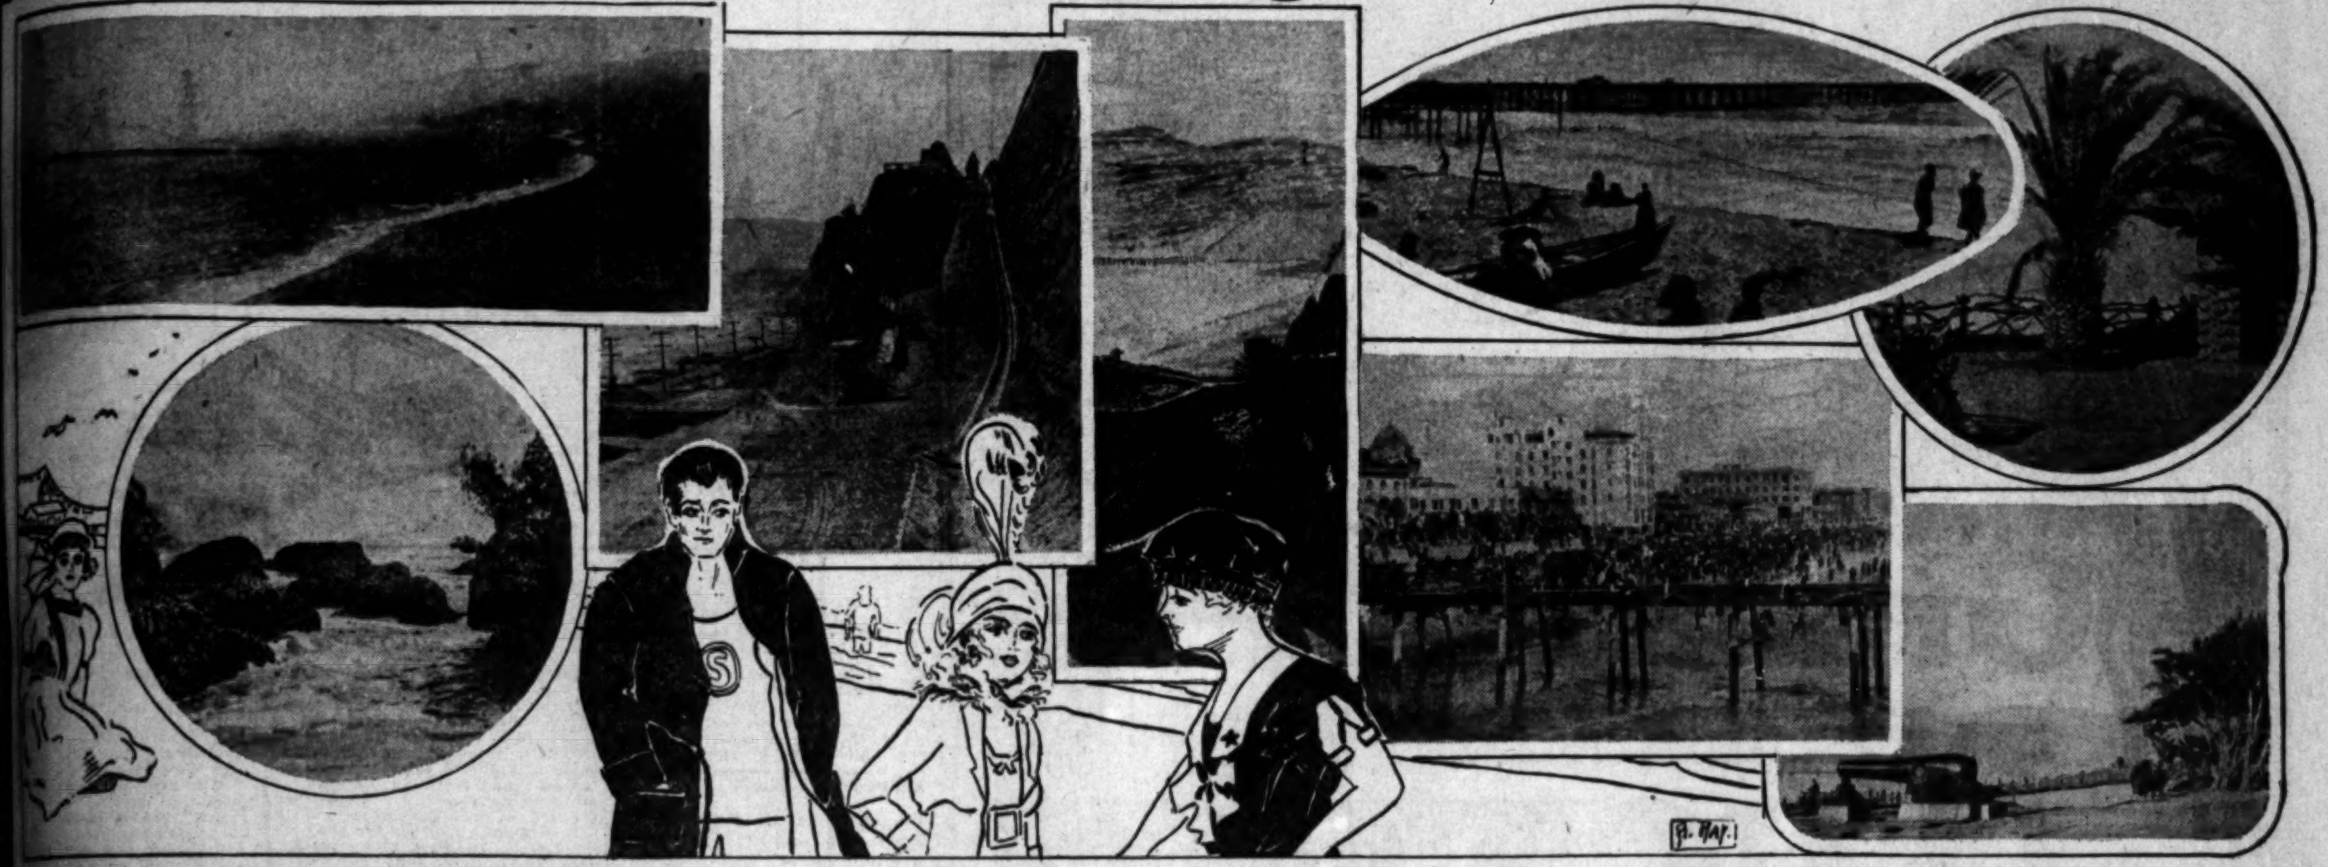
Santa Monica's Strand the Gathering Place of the World's Elite



American and European Aristocracy Meet for Their Long Gala Days at the Crescent Bay City

great playground, Santa makes all of the world kin. of the highest social and finan- of Europe as well as the of America, together great middle classes and not so fortunate finan- become one vast family of the most beautiful cities, Santa Monica. wonder at this mar- attraction for the of humanity that annual- Santa Monica, when its various charms are properly considered?

Who could conceive of a great stretch of territory better suited to meet wholly every caprice of the great human family, both individually and collectively, than this sun-kissed, sea-girded, mountain and canyon-flanked health and pleasure resort.

Certainly no artist ever conceived of a more varied and magnificent setting from which to dash upon his palette masterpieces of art. Certainly no musician could desire nature's voices to render forth richer or more beautiful tones, from which he could catch the inspiration that would result in marvels of musical composition.

The nature lover truly never had a better opportunity to drink to the depths of the charms of this great universe, and to come into direct touch with Nature in her rarest phases and under her most fascinating moods.

The athlete not alone has every conceivable type of athletic pleasure and pursuit at his command, but added to all of this, he has in some instances the world's champions to compete with him in the sport he loves best, whether it be in tennis, golf, riding, swimming, rowing, sailing or motor-boating, or whatever other hobby he prefers.

The sportsman, too, feels that he has reached the mecca of sports when he arrives in Santa Monica. There is deer and other game to be had just for the killing along the many trails of the glorious old Sierra Mountains. There is also the best kind of deep-sea fishing, both for those who prefer taking a fishing smack and going some distance from the shore in pursuit of it, or for those who are just as content fishing on the strand or on any of the long fishing piers.

The health-seeker, though suffering from many complaints, can well depend upon getting relief from all of them, with a permanent cure of most or all of them, in 999 cases out of every 1000, if he or she takes up residence in Santa Monica.

The bracing sea air alone is fine tonic to the majority of constitutions. The water is considered by water experts to be the finest from a medicinal standpoint to be found in almost any city in the United States. Many who have lived for some time in Santa Monica and have thereby been greatly benefited or entirely cured of their various maladies, upon investigation have discovered that the daily drinking of plenty of the water of the Crescent Bay City had alone given them more direct benefit than months of medical treatment had accomplished before outside of Santa Monica.

The temperature of Santa Monica is another factor largely in its favor. Those who have lived in climates where there were continuous changes from one extreme to the other, and have as a result succumbed to bronchial or lung or other ailments, can best appreciate the equable climate of the Crescent Bay City, which is even ten degrees cooler in summer than Los Angeles itself, and ten degrees warmer in winter.

The scrupulous sanitation of Santa Monica as a city is another mighty factor in favor of Santa Monica as a place of extraordinary health advantage. Its sewerage system, its drainage and every other such feature has been given such thorough attention.

For the man or woman who does not need to seek a fairer climate for health's sake, but do so from the standpoint of their own personal comfort, find a real haven of rest and joy in this famed seaside home city.

The climate is so balmy that there is scarcely a day in the entire calendar that it is not pleasant to sit in the beautiful parks to read, or to bask in the beauty of the surrounding scenery, with the vast blue sea stretching out endlessly ahead, the giant chain of purple and gray-misted mountains as a background, the rugged canyons extending huge arms from the mountains to the ocean.

The clubman, be he ever so exacting in his tastes, will find all that he could desire of club life in the splendid $100,000 Los Angeles Country Club, but a ten minutes' ride from the most remote portion of Santa Monica.

The motorist has at his command automobile thoroughfares that are noted everywhere for the picturesqueness of their environment, and for their superior quality. He also has the satisfaction of knowing that in Santa Monica is the gathering place every year of the world's champion motorists.

The pleasure lover surely could not desire a broader variety of beach pleasures and amusements than are afforded by the countless numbers of "thrillers" of every description, merry-go-rounds, moving-picture and other theaters, dancing and roller-skating pavilions and houses of mirth by the dozens, at Santa Monica.

Neither could the society man or woman desire more enjoyable or higher-class social festivities than are given almost nightly at the beautiful Santa Monica homes of America's social elite.

RED TAPE.

Building Permit Hereafter to for Plumbing Inspection as Construction Work.

Contractor:] A careful upon the valuations given in or more building permits by the Los Angeles de- of building inspection shows 30 per cent., or approxi- one-third, are for minor alterations, sheds and small frame garages. The mere task of handling these permits, writing out the applications, going over the data and issuing the permits, then inspecting them after work has started, places an enormous clerical burden upon the office forces and causes loss of time on the part of inspectors which might more profitably be spent in ways of greater moment and benefit to the public.

Chief Inspector Backus has asked the Council that changes be made in the existing ordinances doing away with this seemingly needless waste of effort, time and money on the part of the departments. With this elimination there was also proposed at the same time the consolidation of the plumbing inspection department with that of the building department and the further simplification of the method of granting permits by including plumbing in the one permit for the erection. The Council looked with favor upon these changes and the ordinance providing for them, and the consequent reorganization of the department of inspection has now been prepared. It will be presented for approval and final passage at once.

The work of the building department has grown enormously of late years and the task of properly inspecting the 10,000 to 15,000 structures annually erected throughout the city of late years has proved burdensome in the extreme upon the force available to the department, and entails consequent bother upon the owners who must sometimes wait longer for an inspector's O. K. than necessary. The elimination of red tape and needless loss of time by the department itself is commendable.

The building inspector wants to get the new arrangement into effect as soon as possible so that the reorganization of his working methods may be complete and thoroughly efficient before the brand new building ordinance being completed by the Revision Commission is adopted, presenting as it will entirely new conditions to be solved by his department. The commission expects to have the new ordinance ready to report by the first of the year.

Picking Up.

REALTY MOVING AT LIVELY PACE.

SOUTH PASADENA SCENE OF MARKET ACTIVITY.

Two Important Exchanges and Several Transfers Reported in Past Few Days—Idaho Banker Acquires Fine Residence for a Permanent Home.

SOUTH PASADENA, Oct. 18.—Convincing proof that real estate in this city is becoming more active daily and that prominent eastern people who have passed their winters here for several years have now decided to make this city their permanent home is shown by the sales reported this week.

The most important deal announced is the exchange of the fine property at No. 226 Oak Lawn avenue, better known as the former home of Judge Pryor, and which was owned by M. L. Braithwaite. The new owner is Walter R. Sebree, a prominent banker and railroad man of Idaho, who will make this city his home. The holding consists of a handsome fourteen-room dwelling finished in mahogany, and with an exterior of stucco plaster. The lot is 180x200 feet in size. The deal was handled by the William R. Staats Company of Pasadena, which reports the consideration at $40,000, including the cost of the furnishings.

As part consideration in the trade, Braithwaite received from Sebree an attractive bungalow on Laurel street between Fair Oaks and Marengo avenue. The place contains nine rooms and commands a fine view of the whole range of mountains to the north. The lot is 100x177 feet and contains one of the largest and finest oak trees in that section of the city.

William Bradshaw has traded to A. Reese, 50x150 feet on Bushnell avenue, between Huntington drive and Oak street, improved with a ten-room house, receiving in exchange a twenty-five-acre barley ranch near Placentia.

Howard Kelley reports the sale of 51x140 feet on Ramona avenue, between Oak and Rollins street, improved with a six-room bungalow, for a consideration of $4500. The purchaser is A. Lytle of Santa Monica.

W. P. Blodgett, who lives in a cottage at the rear of No. 1027 Stratford avenue, has started the erection of a handsome seven-room home on the front of the property. B. F. Huntington has sold to H. R. Postle, 57x180 feet on Mound avenue, between Mission and Hope streets, improved with a six-room bungalow. J. R. Hirschler of this city has purchased a lot at East Newport on which he intends building a cottage for a summer home for his family.

P. J. Dolan is erecting a California bungalow on his lot at the southwest corner of Mission street and Marengo avenue.

INDUSTRY GROWING.

VAN NUYS, Oct. 18.—The poultry industry around Van Nuys is growing rapidly under the supervision of the Petaluma expert, O. B. Hubbell, who has recently located here. New ranches are being started on all sides, notably at North Van Nuys Acres. The new factory building of the Johnston Organ and Piano Company at Van Nuys has been completed and the company has started an inventory at its present location in Los Angeles, preliminary to moving its materials and machinery. The company has on its books $150,000 of new orders, which will not be started until operations are begun in the Van Nuys factory. The crops around Van Nuys this season were highly satisfactory. Young fruit orchards, planted two years ago, in many instances produced fair crops of peaches and apricots. Melons planted between the young trees produced an excellent revenue.

NEW HOTEL LEASED.

The business leasing department of the Wright-Callender-Andrews Company reports the leasing of the Hotel Loma, now under construction at No. 1009 South Figueroa street, adjoining the Alco Hotel. The Loma is a three-story brick building with steam heat, private telephones and 50 per cent. private baths and showers. The building is owned by the United Investment Company and is leased to Mrs. F. B. Snyder, formerly of Chicago, for a term of ten years, at a total rental of $46,500. The building will be completed about December 1, and will be handsomely furnished by the lessee. Both lessor and lessee were represented by Edward H. Foster, with the business leasing department of the above firm.

INSTALLING PIPE.

Rapid progress is being made on the installation of a complete irrigation system on Lakeview irrigated farms, according to James R. H. Wagner, Los Angeles representative of the Nuevo Land Company, owner of the property. Ten miles of cement pipe in twelve and fourteen-inch sizes is being laid. Delivery of this pipe was had some time ago under contract with the Concrete Pipe and Construction Company of Riverside and a considerable part of it already is in place and ready for service. The Nuevo Land Company also has recently entered into a contract with the Byron Jackson Pump Company for equipment for two new wells on the property. The land company has bought from Carsten Truelsen of Hemet approximately 5000 apricot and peach trees for spring planting. All streets traversing the property, it is announced, are to be lined with walnut trees.

BUY FONTANA GROVES.

Five young Fontana groves, three of which are already planted to 2-year-old orange trees, have just been sold to investors in Los Angeles, Long Beach and Hollywood. The purchasers are named by the Hhomas D. Campbell Company as follows: Mrs. Clara Sheafer, a ten-acre orange grove, $7000; R. L. Hill, ten acres in oranges, $7000; A. J. Bassler, five acres planted to oranges, $3600; Ray H. Bassler, five acres to be planted to oranges, $2850, and Martin Taralson, five acres to be planted to oranges, $2000.

START BIG RESERVOIR.

Construction work on the big distribution reservoir of Fairview Farms was started Thursday. A. C. Tobias, sales manager for Bryan & Bradford and H. H. Cotton, owners of the property, is superintending the work. The reservoir site covers four acres and the reservoir itself has a capacity of 1,000,000 gallons. It will be lined and covered. All of the sixteen-inch mains, some three miles in extent, have been laid and tested. Two miles of laterals have been laid and there are six miles more to install. The entire water system is said to be costing $75,000 and will be turned over to the land owners to be operated as a co-operative company when Fairview Farms tract shall have been disposed of.

WILL PLANT FIGS.

PLANADA, Oct. 18.—The deed of S. N. Griffith, the Fresno and San Francisco capitalist, to the Planada Figland Company, was filed with the County Recorder on September 27. The land conveyed comprises several hundred acres of the Griffith ranch east of town. The company expects to plant the land to figs. Walter Johnson, son-in-law of S. N. Griffith, is at the head of the new company.

The following sales of Planada lands last week are reported by the H. C. Landrum Realty Company, the Merced agents for the Planada Development Corporation: M. B. Folsom of Los Angeles, thirty acres in the Whealan subdivision (Folsom will develop his property immediately;) H. A. Lassey of Healdsburg, forty acres north of town, and J. W. Bradshaw of Covina, eighty acres in the same section.

PROVE BIBLE BY DISCOVERIES.

SIR WILLIAM RAMSAY VERIFIES BOOK OF LUKE.

Statues Found on the Site of the Ancient City of Antioch Tell When Quirinius Was Governor of Syria and Refute Historians Who Declared the Legend Was Wrong.

[Chicago Inter Ocean:] Woven into the legends of early Asia Minor runs a thread of story which tells of Queen Tryphaena, once of Thrace, then of Pontus and, finally, an alien in the city of Antioch of Pisidia. And the life of this Queen seems to be linked with the history of the Apostle Paul.

Sir William Mitchell Ramsay of Edinburgh, acknowledged to be Great Britain's most renowned archeologist, has directed his life work to establishing the truth of this ancient legend.

The noted scientist is in Chicago, where he will deliver a series of lectures at the Y. M. C. A. and the Moody Institute upon his explorations in Asia Minor.

"Gradually I am achieving my desires," he said. "The more I do of digging—literary digging—into the past, the more convinced I become of the historical accuracy of the Bible."

In line with this, the archeologist told of his recent excavations on the site of the ancient city of Antioch of Pisidia. The Book of Luke in the New Testament tells of a time when Quirinius was governor of Syria. Up to a short time ago historians have asserted this was an impossible fact.

"But I have proved the Bible correct once more," he said, and beamed in satisfaction. "Fifteen feet below the surface of the plain where once stood Antioch, I unearthed a statue, the first statue ever made in the city. And engraved on the marble was an inscription which proves that Quirinius actually had been Governor of Syria about the time of the birth of Christ. The inscription was in honor of the ruler of the city, who, it was written, held his place by appointment of Quirinius, the Governor of Syria.

"This would have been sufficient to prove the Book of Luke correct. But two miles farther from the place of finding the statue I, by some strange chance, unearthed the tombstone of the same city ruler. This stone, too, bore mention of Quirinius, the Governor."

Next year the explorer will go back to the site of Antioch and continue his excavations.

"I hardly will be content," he said, "until I have something to prove that Queen Tryphaena really lived."

The story of this queen is a story of romance and adventure. Once queen of Thrace, she was forced to flee to Pontus. But here she still was queen and ruled for a time, legend says, in happiness. But once more trouble came and she is supposed to have taken refuge in Antioch, about the time the Apostle Paul visited that city.

Then enters the exciting element. In the neighboring city of Iconium there lived a young woman named Thekla. Paul is said to have converted her to the Christian faith. She was found in Antioch and condemned to die in the arena of beasts.

"Legend says that Queen Tryphaena, herself an outcast, took pity on the poor Christian girl," Sir William explained. "She is supposed to have asked permission to keep her in her own home away from the brutal jailers until the time came for the fearful execution. The Queen's request was granted. For a few days the two women lived together. Then, on the day appointed, Thekla was led to the arena."

Here the legend ends, so far as the Queen is concerned. Thekla, it is told, was saved by the hand of God, the beasts refusing to spring upon her.

"It is such an interesting story," the explorer sighed, in ending the tale. "If I only can find that it is true I shall be satisfied with life."

GOVERNORS IMPEACHED.

Only Five Have Ever Been Deprived of Office in the United States—Four in the South.

[Memphis Commercial Appeal:] When we consider how many Governors have ruled in the forty-eight States that make our Union, it is remarkable that only five have been impeached for misconduct of their high offices. The people have always had the right to call their chief magistrate to account, for the provision was written into the Constitution. That only five times have they availed themselves of the right goes to show that as a rule they have picked good men for the office. Some Governors are better than others, but the really bad ones are few and far between.

The first Governor to be impeached and brought to trial was Charles Robinson of Kansas. The State was new to the Union and Robinson was its first Governor, and the troubles that ended in the destruction of Osawatomie were brewing over Kansas. Robinson was accused of improper conduct in connection with the sale of State bonds. Political feeling ran high, and the trial was necessarily acrimonious, but the verdict of the Senate was an acquittal.

North Carolina came next to the Senate bar with an impeached Governor. In 1870—while "reconstruction" bitterness was still at high tide, Gov. William H. Holden was accused of illegal imprisonment and of wrongfully declaring certain counties of the State to be in insurrection. It was at a time when the South resorted to Ku-Klux methods as the only means of preserving white supremacy. The trial of Gov. Holden was spectacular in the extreme, for the persons thrown into prison by his underlings were among the best citizens of the State, and their offense was the natural refusal to submit to the tyranny of the rulers the receding tide of Civil War left over them. Gov. Holden was declared guilty as charged, was removed from office and forever disqualified from holding office in North Carolina.

Gov. Powell Clayton of Arkansas, in the stormy carpetbag regime, was impeached for what his enemies called "conspiracy to deprive the "Lieutenant-Governor of the State of his office." He went to trial at the bar of the Senate, but the Senate, after investigation, recommended that the charge be dismissed, and consequently the impeachment was dropped.

In Louisiana the stage was set, in the early 70's, for the trial of Gov. Warmoth on a charge of attempted bribery. The person to whom the alleged bribe was offered was Lieut.-Gov. Pinchback, and the sum was said to be $50,000. Before the case came to trial, however, the Governor's term ended, and the impeachment proceedings were discontinued.

In Mississippi Gov. Albert Ames came into the white light of public disapproval under the accusation of having defrauded the State of vast sums of money through prison labor contracts. In the face of the charge he resigned his office, and the impeachment proceedings were not pushed to an actual trial.

Now New York occupies the unenviable position of holding its chief magistrate to account at the Senate bar, and the Sulzer case is filling columns in our daily papers.

This list of four impeached Governors out of six would put the South in a bad light were it not for the fact that her sorrows of impeachment fell mostly during those dark years that followed the Civil War, and that many of the Governors of that period were not representative men of the section, and those who were of the better element were fought tooth-and-toenail by the residue of the "carpetbaggers."

FIVE POWER GROUP.

The Several States Still Act Together in Making Loans to the Chinese Government.

[New York Herald:] A practical dissolution has taken place of the Chinese loan agreement by which the five powers concerned—Great Britain, France, Germany, Russia and Japan—gave a monopoly to certain banking groups for all Chinese loans, and from which the United States government withdrew its support.

The British government took the initiative in the dissolution of the agreement because of the failure of the other powers to observe its spirit. They had made of the agreement, according to the British official view, simply an instrument against the interests of British financiers.

The five powers mentioned still act together in making loans to the Chinese government for general administrative purposes, but each of the powers has been left free to support any of its citizens in floating loans for railroads and other industrial projects, and for provincial purposes.

The declared object of the original agreement, it is said here, was to prevent an international scramble to lend China money, but such a scramble is in progress and the dissatisfaction of British financiers because their government was using its influence to prevent them from bidding, has compelled the British Foreign Office to withdraw from the quintuple monopoly. Its support had heretofore been given to those banks participating in the quintuple loan to China.

A Crank Even in Death.

[Wedford (Or.) Tribune:] Carrying to his grave an antipathy for the fair sex which characterized his long life of single blessedness, William H. Hartley, a wealthy farmer, who died recently at the age of 73, provided in his will, which was filed for probate, for the erection of a monument upon which shall be in imperishable lettering his preference for bachelorhood.

After directing that a granite monument be placed over his grave, on which shall be carved an old bachelor standing on the brink of Jordan, preparing to cross the river, with a group of old maids on the other side, each beckoning to him, he requested that the following epitaph be engraved on the monument:

"To an independent, good-looking, old bachelor, who in his younger days preferred living in single life rather than get married and have a petticoat boss ruling over him."

Demoralizing.

I WON'T WORKS FOR FREE LOVE

AS WELL AS ABOLITION OF CAPITALISTIC CLASS.

The Organization Is a Purely Destructive Force and Would Change the General Attitude Not Only in Respect to Productive Institutions but Toward the Social Evil.

The preamble to the constitution of the organization known as the Industrial Workers of the World declares that "the working class and the employing class have nothing in common;" that "between these two classes a struggle must go on until the workers of the world organize as a class, take possession of the earth and its machinery of production and abolish the wage system;" that "the army of production must be organized, not only for its every-day struggle with capitalists, but also to carry on production when capitalism shall have been overthrown."

Editorially, the issue of The Industrial Worker from which the above is quoted does not give the views of the organization respecting the whole subject of social relations, but, as to one important phase, contains an article attributed to James F. Clark, and which is said to have appeared in The St. Louis Mirror. "Permit me to enter a respectful protest," the writer begins, "against the general attitude—your attitude—toward the 'social evil.' Why 'evil?' Why not call it the 'social good?' Unmarried women denounce it because they think it diminishes their chances of getting married, which is the one aim of nine hundred and ninety-nine out of a thousand—justly so, because with all its drawbacks, it is, after all, the most profitable job they can get. Married women denounce it chiefly from esprit du corps—that of the Married Women's Union, the most powerful of all trade unions. To them the woman on the street is simply a scab who cut wages. The union price is life support, and no union woman can have a good word for one who takes less.

"The whole tendency of the day is to regard all sex relations as quite devoid of any intrinsic moral significance. As a matter of contract (the marriage contract) they may acquire a certain moral significance—that is, breach of chastity, when chastity is a part of the contract, may be like any other breach of contract, but the superstitious attitude toward sex relations in themselves—the attitude that led the fathers of the church to speak of them, even in wedlock, as 'stuprum connubiale,' is fast fading. And why should the old prejudice not fade? It was primarily directed against derelictions on the part of woman for the very good reason that, on the part of woman, such derelictions are usually followed by very substantial and very burdensome consequences. There was nothing for it in those days but to scare them out of it with threats of hell. But nowadays, with prophylactic and remedy both at hand to the intelligent woman, why should she not adopt the man's standard? Why should we not approve her, rather than condemn, when she adopts it?"

"But how did you know I am a doctor?" asked his astounded visitor.

"By your sallow complexion and your general air of ill-health," explained the great detective.

ATTORNEY-GENERAL OPPOSES GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP

Is Opposed to a Sharp Regulation of Business and Therefore Will Try to Restore Competition—The Dissolution of Each Trust, He Says, Is a Separate Matter and No Arbitrary Rule Can Be Made—Speaks of the Monopoly in Anthracite Coal and the Tobacco Combination.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—A wise old lawyer was talking over a murder trial with his young associate. "Mack," he asked, "do you know the law in this case?"

"I believe that I do," the associate said. He was James Clark McReynolds, now Attorney-General in President Wilson's Cabinet.

"The real law in this case," the old lawyer continued, smiling at the confidence of his associate, "isn't to be found in the books."

With that the wise old lawyer dropped the subject. He meant that the law was to be found in the human heart of the judge and the hearts of the jurymen.

"I always remembered the revelation I got that day," Attorney-General McReynolds said during the course of an interview he gave me. "Not at the bar, I overestimated the importance of the written statute."

"It was a murder case," I interposed, "and matters outside of the broken home and its grief and example—naturally would be considered."

"That was the point," Mr. McReynolds explained. "There is a human side to every case that is in court. The case may be as dead as ashes, but there is a judge on the bench. that the judicial robe common man into a being passion or prejudice. I think the public should realize that lawyers are not always engaged in efforts to cheat the law, as the phrase goes. A conscientious lawyer never engages in that business.

"But what is the law? The judges must tell us, and, as I have said, the judges are men after all. I had no doubt whatever of the intellectual integrity of the lawyers who attempted to stop me from breaking up the tobacco trust. They thought they would win, not on a technicality, but on the merits of their case. The law, they believed, was on their side. They interpreted it that way.

"Lawyers have so believed in other big national cases. The decisions of our courts have gradually established what the laws of Congress mean, but the decisions have come to us not all at once, but during a long period, an evolutionary period, I might properly call it. So it happens that acts which are unlawful now were not so a few years ago."

"But," I said, "it seems that lawyers are always hunting for technicalities and that they would prefer, merely as an intellectual exercise and a professional honor, to get their clients off by clever strategems, though their clients may be left somewhat smirched, than openly to go into court and try their cases in the simplest way."

REASON LAWYERS SPLIT HAIRS.

"No man of common sense," Mr. McReynolds answered, "would resort to such tactics, provided he had a good case. And while he might not have a good case, in his own view of the law and the facts, it might be perfectly good in the opinion of the court. Interpretation, as I have observed before, is a very human process. No lawyer can definitely tell what a decision will be until he hears it, though he may guess, and the decision which he hears may be reversed by a court higher up. Thus to obtain that which we call justice is often a slow proceeding."

"Not to mention a doubtful proceeding," I added.

"There again," Mr. McReynolds replied, "the outcome of the proceeding, whether expected or unexpected, depends on the previous point of view. Human nature, I want to repeat, cannot be eliminated from our efforts to learn the intent of the law."

"My inquiry about trusts," I said, "leads to another. Can the old-fashioned kind of competition in business be restored?"

The proprieties of the occasion restrained me from going further in an endeavor to learn the programme of the Wilson administration and about the thunderbolts which the Attorney-General may be forging himself.

"One of three results will be brought about in the United States," Mr. McReynolds answered. "Prices will be made under free-working conditions in business—that is with men and establishments competing against one another or the national government will sharply regulate business, or the government will take over large corporations and operate them from Washington.

"I am opposed to a strict regulation of business, and likewise to the ownership of business by the government. Therefore, I am trying to help bring about free working conditions, or competition in business. I am not hostile to wealth, nor to men who are doing business openly and fairly. Neither do I enthrone those men who have gained great wealth by unjust practices. I thus state my position in a few words. I want to see prices natural and not unnatural—to see them fixed by the laws of trade and not by combinations among producers."

TALKS ABOUT TOBACCO TRUST.

"What personal convictions did you bring away from the trial of the tobacco trust?"

"That matter, and I speak frankly, was put in my hands to be worked out and tried on my own plans. I wrote the bill myself, and the case was tried on my own lines. We gained everything in the Supreme Court that we hoped to gain. Congress, it was shown, had power over such combinations as the tobacco trust.

"When the case went to the lower court, however, where the scheme of dissolution was to be determined upon, Mr. Wickersham, the Attorney-General, and myself disagreed entirely. His plan was followed. Now, when five men own a number of establishments which have been merged into one establishment there is no real dissolution if three of the men are permitted to come into possession of the business which is said to have been broken up.

"Each trust case, of course, is unlike any other case in some respect. It must be considered by itself. No arbitrary rule can be laid down, consequently, for the ending of all trusts. Since I became Attorney-General the Union Pacific Railroad has been required to dispossess itself of the Southern Pacific Railroad, which it had owned for twelve years. A part of the shares went to an eastern and a non-competing railroad and the remaining shares are to be sold to persons and interests not connected with the Union Pacific Company.

"I think this particular scheme of dissolution in this particular case will be satisfactory to the public. When the courts declare a combination to be unlawful, the several parts of the combination ordered to be dissolved should be owned finally by different groups of men."

"Is the United States becoming socialistic?" I inquired.

"Judged by the standards of fifty years ago, it is," McReynolds replied. "A modern instance will illustrate what my answer means. The Reading Railroad Company owns 63 per cent. of all the anthracite coal lands in the United States.

THE MONOPOLY IN HARD COAL.

"The coal land covers a small area in Pennsylvania. Therein is stored the anthracite supply of the whole country. The Reading company, not only owns 63 per cent. of these lands, but it claims the right to acquire by purchase all the rest of the lands.

"The people, in my opinion, will never permit the Reading company, or any other company, to obtain a monopoly of our hard coal lands and mines. It is human nature, perhaps, to want all of the lands, and it is human nature to prevent the ownership of all the lands from going into the same hands. The bulk of the human nature in this case, happily, is opposed to a monopolization of the anthracite supply. The monopoly, therefore, will be halted by the people in some manner. The manner may be socialistic, if all other ways fail."

Atty.-Gen. James C. McReynolds.

Elkton, in Kentucky, a village of 1000 inhabitants, was the Attorney-General's birthplace. His father was a Virginian, but after being graduated from the Philadelphia Medical School, he settled in Elkton, where he was a country physician for fifty years.

"He had more common sense about more things than any man I ever have known," his son said to me. "A good doctor, he also was a good business man. If he said a thing was so, every one knew that it was so. No person was ever known to question his word."

"Did he give you a working code by which to live?"

"He admonished me to keep in the middle of the road and to tell the truth. He did not advise me as to the work I should do. I was left a free choice. My younger brother studied medicine and is now practicing in Los Angeles. I grew up at Elkton, and when old enough, joined a debating club. Later, I was a member of a debating club at the university. Before I was fully conscious of it, I was headed toward the bar. I am sorry debating clubs are not so popular as they used to be."

LEARNED BUSINESS IN A BANK.

"What hardships did the Civil War bring to your family?"

"It gave freedom to our slaves and left us land poor. My father said he would build his fortune over again and he made the promise good in time. Meanwhile, I chopped wood on our plantation, plowed and took other lessons in practical agriculture. Then, at the age of 16, I went into the Elkton Bank, of which my father was part owner, to learn how to keep books and loan money. The experience I gained in the bank has been of great value to me as a lawyer.

"I entered Vanderbilt University, at Nashville, Tenn., when I was 17. My father financed me through my classical course and also through the law department of the University of Virginia. Hard times never troubled me. So far, during my life, all things have come easily. John Barbee Minor was my professor of law. He was a great man and a remarkable teacher, having as sound and true an influence on the young men of the South as had Theodore W. Dwight on the young men of the North.

"My practice began at Nashville. I had to start somewhere. My first fee was earned as a counselor. A man wanted to know if he could make a railroad pay for a trunk which had been burned up in one of its stations. I told him that he could not and charged him $5 for the information. I got along very well from the day I opened an office and felt independent and comfortable, knowing I could write home if necessary. But it was never necessary.

"Law business often comes to a young man in ways which seem to be accidental. That, at least, has been my experience. The first requirement in building up a practice is to make acquaintances. Then the man new at the bar, must impress those whom he meets with the belief that he is competent to take care of their business. A friendly attitude toward the world is essential, but it will be of little help unless the world thinks the young lawyer capable

WON FAME IN NASHVILLE.

"Many large partnerships are organized on the theory that certain of the members of the firm are experts in going out and getting business, while certain other members of the firm are experts in doing the business once it is obtained. This plan, is in successful operation in all large cities. But when a young man starts out alone, he must be qualified both to get and to transact business.

"I practiced in Nashville for a long time, trying cases before a cross-eyed justice of the peace and in the Supreme Court of the State and writing promissory notes for $100, as well as marriage contracts calling for considerable sums of money. Once I was in a murder case. The evidence was circumstantial, but we convicted the man whom I helped to prosecute. But most of my business at all times was far removed from the criminal courts."

"How did you become Assistant Attorney-General of the United States?"

"Mr. Knox, the Attorney-General, was looking for some one to try cases in the Supreme Court. A man who knew both of us recommended me. I came to Washington at the invitation of Mr. Knox. We sat down in this very room. Inside of fifteen minutes the bargain was closed.

"I thought it was a fine chance, professionally, to represent the United States in large matters before our highest court. No one's future was depending on me, and so I gave up my Nashville practice and my place as professor of law at Vanderbilt University and moved to Washington. After serving three years and a half in public office, I established myself in New York."

"Senator Knox, of whom you have been talking," I said, "became Attorney-General at President McKinley's request. He abandoned a practice which paid him $180,000 the last year he was in Pittsburgh for a place in the Cabinet, the salary of which was then but $8000 a year. You, too, must have sacrificed your personal interests when you entered President Wilson's Cabinet?"

"Yes, but all of us know beforehand just what pay we shall receive. Sympathy, therefore, is wasted when extended to us. We are persuaded to believe, you understand, that we owe something to the public. But when we get into office we suddenly discover that a good many of the people think that public men are dishonest. Indeed, the man taking office must actually prove that he isn't. The burden is always on him.

Is Opposed to a Sharp Regulation of Business and Therefore Will Try to Restore Competition—The Dissolution of Each Trust, He Says, Is a Separate Matter and No Arbitrary Rule Can Be Made—Speaks of the Monopoly in Anthracite Coal and the Tobacco Combination.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

ASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—A wise old lawyer was talking over a murder trial with his young as- "Mack," he asked, "do you the law in this case?"

"I believe that I do," the associate He was James Clark McReynolds, now Attorney-General in President Wilson's Cabinet.

"The real law in this case," the old lawyer continued, smiling at the confidence of his associate, "isn't to be found in the books."

With that the wise old lawyer dropped the subject. He meant that the law was to be found in the human of the judge and the hearts of the jurymen.

"I always remembered the revelation I got that day," Attorney-General McReynolds said during the course of an interview he gave me. "Not at the bar, I overestimated the importance of the written statute."

"But it was a murder case," I and matters outside of the broken home and its grief and for example—naturally would be considered."

"You miss the point," Mr. McReynolds replied. "There is a human side practically to every case that is tried in court. The case may be as dry and dead as ashes, but there is a judge on the bench. I think that the judicial robe a common man into a being of passion or prejudice. It is not. A judge may be covered over feet of ermine, but dig deep and you will find a human

I think the public should realize that lawyers are not always engaged in efforts to cheat the law, as the phrase goes. A conscientious lawyer never engages in that business.

"But what is the law? The judges must tell us, and, as I have said, the judges are men after all. I had no doubt whatever of the intellectual integrity of the lawyers who attempted to stop me from breaking up the tobacco trust. They thought they would win, not on a technicality, but on the merits of their case. The law, they believed, was on their side. They interpreted it that way.

"Lawyers have so believed in other big national cases. The decisions of our courts have gradually established what the laws of Congress mean, but the decisions have come to us not all at once, but during a long period, an evolutionary period, I might properly call it. So it happens that acts which are unlawful now were not so a few years ago."

"But," I said, "it seems that lawyers are always hunting for technicalities and that they would prefer, merely as an intellectual exercise and a professional honor, to get their clients off by clever strategems, though their clients may be left somewhat smirched, than openly to go into court and try their cases in the simplest way."

REASON LAWYERS SPLIT HAIRS.

"No man of common sense," Mr. McReynolds answered, "would resort to such tactics, provided he had a good case. And while he might not have a good case, in his own view of the law and the facts, it might be perfectly good in the opinion of the court. Interpretation, as I have observed before, is a very human process. No lawyer can definitely tell what a decision will be until he hears it, though he may guess, and the decision which he hears may be reversed by a court higher up. Thus to obtain that which we call justice is often a slow proceeding."

"Not to mention a doubtful proceeding," I added.

"There again," Mr. McReynolds replied, "the outcome of the proceeding, whether expected or unexpected, depends on the previous point of view. Human nature, I want to repeat, cannot be eliminated from our efforts to learn the intent of the law."

"My inquiry about trusts," I said, "leads to another. Can the old-fashioned kind of competition in business be restored?"

The proprieties of the occasion restrained me from going further in an endeavor to learn the programme of the Wilson administration and about the thunderbolts which the Attorney-General may be forging himself.

"One of three results will be brought about in the United States," Mr. McReynolds answered. "Prices will be made under free-working conditions in business—that is with men and establishments competing against one another or the national government will sharply regulate business, or the government will take over large corporations and operate them from Washington.

"I am opposed to a strict regulation of business, and likewise to the ownership of business by the government. Therefore, I am trying to help bring about free working conditions, or competition in business. I am not hostile to wealth, nor to men who are doing business openly and fairly. Neither do I enthrone those men who have gained great wealth by unjust practices. I thus state my position in a few words. I want to see prices natural and not unnatural—to see them fixed by the laws of trade and not by combinations among producers."

TALKS ABOUT TOBACCO TRUST.

"What personal convictions did you bring away from the trial of the tobacco trust?"

"That matter, and I speak frankly, was put in my hands to be worked out and tried on my own plans. I wrote the bill myself, and the case was tried on my own lines. We gained everything in the Supreme Court that we hoped to gain. Congress, it was shown, had power over such combinations as the tobacco trust.

"When the case went to the lower court, however, where the scheme of dissolution was to be determined upon, Mr. Wickersham, the Attorney-General, and myself disagreed entirely. His plan was followed. Now, when five men own a number of establishments which have been merged into one establishment there is no real dissolution if three of the men are permitted to come into possession of the business which is said to have been broken up.

"Each trust case, of course, is unlike any other case in some respect. It must be considered by itself. No arbitrary rule can be laid down, consequently, for the ending of all trusts. Since I became Attorney-General the Union Pacific Railroad has been required to dispossess itself of the Southern Pacific Railroad, which it had owned for twelve years. A part of the shares went to an eastern and a non-competing railroad and the remaining shares are to be sold to persons and interests not connected with the Union Pacific Company.

"I think this particular scheme of dissolution in this particular case will be satisfactory to the public." When the courts declare a combination to be unlawful, the several parts of the combination ordered to be dissolved should be owned finally by different groups of men."

"Is the United States becoming socialistic?" I inquired.

"Judged by the standards of fifty years ago, it is," McReynolds replied. "A modern instance will illustrate what my answer means. The Reading Railroad Company owns 63 per cent. of all the anthracite coal lands in the United States.

THE MONOPOLY IN HARD COAL.

"The coal land covers a small area in Pennsylvania. Therein is stored the anthracite supply of the whole country. The Reading company, not only owns 63 per cent. of these lands, but it claims the right to acquire by purchase all the rest of the lands.

"The people, in my opinion, will never permit the Reading company, or any other company, to obtain a monopoly of our hard coal lands and mines. It is human nature, perhaps, to want all of the lands, and it is human nature to prevent the ownership of all the lands from going into the same hands. The bulk of the human nature in this case, happily, is opposed to a monopolization of the anthracite supply. The monopoly, therefore, will be halted by the people in some manner. The manner may be socialistic, if all other ways fail."

Atty.-Gen. James C. McReynolds.

Elkton, in Kentucky, a village of 1000 inhabitants, was the Attorney-General's birthplace. His father was a Virginian, but after being graduated from the Philadelphia Medical School, he settled in Elkton, where he was a country physician for fifty years.

"He had more common sense about more things than any man I ever have known," his son said to me. "A good doctor, he also was a good business man. If he said a thing was so, every one knew that it was so. No person was ever known to question his word."

"Did he give you a working code by which to live?"

"He admonished me to keep in the middle of the road and to tell the truth. He did not advise me as to the work I should do. I was left a free choice. My younger brother studied medicine and is now practicing in Los Angeles. I grew up at Elkton, and when old enough, joined a debating club. Later, I was a member of a debating club at the university. Before I was fully conscious of it, I was headed toward the bar. I am sorry debating clubs are not so popular as they used to be."

LEARNED BUSINESS IN A BANK.

"What hardships did the Civil War bring to your family?"

"It gave freedom to our slaves and left us land poor. My father said he would build his fortune over again and he made the promise good in time. Meanwhile, I chopped wood on our plantation, plowed and took other lessons in practical agriculture. Then, at the age of 16, I went into the Elkton Bank, of which my father was part owner, to learn how to keep books and loan money. The experience I gained in the bank has been of great value to me as a lawyer.

"I entered Vanderbilt University, at Nashville, Tenn., when I was 17. My father financed me through my classical course and also through the law department of the University of Virginia. Hard times never troubled me. So far, during my life, all things have come easily. John Barbee Minor was my professor of law. He was a great man and a remarkable teacher, having as sound and true an influence on the young men of the South as had Theodore W. Dwight on the young men of the North.

"My practice began at Nashville. I had to start somewhere. My first fee was earned as a counselor. A man wanted to know if he could make a railroad pay for a trunk which had been burned up in one of its stations. I told him that he could not and charged him $5 for the information. I got along very well from the day I opened an office and felt independent and comfortable, knowing I could write home if necessary. But it was never necessary.

"Law business often comes to a young man in ways which seem to be accidental. That, at least, has been my experience. The first requirement in building up a practice is to make acquaintances. Then the man new at the bar, must impress those whom he meets with the belief that he is competent to take care of their business. A friendly attitude toward the world is essential, but it will be of little help unless the world thinks the young lawyer capable

WON FAME IN NASHVILLE.

"Many large partnerships are organized on the theory that certain of the members of the firm are experts in going out and getting business, while certain other members of the firm are experts in doing the business once it is obtained. This plan, is in successful operation in all large cities. But when a young man starts out alone, he must be qualified both to get and to transact business.

"I practiced in Nashville for a long time, trying cases before a cross-eyed justice of the peace and in the Supreme Court of the State and writing promissory notes for $100, as well as marriage contracts calling for considerable sums of money. Once I was in a murder case. The evidence was circumstantial, but we convicted the man whom I helped to prosecute. But most of my business at all times was far removed from the criminal courts."

"How did you become Assistant Attorney-General of the United States?"

"Mr. Knox, the Attorney-General, was looking for some one to try cases in the Supreme Court. A man who knew both of us recommended me. I came to Washington at the invitation of Mr. Knox. We sat down in this very room. Inside of fifteen minutes the bargain was closed.

"I thought it was a fine chance, professionally, to represent the United States in large matters before our highest court. No one's future was depending on me, and so I gave up my Nashville practice and my place as professor of law at Vanderbilt University and moved to Washington. After serving three years and a half in public office, I established myself in New York."

"Senator Knox, of whom you have been talking," I said, "became Attorney-General at President McKinley's request. He abandoned a practice which paid him $180,000 the last year he was in Pittsburgh for a place in the Cabinet, the salary of which was then but $8000 a year. You, too, must have sacrificed your personal interests when you entered President Wilson's Cabinet?"

"Yes, but all of us know beforehand just what pay we shall receive. Sympathy, therefore, is wasted when extended to us. We are persuaded to believe, you understand, that we owe something to the public. But when we get into office we suddenly discover that a good many of the people think that public men are dishonest. Would Fill Big Lake.

NEARLY THREE BILLION BARRELS OUR OIL YIELD.

PRODUCTION of oil in the United States since the inception of the industry in 1859 has totaled 2,820,351,935 barrels, valued at $2,326,317,138, according to figures compiled by W. M. Dunham from records of the Geological Survey and recently published in the Oil and Gas Journal. Enough oil has, therefore, been produced in this country to fill a lake about 150 miles square to a depth of about five feet.

The average value per barrel of all the oil produced in the country since the inception of the industry has been about 82.8 cents. The highest valuation was probably attached to the oil produced the first year of the industry's history—some $16 per barrel. During the few years shortly following the value underwent a rapid reduction, dropping to less than 50 cents a barrel in 1861. However, in 1864, it rose again to nearly $10 a barrel and continued to maintain a comparatively high average until 1879, when it fell considerably below $1. After a few years, however, there was a reaction, but a decline brought the value to a low point in the early nineties. Except for 1905 and 1906 the average has been good during recent years. In 1912 it was about 82 cents per barrel—not much below the average since the inception of the industry.

The increase in production during recent years has been very rapid. The output of 1912 was about 150 per cent. larger than the output of 1902, while the increase amounted to only about 40 per cent. the preceding ten-year period. The production of the country first passed the 100,000,000-barrel mark in 1903. It is a rather interesting fact that California shows every indication of nearly attaining the same mark this year. The production of the country last year was over 222,500,000 barrels, California furnishing about three-sevenths of the total. The effect of this State's great output is seen all through the production of the country in recent years.

Daily average value of the oil produced in the country last year was $449,554, not so much short of the half-million-dollar mark. It compares with a daily average value fifty years ago of a little over $2000. Daily average value of production the first year of the industry was $88.

Daily average production the first year of the industry was six barrels, about as much as is produced by some of the smallest wells in California. Daily average output of the country last year was nearly 610,000,000 barrels. The total value of the oil produced was $164,087,342.

It is significant of the future of the industry that the production of all these years probably represents but a very small fraction of the total oil resources of the country. These will, however, undoubtedly undergo an exceedingly rapid development in the next few years.

WATERS-PIERCE FINANCES.

Earnings of Big Oil Corporation on Increase, but Are Still Much Less Than in Past Years.

The combined assets of the Waters-Pierce Oil Company and the Pierce-Fordyce Oil Association, as of April 30, 1913, are given as follows: Excess of current assets over current liabilities, $5,587,755; freehold real estate, $2,560,596; oil-producing lands and leases (appraised value $36,427,500,) inventoried at $18,561,343; tank steamships, tank cars and other equipment, less depreciation, $1,610,010; leases covering 556 distributing stations at nominal rentals, $375,000; buildings, refineries, plant and equipment, $5,118,926; total, $33,813,630.

The combined net earnings of the two companies since 1901 have been as follows:

FULLERTON ACTIVITIES.

Monte Cristo Strikes Heavy Oil Sand—Fisher Company's Well Is Down Nearly a Mile.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

FULLERTON, Oct. 8.—The Monte Cristo well is reported to have a very heavy oil at 3650 feet. The well is producing about fifteen barrels of oil a day in 200 barrels of water. At present the water has not been shut off. The company will probably sink the hole to a depth of at least 4000 feet. It is reported that work on the Monte Cristo Armstrong well has been delayed on account of a strike of salt water.

The Standard should soon bring in a well within the city limits of Fullerton. The cement has set and drilling has been resumed at a depth of 3650 feet.

The Fisher Oil Company has one of the deepest holes in the Fullerton field. The well is now down over 5000 feet and has gone through nearly 150 feet of oil sand.

Well No. 4 on the Fullerton Oil Company's lease is now down 2600 feet, and No. 8 is down nearly 3300 feet.

The North American is spudding in on well No. 2 on the Klokke lease. No. 1 has been changed from cable to rotary tools.

The California-Oklahoma Oil Company, a new concern, has commenced drilling a well north of Placentia, having purchased the rig of the Patterson company.

William Farrand, who has been superintendent for the Brea Canyon Oil Company for many years, has resigned and is succeeded by Abe Yost, who has been drilling in the Fullerton fields for nearly fifteen years. Well No. 11 on the company's lease is down over 3500 feet, and No. 12 has reached a depth of nearly 2000 feet.

The St. Helen's Company's well No. 2 is down about 3000 feet and the casing will be cemented soon.

"MIDWAY" AFTER FLOWING WELL.

COMPANY SEEKS TO MAKE NUMBER SIX LARGE PRODUCER.

Trying to Develop Flow Equal to That of Pacific Crude or Buick Producers—Many New Rigs Building in Midway Field—Record of Progress and Development.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

BAKERSFIELD, Oct. 15.—The California Midway Oil Company is cleaning out No. 6 on section 32 31-23 in an effort to bring in a flowing well like the excellent producers at the Buick and Pacific Crude properties, which are adjacent to the California Midway lease. The well was in the oil sand several months ago and has been on the pump, but the company is confident that development will bring it into the flowing class.

The St. Lawrence Oil Company near Midland, on section 5 31-21, has contracted with O. P. Goode for the erection of a rig on its property that work may begin on the new well early in November. The company already has five producing wells on the lease.

Derricks have just been completed for the Midway Royal Petroleum Oil Company, which has one producer on section 19, 31-23, and for the Eagle Creek Oil Company, which has six producing wells on section 31 31-23.

A new rig is going up on the Honda Oil Company's lease on section 15 31-22 in North Midway district. The company has four active low-gravity wells.

The Midway Consolidated Limited is putting down the 6¼-inch pipe in its No. 3 well on section 4 32-23, having landed the 8-inch pipe at a depth of 3150 feet. Cable tools are now being used.

Well No. 1 of the Comstock Crude Oil Company is making excellent progress. The lease is on section 34 12-23 on the Maricopa flat and is the second hole started by the company, the first having been abandoned at about 700 feet. The derrick was moved to the site of the present well about thirty feet away. The 12½-inch casing was landed at 1612 feet and work has been resumed with ten-inch pipe.

Lakeview No. 2 on section 4-11-2?, under Superintendent W. J. Barnhart, is getting ready to drill well No. 4. The rig is up and the well will be drilled with a rotary.

The Union Oil Company on the McLeod lease on section 34-31-23 has gone down about 2500 feet with its new well.

Well No. 4 of the Midway Consolidated Limited has the 6¼-inch casing landed at 3250 feet, and will be finished as soon as the water is completely shut off. The well is on section 4-32-23, and is in the neighborhood of several good flowing wells.

No. 3 well of the Midway Fields Oil Company on section 4-11-25, which has stood cemented for a month past, will be redrilled immediately. Water was very troublesome in the well, but it is hoped that the stream is entirely shut off. Well No. 2 of the same company is down 2700 feet and is progressing slowly.

Well No. 10, of the Hale-McLeod Oil Company, which is being redrilled, is down 2700 feet in brown shale with a good showing of oil and gas. No. 11 is producing 100 barrels of twenty-one gravity oil daily. Well No. 12 has made good progress since it was spudded in last week with cable tools.

Well No. 9 of the Pacific Midway Oil Company is down over 1825 feet and is nearing the big oil sand of the Maricopa Queen, which should be within a few hundred feet. W. F. Scott will cement off at 1875 feet, when the eight and three-quarter-inch casing will probably be landed. Superintendent Floyd Knight is using every precaution to keep the water out of the upper sand.

Well No. 2 of the Pyramid Oil Company on section 28, 32-24, has landed the ten-inch casing at 2372 feet. Seven tons of cement were used in cementing off the water.

The Associated Oil Company has well No. 5 down 3040 feet on section 34, 21-23. The eight and one-quarter-inch casing will be set at 3100 feet. Well No. 6 is down 3006 feet and No. 7 has reached 2465 feet. No. 4 is in oil sand but the continual sanding up has hitherto prevented a steady flow.

Well No. 7 of the Section Fifteen Oil Company on section 15, 31-22, went into oil sand at 1038 feet, but will not be developed further till the market for heavy oil is better. The company has several thousand barrels of oil standing in sump holes.

Drilling has begun on well No. 3 of the General Petroleum Company on Buena Vista division, section 32, 31-23. A rotary is used. This well is in the vicinity of the No. 1 Boston-Pacific, a 1000-barrel well, which has been producing steadily for a year.

Wilkes Bros. are going ahead with the work on the Midway Columbian Company property which they recently took over to develop on a royalty basis. The property is on section 4, 32-23, territory with which the operators are thoroughly familiar. The contract calls for sixteen wells, one on every five acres, one string of tools to be kept running all the time. Drilling on well No. 1 will start in a few days, and work will continue till the entire eighty acres is developed.

A contract has been let to put down a well for the C.C.M.O. Company on section 10, 32-23, near the Santa Fe's "Jonah" well on which $200,000 has been spent in a vain effort to make it a producer. The territory is hard and deep, and gas is a frequent source of annoyance. A rotary will be used.

The M. J. and M. and M. Oil Company have spudded in a new well with standard tools. A sixteen-inch casing has been put down 400 feet. The well will be drilled into the big bottom sand that was developed by well No. 6, under Superintendent Jim White.

Well No. 1 of the St. Helen's Petroleum Oil Company on section 32, 31-23, has cemented its ten-inch casing at a depth of 3000 feet. A big well is looked for and the indications are that it will be finished in the oil sand within a month. The property adjoins that of the Boston-Pacific, and the Buena Vista division of the General Petroleum Company. Well No. 3, of the St. Helen's, on section 16, 32-24, is down 700 feet. Drilling is being done with a rotary outfit and a rotary disc bit.

Government Ownership.

for ten years and I say that public men are not dishonest. The zeal even of those occupying obscure positions in the government is remarkable. I recall a case involving millions of dollars. It had been tried over and over again and the United States had always lost in the courts.

"A law clerk, whose name, perhaps, will never be known outside of this department, stuck to the case through one defeat after another. He maintained that the position of the government was sound and that the cause ought never to be abandoned. Finally, after working years at his desk and over law books, he brought the matter to my attention. I sat up with it at night and concluded that he was right. The case was tried once more and the decision of the court was for the government.

"Why, the lawyer who argues the government's cases in the United States Supreme Court is paid but $5000 a year. Not only is the government getting conscientious and capable service, but it is getting honest service from the men in public office."

"DIESEL" ON RAILROAD.

Type of Explosion Engine Is Adapted for Use on Swedish Railroad—Light Fuel Consumption.

"A most interesting adaptation of the Diesel-type engine to railroad service in Sweden is lately recorded," says the Fuel Oil Journal.

"A seventy-five-horse-power, six-cylinder engine, running at 700 revolutions per minute, drives an electric generator which supplies current to two thirty-horse-power axle motors, on a car similar in construction to gasoline-driven cars now used by railroads in this country. The Swedish cars are designed for a maximum speed of thirty-seven miles an hour, pulling two trailers and carrying enough fuel for a run of 745 miles.

"The motor car alone used less than seven-eighths pound of oil per mile. With one trailer attached it used less than 1.1 pounds of oil, and with one trailer and two freight cars attached—a train weight of about sixty tons—it consumed slightly more than 1.2 pounds per mile. The speed of the train in these tests was respectively 26.5, 25 and 21.75 miles an hour on a twenty-three-mile track."

NEW VERMONT SQUARE.

The Southwest Land Company has a force of men at work resurfacing and oiling the streets in New Vermont Square. One thousand new ornamental trees have just been planted in the tract. During the past week the Southwest Land Company sold nine lots in New Vermont Square for a given total of $11,300, to the following purchasers: Wilber Scholes, south side Santa Barbara, between St. Andrews and Gramercy, $1250; Joseph Stanford, east side Western, between Forty-fifth and Forty-sixth streets, $1200; F. Building Trade Unions Form Organization.

Have Support of State Labor Federation.

Meet in Columbus to Perfect the Details.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTSMOUTH (O.) Oct. 18.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The forty- building trades delegates from cities attending the Ohio Federation of Labor meeting today formed a State organization. Frank Smith and Stephens Stil- of Cleveland were elected temporary president and secretary, respectively. The organization will be perfected at a meeting to be held in Columbus next February. Its purpose is to solidify all of the building crafts by union shop agreements whereby one cannot strike without the other, thereby eliminating unnecessary strikes and to organize all of the unorganized building trades workers of the State. It will union labor throughout the State. While every important town has such a local there has never been a State association before. The new body will have the support of the State Federation of Labor.

NOW PAYING THE PENALTY.

Paterson, N. J., is beginning to pay the penalty for its long-continued tolerance of the activities of anarchists and persons inclined towards anarchism, such as the members of the I.W.W.

One of the silk mills which suffered from the many weeks I.W.W. strike earlier in the year, has been removed to another place where operations can be conducted in peace. It employs several hundred hands. Another mill has been closed while its owners are looking for a favorable new location. Doubtless others will follow the examples of these unless there is soon manifested by the law-abiding citizens of Paterson a strong determination to clear the city of disturbers of the peace and enemies of orderly government and to keep it clear of them, as also of the anarchist newspapers published in that city.

Among the dire direct effects of the strike was the bankruptcy of the owners of several of the smaller mills. Now the city is experiencing the equally dire indirect effects. No effects could be more dire to a city than the removal from it of prosperous wages-paying factories.

Paterson has long permitted itself to be a free field for avowed anarchists and other persons who call themselves by another name, but do as anarchists do. The wonder is that it has not sooner felt serious effects of such indifference, such neglect of civic duty.

Now it is losing some of the industries which made it prosperous. Such fate is in store for any community in which there is not enough vigor of citizenship to uphold the supremacy of the law at all times. As a precautionary measure the citizens of Los Angeles must persistently vote against all measures and men that have the slightest flavor of that rabid Socialism which is the natural breeder of anarchism, including rabid union-laborism.

WAGES AND CAPITAL.

The Increase of the Former Compels Additional Capital to Be Employed to Accomplish Former End.

"However well meant attempts are to artificially increase wages,' says Liberty and Progress, an Australian publication, "we can never get away from their economic results, and one of the most important effects, which is always overlooked, is that they inevitably increase the amount of capital which has necessarily to be employed to achieve a given result or output, and thereby add to the toll which the community has to pay to capital to get its work done. Capital may be the 'common enemy,' but, unfortunately, nothing can be done without its aid.

"The greater the cost of building, of raw material, of carriage, of handling, of clerical work, or artisans' wages, and of all the et ceteras employed in business, the greater amount of capital must be employed in it.

"Capital is exactly like labor. It must be paid for its services. A smaller amount costs less, a larger amount costs more. It may be said that capital, small or large, tries to get as much as it can out of its employment, and no doubt this is true. But there can never be any monopoly in capital, as it is always kept in check by the competition of other capital. And once it tries to make more than a fair thing it induces immediate competition from other sources. Whatever may happen in exceptional cases, generally the rule must be that for whatever capital there is employed in business, there must be an adequate return of fair interest. When there is no return at all, bankruptcy ensues. When return is small, enterprise falls off. When wages are artificially raised in every direction, setting up a tremendous amount of interaction, all the capital employed in a paritcular line is similarly affected, and it is only reasonable to suppose that common action is taken by those employing it to raise prices, not only to pay the increase in the wages, but the larger interest charges on the additional capital which has to be employed.

"We have in Australia for many years adopted a mere rule-of-thumb method of putting up wages. They are raised by so-called industrial bodies, which do not consider economic reasons, and up goes the cost of living, in sympathy. Then the wages are put up again to meet the increased cost of living; the cost of living sympathetically responds; the wages boards and industrial courts again act in sympathy—and so it goes on; and no matter how sympathetically responsive wage boards and industrial courts may be, experience teaches that the increase in the cost of living can always be relied upon to keep well ahead of both."

Riding the Bumpers.

I.W.W.'S ON THE TRAIL OF "DIAMONDFIELD JACK."

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BUTTE (Mont.) Oct. 18.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The band of sixteen Industrial Workers of the World arrested in this city and released amid shouts of Socialists who filled the courtroom, later seizing an Oregon Short Line box car, defying the train crew and riding as far as Dillon, where they were clubbed out of town after a battle with the officers, are en route to Salt Lake City for the purpose of "getting" "Diamondfield Jack" Davis, according to information which leaked out in Industrial Workers' circles here today. Davis was assaulted by three agitators here in a store in broad day about a month ago, and shot through the jaw, but not before he had seriously carved one of his assailants, the others escaping. The I.W.W.'s here stated they were "going to Salt Lake to free a prisoner," but no significance was attached to the remark. That was their slogan, the meaning of which it is said, is "to get Davis." The band is working its way out of Southern Montana, southbound for Salt Lake. The I.W.W.'s a short time ago were released from the Minot, N. D., jail.

STRIKE FOR EXCITEMENT.

An English Physician Points Out That Labor Troubles Occur Only in the Dull Trades.

[New York Times:] In discussing the existing strike epidemic in England, says a London dispatch, a physician has made a remarkable suggestion. He said that the chief and underlying cause of such outbreaks was the craving everybody had for excitement and variety in life. "You will never find anyone who has undertaken a varied or exciting calling go on strike," he said, "however long the hours or bad the pay. On the other hand, persons who are most apt to go on strike generally work at monotonous callings, yielding but little excitement.

"Here is a list of callings in which strikes have occurred this year. You will find that the persons who struck are engaged in machine-like tasks, almost invariably coupled with long hours:

"Dockers, tramway men, gas workers, agricultural laborers, black country workers, street cleaners, metal workers, bricklayers, painters, steelmakers, rope makers, bookbinders and railwaymen.

"Workers whose trades are without excitement will always try to find some form of it in the little leisure that they have. That is why the great majority of amateur betting men are regular workingmen, and, again, the reason why the most fantastic melodramas are more enjoyed by the poorer classes, who lead drab lives, than by the educated classes, who have more time to engage themselves in varied pursuits. Then, the natural desire to be a master and not an underling eventually comes to those who work at machine-like tasks. A strike makes them masters of their masters for the time being, to however limited a degree.

"Even betting, football and melodramas do not satisfy this craving, and it is because a strike provides both excitement and the pleasure of 'government' that it is so often resorted to."

DECLINE OF APPRENTICESHIP.

[Editorial.]

THE system of apprenticeship as it existed in the Eastern States prior to the Civil War has been at an end for many years, and its loss is to be regretted.

"The apprenticeship system," says Holmes Beckwith, "took its rise in medieval handicraft work. A youth would bind himself to a master workman for a period which came in most cases to be fixed at seven years' work for him, and in turn to live in his house and be taught "the art and mysteries of his trade." The personal relations were exceedingly close and the personal factors dominated the technical. These were conditions under which the system was at its best. The interest of master united with that of the apprentice in seeking thorough training for the latter, because the long apprenticeship gave the master abundant chance to gain, if he had trained his apprentice to become a skillful worker."

The result was a system which, for the type of industries of that day, was probably better than any other which could be devised.

In the United States the medieval system was in vogue until the middle of the last century. Legal indentures were the rule in which parent or guardian, justice of the peace, or benevolent society, acting for the youth, bound him out to manufacturer, merchant, craftsman or mariner, usually for the period terminating at his majority. Both parties appeared in court and swore to carry out the provisions of the written indenture, whose terms were made to suit the special desires of the parties concerned. The policy of the State was to have all youths of artisan class taught a trade and neglected and orphan children provided with a home. The employer was liable for any failure to carry out his contract. The apprentice was punishable for any violation of his obligations. Runaways were classed in effect as slaves, and employers who did not advertise them as such and offer a reward for their recovery were held liable for necessaries furnished them. A file of any New York City newspaper published in 1850 would show advertisement in which there was a picture of a boy running with a bundle on his back, a description of his person and an offer of one cent reward for his return. This offer complied with the law and relieved the master of financial responsibility.

The changes wrought by machinery and industrial reorganization in shops and factories and the necessities of competing for a wide market and thus increasing output by every possible device, have left little time for superintendent, foreman or journeymen to instruct apprentices.

It is not to the interest of any subordinate to instruct an apprentice unless the employer requires it and pays for it as fully regular work. Consequently, the apprentice is compelled to shift for himself and pick up his trade as best he may. "Piece-working journeymen," says Holmes Beckwith, "would not show an apprentice how to do anything. Even a journeyman paid by time is likely to find, in the long run, that instruction given to apprentices is at his own cost, and means just so much less bread and butter in the mouths of his family. An example of this is given by the amusement with which a printer speculates as to the result to a journeyman in a big city office, who should have the temerity to enter on his time card, 'Half an hour showing Johnny the why and how of the Smith job.'"

Employers now secure their labor supply where they obtain journeymen trained by others, while if they went to the expense of training apprentices it might be merely to see them enter the employ of others. Apprentices learning their trade in the country go to the city. There is a continuous supply of skilled workers from Europe, and in the building trades helpers take the place of apprentices.

The use of machinery and division of labor have contributed to the decline of the apprentice system. Formerly one mechanic made every part of a piano and put it together. The same with a watch, a thermometer, a sofa and many articles of domestic use. Now from three to twenty workers are employed in making the different parts of an article. Sixty-four operatives are employed in a shoe factory to make a pair of shoes such as in the last century were made by one man. Even in the building trades machine work has superseded hand work. Carpenters have but little use for the plane, the mill does that work, and in large cities the mortar is mixed by machinery and carried in auto trucks to the building. Even carpenter work is specialized. One man lays shingles, another hangs doors, another lays floors and another tacks molding. According to Motley, of the 120 national and international trade unions, with a total of 1,676,200 members, affiliated in 1904 with the American Federation of Labor, fifty unions, with a membership of 766,417, do not attempt to maintain apprenticeship systems.

These fifty unions include thirty-five unions of unskilled workers who are able to pick up a knowledge of their work in a short time; eleven unions, seven of which are in railroad work, whose trades are recruited by promotion from associated positions, as engineers from firemen; seven unions in whose trades machine work and minute division of labor have made apprenticeship impossible; and two unions representing properly professions rather than trades.

Of seventy trade unions only nineteen succeeded in enforcing apprenticeship as a prerequisite to membership. Apprentices, after obtaining a smattering of a trade or becoming half-trained, frequently run away and take up work elsewhere, a practice exceedingly hard to stop.

Various methods have been suggested of supplying skilled workers for the future. James W. Van Cleave, the late president of the National Association of Manufacturers, advocated a manual training department in every public primary school and in free industrial high schools. The American Foundryman's Association advocates industrial continuation schools which should become differentiated into trade schools as the pupils reach the age of 16. The National Association of Builders proposes preparatory private trade schools affiliated with but not run by an association of builders.

The consensus of opinion among both employers and skilled workmen is that the State should establish trade schools with well-equipped, productive shops, where pupils are taught the best methods of rapid, high-grade production by skilled working mechanics. It is claimed "That where such a trade school can be established, with modern buildings and equipment and a moderate working capital, well managed, it will not only be an efficient educational institution, covering the high-school period, but it will be productive and largely self-supporting.

"That such a real trade school can be maintained with a course corresponding to the high-school course, persistently aiming to turn out working mechanics with superior mechanical skill and wide shop experience, plus good mental training. In this way a class of skilled American mechanics will be produced, meriting higher wages than the average mechanic, and the greatest good will come to wholesome organized labor and to individuals through individual merit."

There should be evening schools (general, industrial and trade,) half-day schooling each week for apprentices and other workers where the employer is willing to pay the regular wages while they attend school and part time schools.

Similar schools should be favored for girls and women in which, besides industrial studies, home economics should be given a large place.

REPORTS ON WAGES AND CONDITIONS.

Timely Bulletins from All Parts of the World.

The Miners Federation of Great Britain, by a vote of its membership, has decided that each member shall contribute one shilling a year for three years to finance the labor newspaper, the Daily Citizen. It is estimated that the total subscription will reach $450,000. The conference adopted a resolution authorizing the Federation to send $5000 a week to Dublin for the relief of the transport workers there until their strike is settled.

Women wage-earners in model tenements. The flat kitchens of the model tenements in New York are provided with gas ranges and even with electric cookers, while hot air drying rooms and electric breezes do away with the necessity for pulley lines. The new edifices are excessively comfortable, hygienic and artistic. The wage-earning woman of New York has at once recognized the opportunity offered in the new, fresh, delightfully planned apartment-houses with their iron terraces, awninged over with gay striped canvass, their Dutch kitchens, waste chutes, glass washtubs and other lures, and has marched in a noble army from boarding-houses, studios and apartments with uniformed boys in the hallway to the very heart of the tenement districts where she has distributed her rugs, her cushions and chafing dishes, her cats and her gold fish and taken up the simple life in real earnest in these model tenements erected in the most easily accessible quarters for working people.

The New York model tenements came at the psychological moment. Women workers in the professions that are classed as artistic had long lived haphazard in any old place. No special provision was made for them. Rents were high and comforts hard to procure. The plan upon which the rooms in these model tenements are let is as simple as that upon which they are built. The floors and walls are all of buff cement, the baths and basins of china or glass. The many windows open like doors upon the balconies, which at one side of the house, extend for a block along the river front.

The flats are charged for according to the number of rooms taken at $2 a room a week on the river side of the building. This includes electric light. The gas is furnished by a slot meter. The waste is removed in a magic toboggan in the wall. There are tubs, a range, hot and cold water, dumbwaiters and a roof garden. These tenements are on the East Side, where fruits and vegetables are sold at about one-third their cost on the West Side. Other foods are comparatively low in price. By these model tenements the woman who works and lives alone has honestly come into her own at last in New York. And at present, says the Sun of New York, she glories in it. This good move for the comfort and welfare of women workers is worthy of adoption in Los Angeles and in every other city in the country.

Juvenile Labor in English Textile Factories.

The following, from the Yorkshire Post, gives some data as to the employment of child labor in the textile industries of England:

"Lancashire and the West Riding of Yorkshire stand to lose heavily by the proposal made in the United States new tariff bill to exclude imports of goods in the production of which juvenile labor is employed, that is, labor of children under 14 years of age. Not only in the cotton county, but in the textile districts of the West Riding it appears, steps are being taken to bring pressure on the British government, through the Chambers of Commerce, to protest strongly against such prohibition.

"Yorkshire is affected to far less extent than the neighboring county; nevertheless around Bradford and Halifax, as well as in the vicinity of Leeds and Huddersfield, there is a certain proportion of young persons engaged in the manufacture of woolen and worsted cloth who come within the scope of the proposed clause.

"According to the last returns there were some 19,000 half-timers employed in the cotton industries of the country, and 8000 in the woolen and worsted industries, about 73 per cent. of the latter being in the West Riding. The number has, however, declined considerably of late. The half-timer, in fact, shows a tendency to disappear, and instead we have the case of children who, although not yet of the age of 14, have passed the prescribed educational standard, and are therefore entitled to work full time.

"While the total number of half-timers in the textile trades is 32,000 according to the 1907 return, the number of young persons up to the age of 18 employed on full time is 238,000, these figures, of course, being for the whole country. The difference between the 32,000 and the 27,000 previously mentioned is accounted for by those engaged in the silk, lace, hosiery and other industries, apart from cotton, worsteds and woolens. As regards adult labor, the full totals are: Males, 310,000; females, 405,000.

"The reason given for the employment of children under 14 is that they are thus enabled to learn their craft early, and so become useful at a reasonable age. How it is proposed to differentiate the "under 14 years" work from that "over 14 years" does not appear."

Labor's Unrest.

THE STRIKE NEWS OF THIS UNEASY WORLD.

IN CONNECTION with the Michigan copper strike, still in active progress, John A. Walker, president of the mining department of the American Federation of Labor, deliberately lied in publicly stating on October 5 that the salary of Quincy A. Shaw, president of the Calumet and Hecla Mining Company, is $300,000 a year. Mr. Shaw denies this and gives his salary as $15,000 a year and that of the vice-president as $12,000, instead of $85,000 as falsely stated. Walker made these lying statements to further inflame the union strikers, but really he is not to be personally blamed for the lies, because he is working under the eye and orders of Gompers, the arch-liar of union labor of thirty years' standing.

As for the union's statement that the men were working eleven hours a day under a contract system, President Shaw says that the majority of the men worked nine hours and that the company was trying to reduce the working day to eight and a half hours.

It was charged by this Gompers-like lying labor leader that men were started in the mines at the "fair wage of from $2.50 to $4 a day" and then cut down to $2.50 and $2.75 a day. Mr. Shaw denies this statement, and says that the pay rolls of the company show that the average wage paid to miners is $3.66 a day and for trammers $2.89 net. This is after deductions for their medical assessment, which entitles them and their families to medical treatment and assistance, and for the aid fund, which pays benefits in case of illness and minor injuries. So much for those Federation of Labor (Gompers and company) official lies and knowingly false statements. They are of a piece with all that officially emanates from Gompers and company.

The strike itself is going violently on. On October 8 a deputy sheriff was killed by the strikers at the Isle Royale mine near Houghton. He was shot in the head and also clubbed by ten men. Just think of that frightful blot on manhood—ten against one. This is the kind of devil's work which Moyer, Gompers, Haywood and other strike agitators stir up with lies and incendiary speeches. In the meantime, and a long meantime, men, women and children are starving amidst plenty in the strike regions.

Speaking October 5 at New Haven, Ct., to a mass meeting of German Socialists, Philipp Schneidemann, successor to the late August Bebel, in the leadership of the so-called revolutionary Socialists in the German Reichstag, condemned the I.W.W. and all their syndicalist, anarchistic methods. He characterized their attempts to establish syndicalism as "baby work" and said that he is opposed to all kinds and manner of violence in strikes and labor disputes generally. Mr. Schneidemann expressed the belief that it is hard to make progress in trade unionism in this country because of the many lauguages spoken. He was absolutely and decidedly opposed to any and all forms of labor violence, characterizing such doings as anarchistic and sure to arouse the bitterest feelings of the peaceful element in the country toward those who were responsible for such illegal and destructive work.

Mr. Schneidemann has been a member of the German Reichstag (Parliament) for thirty-five years. He is a delegate from Solingen, the center of the metal and cutlery trade in Prussia. He is one of the twelve men on the executive board of the German Socialists. He is in this country for two months and will deliver addresses in all our principal cities. Those addresses will go far towards warding off future possible union-labor violence. In them he certainly rakes the I.W.W. and their Socialist-anarchist allies "fore and aft."

Sir George Askwith, the British government's famous "strike settler and conciliator," has completely failed to settle the great Dublin strike or even to bring it into line towards settlement. The strike leaders favored his proposals, but the employers very properly steadfastly refuse to accept industrial slavery disguised as "recognition of the union for adjustment purposes, in this instance only." They will not swallow the pill, however thickly it may be sugar-coated. In that they are admirably right. The plan of settlement, they say, would not solve the trouble, that it was too elaborate and does not provide guarantees. Sir George Askwith's "court of inquiry" condemns the "sympathetic strike," saying no community could exist if this method of fighting for the rights of workers became general. All the outbursts of spasmodic violence are occurring in Dublin and 15,000 men are idle, with many of their families being fed—sparsely fed—by charity. Attacks on the police are frequent. The pawnshops are congested and are refusing to lend more money, even for food, on further pledges. Rents and store bills are going unpaid. The Lord Mayor of Dublin cannot help, as, he says, the state of the city is such that it is almost impossible to get money for anything. Great depression prevails among the strikers. They are disheartened by the failure of the "sympathetic" railway strikes in England, and claim deception at the hands of Strike Leader Jim Larkin, who is faring well at a swell hotel. The Trades Union Congress of England sent a shipload of provisions and is sending $5000 a week to help.

A good many of the clayworkers of Cornwall, Eng., are still on strike and are busily engaged in murderous violence.

The 5000 Manchester Ship Canal Company strikers have gone back to work on the promise that their claims for better wages will receive consideration. In other words they are beaten and have given up the strike. Fifty ships were idle all the weeks of the strike.

The South Wales coal miners, who struck because of the employment of just one non-unionist worker, have seen the "error of their ways" and returned to work, leaving the question, "recognition of the union," just as it was before they foolishly struck and lost several weeks' work and wages. The non-unionist is still working.

The London bookbinders' strike has become more serious. Forty-three publishing houses were giving work to the boycotted bookbinding firm. Nine of these have given in to the strikers' demands to send no more work to that firm.

Another 8000 miners in the Aberdare Valley, Wales, have struck because of the employment of non-unionists.

Hundreds of couples were unable to marry in Naples, because of the municipal employees' strike. Civil marriages cannot be performed, nor can births and deaths be registered. There is general complaint of the under-payment and non-payment of municipal employees.

In New York City, taking advantage of a rainy spell, the United Umbrella Handle and Stick Makers' Union has started a strike. What do they care whether the public gets wet or not?

The Colorado coal miners' strike is still on, with increasing violence. Some deaths already.

The engineers of the New Haven Railway system are ready to strike and the trainmen are ready to extend moral support.

And behind all this stands the ever-present question, Do strikes really ever pay?

Gibraltar Acres

Are Selling Fast

The land is the best of horticultural acreage. Steam and electric transportation radiate in all directions from the broad tract that immediately adjoins the town of Bloomington and the Southern Pacific station there. Steam and electric lines cross the land. Every facility for marketing crops and for social life is furnished. The cement pipe irrigation system is in operation and hundreds upon hundreds of growing acres furnish the setting for complete orchard-homes. Gibraltar grows the trees, develops the land and sells the planted acre upon BEST OF ALL TERMS POSSIBLE.

10 Per Cent. Down and $5 Per Acre Per Month

Gibraltar owns immense propagating plants and nurseries that are producing vast quantities of olive, citrus and other nursery stock. The trees being grown furnish more than will be needed by Gibraltar for the 1915 planting season. The demand for olive trees especially is far greater than the supply at present. A limited amount of nursery stock will be reserved for those preparing to plant land if they apply at once.

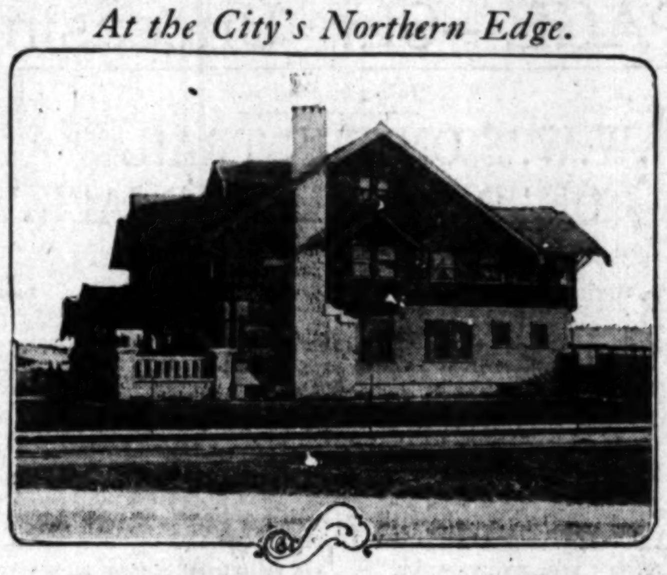
At the City's Northern Edge.



Home of A. N. Jangochian in Angelus Tract.

Handsome residence recently completed by Pacific Home Builders for English banker.

AT CITY'S EDGE.

Of the fifty new homes in the Angelus tract, which is being opened to the public today, the most striking and costly is that of A. N. Jangochian, said to be a retired banker of London. The house, which is elaborately finished inside, is said to have cost approximately $25,000. This home has been the nucleus for extended building operations on the tract, the other residences including bungalows, chalets and two-story houses, ranging in cost from $3000 upward. Attractive parkings are features of the tract, even the vacant lots being faced with mature palms. The subdivision lies at the city's edge and is on the Glendale lines.

First Year of British Unemployment Insurance.

The report for the first year of the operation of the Unemployment Insurance Law, under which provision is made during periods of unemployment and illness for the great body of employees in the United Kingdom shows that 2,508,939 unemployment books were issued; 559,021 claims for benefit were filed; 400,000 individual working men claimed benefits under the act; 774,494 payments were made; the total benefits paid aggregated $1,150,722; the lowest payment for any one week was $23,259 and the highest $53,436; the year's gross income amounted to $11,039,168; at the close of the year there was an invested balance of $7,835,065; the maximum of unemployed falling within the provisions of the act was 118,000; and the minimum, 67,000.

Of the total annual income derived under the insurance act, the employers and workmen contributed about three-quarters and the State one-quarter. In a large proportion of cases the unemployment was very short, 30 per cent. falling within the waiting week during which no claim could be made, 62 per cent. received benefits, while 7 per cent. was excluded for various reasons, and 1 per cent. represented unemployment which continued after the period during which benefits are paid.

It is stated that the report is only preliminary in certain respects, as some of the figures have not been fully and definitely analyzed. It is to be noted also that while the insurance law has been in operation for a year, there has been only six months experience of the payment of unemployment benefits.

Time to Act.

MAINTAINING INEFFICIENCY.

APPARENT DETERMINATION OF RAILROAD EMPLOYEES.

Their Vote to Strike if the New Haven Railroad Insists on the Promotion of Locomotive Engineers Because of Efficiency Instead of Seniority.

The many disastrous wrecks that have occurred on the New Haven Railroad, has caused the Interstate Commerce Commission to demand immediate measures of reform that there may be an end to the human slaughter. President Elliott has, therefore, formulated new rules regarding the assignment of locomotive engineers, making the same depend upon efficiency rather than seniority of service, which has been demanded by the engineers' union. The change has not been accepted by the engineers, and a vote has been taken to strike if the new rules be insisted upon by the management. Such a conclusion by the engineers is difficult to comprehend except on the ground that the rule has been made by the management of the road instead of by the engineers' union, as has been the case in the past. Under the seniority rule wreck followed "wreck with serious loss of life because discipline was lax," says the New York Commercial. "Locomotive drivers ran past danger signals, flagmen did not go out far enough behind stalled trains and other precautions were disregarded that cost life and limb in many a case. The need for reform has been proved at heavy cost.

"The old management cannot be exonerated from blame. The fault lay in sacrificing discipline for the sake of peace with the labor unions. The public demands and the Interstate Commerce Commission commands instant reform. The management has obeyed promptly. The employees are not asked to work harder or to take less pay than before. They are simply told to do their duty and observe the rules which guard the lives of passengers. The man who is negligent is to be dismissed and the man who makes mistakes and displays ignorance or inefficiency will not be promoted merely because his name stands at the head of the list. Railroad employees are like trained soldiers. An army commanded by officers that had no better record of efficiency than length of service would not prevail against one led by picked men. Napoleon proved that when he conquered Europe after inspiring his men with the feeling that 'every soldier carries a marshal's baton in his knapsack.'

"This is the true American spirit. Every schoolboy is taught that he may become President of the United States if he proves his efficiency. Railroad employees should be inspired by the same spirit. There is no unfairness in rewarding a man for efficiency or in making him pay for his mistakes.

The danger of allowing such a strike to occur upon such a question has been promptly grasped by Gov. Foss of Massachusetts, who has declared that if necessary he will call a special session of the Massachusetts Legislature to enact laws prohibiting strikes by railroad employees within that State. Gov. Foss says that a strike on the New Haven system means stopping the wheels of industry in Massachusetts and throughout the greater part of New England and that it puts in jeopardy the well-being of the people through the possibility of cutting off supplies of milk and fresh foods. As he defines the issue it is really not between the railroad and its employees, but between the employees and the people of the State. The question is whether the lives of the people shall be placed in jeopardy by the maintenance of the seniority rule. Gov. Foss will find plenty of precedents for such legislation in the laws of other countries.

"The Governor of Massachusetts has clearly grasped the principles involved in such a struggle," says the New York Commercial. "The railroads stand in a different position from other industrial corporations because they have been brought into being by grant of extraordinary rights and powers such as the right of eminent domain, which enables them to take whatever land is needed at a fair valuation without regard to the wishes of the owners. In the same way the employees of railroads owe certain duties to the general public that differ materially from the duties of citizenship which an employee of an ordinary industrial corporation is called upon to discharge. The railroad company and its employees are a unit as far as the public is concerned and both must be compelled to perform their part of the bargain which was made between the State and the corporations when the latter received its charter. A railroad that ceases to operate its train service is subject to the cancellation of its charter, but in compelling the railroad to maintain its service, the government must make it possible for the company to do so by protecting its property and its employees from violence or interference."

Fight It.

ARGENTINE ANT A BAD INSECT

Bureau of Entomology Fe Much Alarmed.

Invades Poultry Yards— Kills Chickens.

As a House Pest It Is Limit of Pests.

[New Orleans Times-Democra A genuine note of alarm has b sounded by the Bureau of Entom ogy on the Argentine ant. One the smallest of insects, this ant vades localities in such countless m lions, and shows such diabolical i telligence as well as savage pe sistence in prosecuting its terrific d redations, that it may well be q tioned whether it shall not eventu be named the "conqueror." Certa if the testimony of the scie who have patiently and exhaus studied its habits for years is to accepted, man will need to match highest intelligence against this actually superhuman instinct. For nately, the Argentine ant is at present time confined to a few sou ern states and California, and fortunately its annual rate of p ress in spreading over the country slow; once established, howeve is there forever. Entomologi lieve that colonies cannot zero weather, so that it is pr that the invasion of this will not reach much north of son and Dixon's. But all of country south of this line is to be overrun by this great pests.

The errors of the ways of the gentine ant are many and They invade the poultry yard kill newly hatched chicks, and kill and drive off beneficial and foster harmful ones. In groves and orchards, nurseries, cane and corn fields, and among ket garden crops these ants and protect against all comers less millions of scale insects, lice and other destructive sweet excretions of which the choicest delicacies with the ants regale themselves and young. In order to guard these sects from storms and enemies, ants build protective coverings shields over them, and attend groom them constantly.

As a house pest the Argentine is certainly the limit. Nothing be compared with it as an incredi ble and dangerous nuisance. It whatever man eats, ranging meat to sugar, and it can spread berculosis and other diseases. It pe trates ice boxes, tightly wrapp paper parcels, bread boxes and glass jars if the housewife negle to put on the rubber band screwing down the top. In house fested with it there is no sleep the legs of the bed are wound ape saturated with corrosive limate. If the corner of the touches the floor the ants climb and swarm over the sleeper. Let baby's pillow touch the wall, and a few minutes the infant, scream from the bites of the pest, must snatched from its bed, disrobed plunged into water to make that all the vicious little insects removed. Dishes of arsenical must be placed throughout the to kill and repel the ants, and ape must be wound around the of the dining-room and kitchen bles. At treatment by such poisons as cyanide of potassium hydrocyanic acid gas this ant parently laughs, and let there be moment of relaxation of the reliant measures possible and ants swarm to the attack, and feast, whatever it may be.

Yet, with all this, the Argentine ant is totally blind. He does all work in the dark, but he does it remittingly, night and day. moreover, a true predatory Every ant is a scout, and when finds his way to the sugar, or butter, or the meat, or lard, or cornmeal, or anything edible, cooked, he immediately hits the back trail and in a few thousands of ants are on the communities have declared war killed millions, but it has been one of the old woman back the sea with her little There are no known natural the Argentine ant worth and chemistry is practically He is as wise as the poisoned coyote, who has learned son, and simply moves away porarily from the immediate scientists hold out no hope of obliteration or for the of preventing his spread. The came from Argentine by way of leans, and is gradually being minated throughout the South, means of his own migrations the railroads and floods. fields have been already abandoned because of his tions, and while man as yet dom been actually driven from habitation by this pest, yet with this ant means continual The only known redeeming the Argentine ant is that when vades the house the bedbugs pear. But the remedy is far than the original evil. Bedbugs do not swarm through the dish. The things that the Entomology says must be farm and in the house Argentine ant under make living possible are duce a person to migrate North Pole to escape this pest.

The Desert Classic.

FIVE PHOENIX RACES WON BY DESERT SAND RATS.

White Steamer Takes First Fight; Buick Second; KisselKar Scores Third; National Fourth; Franklin Fifth. Keen Rivalry Between Shettler and Hamlin, and Air-Cooled Ralph Scores.

BY BERT C. SMITH.

WHEN George Purdy Bullard, then District-Attorney of Maricopa county, Arizona, first proposed the Los Angeles-Phoenix road race in 1908 dealers and autoists thought the stunt was the wildest ever offered a driver of a racing car. F. C. Fenner entered a White Steamer, the car that had won the Baldy race. The public crowded around the starting line on that night when the four racers, the Kissel Kar, the White Steamer, the Elmore and the Franklin, were sent away from in front of the Hollenbeck Hotel by John S. Mitchell.

The White Steamer was entered and driven by Col. Fenner. The Elmore was entered and driven by A. J. Smith, and the Kisel Kar was entered by L. T. Shettler and driven by Bert Latham, and the Franklin was entered and driven by Ralph Hamlin. That was a race. The time was long enough to prove that the desert was anything but the place for a motor car. The race was a thriller and was interesting from the second the cars were started until Fenner, at the terrific speed of twenty miles an hour, finished in Phoenix.

This race saw the beginning of the most consistent fight ever made by a motor dealer for a prize. Ralph Hamlin entered that race at the eleventh hour, was lost on the desert, reached the Colorado River eight hours behind time, but made a remarkable finish and was in the running because of his plucky work. That was the beginning of five years of fighting for a cup that he won in 1913.

If ever a man deserved a prize Ralph Hamlin earned the cup offered for the Los Angeles-Phoenix race. He fought his way from last place in the first and second races to second place in the third and fourth and to first place in the fifth. Many a man with less will would have been willing to quit, admitting the task hopeless. Not so with Hamlin. He doggedly hung on in spite of bitter disappointments until last year he won.

AIR-COOLED RALPH.

Then air-cooled Ralph announced that he would never enter the Phoenix race again and he has kept his word. I am with him. I think he has shown good sense and this year he showed himself a gentleman and a sport when he returned the cup he had won after such a fierce fight and wished the best man may win the battle this year.

Col. Fenner won that first race. L. T. Shettler's entry, the Kissel Kar, did consistent work, but it was not for Shettler to win. The Elmore, driven by "Baldy" Smith, took second place and gave the White Steamer a fierce run for the money from the Colorado River to Phoenix. The Kissel Kar was third. Then was shown the determination of Shettler, who announced that he would continue to enter the Phoenix race until he had won. Shettler counted without measuring the cost. He had Ralph Hamlin to buck and that square-jawed Franklin air-cooled production proved too much for "Tabasco Shettler."

Shettler entered the second race, but so did Hamlin. They locked horns right at the start. "Bet I'll catch you before you reach the river was Shettler's challenge to Ralph and as Hamlin was never known to take a dare he accepted the challenge and showed his confidence with a considerable sum of money. Shettler entered an Apperson.

Well, Shettler did catch Ralph before the Franklin reached the Colorado and the wager was won, but that did not dampen the ardor of our air-cooled friend. Though he never reached Phoenix he stayed out in that desert just long enough to give him the determination of a bull-dog and he got a grip that was never loosened until he had that cup.

BUICK WINS.

That second race was a fight from the start to the finish. Joe and Louis Nikrent in the Buick proved the hard nuts to crack. Those two boys went away from the line like a rocket, passed all the other contenders and won with the 5000 excited fans at Phoenix cheering them to the echo. They established a record that was hard to beat as they took the shortest route by way of Ehrenburg.

Nikrent jumped into the limelight

BEAVERS BEAT ANGELS IN WILD BATTING FEST.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

THE Beavers and Angels met again yesterday and the affair was fully as exciting as a funeral.

The players were as rapidly enthusiastic as so many pallbearers. However, they did spruce up a bit when it came to padding their batting averages, and many atrocities were committed on the ball.

The Beavers proved the better average fatteners with sixteen hits and ten runs, as against twelve hits and five runs for the Angels.

Portland amused itself by punching Toser until some time along in the eighth inning, when Pop Dillon, opining that it was getting dark, asked W. Howard Gregory to go in and demonstrate whether or not Los Angeles had "done a mistake" when it signed him.

W. Howard was there like a duckling, completely soothing the Beavers.

Toser's support was indifferent, to put it mildly, and Bill cannot be blamed for losing interest in baseball. There was much loafing, and Harl Maggert became so disgusted in the fifth that he neglected to run out a sacrifice bunt down the third base line that he had beaten from here to La Habra.

This, being in harmony with the occasion, was wildly cheered by the man in the right field bleachers as a great play.

Chadbourne scored in the first inning just to give the fans an idea

Abbot-Detroit Man Says:

CALIFORNIA IS SECOND AS AUTOMOBILE MARKET.

O. A. SCHRIEBER, assistant sales manager of the Abbott Motor Company of Detroit, Mich., arrived in Los Angeles yesterday. He was accompanied by Albert C. Lusby, who is representing the Abbott-Detroit Company in Southern California.

The party had been traveling in a big 34-40 four-cylinder Abbott-Detroit five-passenger touring car and had a superb run from San Diego over the coast route to Los Angeles.

"I have been making a tour of the western agencies for the Abbott-Detroit Company," said Schrieber yesterday, "and I have found business conditions among our agencies most favorable. We in the East realize that California is the second greatest market for automobiles that there is in the United States, and while I was prepared to hear favorable reports, I was astounded at the vast volume of business carried on by our agencies.

"Our new lines have taken wonderfully well. There is a great deal of interest in the 50-60 six-cylinder country touring model, which has wire wheels and a V-shaped radiator. This is a wonderful car and Mr. Lusby will have a demonstrator at his salesrooms at No. 1200 South Olive street, within ten days. While the summer has been a trifle backward in some lines I find that all of this feeling has disappeared by this time, and that the prospects are excellent for a tremendous Abbott-Detroit year."

The first carload of those crackerjack 34-40 four-cylinders has been received by Mr. Lusby and are now on view at No. 1200 South Olive street.

Something New.

MARIONS NO LONGER HAVE GREASE CUPS ON SPRINGS.

"THERE is no doubt but what the aim of automobile manufacturers at the present time is to make the motor car as convenient and comfortable as possible, these features being considered second only to mechanical excellence. This fact was brought home to me most forcibly when, at the time we were designing the Marion cars for 1914, our engineers suggested self-lubricating spring bolts as a feature to be incorporated in the new cars," says J. I. Handley, president of the Marion Motor Car Company.

"The driver of the motor car at the present time expects to keep immaculately clean. This is different from the attitude of a few years ago, when a man who drove an automobile did not mind dirt and grease; rather he took it as part of his pleasure and considered it something of a badge denoting him a motorist.

"A great step toward promoting cleanliness was taken when self-starters were installed, but there are many others which are not fully appreciated by a man until he has had experience with various inconveniences which he has noted. To the ordinary man spring bolts would seem rather an important matter and one that would not require much consideration. He does not consider that many of the squeaks which motor cars develop are caused by spring bolts not properly lubricated.

"The general practice is to place grease cups on the end of the bolts. These have to be screwed up frequently. To reach them the driver is practically forced to rub against the wheels. As a result he lets them go without lubrication and the squeaks develop. But with the new type spring bolt, as used on the Marion car, this inconvenience of lubricating spring-bolts daily is done away with. Our new bolt is three-quarters of an inch in diameter and hollow. Through the tube thus formed extends a wick which carries the oil to the bolt bushing by means of a hole cut through the side of the bolt. Because of its capacity it is therefore only necessary to fill this chamber with lubricating oil once in about 5000 miles which means the sprinb bolts need be oiled only once a season. The fact that the bolt has such a large circumference, gives it a far greater than ordinary bearing surface."

MANY PACKARD TRUCKS IN USE.

Alvan Macauley, vice-president and general manager of the Packard Motor Car Company, has just made public an interesting statement of the increase in the truck business of the Packard company for the fiscal year ending August 31.

"Our gains in the commercial car business during the fiscal year of 1912-1913 increased by 50 per cent. over our sales of any previous year," says Macauley. "Particularly pleasing to us is the fact that the Packard truck is growing in the favor of the large corporations which are very careful buyers.

"Installations by large companies in the past year is the best index of the regard in which these investigative buyers hold our trucks. For example, in the brewing field, which has not been especially active in the purchase of motor trucks for the past two years, we installed seventy-three heavy-duty Packards. We added 108 trucks to our representation in the contracting trade, which is acknowledged to be the more severe transportation service.

"Our hydraulic dump trucks have appealed strongly to contractors and road-builders and we expect these vehicles to be among our largest sellers in the coming year.

"We now have truck units of two, three, four, five and six-ton capacity and Packard trucks to the number of 2385 are employed in 185 lines of business requiring heavy-duty transportation.

"The outlook for an even greater volume of Packard truck business for the next fiscal year is the most gratifying. The value of our past year's truck sales was over $4,000,000."

UNDERSLUNG IS OF MUCH VALUE.

TYPES OF FRAME SUSPENSION ARE DEFINED.

President of Regal Company Tells the Value of Both Methods of Frame Suspension—Underslung Method Lowers Center of Gravity and Thus Works for Safety.

There has been a great deal of discussion over the relative merits of overhung and underslung frame suspension of late and in order to clear up the minds of many on the subject President Fred W. Haines of the Regal Motor Car Company has defined the two types as follows:

"In the car of overhung build the frame rests upon the springs, which in turn rest upon the axles. In the underslung, while the springs of the car rest upon the axles, the frame is slung below the axles—the ends of the frame being curved up and connecting with the springs; the axles between.

"This suspension lowers the frame of the car so that the center of gravity or the majority of the weight of the car is concentrated below the axles. Underslung construction really carries the weight cradled below the tipping center so that an enormous force is necessary to tip over a car of this type. It not only prevents 'turning turtle,' but reduces the chances of skidding to a minimum. The overhung frame carries the center of gravity suspended above the tipping center; in comparison it might be called topheavy.

"Some have thought that by lowering the frame to this degree the road clearance has been reduced, but such is not the case. The underslung will be found, by actual measurement, with as much road clearance as the overhung. While the underslung frame is nearer the ground than the frame of the overhung, it is the lowest point of clearance and has no projection below it such as a fly wheel or other parts that are prevalent with the overhung. The clearance of the two is practically the same.

"Underslung construction is not new; it has been in vogue in other than the automobile field for some time. The only reason that this feature was not adopted sooner by motor-car manufacturers was that of cost, but modern methods have now made this possible. The Regal was the pioneer medium-priced underslung.

"The country is getting over the mania for speed that has held it entranced for so long and the conservative purchaser is looking more for safety in the car he chooses."

Indianapolis (Ind.) motorcyclists will make a three-day run to Mammoth Cave, October 18-19-20.

CADILLAC GETS PRIZE.

Word was received from Fresno last week that the 1914 Cadillac had been awarded the first prize at the seventh annual Fresno district fair for having the prettiest and most completely equipped car on exhibition at the fair. The car was always surrounded by a crowd at the fair, and the fact that it was the favorite with the crowd may have had much to do with its being awarded the first prize.

Rides Like Constant Coasting

Don't Hold Your Old Car Too Long

YOUR old automobile becomes less valuable every day. If you you will not get as large an allowance for it in a trade desirable new car as you can now get.

You are mistaken if you think anyone will make an allowance in excess real worth in the purchase of a more desirable car.

Do not be deceived into thinking anyone will allow you more for than it is worth.

True, someone may make an offer that seems more liberal, but the car will bring—cash—and the value of the new car are ever-present that dictate the terms of the exchange.

A Car Not Built For Trades

THE Hudson Six 54 is not built for trades. It is priced at a figure that gives value and not deception. Dealers are not given extraordinary profits to be used in absorbing old cars so that the buyer is lead to think he is getting a bargain.

In appearance, in quality, in value, the Hudson Six 54 can be compared with any automobile at $3,000, or even $4,000. Some people would pay $4,000 for this car if that were its price. So many could not be sold, it is true, but if our profits were increased by over-pricing the car we too could make trades that would be attractive to those who have old cars to trade and who do not enquire closely

HARRY HAM TO DRIVE CADILLAC IN BIG RACE.

THE second Cadillac entry in the Phoenix race will be driven by Harry Ham, the young Los Angeles society boy and ex-Yale athlete, who shared the honors with Verbeck in the Sacramento race.

Ham is in motor racing solely for the love of the excitement and the sport. He was on the big Fiat that won the Sacramento race and drove within seven miles of half of the distance.

He was given the Cadillac only after a thorough try-out. At first glance Ham appears to be slight in build and not the type to withstand the strain of such a race as this event will be, but at the wheel of a motor car he is all muscle and showed himself a strong, determined man who will battle to the finish.

With Charles Soules and J. E. Brown, Ham drove over the course and displayed such skill at the wheel and at the same time such rare judgment that Brown did not hesitate in deciding upon Ham for the second driver.

With Soules in entry No. 1, he left last week for a week's trip over the course. Soules planned to go only part of the distance, while Ham will drive all the way to Phoenix and back.

Ham is enthusiastic over his prospects.

"I think Soules with his Cadillac will win," he said, "but I will be as close to him as possible. I have given the Cadillac a terrible beating just to convince myself of the car's strength and I want to say I have never ridden in a better automobile. Honestly, in all my experience with motor cars, I didn't realize it was possible for a motor car to stand up under such treatment as my car has received in its two trips to Phoenix and return. I expect to be close up in this race and hope to be second to Soules."

LOCAL CARBURETOR CONCERN GROWING.

As an example of the consistent growth of Los Angeles especially as regards the industrial world, local automobile men are pointing to the new factory of the Master Carburetor Company.

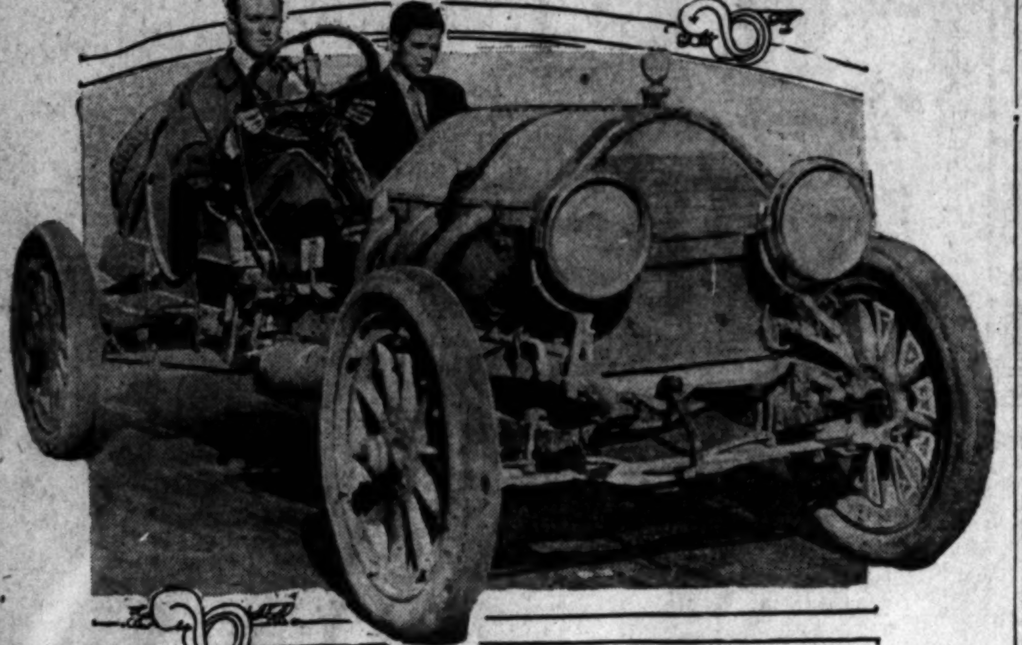
During the past week a large number of specially designed machines have been installed thus enabling the company to make every part of the Master carburetor in the local factory.

A big Diamond disc grinder, a high speed multiple drill, and several other machines have been purchased to make the factory the most completely equipped on the Coast.

The Master carburetor is made from an alloy composed of copper, lead and zinc which is made after formulas prepared by chemists of the company.

All of the forging is done in the factory, and every part which enters into the production of the carburetor is made in the company's factory.

Arrangements have tentatively been completed for the establishment of an eastern factory, and according to President H. A. Miller, the plant will be located in Detroit.



Harry Ham,
The young society man who will drive Cadillac No. 3 in the Phoenix race.

DOHENY BUYS A PIERCE ARROW.

One of the handsomest as well as one of the most costly cars ever brought to Los Angeles has been shipped from the Pierce factory for E. L. Doheny, the local oil magnate. It is a "66" vestibule suburban, and W. E. Bush says it will prove one of the most perfectly-built and most beautifully-equipped cars ever seen in the West. Incidentally the cost runs over $7000.

A "38" brougham will also be delivered the last of this month to A. C. Balch and a "48" suburban to E. S. Crocker.

W. E. Bush says this will be a better year than ever before for the enclosed car and he expects to sell more Pierce-Arrows of the suburban and brougham type than ever before.

He has a number of cars ordered for exhibition purposes and these will arrive within the next six weeks.

"I will endeavor at all times to keep a display of Pierce models," said Bush, "not only of the enclosed cars, but of at least two types of the touring cars. I have been able this season to show cars of different finish and in this way the buyers have been assisted materially in making selections."

A MOTORCYCLE POULTRYMAN.

Fred W. Diehl of Piedmont, Cal., makes practical use of his motorcycle in his poultry business. Diehl handles mostly eggs and dressed fowls and has attached to his motorcycle a carrier on which he makes quick deliveries to his customers. Aside from pleasing his customers with prompt service, he finds the up-keep of this outfit is less than that of a team and delivery wagon. And on Sundays it is not necessary to give his mount a rest, but he can detach the van and go for a pleasure ride.

Hunting jack rabbits by motorcycle is a sport enjoyed by Hobart (Okla.) riders.

1914 Buick Line

Is Now Being Demonstrated in Los Angeles

After all, values can only be found out by comparison, and only by comparison can you learn the superlative superiority of the new Buick Six.

Constructively it symbolizes
THE UNION OF ART AND CRAFT
ART, in the beauty of its entire ensemble.
CRAFT, in the final triumph of its valve-in-the-head motor construction.

No car could be more pleasing to the eye. No other motor of its size possesses its speed, its power, its remarkable motor "pick up," its economy in operation.

Replacement of parts easier and surer on the standardized car

Each specialist who builds a part for The Standardized Car is selected because he has the reputation of being the best in his particular line. This is a reputation of which he is jealous. He is willing and eager to defend it by co-operating with the Cole Motor Car Company's factory Service Department in replacement of parts. Of course, in The Standardized Car, you get the regular Cole factory service on replacements, which has long since come to be regarded as a synonym for perfect satisfaction, and this assurance—that the various parts makers will ALSO protect you—is just an additional asset which you get ONLY IN

THE STANDARDIZED CAR

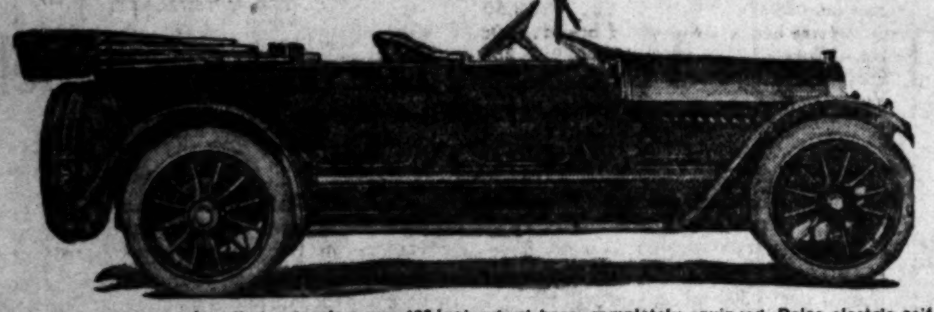
Standardization is a money-making, money-saving matter, so far as you are concerned, and it is to your personal interest to get every phase of the subject firmly and clearly in mind. You will automatically convince yourself now and here that the principle of standardization is right, no matter how skeptical you may have been in the past.

The Cole organization claims no credit for discovering a new economic law — we merely state frankly that before the Cole the law of standardization had never been consistently applied to the matter of building motor cars. No one will ever dispute this statement, after all the facts are intelligently at hand.

The principle is right, and what is right will be accepted. If you are in the market for a car now, familiarize yourself with standardization because the Cole has made it the all-absorbing topic among the motor-wise.

To make sure that the car you buy is the one which started the big stampede to standardization, look for this name—Cole.

In the meantime get that demonstration now. Every day you postpone owning a Cole is a day of motor-satisfaction lost.



Cole seven-passenger, six cylinder touring car, 138-inch wheel base, completely equipped, Delco electric self-cranking and all, $2750. Also see the Cole Four, with its wheel base of 120 inches, completely equipped, $2050.

MOTOR TRUCK SOLVES SAN DIEGO FARM PROBLEM.

THE motor truck has certainly worked wonders in San Diego, and the surrounding country. This is the opinion of C. A. McNulty, recently appointed branch manager of the Moreland Motor Truck Company in the southern district.

McNulty made a flying trip to the local factory the forepart of the week, he has several trucks ordered that are now under construction, and it was his desire to ascertain their earliest possible delivery, that prompted his visit.

"The motor truck game in and around San Diego, is at fever heat," said McNulty, "and Moreland orders are coming in in rapid succession."

The recently completed service station in connection with our southern branch, has proved a big feature. In this department, there has been installed a complete line of truck parts.

"This," said McNulty, "has not only made it possible to make all minor adjustments in a hurry, but has enabled us to make all replacements without calling on the home factory for supplies." This is a feature that never fails to appeal to the average truck buyer.

Some of the largest farming districts in California, are located in San Diego county. Thousands of acres of the most productive soil, located many miles from the railroad, have in the past been given over entirely to barley, it being impossible to market perishable goods of any nature.

A striking illustration of this is the Warner ranch, seventy miles from San Diego. Less than two years ago, the entire output of this ranch was confined entirely to hay and grain. The entire crop had to be hauled by large teams thirty-five miles to the nearest railroad.

The round trip consumed nearly forty hours, making it necessary to camp out and endure many other hardships. The hauling from Warner's ranch is now done by a fleet of Moreland trucks. Hundreds of acres are now planted in vegetables and are hauled direct to the market in San Diego, the round trip being made in twelve hours time.

The truck here has not only proved a great time saver, but actual figures show that the goods can be delivered in San Diego for one-fifth of the original cost.

Another striking illustration is the San Pasqual ranch, forty miles from San Diego. Here there is another fleet of Morelands, making daily trips to the market, not only hauling grain, but many tons of produce.

No doubt but few people are aware that some of the most famous gravel pits in the United States, are located less than thirty miles from San Diego. This gravel has in the past been left unused, its distance from the railroad making it impossible to haul it at a profit. The specifications for the government sea-wall, calls for the use of this gravel. The gravel is now being successfully hauled by three five-ton Moreland dump trucks, each truck making three round trips daily, over the famous Torrey Pine grade.

Concluding McNulty stated, that these are only the few of the revelations recently brought about for the adoption of the motor truck. The farmers in general now fully realize that its adoption, not only means a great saving in time, but also means double profits of the same amount of land.

11,000 AND STILL GOING.

C. W. Waughop of St. Louis, one of the newly-elected directors of the Federation of American Motorcyclists and also director of the south central district of the federation, is making an extensive motorcycle tour of the country. Already he has traveled 11,000 miles, visiting practically all of the important cities east of the Rockies.

An Interesting Fact

No other high-grade manufacturer can show the enormous volume and percentage of increase of Premier in 1913, because, when Premier led the high grade makers with a popular priced Six, Premier standard, construction and quality were maintained.

Remember Also

A year ago the Premier possessed the features which its competitors in their 1914 announcements are claiming as new, such as left-side drive, six cylinders, clean running-boards, etc.

The same detail of comfort and grace in body equipment will be followed, and the cars in all models can be fully equipped with the well known Westinghouse electric starting and lighting system, which has proved so successful on many of the highest-priced American cars.

According to the advance announcement, the Hupmobile motor will be noticeable in the small car field. A bore and stroke of 3 1-4 by 5½ inches gives promise of unlimited power, and the extra long stroke is assigned as the cause of the wonderful Hup power and smooth running qualities, giving it great advantages in lugging power over cars with a shorter stroke.

Not the least noticeable Hupmobile feature is found in its combination of Timken, Hyatt and imported annular bearings, giving the little car the distinction of being the lowest-priced American machine using the famous Timkens in its wheels.

No estimate of the number of cars which will be used in this territory during the 1914 season has been announced by the new Hupmobile distributors. "We can't tell just how many hundred machines will be needed," is the answer around Greer-Robbins. "Wait until owners of high-priced cars get a chance to test Hupmobile ease and quality, and you'll see an unprecedented sales record hung up."

Innovation.

LIGHTS ON THE FENDERS ARE A BIG IMPROVEMENT.

THE demand for headlights on the front mud guards is growing daily. Not only does this position give increased inefficiency but drivers who use their cars at night have discovered another very great advantage—the elimination of being "side swiped" while passing cars on the road.

Lights, with the exception of those on Pierce-Arrows, are placed on either side of the hood and on some cars partly in front of the radiator. Passing drivers, judging the position of the car by the headlights, try and give sufficient room for that part of the car extending on either side of the front lights. So the Pierce-Arrow driver whose lights are placed on the mud guards has the advantage of a wider turnout by the approaching car, and is thus less liable to be hit in passing.

When the new lights first appeared many were of the opinion that their position would be a constant source of trouble and expense to the owner, but experience has proven that the Pierce-Arrow Motor Car Company has not only added another decided improvement but has also increased the factor of safety for their owners when using their cars at night.

Cadillac

What Is DON LEE Service?

Here Is Your Answer—

At a convention of Southern California Cadillac Dealers last week J. E. Brown, head of the service department, spoke as follows:

Don Lee Service means care, thought and conscientious painstaking effort in the handling of every Cadillac car sold by the Don Lee organization.

One of the main points of service is to impress each owner of a Cadillac car, who comes to you for aid in the care of his car, that you are as much interested in the durability and satisfactory service he receives from that car as he is. This applies to the purchaser of a rebuilt car as well as a new one.

Towards that end then, listen to his complaints, to his tale of woe, no matter how trivial it may seem to you. Examine his car for any little defect.

If it is any little thing such as adjusting a wind shield, carburetor, lights, setting spark plugs, or fixing starter or speedometer, or setting magneto, or, in fact, anything that you know should not have happened considering the number of miles the car has been driven, do it for him free. Do not charge him for the labor of installing a defective part that has been replaced free by the factory.

Don't turn him away allowing him to feel that you have no interest in him by saying: "Well, leave it here and we will try to fix it." Get into the car take a little ride with him; find out what his real troubles are; explain them to him; be pleasant to him; do not seem bored because he has come to you with his trouble, make him feel free to come back at any time that he may be in trouble; make him, in fact, feel that he is a member of the big Cadillac family.

When an owner brings in a car for repairs—be on the job. Watch the men take down the engine, or whatever part it may be, and see for yourself what is the trouble. Do not take the mechanic's word for it.

In case you find something wrong that the owner has not known of or expected, get in touch with him, find out whether he wants you to fix it, or just what he wants done with it. In this way he will know you are interested in him, and are trying to do the right thing by his car.

When the job is being put together, watch your men to see that they are careful to fasten securely every little bolt nut, screw or cotter pin.

If an owner has trouble of any kind on the road and sends word for help—get it to him as quickly as possible; then he knows that you are interested in him and want him to get satisfaction and service from his car.

Aim constantly at perfection.

Endeavor to make your Service Department the perfect one of the entire organization.

Be careful to please and satisfy in every way you possibly can an owner, but don't promise what you are unable to grant. Do not jolly him up, then slight the job.

Don Lee was one of the pioneers in the installation of Service Departments, and we aim to make this end of the business one of the leading departments.

We who are at the head of this department must be conscientious, tireless and paintaking men. Must make ourselves—no matter what the conditions—pleasant and affable, and above all, live up to all that we promise.

Be honest—honest to ourselves, to the customer and to Don Lee.

We must then hire good men, good mechanics, good foremen who will see that the Don Lee service is what we say it is.

If we do all this so that we can look after each and every owner who comes into our service stations, we cannot fail to make a success of our Service Departments and in turn be a wonderful help to our sales department.

and every Cadillac owner will tell you he gets that kind of service

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 18.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Pomona College defeated San Diego High School here today 14 to 6. The game was an unsatisfactory exhibition of American football, being marked by poor officiating. The college team was penalized repeatedly by the referee for fifteen yards at a clip. The blue and white varsity crossed the high school goal line four times in all but only two of them were allowed to count as touchdowns, the referee calling the ball back and penalizing the collegians fifteen yards in each of the other two instances.

Pomona scored in the first quarter, running the ball quickly up the field. Youngman scored the initial touchdown on and end run and kicked goal afterwards. The second score came in the next period. Greely carrying the ball over, and Youngman converting goal as before. That ended the scoring as far as Pomona was concerned. The college team punted on first down in the third quarter, but Jesson kicked to touch and small gains resulted. Youngman now took up the kicking duel that was now going on but punted over his ends and the speedy high school safely ran the ball in many yards before he was downed by a mass of tacklers. Pomona crossed the goal line in this quarter and in the last as well, but the referee would not allow the touchdown.

On one occasion the Sage Hens took forty-five yards in penalties in three downs. The San Diego touchdown came in the final quarter with two minutes left to play. Anxious to score before the call of time, the Pomona quarter signalled for a forward pass. The half making the pass overthrew the man receiving it and Hyde, the San Diego quarter, interrupted and ran sixty yards for a touchdown. Goal was not kicked.

San Diego put up a game fight but could not stop the rushes of the collegians with regularity. On the other hand, nearly all the ground they gained was penalties inflicted on their opponents from the north by the referee. Les Dana, the San Diego captain, proved himself a strong defensive player, making tackles on both side of the field. Mullette, right half, gained many yards by his clever handling of punts. The college eleven played a consistent ball and held the San Diego attack at all times. Greely, working at full in place of Cogswell, showed well. The lineup follows:

WHITTIER AND SANTA ANA TIE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SANTA ANA, Oct. 18.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] With Santa Ana twice failing to score by a narrow margin, the football game today between Santa Ana and Whittier High School resulted in a 0-to-0 score.

Both teams found yards exceedingly hard to make until the last quarter, when Santa Ana made a desperate effort to score, and with a successful forward pass from Morrison to Burkett and brilliant line-plunging by her backs, Santa Ana got the ball within five yards of the goal. Whittier's line hardened and Santa Ana had to try for a place kick. This was a half-minute before the end of the game. Morrison booted the ball. It hit a goal post, wavered and went outside the post. Earlier in the game Morrison almost had a score by a place kick. At no time was Santa Ana threatened wtih a score. It was a hard-fought game, marked by strong defense work on both sides. Both teams lacked in punting ability and generally failed to get away with anything outside of the straight stuff. For the showing made today, with less than two weeks' practice, Coach Ratcliffe is confident his team will come out of the season the champions. Whittier lays its poorer showing to poor signal work.

The line-up:

Whittier.		Santa Ana.
Fawcett	Left end	Anderson
Gregg	Left tackle	Hughes
Woodward	Left guard	Eaton
Hostetter (c)	Center	Warren
Crook	Right guard	Selph
Crawford	Right tackle	Whitson
Robbins	Right end	Waters, Burkett
Cooper	Quarter	Morrison

OXY TIGERS DOWN Y.M.C

COLLEGIANS CRIPPLED NEED A REST.

Game Fails to Show Much [illegible] that Tigers Are Demoralized [illegible] Injuries—Second Team Has [illegible] Up Well—Shipke and Spider [illegible] the Stars.

Occidental College scored [illegible] points against the Y.M.C.A. [illegible] terday afternoon than they [illegible] couple of weeks ago, but the [illegible] football put up by the collegians [illegible] not take them very far in the [illegible] plonship race.

In fairness to the Tigers it [illegible] be said that at least half of the [illegible] were out of the game through [illegible] and they were forced to use [illegible] four men. McClung was out [illegible] bad knee, Long with a [illegible] shoulder, Lewis with a cut [illegible] and practically every other man was playing only because he [illegible] to.

The Tigers with their crippled [illegible] managed to run up a score of [illegible] on the striped crew from the Y.M. C.A., and if the truth must be [illegible] the team played much better [illegible] lot of fresh subs in the [illegible] than it did with a bunch of [illegible] varsity men in the first half.

FIRST SCORE.

The first score came early [illegible] second quarter, when Murray [illegible] Y.M.C.A., catching a punt [illegible] his own goal line, attempted [illegible] to Jones and heaved the ball [illegible] the line. Jones was downed [illegible] his own line for a safety [illegible]

This seemed to give the [illegible] little more fight and they [illegible] rushed the ball down to the [illegible] goal line. Here they were [illegible] a couple of downs, but on [illegible] trial Mackintosh bucked it [illegible] Kirkpatrick kicked the goal, [illegible] the score 9 to 0.

During the first half the [illegible] played a very ragged game. [illegible] was no interference, very little [illegible] work and out of eight attempted [illegible] ward passes only one worked [illegible] cessfully. The ball was [illegible] within striking distance of the [illegible] C.A. goal, but the Tigers had [illegible] time putting it over.

In the second half the [illegible] showed to much better [illegible] The backfield was working [illegible] ly and Quarter-back Long [illegible] called for tackle-bucks by [illegible] Shipke, the former finally [illegible] over the line, dragging about [illegible] C.A. men on his back. [illegible] kicked the goal.

ENTER THE SCRUBS.

With the score 16 to [illegible] flock of scrubs were put in [illegible] the surprise of all began [illegible] things up in great shape. [illegible] the Y.M.C.A. made a poor [illegible] which was recovered by Shipke [illegible] the husky tackle took it to the [illegible] ty-yard line. Shipke suffered the [illegible] of part of his shirt and was out for the remainder of the game.

Hill took the ball and ran over [illegible] line near the corner, but the [illegible] ruled that he had run out of [illegible] ter-back Wells took the ball over [illegible] the next play and Coffeen missed [illegible] goal from a difficult angle.

With only a couple of minutes [illegible] play, the Tigers began to fight [illegible] but were finally held for downs [illegible] punted to Murray, who signaled [illegible] fair catch, but fumbled the ball [illegible] reached for it again, but knocked [illegible] over the goal line and Joe [illegible] fell on it, but was brought back [illegible] the grounds that somebody had [illegible] terfered with Murray.

The most noteworthy thing [illegible] the game aside from the [illegible] the fact that Occidental's [illegible] crippled team was further [illegible] up. Shipke and Wieman each [illegible] knee and Pete Lee bit a [illegible] considerable size out of his [illegible] three, with Jones, McClung, [illegible] Lewis, make a very respectable [illegible] pital list.

that the Seals were playing manager took hold, but Del a life of ease. always been strong can beat the works same time. Reidy the job after Van Haltren quit, and enjoyed the distinction of being Oakland's only bench manager, unless we go back before the days of Pete Lohman. Bill's reign was short. He was succeeded by Harry Wolverton, who at that time was some third baseman.

OAKS ALL PLAYED.

Then came Bud Sharpe, a clever manager, and a crack first baseman. It was Mitze's work behind the bat and his ability to get results from pitchers that won him the management of the Oaks rather than any demonstrated ability for leadership. And now comes Art Devlin, who claims his playing days are not over.

Patsy O'Rourke was Sacramento's last playing manager, unless we include "Deacon" Van Buren, who served out Patsy's unexpired term. Van, however, seemed to be manager in name only, as Patsy continued to do most of the bossing on the field.

There does not seem to be a great deal to choose between the playing and the bench manager. Of course, if a manager is a really great player, his presence in the game undoubtedly is an inspiration to the men under him, but if he cannot show his players that he is their superior in both skill and headwork it is better for him to be on the bench.

POP WAS GOOD.

Dillon was much more successful as a field general than as a bench director. This was partly due to the fact that he over-shadowed every other member of the team in playing ability, and this is something calculated to win a player's respect.

While Hogan manages to get results from his club whether on the bench or the line, the Tigers always play a steadier game when he is behind the bat and manage to execute more "inside" stuff.

Trojans Smear L.A.A.C.

season nobody can trample on the Trojans, they are fighting men and had better be left alone, and it is to be hoped that in the game next Saturday we will have real Rugby football, instead of a battle to see how many of the fit can survive. Had the affair been more football yesterday and less of a battle royal, the varsity would have beaten the club 30 points.

THE KICK OFF.

Craig kicked off for the Trojans in the first half, Stan Mitchell caught the ball, kicked to touch, but as his foot left the ball he was smothered by a wave of Trojans and when the dust cleared, Stan was writhing on the ground, but gamely went on with the play. It was after this that the rough work started. However, the men on both teams were playing each other and not the ball, and for this reason the style was very ragged. In ten minutes the Trojans were hammering on the club's goal line, but failed to get it over, desperate kicks by Stan Mitchell and Tiedeman saving the day time and again. Then the U.S.C. forwards decided to ruck the ball over and with this idea another terrible scrimmage on the goal line started. Stan Mitchell lost his pants in one exchange and time was called while he was redressed.

Finally the ball was booted down the field, but Neuner found touch way up the field and the old war was on again. Carl Haney received another club boot and found touch on the 10-yard line. U.S.C. was given a free kick for off side here, but Elmore's kick was touched and there was a 25 drop out.

TO THE TEN-YARD LINE.

The Trojan forwards dribbled down to the 10-yard line again. After a scrum the U.S.C. forwards started a passing rush all by themselves, but Brant intercepted the last pass and found touch on the 25-yard line. On the line-out Boyles of the club took the ball, but Baronides and Toolan were on top of him and his pass was bad to Manning who fumbled: Toolan picked up the ball and, with Baronides, ripped over the line for a try. Elmore kicked a difficult goal. Score, U.S.C., 5; L.A.A.C., 0.

After the kick-off by Mitchell and Laird's return the club's forwards dribbled to U.S.C. 35-yard line, but Neuner broke it up and found touch at mid-field. On the line-out Mow Mitchell kicked to the Trojan 35-yard line. At this point Brant jumped on Hanes as the latter was getting off of the ball and Hanes rolled him over on his head, only to be attacked in turn by several others. It looked like a general affair for a few minutes, but the riot was stopped, Mow Mitchell and Pat Higgins speaking a few words as to how the game was to go on. After this the smoke settled a little and the teams began to play Rugby. The first half ended on the club 50-yard line.

In the second half things were much better, and the club backs almost started something, especially when our old friend and warrior, Stan Mitchell, got hold of the ball and ran 40 yards through the entire U.S.C. team, only going out on the 2-yard line, otherwise there would have been an Athletic Club score. This seemed to wake up the Trojan backs and they began to attack. The forwards first rushed the play to the club 25-yard line, then Tipton was sent into right wing, replacing Sheppard.

TIPTON STARTS OUT.

The first thing that he did was to take a pass from Craig and Laird and kick to touch on the club's 10-yard line. The play then raged toward the center of the field on the 30-yard line, when the Trojan scrum secured, Alber made a fast pass to Haney, who sent it out to Craig, who tossed far out to Tipton, who in turn ripped over the line without any opposition. After he had scored the try, Davis came hurtling through the air and landed on him and started to take the ball away, and another of those riots was nearly started, but peace was declared just in time. Elmore missed the goal, making the score, Trojans, 8; L.A.A.C., 0.

Two minutes after this score, the forwards heeled out, Haney making a long pass to Laird, who gave to Carl Haney on the wing. Little "Cupid" made one of the greatest runs of the day, when he carried the ball twenty-five yards for a try. Stan Mitchell made a great attempt to nail the fleet Haney, but Cupid outwitted him, side-stepped and went over, while Stan tore his shoulder in the dirt and had to leave the game with a rather painful injury.

ALL OVER NOW.

There were no more scores in this half, but after time was called, Carl Haney again broke away after a passing rush and scooted up the side lines for sixty-five yards, only to be run out of bounds one yard from the goal line. This made the ball dead and stopped the play, just as another score was about to be made. The line-up:

AZEVEDO HAS AN OPERATION.

[A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

OAKLAND, Oct. 18.—Owing to a growth in Lightweight Joe Azevedo's mouth, his fight with Bud Anderson, which was scheduled to be held here October 29, has been called off.

CALIFORNIA TENNIS.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 18.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] H. Van Dyke Johns won the Central California lawn tennis championship on the Golden Gate Park courts today, defeating Roland Roberts, 4-6, 6-3, 8-6. The Central California tournament was played at Sacramento several months ago, but the final match was adjourned to this city to accommodate the two competitors.

FAST HORSES TO SHOW SPEED.

OPENING MATINEE OF HARNESS HORSE ASSOCIATION.

Don Pronto, the Holder of the Pacific Coast Pacing Record, Will Attempt to Better His Own Time. Automobile Speeding by Barney Oldfield—Seven Racing Events.

BY R. A. WYNNE.

Never was there more intense interest centered in the opening event of a racing season than was evident yesterday at Exposition Park where the pick of 100 of the fastest trotters and pacers in the United States are preparing for the opening matinee of the Los Angeles Harness Horse Racing Association which begins this afternoon.

The score of wonderful thoroughbred animals had been carefully trained for the contests this afternoon. The last day was given over to merely warming up and jogging about the beautiful smooth track. There were no attempts made to speed up the animals although it was with difficulty that brushes between eager thoroughbreds were prevented throughout the warming-up process.

Last night the track was sprinkled well and this morning it will be rolled and scraped until the surface will be like a billiard table.

The magnificent steel and concrete grand stand has been completed and superb views of the track can be obtained from any portion. There is a beautiful tier of private boxes running down the front of the big stand and from all indications yesterday these will be completely occupied by a large bevy of social leaders who are interested in the thoroughbred horses that will be shown at the park.

The first event will start at 2 o'clock and there will not be the slightest cessation of action until the entire programme of varied interest has been carried out.

Seven events have been prepared and they run the gamut from pacing and trotting to motor racing, running races and an exhibition in a monoplane airship. There will be one race in the 2.16 class and a free-for-all for pacers and a free-for-all for trotters. Don Pronto, the champion pacing stallion of the Pacific Coast, who holds the Coast record of a mile in 2.02¼, will be driven against time this afternoon and as he is in the best condition and the track is about perfect a new record for the Coast can be expected. Then there will be a running race in which five of the best runners on the Coast will participate. W. H. Dupee has a string of five animals fresh from a season on the Canadian circuit and these will start this afternoon.

The big spectacular event of the afternoon will be the attempt of Barney Oldfield in his mighty 300-horse-power, front-drive Christie machine to break his own world's record of 46 2-3s. for one mile which he made on a dirt track at Bakersfield last summer.

FRANCIS OUIMET BEATEN AT LAST.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BROOKLINE (Mass.) Oct. 18.—Poor iron work cost Francis Ouimet, the open golf champion, his match in the semi-finals in the Country Club's fall tournament today. The champion was defeated by F. H. Hoyt of Woodland, 2 up and 1 to play.

TRAILING MOTOR BOATS.

Another item has been added to the long list of the uses made of the motorcycle in police work—this time the two-wheeler being used to capture violaters of the law on the water. Up on Lake Minnetonka, Minnesota, operators of motorboats have had no fear of being arrested for violating the laws governing the use of lights, as the officers had no boat swift enough to overtake them. But Deputy Sheriff Archie Buck has found a way to overtake these offenders without the use of a water craft. When that officer sees a boat running without the proper lights, he follows along the lake road on his motorcycle until the boat makes a landing. Then he makes the arrest.

Beavers Beat Angels.

of what to expect. Howard's failure to locate first base with his left foot on Johnson's throw, and singles by Rodgers and Speas, were responsible for Chadbourne's appearance at the plate in a scoring capacity.

Things were then almost as exciting as the mid-week practice of the village choir until the fourth, when the Angels began to unheave and scored two runs. In this momentous inning there was a single by Maggert, a triple by Goodwin and singles by Meusel and Sawyer, our budding broilers.

This stimulated Portland into scoring four run in the sixth. Rodgers singled, and Davis was spared by an error by Howard, who seems to be getting excited as the time for serving his St. Looey sentence draws nigh. Speas sacrificed, after which there was a raft of hitting by the rear end of the batting order, consisting of Lober, Kores and Hagerman.

The Beavers began hitting the ball again with one out in the seventh. Rodgers singled to center, and took second on Davis's hit. Speas flicked a "Texas Leaguer" in short center. Rodgers reasoned that the ball would be caught, and, acting along that line, hugged second much as a strong man would squeeze his best girl. But the ball dropped safe, and before Rodgers could let go his embrace on second, Johnson threw to Sawyer for a force-out. Thus was Speas robbed of a perfectly good base hit. Lober and Kores scratched out infield hits, and Davis scored on Fisher's force-out of Kores.

Tozer was showing signs of ennui by the eighth, and opened that inning by walking Hagerman. Singles by Chadbourne and Derrick glutted the bases and Rodgers cleaned them up with a triple to the bleachers. Davis then neatly singled Rodgers home. At this crucial point, the Beavers only having a total of ten runs, Gregory was sent in with instructions to relieve the stress, whatever that is. Gregory did his part nobly, and the Beavers didn't score again all day.

Maggert scored a tally in the seventh, hitting the ball to right in a safe, sane and conservative manner, taking third on Howard's smash and counting on Krueger's long fly to his successor on the Portland team.

Johnson's walk and a batch of heroic hitting by Arbogast, Tozer and Howard gave Los Angeles two runs to gloat over in the eighth.

Two desperate duels are on the calendar for today.

FOUR HOMERS BY THE TIGERS.

Sailor Stroud Hammered in All Directions.

Roy Hitt Allows Only Four Measly Hits.

Tigers Are Again Back in Second Place.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 18.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Sailor Stroud, rated as Cap Wolverton's most effective pitcher, had the fence ball habit today, and the Venice Tigers profited thereby with four home runs that boosted them back into second place. Saturday has come to be a home run day in Sacramento. Last Saturday the Wolves hung up a season record of four home runs in one game against the Seals; today the Tigers equalled that record, defeating the Wolves, 7 to 2.

In the first inning Hap Hogan got busy on the coaching line and reminded Sailor Stroud that he still needed one more victory to win a bonus of $500 assured him in his contract if he wins twenty-five games. And Hogan evidently accomplished his purpose, for while Stroud pitched like a world-beater ever so often during the matinee, he was far from being effective in between times.

Southpaw Roy Hitt, on the other hand, was as tight as the proverbial clam. In the second game of the week, the Wolves had batted him out of the box in less than two innings. But today he had his revenge. For eight innings, Hitt allowed only two hits and was never in danger. Kenworthy's low lob over O'Rourke's head in the fourth and Tennant's similar safety in the eighth when the only two hits registered off the chubby portsider of Hogan's crew. Safely out in front with a seven-run lead in the ninth, Hitt slackened his pace a bit and the Wolves managed to bunch two more hits and make things look a bit more respectable with two runs as their share of the day's proceedings.

Dick Bayless, leading sticker of the league, started the trouble in the first inning. With two out, Bayless poked the first ball pitched over the right field boards. In the third Elliott singled to left center; Hitt doubled to left, and Meloan's single in the same direction scored Elliott. Stroud steadied and fanned Kane and then Kenworthy started a fast double play, closing the inning without further damage.

ROY GETS HOMER.

In the fifth Hitt again lived up to his name by cracking one over the right field fence for the third Venice run. But the Tigers were not through, and in the eighth inning they cut loose again. Singles to right by Meloan and Kane, and a walk to Bayless filled the bases with none out. Brashear slammed a single to left just beyond reach of Dolly Stark and Meloan scored, leaving the bases still filled.

O'Rourke drove one toward right, but Brashear ran into Kenworthy as the latter was fielding the ball. Kenny managed to recover the ball in time to throw out O'Rourke; then Umpire Held called Brashear out for interference; Kane in the meantime had crossed the plate and when Bayless wandered away from third, Tennant pegged to Hallinan who tagged the Tiger slugger. All this time a merry argument had been going on around the person of Umpire Held;

REDLANDS BEATS SAN BERNARDINO.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN BERNARDINO, Oct. 18.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Running up and down the locals' school campus until they could run no more, fighting until their strength gave out, the San Bernardino football team today went down to an honorable defeat at the hands of their deadly rivals, the Redlands hillsiders.

By the score of 5 to 3 the Redlands team triumphed over the locals in the most bitterly-fought game staged here for many years. Both teams were fighting fiercely from the start to the finish and it was anybody's game until a few minutes before the end of the second half, when the visitors ran up the winning scores.

Intense rivalry has existed between the two teams and the players on both sides were fighting like cornered tigers all the way. The largest crowd of the season saw the contest.

No end of credit can be handed to Capt. Warner as it was his marvelous playing which brought his team its only score of the game.

In the first half Warner crossed the line and Devening failed to convert the goal. In the second half the Redlanders forced the ball over and to make sure of the game they converted the goal.

Leonard Carey furnished the most brilliant feature of the game by his long run and line boots. Cogswell, weighing scarcely 100 pounds, executed numerous hard tackles. Harvey Graham, Hurley and Hancock were the features.

Redlands excelled to a great extent in passing but San Bernardino made up for that by superior dribbling.

HILDE RETURNS.

George Hildebrand, who this season qualified as one of Ban Johnson's star indicator men in the American League, returned to Los Angeles yesterday. "Hilde," who started his career as an umpire in the Coast League, made good in fast company and will be back in the big show again next season. He plans to leave for San Francisco, but will arrange to pass the winter on his ranch near San Luis Obispo.

TENNIS FINALS ARE POSTPONED.

The annual tennis tournament for the doubles championship of the Southern California Tennis Club was played off yesterday on the courts of the Y.M.C.A. on Stephenson avenue.

McCormick and Warren, who have won the title twice in succession, fought their way through to the finals as did also Wayne and Variel, and in the finals between these two excellent teams the contest was called on account of darkness when each team had won a set.

Interest in the tournament ran high as McCormick who won the Oregon State singles championship this summer, and Eugene Farren had two legs on the Hogue cup and needed but the one win yesterday to secure permanent possession of the trophy. The match between the two teams for the championship will be played off next Saturday.

The results: Wayne and Variel defeated Donnell and Dixon, 6-2, 7-5; McCormick and Warren defeated Barber and Frees, 6-2, 5-7, 6-4; Conger and Snyder defeated Brent and Ford, 6-4, 6-4; McCormick and Warren defeated Peterson and Holman, 5-7, 6-0, 6-1; Conger and Snyder beat Ferguson and Riddell, 6-3, 6-1; McCormick and Warren defeated Conger and Snyder, 6-2, 6-3. In the finals between Wayne and Variel and McCormick and Warren, the latter won the first set, 6-3, and lost the second, 6-1

The Olympic Forty $1485
Electric Cranking and Lighting, with Complete General Equipment

Look at the "Olympic's" size,—115-inch wheel base. Look at the power,—a full motor. Look at the spring suspension,—full elliptic both front and rear. Look equipment,—every detail that you would expect to find on any car. Then, bethere's the highest grade electric cranking and lighting system!

All for $1485, with honest value and honest workmanship in every part.

For quiet running we would put this "Olympic Forty" against the field. You can running if you listen but it is just that sweet purr that you get from the highest ever built.

Notice the long, clean running board, the graceful curve of the fenders, and the lines of the car as a whole.

The bodies are made in the Jackson factory, from high grade lumber seasoned in own kilns, and finished in the Jackson paint shops. And they are finished. On every there are nineteen separate and distinct operations in the paint shop. It is old-fashioned, you know, to finish bodies that way, but it's the method that gives the deep, rich, finish that critical people so much desire on their automobiles.

Full elliptic springs, both front and rear, give real ease of riding. Wide seats and cushions add a wealth of comfort. Big tires, 34x4, help too. Equipment includes top, top hood, ventilating windshield, speedometer, gasoline gauge on dash, Firedemountable rims, extra rim, tire holders, foot rail, coat rail, pump, tools and jack, cranking and lighting system, electric horn.

Jackson "Majestic" $1985
Long stroke, four-cylinder motor, 4½x5¼, 45 power, electric cranking. Wheel base inches. Tires, 36x4. Full elliptic spring suspension front and rear. Full floating rear axle. Extra roomy body. Wide seats, wide cushions. Completely equipped.

Jackson "Sultanic" $2300
Long stroke, six-cylinder motor, 55-horsepower, electric cranking. Wheel base, seven passenger, 138 inches; five passenger, 132 inches. Tires, 36x4½. Full elliptic spring suspension front and rear. Full floating rear axle, ball bearing throughout. Completely equipped. Seven passenger model, $2450.

MOST CAR FOR LEAST MONEY

The METZ "22" Roadster won't carry as many passengers as a touring car, of course, but when it comes to PERFORMANCE, the big and expensive five and seven-passenger machines haven't got a thing on the METZ "22." This is being proved every day, and the last Glidden Tour put it officially on record.

1914 Improvements
METZ "22" $530.00
Winner of the Glidden Tour

The Gearless Car—No clutch to slip—No gears to strip. Competing with cars costing from five to ten times as much, the METZ team of three regular stock cars won the 1300-mile Glidden Tour from Minneapolis to Glacier National Park. And it was a clean sweep, the METZ cars being the ONLY cars that held a PERFECT SCORE, without additional allowance or time extension of any kind for the entire eight days of the contest.

The METZ "22" is a fully guaranteed car, torpedo, semi-enclosed body, left-hand drive, and center control, fitted throughout with standard equipment, including 4-cylinder, 22½-h.p. water-cooled motor, Bosch Magneto, 30-inch artillery wheels, best quality Goodrich clincher tires, etc.

Makes 5 to 50 miles per hour on the high speed, is a remarkable hill climber, and gets twice as much mileage out of tires and gasoline as the average car. Its gearless transmission entirely does away with gear trouble. It is the most practical car on the market, and the most economical to operate.

Phoenix Classic.

in that race and showed he was good for just such a grind as the Phoenix race called for. He was in the running every second and never quit until he had passed every other car and had captured the cup. Of course, he passed the Apperson and the Franklin. He proved too hard for Hagshue on the Apperson or Ralph Hamlin on the Franklin.

Then came the fourth race. The KisselKar agency had changed hands. H. K. Butterfield had the car and Harvey Herrick, who had figured in one of the earlier races as driver of an Isotta, was given the helm of this race. Harvey upset all the dope that ever was made. Many figuerd that Hamlin should win. It looked as if Ralph should tak the money.

HERRICK WINNER.

With only thirty pounds of air in each of his tires Harvey went away from the Hollenbeck Hotel with the crowds at Second and Spring streets blocking his way for miles. Ralph Hamlin took after him like a scared deer, but Harvey, when pressed a little too hard, just took to the railroad tracks and was never headed. He won handily and smiled as unconcerned as a schoolboy. Ralph was second.

Then came that third race in which a National was stripped and started. Here Harvey was given a chance to drive with Swede Swansen as his mechanician. The two boys went away to a splendid start with E. Roger Stearns, on the Stoddard, close behind them. It was a fine fight between Roger, Ralph Hamlin on the Franklin and Herrick on the National.

Well the way that "Blue Baby" took the sands was an eyeopener. It was no use trying to beat that National. It was the National year. Fight as he would Roger could not get the lead. Even when he was pressing Harvey hard, the wily Herrick stopped the "Blue Baby," climbed beneath the car apparently to fix something, and Roger, thinking that the National was out of the running stepped on the Stoddard and made a great race for Yuma.

NATIONAL CHAMPION.

Imagine the surprise of both Roger and Ralph Hamlin when on reaching the night control at Yuma they found the National in the control with Harvey Herrick taking a much needed rest. Her as surprise No. 1. Ther they both determined to give Harvey a run on the morrow. Roger was out of the running soon after leaving Yuma. Ralph hung on to the finish and took second. The National won and established a great record for cross-country work.

Then came that last race. Ralph Hamlin was the first to enter. Shettler had pinned his faith to a Mercer the year before, but this time he agreed to watch Hamlin. The air-cooled driver went in to win. He studied the course. He left as favorite in that race. Now it is useless to repeat the story of that contest as we all know just how it happened.

Ralph entered against faster cars than his handsome Franklin. He outjockeyed his opponents, kept that air-cooled car moving all the time and won with plenty of time to spare in spite of the fact that he finished at Yuma only a few minutes ahead of Soules on the Cadillac, who took a consistent second place.

BULLY FOR RALPH.

Our hats are off to Ralph for his consistent work. He never brags, but he got there "just the same" and showed that it is possible for a man to get anything if he goes after it right. Hamlin is the winner of the Phoenix race. He is the champion who will hold the honors until November 3, when, perhaps, Charley Soules, or Barney Oldfield, will grab them from him. In the meantime three cheers for the man who hung on, fought like a bulldog and won against odds.

Four men won five Phoenix races. Col. F. C. Fenner took the first, Joe Nikrent and his brother captured the second, Harvey Herrick looms large as winner of the third and fourth races, and Ralph Hamlin is the present champion as victor in the 1913 battle.

PRACTICE GAME OF POLO MEN.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PASADENA, Oct. 18.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Reds and the Whites, the two practice teams of the Pasadena Polo Club, played a snappy match at Tournament Park yesterday afternoon. The Reds won by a score of 4 to 1. The Reds were Carlton Burke, Dr. W. A. Boucher, "Reggie" Weiss and "Teddy" Miller. On the Whites were Harry Weiss, John B. Miller, John Miller, Jr., and Dr. Z. T. Malaby.

The teams will now practice each Wednesday and Saturday afternoon.

POMONA WINS.

RIVERSIDE, Oct. 18.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Pomona High School football team demonstrated its athletic prowess this afternoon by defeating Riverside Poly High by a 16-to-0 score. The local team made no showing until towards the end of the game, and then not sufficiently to score.

Model "T" Underslung Touring Car

Quality Cars at Economy Prices

THE New Series of Regal Cars is the realization of your ideal in a moderate priced car. Never before has there been offered such inherent motor car quality, such detailed perfection, so many desirable features, at such remarkably low prices.

Thousands are waiting for just such cars. They do not want to pay much more than a thousand dollars, but they do want a finished car—an automobile that is absolutely efficient and strikingly beautiful because no details have been overlooked.

That accurately describes Regal Cars selling around one thousand dollars.

We did not think we could better our famous mechanical construction that means safety, economy and efficiency to the buyer. But by certain engineering advancements we have developed these values to an even higher degree.

The standard equipment of these new cars includes an efficient and positive electric starter and lighter. The demanded left-hand drive and center control have been adopted.

We have left nothing to be desired. Your every wish is fulfilled in the New Series Cars. A study of them will convince you that there is a completeness, a perfection that is not found in any other car at the price.

You will be fascinated by the beauty of body design—lines low and sweeping—the styles found elsewhere only in very high-priced cars.

Electric Starter and Lighter— Left-Hand Drive—Center Control

The New Series consists of three Underslung cars—Model "T," a five-passenger touring car; Model "N," a roadster; Model "NC," a coupe—and Model "C," an overhung car. Regal Underslung cars have won the endorsement of the world. They are found in every civilized country. By placing the frame below the axles we attain a striking beauty of low, sweeping, rakish lines. It enables us to use springs that save your tires and give greater mileage. It allows for a straight line drive that saves power and cuts down gasoline bills. It is an assurance against the perils of "turning turtle" and skidding. Our Model "C" is a big, luxurious, powerful car—unrivaled in its class. Again we have maintained the low lines by attaching the springs below the axles. This also gives the straight line drive. We have attained a remarkable degree of riding ease and comfort. Every car is spacious and roomy. Read the specifications carefully.

The Best and Latest Features

Read these remarkable advancements and you'll make a Regal your choice.

Rushmore electric starter and lighter. Electric headlights with dimming attachment. Left-hand drive and center control. Cowl dash. Special attachable curtains. Concealed hinges. Rain-vision and ventilating windshield. Demountable rims. Tire irons. Luxurious upholstery, etc.

These are the very features you want. They are part of the standard equipment of cars famous for efficiency, dependability, long life, power, beauty and comfort.

Ride in a Regal Today

We want a Regal to convince you of the value offered at the price. We want you to note its responsiveness to your control, its excellent braking system, its powerful motor, its easy riding qualities and its attractiveness of design.

Come and see us to-day and we will take you riding in a Regal. If possible, we will call for you. Get in touch with us at once. Investigate our cars immediately. We can assure you of speedy delivery. Literature will be furnished on request.

The train will speed over the course to the strains of Silverwood's "I Love You, California," and wherever Shriners are gathered this paean will be the motif.

The Shriners of four temples have joined their hands in this great circle and the cordon is expected to be lengthened and enlarged by the joining of many thousands of other Nobles.

The idea sprang from an ambition to demonstrate California's ability to do things magnificently. With the gathering of the "Arabs" at Santa Barbara next Tuesday, there will be an open-air performance and parade which will start the trip. This is to be the only outdoor demonstration.

The $10,000,000 band of 120 pieces is the largest band that ever toured in a special train and the richest on earth—in the members' aggregate wealth—will play under the direction of George W. Bennett, a band leader of thirty years' experience. With this band will be four patrols of 140 men under the command of Col. George of San Francisco. There will be singers and artists of renown and whether the entertainment provided be vastly worth while.

A cornetist in the organization is worth $750,000; a drummer is worth and the others are brought into close contact with the income tax. A. Larson, height nearly seven feet, the tallest drum major in the world, will wield the baton at the head of the band—and everybody will look at him.

The great train itself will be a moving executive headquarters. Frank Silverwood, director-general, will ride in the administration car with a corps of assistants. He will be the head of the unique trip, as he was the brains behind the creation of the movement. Details like the provision of a motion-picture outfit, a photograph gallery on the train and many other things, come directly under his supervision and all have been an elaboration on the original plan. A private room is being arranged for the photographer, so that he may take pictures, develop them on the train and ship them ahead to the next town for use as an exploitation of the coming of the wonderful company.

The parade in Santa Barbara next Tuesday will be shown in motion pictures in this city and other places along the route while the company is on tour.

It has been arranged with telephone and telegraph companies that as soon as the Shriner special pulls into a town both wires will be connected with the administration cars and over these wires the director-general will transact further business to insure the completion of every detail in the plan without a hitch.

Men on this train who in their own walks of life set rules for others to follow and obey no dictates save those of their own minds, will find themselves in the position of following the dictates of others. Bandmaster Bennett will issue orders each morning to the musicians, mapping out for them the activities of the day, setting a schedule of their goings and comings and making it plain that nothing short of severe illness will be an excuse for the slightest deviation from the regulations provided. "HANDS AROUND THE STATE" WITH BANDS AROUND THE STATE ON A NOVEL TOUR OF SHRINER AND CALIFORNIA PATRIOTISM.

Million-Dollar Concert Organization and Patrols Set Out Tuesday on Preliminary Trip to Bring the Imperial Council West.

SPIRED by patriotism and fired by loyalty to their State, 300 California Shriners will start out in a special train next Tuesday night to raise $100,000, the sinews of a campaign and a whole train over the East next spring and win for Francisco the 1915 convention of the Imperial Council of Ancient Arabic Order, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine.

A fortnight of barnstorming under the title of "Hands the State" will include one-night stands in the principal cities of California. Fine Shriner bands from the four ornia temples will be combined in a great playing mass—$10,000,000 band—under one leadership; Shriner patrols as many temples will parade streets in their gorgeous garb, illuminating a path of patriotism that will mark this as one big State in the Union that plans and executes on a gigantic and novel scale.

The enormous band, the army of marchers and the corps exceptional artists traveling in a special train will entertain hundreds of thousands of persons. Known as the 1915 ers' Concert Tour Company, this great organization will given ovation after ovation as it passes out of Santa Barbara day night and proceeds northward to the Bay Cities and turns back to the south, winding up in a blaze of glory at Diego a fortnight later.

This tour is really one of the most remarkable ideas in ibition ever originated.. The 300 musicians and marchers, the direct orders and administration of one man—Director-General Silverwood—are eagerly awaited in many HERO OF MANILA.

Col. Filmer, Commanding the California Shriner Patrols, a Soldier, Tactician and Disciplinarian.

Col. George Filmer of San Francisco, the commander-in-chief of the California Shriner patrols, is one of the heroes of Manila.

Col. Filmer was given up for lost for ten days, directly after the opening conflict, when in reality he quietly entered the interior and obtained valuable information that proved effective in the guerrilla war which began before his return, and through which he almost lost his life in getting back to his own lines.

At each concert of the tour, and in the parades, the four crack California Shriner patrols will present their famous Zouave drills, under the command of Col. Filmer. As a tactician he is considered one of the most skilled and exacting in the country. He is a stern disciplinarian.

RADIUM EMANATIONS.

The New Medical Wonder.
(Written for the "Times."

BY JOSEPH MUIR, M.D.

After the first gasps of astonishment at the discovery of radium by M. and Mme. Curie had passed and the world had learned something definite about its nature and characteristics, it was but natural that the deductive German mind should apply itself to the question of its practical application.

The nearest and most appealing field was that of therapeutics—the art of healing. What wonders were in store in its application to problems that had remained unsolved and baffling in spite of the tremendous advances of medical and chemical science and the tireless researches of thousands of brains for the last fifty years? What would be its successes and what were its limitations? The possibilities of a new healing agent—ah! that was enough to send the savants of Europe—for in this country practically nothing had been done—into the maelstrom of researches and experiments.

With the many untoward results of the earlier experiences with the Roentgen and other rays in mind, the medical specialists of Europe, and particularly in Germany, approached radium and its emanations with caution. But it was soon found that there were no such dangers connected with its use, as was the case with the more active rays of electric origin. There were no burns, for instance. Perhaps that was due to the great dilution in which radium was found—one might say: like one grain imbedded in a ton of inert material, for instance—and potent reason could not act with great intensity; perhaps, so much the better.

Radium acts through its emanation, which is a gas. The substance itself is practically indestructible; it is calculated to last from 2000 to 5000 years. These emanations are again decomposed into solid bodies which again emit alpha, beta and gamma rays. These collective changes are grouped together under the name of radio-activity.

During the preliminary experiments with radio-active substances attention was soon called to the discovery that the waters of the well-known Thermal Baths, such as Gaston, Munster and Toplitz-Schoenan also possessed radio-active properties. As these baths had since time immemorial, and based entirely upon clinical experience, been used for the more or less successful treatment of gout and rheumatism, the inference was not far to attribute their healing powers, in part at least, to their contents of radio-active substances. This naturally pointed the way for the immediate experiments in clinics and hospitals.

In the meantime the nature of radium and its emanations had been studied more closely and the invention of the fantaktoscope enabled the researchers to measure the exact quantities of these gases, given off by the mother substances, much like an electric volume is measured. This enabled, of course, a closer physiological study. Experiments on animals thus showed that the emanations, in their various forms, were absorbed by the system and that they were stored in the blood, the liver, brain, the digestive tract, etc., as well as in certain tissues and that while thus stored they continued their activities the same as when they were outside the body; also that they were slowly exhaled through the lungs in the course of a few hours. If exhaled into a confined atmosphere these emanations would retain their original activities and could be reinhaled and exhaled for an indetermined time, all the whole exercising their peculiar effects upon the system. In fact there was a distinct tendency to establish an equilibrium between the amount contained in the body and that in the surrounding atmosphere; in other words, an effort toward equalization. It was also ascertained that very little passed through the skin, that nearly all was absorbed through the lungs.

Experiments further proved that the ultimate split products, the alpha, beta and gamma rays, were the ones that exercised the peculiar effects noticed; they affected particular tissues, embryonic tissues, the tissue of tumors, and inflammatory tissue, for instance, and also largely modified inflammatory processes. They also increased the number of red blood corpuscles, concentrated the leucocytes, the white corpuscles, the defenders of the blood, for attack upon invading disease bacteria. Further, they increased the activities of the ferments of the digestive tract, the enzymes of the pancreas, the peptic ferment, the lactic acid, the diatetic and glycolytic ferments. Or, perhaps, it was through the stimulation of the glands producing these ferments. However, it indicated an increase in metabolism—change of nutritive matter—an important thing both in health and disease and underlying all processes of recovery. But, most interesting of all, as far as application was concerned for direct and distinct therapeutic purposes, radium emanations were found to cause the disappearance of uric acid from the blood. The importance of that result for the specific treatment of gout and rheumatism was at once self-evident, and most of the subsequent researches and experiments centered upon that particular outcome of radium treatment. At once hospitals and clinics became busy under the guiding hand of the leading men in that specialty. Special apparatus were devised and installed for the production and inhalation of radium emanations in measured quantities, and the various results were checked and proved and properly classified for the purpose of eliminating cases impossible of cure or betterment.

Thus, cautiously proceeding, the outcome of the careful, scientific and prolonged treatment of cases properly diagnosed and where the anatomical, pathological lesions had not progressed too far, were astounding. Cases, especially those of gout and muscular rheumatism, that had resisted all other known forms of treatment, began to yield in the third or fourth week; for, of course, such a condition could not be changed over night. Even inflammatory rheumatism of the joints, some of them acute, painful ones, some of them subchronic with swellings, and even some chronic with deformities and adhesions, were either benefited or cured. Of course, there were a percentage of seemingly incurable ones, hopeless from the start on account of too great anatomical changes in the tissues affected; because nothing in the world will ever restore cartilages, for example, that have completely degenerated.

We will let some of the reports speak for themselves.

Prof. Klemperer reported to the Berliner Medizinische Gesellschaft as follows:

"Last year when I heard at the Wiesbaden Congress Gudzent's paper, I expressed myself rather skeptically. This I regret today; for in the meantime I have convinced myself of the efficacy of radium emanations in exceedingly severe cases of rheumatism. I can say now that such successes as have been attained with the radium treatment have never been achieved with any other method. Judging from the result of the discriminating treatment, as conducted under the supervision of Herr His, I know of nothing better for cases of gout and bad rheumatism."

Prof. Dr. W. His, director of the Universitaets Klinik of Berlin, and Dr. F. Gudzent, assistant at the Klinik, make the following observations in the Berliner Klinische Wochenschrift:

Of 100 rheumatic cases treated with radium emanations, 47 were improved, 27 considerably improved, 5 practically cured, 13 were not influenced, and in 6 cases we were not able to ascertain the result. The most interesting cases were naturally those in which the use of the limbs were almost, or completely, restored. The best result was obtained in a long standing case of myalgia, muscular rheumatism. Most benefit can be expected in cases which are not too old and in which the chief changes are swelling of the joints and infiltration of the capsula. The dry state in which the capsule remains unaltered, while the cartilage is considerably degenerated and the musculature around the joint is always involved, yields very favorable results to the extent that the pain is diminished, the contraction of the muscle lessened and the motility increased. Here is a case in point.

An 8½-year-old child suffered for nearly a year from symmetrical swellings of all the joints, so that it could hardly move either hands or feet. After eight weeks' treatment it had regained the use of the hands. And this is so much the more remarkable, as chronic rheumatism in children is usually very obstinate.

A 20-year-old girl who had suffered for over two months from subacute swellings of both knee joints was dismissed as cured after three weeks' treatment. The same happened in a case of a sub-acute swelling of both ankle joints.

Another girl, 19 years of age, had been afflicted with inflammatory rheumatism of all the joints of hands and feet. Numerous efforts to effect a cure had been without results. In the beginning the treatment with Radium Emanations seemed to increase the pain—the so-called "reaction" had set in; then for a while the condition remained stationary, but began to give way under continual treatment. After three months, the swelling of the joints was considerably reduced and the use of hands and feet became again possible. From the latest reports received, the girl was dancing. Of course, such a favorable result as this is not obtainable in all cases.

The results in gout were even more striking. Of twenty-eight patients, four remained unaffected, while in twenty-four a very marked improvement in the condition resulted. The most noted effect was in connection with the uric acid in the blood. According to Garrod's investigations, gout is characterized by a permanent presence of uric acid in the blood, and recent studies have demonstrated that while a rigid diet may diminish it, it can never be made to disappear altogether in that way. He examined the blood both before and after treatment (with radium.) After fourteen days it persisted in but three patients, and in these it remained even after a persistent course. The clinical improvements did not always run parallel with the uric acid content of the blood.

It is, of course, of importance to know if the attack is due to rheumatism or gout, because the auxiliary treatments differ accordingly. In gout dietetic treatment is essential. But the differentiation is by no means as easy as is usually believed. The diagnosis of so-called masked gout is rather difficult. A single examination of urine is not decisive. Uric acid can only be detected with certainty by an examination of venous blood. Some of the very common myalgics of the neck, shoulder and lumbar muscles are undoubtedly of gouty nature, while others are rheumatic. Patients who reveal symmetrical and creeping inflammation of the smaller joints, which often lead to the clinical impression of being rheumatic, have sometimes proven to be gouty. Neuralgia, and especially sciatica, results from this cause much more frequently than is usually supposed.

The net result of our experiments prove that, in order to obtain definite results, patients must sit for at least two hours a day in an atmosphere charged with the proper amount of emanations for a requisite time. Only in exceptional cases is an increase in the emanation doses indicated."

The above reports give a good general perspective of the success so far achieved in the treatment of gout and rheumatic lesions by the inhalation of radium emanations. In the following we give some more specific cases of a somewhat different type, as reported by Dr. Kable of Bad Numsted:

No. 1—Sixty-year-old patient, suffers for eight years from gout of the joints of both feet and fingers, besides the right knee joint, the use of which is very much restricted. Has tried a number of well-known bath cures without result. After six weeks' treatment the knee joint is again freely movable, and is otherwise nearly recovered.

No. 3—Forty-year-old patient, suffers for six years from a very obstinate attack of muscular rheumatism, especially in the arms and legs; has repeatedly used the Solbader Kur, but it is only through this year's Emanation treatment that he has been completely cured.

No. 4—Twenty-five-year-old woman patient. Has had articular rheumatism for three years, especially in the right shoulder joint, so that it was barely possible to move it. Complete cure after six weeks' treatment.

No. 6—Thirty-three-year-old woman, suffers for four years from lumbago in the right side, with a stiffening of the knee joint. After ten weeks' treatment the patient can again move about without assistance and take short walks.

No. 7—Fifty-year-old fers for three years from neuralgia on both sides muscular pains of the which often drive him to of morphine; relieved after weeks treatment.

No. 8—Forty-five-year-old suffers for three years from Cannot get up from a tion unassisted. Completely after six-weeks' treatment.

No. 12—Sixty-year-old tient, has suffered for from stiff joints in both legs; she is completely six weeks' treatment she enough to walk about even to ascend stairs.

"We could continue to but above represent fairly result of our emanation pecially in cases of gout and rheumatism."

The main point in the course, the evidently ination of uric acid from the and consequently from the the relatively rapid recovery inflamed parts affected, of long standing, and by any other means.

But it is not alone in rheumatism that radium have proven so successful, as mentioned before, have refused to yield to treatment. In myalgias, pains, neuralgias and in of sciatica, not of neurasthenic origin, they equally applicable, probably their remote origin lies in a diataesis, or in other comings, and for that reason are corrected by the increase of the intestinal enzymes ments. Not less in importance beneficial effect obtained cases of parametritis, or of the inner lining of the condition that is so hard gyneologist to control; and ring back to the statement dium emanations exercise modifying effect on processes, we must not that they also possess tericidal properties. We led to believe that the radium emanations, may other internal, and especially inflammatory processes the skill of the most cians and that, in their yond the operative field

As to the philosophy, of the mode of action, radio-activity may be a question. It that the alpha, beta and perhaps, other yet act directly upon the and compounds in the body a chemical way, as, for a realignment of the atoms, producing the observed; organic life is for that, and so as of fects can hardly be way, as, for instance changes in both normal metabolism. The writer lieve that the emanation act by stimulating, ductless glands; the neys, the pancreas, the and the swelled adrenal thyroid gland, the and the pituitary gland.

Five Years Ago and Today—the fulfillment of a prediction

In this paper on Sunday, December 13, 1908, appeared an advertisement on the Cudahy Ranch, a property that was being developed and sold at that time by Mr. James R. H. Wagner, the president of this company. Among other things, this advertisement contained these words:

"My opinion is that the man who buys now at Cudahy Ranch will find the value of his holdings doubled—perhaps within a year, certainly within two years."

Let us see if this prediction was fulfilled. Five years ago acres on the Cudahy Ranch sold at $350 to $500—today this same property is valued, at the very lowest calculation, at $1200 per acre.

If you missed your opportunity on the Cudahy Ranch that is all the more reason why you should take advantage of a similar opportunity which we now present to you in LAKEVIEW IRRIGATED FARMS. This property will surely equal the record of the Anaheim and Santa Ana districts, where land bought ten years ago at $200 per acre is finding ready buyers at $800 to $1200 per acre.

And now we Claim that Lakeview Irrigated Farms Will make you Money

LAKEVIEW IRRIGATED FARMS are located in the Valley of Southern California—where values increase faster than in any other section of the State. If you are a farmer or orchardist and contemplate buying land you owe it to yourself to at least investigate LAKEVIEW IRRIGATED FARMS.

Apart from the investment standpoint, now consider LAKEVIEW IRRIGATED FARMS as an ideal farming and orcharding locality.

This property is located 15 miles south of Riverside, in the beautiful Perris-Lakeview-Hemet Valley.

This is an agricultural section that has attracted the attention of hundreds of buyers in the past five years. The crops are certain, very large and readily sold. Wonderful successes are being made in raising hogs, cattle and poultry, in dairy farming and in growing apricots, olives, peaches and walnuts.

The soil conditions are good, water is provided in plenty, transportation facilities are adequate, the advantages of a social community, with stores, churches, schools, etc., are provided near by.

Let us take you down to see this land. You can leave Los Angeles at 9 o'clock in the morning, arriving at the property at 11 o'clock, lunching at the ranch headquarters and spending three hours to look over the property, returning to Los Angeles at 7 o'clock in the evening.

Come to our office before you go and see the stereopticon pictures of the entire valley, and let us give you full facts about this splendid property.

$200 an Acre, on Terms. Perpetual Water Rights

If you are unable to come and see us we want you to fill out the coupon below, tear it out and mail it. We will send you interesting literature regarding Lakeview Irrigated Farms, with map of the district, etc.

INQUIRIES FROM AND ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

Oxides.

BRIDGEPORT, Sept. 25.—Q.: I have been an interested reader of your department of The Times for a long time, but have never taken advantage of your very kind offer in the matter of classifying ore; but a few days ago I was taken to see a ledge over 100 feet wide that bothers me very much, and feel like this is a time to ask you to tell me something about the samples sent by parcel post today. I have been told that it carries tungsten, cobalt, zinc, copper, silver and about all of the acids known, but I am sure that you will know. Nos. 9 and 13 I would think porphyry, and this is the country rock. If any tungsten, I would think it was in Nos. 7 and 12. I am enclosing you No. 15 just to look at, as I presume you are not often asked to classify such ore, and it will be a keepsake, for next year you will hear lots about the ledge it comes from. This is an awful big lot of samples, but they are all blended in together, so that one does not know which one, if any, carry rare metals. "MINER."

A.: In some of the samples copper and zinc appear in very low percentages. Tungsten and cobalt not present in any sample. For gold and silver kindly consult reliable assayers.

A ledge over 100 feet wide cannot be tested throughout without a great number of samples being taken, and all of them subject to analyses and fire-assays.

Your samples are common ones and occur very plentifully at a number of localities throughout the Far West, and Far East, for that matter. No. 1 is from a friable, earthy, brownish and ochreous deposit in which rock is found consisting of granite, porphyritic matter, iron oxides, manganese dioxide—wad and bog—with chalcedony and gypsum-dolomite coatings appearing here and there. No. 2 is pseudomorphic after dolomite; iron and manganese present. No. 3 is low-grade iron ore, consisting of hematite (including the micaceous variety,) and quartz, calcite, with aluminum silicate. No. 4 is strictly hornblendic rock, with attached, on one side, hematite and magnetite. Manganese a trace. No. 5, altered dolomite; present in the mass quartz, iron and manganese, zinc and lead traces. No. 6, a mixture of bog-iron and wad; hematite, ilmenite and traces of vanadates. No. 7, a silicious mixture of various iron oxides and manganese. No. 8, various iron oxides and showing criss-cross cells of lime carbonate with chalcedony coating. No. 9, feldspathic (porphyritic) rock. No. 10, dolomite gypsum, iron, manganese, with zinc trace. No. 11, iron-manganese ore. No. 12, hornblendic rock, cyanite low per cent., attached. Iron, manganese, zinc and lead, in traces only. No. 13, aluminous iron-slate. No. 14, we solemnly affirm that there is no such numbered sample!

No. 15 is described as "oxide ore," carrying gold in colors sparingly. We appreciate the specimen, but when it comes to comparisons with high-grade Tonopah's, Goldfield, National, Tom Boy, Independence and California's tellurides, amalgams, and rich free gold specimens, it is out of the runnin'.

Gypsum.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 25.—Q.: Will you please give me the name of sample that I confidently know will be correctly stated. MRS. L.

A.: The sample is impure with iron oxide (limonite.) We thank you for your—expressed in a word—confidence in this department.

Gold Colors Few.

WEST POINT (Cal.) Sept. 26.—Q.: Will you kindly make an assay of this sample, and let me know the values in gold and platinum? G. D.

A.: Platinum, none. In the concentrates pyrite (iron disulphide,) magnetite, magnetic pyrite (pyrrhoytite,) ilmenite (titanic iron ore,) trace of chalcopyrite (yellow copper ore of the mining boys,) and quartz are separated in testing.

Impure Gypsum.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 27.—Q.: Enclosed you will find a sample of my gypsum deposit located near Saugus, Cal., marked No. 1. I am desirous of a complete chemical analysis of same if possible to obtain. This can be loaded on the cars in carload lots at Saugus for about $10 per ton, and leaves a fair profit for handling, etc. Has it that much value for building material or not? R. E. O.

A.: The necessity for complete quantitative analysis of the sample is not required. Lime carbonate is in the mass, with iron oxide and dendritic manganese, both sparingly present.

"In the Tertiary rocks of California gypsum is widely distributed. It is found throughout nearly all the coast ranges, in the valleys of Southern California, and in the Palen and Maria Mountains. In the Palen Mountains the deposits are probably of Paleozoic or earlier age. Deposits are known to occur in the counties of Fresno, Ventura, Kings, Monterey, Kern, San Luis Obispo, Santa Barbara, Los Angeles, San Bernardino, Riverside, and Orange. In 1910 gypsum was ground for wall plaster or land plaster at seven mills in California, as follows: One each at Amboy, Corona, King City, Los Angeles, Palmdale, and two at McKittrick. In addition, gypsum was mined in small quantities at Fillmore."

During 1910 California profited to the gross value of approximately [illegible] from gypsum; that used in cement averaged approximately $2.50 per ton; that ground for land plaster sold for some $3 per ton. Calcined plaster sold for a fraction under $6 per ton. You can figure further!

Soluble Prussian Blue.

CRESCENT (Nev.) Sept. 28.—Q.: Enclosed find samples of minerals. Please name and give some information of contents. W. W. W.

A.: "No. 1 contains block mineral." and "same material hone is made from." On slip it further appears that: "Massive in solid ledge thirty feet wide, unbroken, very little seams and fractures throughout mass." This sample carries iron oxides with titanium trace. Gothite, a rather seldom occurring iron oxide, is sparingly contained in the mass. This sample is probably confused with No. 2.

"No. 2 contains sulphide 'block' mineral. Ledge six feet wide; half-mile west from No. 1; same hill, all in granite and mica-schist." The sample is hornblende with granite, hematite, ilmenite, and sulphide of iron. "No. 3, block mineral. Ledge four feet wide, long strike along side. Ledge No. 3 looks like wolframite;" tungsten absent. The specimen is quartz with mica, ilmenite, manganese and iron. Pyrite sparingly present. "No. 4, outcrop six feet wide, and below Nos. 2 and 3, 'block' mineral." This is a calciferous and silicious hematite (with hematite, micaceous iron;) it is on the order of "pudding stone" in form. Manganese and limonite in the mass. Blocks probably obtained with

RARE MINERALS, METALLURGY, CHEMISTRY.

[illegible] FROM AND ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

Oxides.

[illegible]DGEPORT, Sept. 25.—Q.: I [illegible] been an interested reader of [illegible] department of The Times for a [illegible] time, but have never taken advantage of your very kind offer in [illegible] matter of classifying ore; but a [illegible] days ago I was taken to see a [illegible] over 100 feet wide that bothers me very much, and feel like this is the time to ask you to tell me something about the samples sent by [illegible] post today. I have been told [illegible] it carries tungsten, cobalt, zinc, [illegible], silver and about all of the [illegible] known, but I am sure that you [illegible] know. Nos. 9 and 13 I would [illegible] porphyry, and this is the country rock. If any tungsten, I would [illegible] it was in Nos. 7 and 12. I am [illegible] you No. 15 just to look at. I presume you are not often asked [illegible] classify such ore, and it will be [illegible] bonanza, for next year you will [illegible] lots about the ledge it comes [illegible]. This is an awful big lot of [illegible], but they are all blended in [illegible], so that one does not know [illegible] one, if any, carry rare metals.

"MINER."

[illegible] some of the samples copper [illegible] appear in very low percentages. Tungsten and cobalt not [illegible] in any sample. For gold and [illegible] kindly consult reliable assayers.

[illegible] ledge over 100 feet wide cannot [illegible] throughout without a great [illegible] of samples being taken, and [illegible] of them subject to analyses and assays.

[illegible] samples are common ones and [illegible] very plentifully at a number of [illegible] throughout the Far West, [illegible] East, for that matter. No. [illegible] a friable, earthy, brownish [illegible] deposit in which rock [illegible] consisting of granite, [illegible] matter, iron oxides, [illegible] dioxide—wad and bog— [illegible] chalcedony and gypsum-dolomite [illegible] appearing here and there. [illegible] 2 is pseudomorphic after [illegible], iron and manganese present. No. 3 is low-grade iron ore, [illegible] of hematite (including the [illegible] variety,) and quartz, calcite with aluminum silicate. No. 4 [illegible] hornblendic rock, with attached on one side, hematite and [illegible]. Manganese a trace. No. [illegible] dolomite; present in the mass [illegible] iron and manganese, zinc and [illegible]. No. 6, a mixture of bog [illegible] wad; hematite, ilmenite and [illegible] vanadates. No. 7, a silicious [illegible] of various iron oxides and [illegible]. No. 8, various iron oxides showing criss-cross cells of [illegible] with chalcedony coating. No. 9, feldspathic (porphyritic) No. 10, dolomite gypsum, iron, [illegible] with zinc trace. No. 11, manganese ore. No. 12, horn[illegible] rock, cyanite low per cent., [illegible] iron, manganese, zinc and [illegible] traces only. No. 13, aluminous [illegible]. No. 14, we solemnly affirm that there is no such numbered [illegible].

[illegible] is described as "oxide ore," [illegible] gold in colors sparingly. We [illegible] the specimen, but when [illegible] comparisons with high-[illegible] Tonopah's, Goldfield, National, [illegible] Independence and California [illegible], amalgams, and rich [illegible] specimens, it is out of the [illegible].

Gypsum.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 25.—Q.: Will [illegible] give me the name of sample that I confidentuy know will be [illegible] mailed.

MRS. L.

A.: The sample is impure with iron [illegible]) We thank you for [illegible] expressed in a word—confidence in this department.

Gold Colors Few.

[illegible] POINT (Cal.) Sept. 26.—Q.: [illegible] you kindly make an assay of this [illegible], and let me know the values [illegible] and platinum?

G. D.

A.: Platinum, none. In the con[illegible] pyrite (iron disulphide,) [illegible], magnetic pyrite (pyrrhoy[illegible]), ilmenite (titanic iron ore,) trace chalcopyrite (yellow copper ore of [illegible] mining boys,) and quartz are separated in testing.

Impure Gypsum.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 27.—Q.: Enclosed you will find a sample of my [illegible] deposit located near Saugus, marked No. 1. I am desirous of [illegible] chemical analysis of same [illegible] to obtain. This can be [illegible] on the cars in carload lots at [illegible] for about $10 per ton, and [illegible] a fair profit for handling, etc. [illegible] that much value for building [illegible] or not?

R. E. O.

A.: The necessity for complete [illegible] analysis of the sample is [illegible]. Lime carbonate is in the [illegible] with iron oxide and dendritic [illegible], both sparingly present. [illegible] the Tertiary rocks of California [illegible] is widely distributed. It is [illegible] throughout nearly all the coast [illegible] in the valleys of Southern [illegible], and in the Palen and Maria [illegible]. In the Palen Mountains [illegible] are probably of Paleozoic [illegible] age. Deposits are known to [illegible] the counties of Fresno, Ventura, Kings, Monterey, Kern, San Luis [illegible], Santa Barbara, Los Angeles, [illegible]ardino, Riverside, and Orange. In 1910 gypsum was ground for [illegible] or land plaster at seven [illegible] California, as follows: One [illegible] Amboy, Corona, King City, [illegible], Palmdale, and two [illegible] Kittrick. In addition, gypsum [illegible] mined in small quantities at [illegible].

[illegible] 1910 California profited to [illegible] value of approximately [illegible] from gypsum; that used in [illegible] averaged approximately $2.50 [illegible] that ground for land plaster [illegible] some $3 per ton. Calcined [illegible] sold for a fraction under $6 [illegible]. You can figure further!

[illegible] Prussian Blue.

[illegible] (Nev.) Sept. 28.—Q.: [illegible] find samples of minerals. [illegible] name and give some information [illegible] contents.

W. W. W.

"No. 1 contains block mineral." [illegible] material hone is made. [illegible] On dip it further appears [illegible] in solid ledge thirty [illegible], unbroken, very little seams [illegible] throughout mass." This [illegible] carries iron oxides with ti[illegible]. Gothite, a rather seldom [illegible] iron oxide, is sparingly [illegible] in the mass. This sample is [illegible] confused with No. 2.

[illegible] contains sulphide 'block' mineral. Ledge six feet wide; half-mile [illegible] No. 1; same hill, all in [illegible] and mica-schist." The sample [illegible] with granite, hematite, [illegible] and sulphide of iron. "No. [illegible] mineral. Ledge four feet [illegible] strike along side. Ledge [illegible] looks like wolframite;" tungsten [illegible]. The specimen is quartz with [illegible], manganese and iron. [illegible] sparingly present. "No. 4, [illegible] feet wide, and below Nos. [illegible] 2, 'block mineral.'" This is a [illegible] and silicious hematite [illegible] micaceous iron;) it is [illegible] the color of "pudding stone" in [illegible] and limonite in the [illegible] probably obtained with ferro-cyanide potassium; wet method. "No. 5, outcrop, half-mile east of No. 1, massive, same hill." The specimen is altered ripidolite; in part micaceous and slowly changing (in ages to come) to talc; ferrous and ferric oxides present. "No. 6, eighteen-inch ledge across hill quarter-mile in strike; below outcrop No. 5; in granite and schist." This is "greasy quartz;" iron and manganese traces. "No. 7 sample experiment. Have taken your tip for kalsomine. To color found that the block concentrate from . . . one oz. treated with 150 cc. H. C. L.; 100 cc. aqua dest. Boiled with solution. Sulphur 2 oz. ferro-cyanide; and ammonium sulphate half-oz., with aqua dest. 300cc. This filtered, with acid added gives 15 lb. material." Good for you! The product is not pure Prussian blue, but it possesses the great advantage of being soluble in water. One more hint—what's the matter with oxalic acid? The product is of a fine sky blue color and may be sold in the open market as pigment for kalsomining and paint uses. Try oxalic acid for darker blue. "Sample No. 9; have just located this on south slope of hill, where Nos. 1 and 2 come out. This about thirty feet wide. Lime carbonate in seams on surface." Sample is somewhat altered jasper iron ore; siderite sparingly present with aluminum silicate.

Try dealers on finished hones. Accept our thanks for the two given us by you.

Galenite.

ROUND MOUNTAIN (Nev.) Sept. 28.—Q.: Am mailing you a piece of rock picked up ten miles north of Jefferson, Nye county, Nevada. Please classify and oblige.

B. E. K.

A.: And mighty fine lead sulphide is the substance you "picked up!" The sample was not tested for silver.

Some Negatives.

TULARE, Sept. 29.—Q.: Will you please send me, or print in your mines column, the negatives of the following: Oil (paraffine base.) Oil Gold, lead, platinum.

M. E. M.

A.: Your question is partly put only. To give you the negatives (negative reactions) in the chemical analysisof the forms of matter stated, and include wet and dry processes with other manipulations and work would take up a great deal of space; therefore, as an earnest of our desire to reply to your communication, we will aid you as follows: Oil (paraffine base) freezing temperature yields no paraffine. Oil asphaltum, base insoluble in camphene. Water, absence of moisture in tube with blowpipe flame. Sand cement (?) mortar; concrete (?) not clearly understood, however, H.C.L. dissolves everything. Gold (wet method.) Free from H.N.O.3 solutions, yield no precipitate (microscopical gold.) In cupelling lead alloy everything "goes up in smoke." Lead, potassium chromate solution (reagent;) the precipitate is insolube in K.O.H. or Na O.H., but is soluble in acetic acid. Platinum (acid solutions;) hydrogen sulphide in excess, precipitate is insoluble in excess of ammonium sulphide, but the precipitate is soluble in H.C.L.

Gold in solutions (positive;) a mixture of stannous and stannic chlorides (in solution) yields the "color" known as "purple of Cassius."

A very good "negative" and positive also, in testing the many forms of cement, is a high-power microscope.

Graphite.

UPLAND, Sept. 29.—Q.: I am sending, under separate cover, specimens which I think to be graphite. Will you kindly tell me through your columns if I am right? Has it any commercial value, enough to warrant opening up to see if there is any quantity? These samples are from two veins, running horizontally and parallel, separated by about two feet of rock, and the lower vein being supported on a five-inch streak of quartz-like rock. Sample No. 1 is the best I could find, and is of the upper layer; Nos. 2 and 3 are of the lower layer, and No. 3 is next to the rock. Is this material any indication of the presence of gold?

H. E. S.

A.: Carbon is no indication of the presence of gold. True it is, that we have some samples in the cabinet showing coal and gold; lime carbonate and gold, but the ledges (?) from which samples were taken represent coal measures, and lime kiln material.

Samples Nos. 2 and 3 are worthless for the exploitation of the low graphite percentage combined, and the samples are shale.

Sample No. 1 is representative of a fine product of commercial graphite when reduced to powder, floated on water, the floating particles gathered as graphite, and by this method 6.50 per cent. of the powdered mineral is graphite, free from grit.

It is well to exercise great care in the exploitation of the locality, and go slow on, and in, the expenditure of money while seeking for higher grade graphite.

Potash and Feldspars.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 29.—Q.: Herewith feldspar samples. Name the white feldspar. Can you give formula for extraction of potash from the yellow-colored rock? What is this yellow rock in mineralogy? What is the granular-white material? All samples from Southern Nevada, and offered for test just as they occur in nature. Thanking you for carrying me safely over the salts of potash heretofore, and with best wishes for The Times,

L. B. R.

A.: Glad to here from you. The white feldspar is albite (soda feldspar) and the yellow specimen is orthoclase (potash feldspar.) As for a process to extract potash value from the orthoclase we know of many, but none of them are practical, and none will do the work, as it were.

The white granular salt is "a hydrous sodium sesquicarbonate . . . and forms an extensive bed in Churchill county, Nevada." (Dana.) It is the mineral trona.

Basalt.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 29.—Q.: I am leaving at The Times some crystal rock that I cannot classify. It comes from Oregon, and the prospector that sends it by me thinks it is corundum. Please inform me what it is.

French Chefs Poor Cooks.

[New York Tribune:] Gustav Zorn, proprietor of the new million-dollar hotel in Bad Nauheim, who has come here to study American hotels, discussed our cooking in New York.

"American cooking," he said, "pleases me very much. Your southern dishes I particularly like. The French chef, whom we find in the large hotels all over the world, would do well to adopt some of your dishes. He would do well, for example, to substitute 'chicken Maryland style,' for such a dish as poached ortolan brains."

Here Zorn smiled.

"Poached ortolan brains—no exaggeration," he said, "are of the sort of dishes a certain type of French chef loves to serve. Such a chef—the gourmet's chef—cooks fish that are not cleaned, and birds so rare they seem not to be cooked at all. Indeed, these fellows have an axiom that the way to cook a snipe is:

" 'Let it fly once through a hot kitchen.' "

WOMEN ATTACK SENATOR'S STAND

Suffragettes Ask Mark Smith to Change His Mind.

Globe Starts New Movement for Federal Building.

Morenci Catholics to Rebuild Dynamited Church.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

GLOBE (Ariz.) Oct. 12.—The Woman's Moral and Civic Association of Globe has followed the example set by a similar organization at Phoenix and has addressed Senator Mark Smith, expressing "great disappointment over the stand you have taken in regard to woman's suffrage in other States" and instructing that "we, as citizens of this progressive State, do insist that you reconsider your attitude upon this question and that you use your influence at Washington, D. C., in obtaining equal suffrage for all the States of the Union." The Senator had ventured to express a doubt whether all the States were ready for suffrage, his attitude being understood to refer especially to southern States, with a large percentage of negro population. His colleague, Senator Ashurst, is one of the leaders in the fight for submission of a general female suffrage amendment to the Constitution.

Now that a couple of Federal court terms a year are assured for Globe, at large saving for transportation of defendants and witnesses, heretofore taken to Phoenix, a movement has been started for early construction of a Federal building in this city, wherein to hold the court, as well as to house the postoffice.

Bids have been invited for the construction of a Globe High School, on plans expected to mean the expenditure of $75,000. The building is to be completed next spring.

"WETS" WIN ELECTION.

A local option election at Superior resulted in victory for the "wets" on a vote of 24 to 21. Delay in putting the people's mandate into effect may result from the fact that the townsite still is undeeded from the government, now being a part of a forest reserve. Yet already projected are a water supply system, from mountain lakes 700 feet elevated above the town level, an electric light plant and an ice plant. Electricity for light and power will soon be secured by an extension of the Miami Roosevelt line.

A census of the Apache tribes is being taken by Vincent Natalish, himself a full-blooded Apache, educated at Carlisle and now regularly in the government service. He has listed 3000 Indians already around San Carlos, and thence will move to Ft. Apache.

Only a mile from Globe a few days ago, there nearly occurred a summary execution for witchcraft, the authorities intervening in time to save from slaughter an old squaw suspected of possessing "the evil eye." The would-be executioner, who was captured, rifle in hand, was an Indian whose young son had died, and who imagined that the child's sickness had been caused by the squaw's incantations.

"Bootlegging" is said to have been the cause of an Indian row that occurred near the city Saturday, in which one Apache was left in a serious condition and another badly hurt. A couple of redskins have been arrested, charged with the crime. Stones were the weapons used.

Isaac Ford, a restaurant man, is under arrest at Winkelman, charged with murderous assault upon a Mexican, Librado Cuneos, who is expected to die. From evidence in hand it appears that Ford shot twice, after having been "rushed" by four Mexicans, who had thrown rocks at him. Cuneos is said to have tried to use a knife on Ford.

The lives of a number of sleepers were endangered by a fire at 2 a.m. Friday that destroyed the Miami laundry at Miami. A couple of explosions were heard within the structure, which, though of concrete and supposed to be fireproof, soon was a ruin. The loss is claimed to have been about $20,000, with $10,000 insurance.

Assignee E. W. Miller of the John W. MacIntyre Company at Hayden has closed up his accounts with the sale of the business, taken over insolvent a year ago. The assets were brought up to about $50,000, all creditors were paid in full, and a balance was left for the MacIntyre estate.

Miami is thoroughly unionized, and so a branch of the Iron and Steelworkers' Union has had to be formed for the men imported to erect the steel frames of the new Inspiration mill at that point.

The Rev. John M. Barnhart has been transferred from the charge of the Globe Methodist Episcopal Church to the pulpit of the Union-Avenue M. E. Church in Los Angeles. His successor here is to be Rev. H. O. Shephard of Kings River, Cal.

TO BUILD NEW CHURCH. CATHOLICS ARE UNDISMAYED.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

CLIFTON (Ariz.) Oct. 12.—Undismayed, the Catholic congregation at Morenci has decided to build another church, to replace that destroyed by repeated explosions of dynamite. At least $10,000 will be spent on the new structure, on which work will be begun very soon.

Five miners were imprisoned last Monday by a cave-in in a stope of the Humboldt mine at Morenci. None of the men were caught under falling rock, and all were released whole after a few hours of desperate work on the part of scores of workmen sent in to their relief.

Usaba Chavez is in jail in Clifton, charged with the brutal murder of his wife, at their lonely ranch home on Eagle Creek. After beating the woman with a rope till her death was a sequence within a few hours, the body was buried in a shallow grave, and the widower, leaving four small children to shift for themselves, went to Newton, the saloon suburb of Morenci, there to drown his sorrows in drink.

P. J. Summers, an employee of the Arizona Copper Company, met death lately at the old smelter under unusual circumstances. While repairing a converter shell, the converter top fell in such manner as to drive a metal plate into the man's leg, cutting the femoral artery, and causing death from loss of blood.

The property and franchise of the Duncan Telephone Company have been sold by the Sheriff under attachment, and may be merged with the Mountain States system.

A two-story office building, 58x82 feet in area, is being constructed in Morenci by the Detroit Copper Mining Company.

CUTTING STONE WITH SHOT.

Sand and Emery Abandoned for Chilled Steel Shot That Cannot Be Bruised or Crushed.

[Harper's Magazine:] It is popularly supposed that the sawing of stone into slabs or blocks is done by sand and water beneath some suitable tool. But sand and emery have been abandoned in favor of the chilled-steel shot. Steel shot is now made so hard that it cannot be bruised or crushed under the heaviest pressure, whereas sand or emery is soon reduced to an ineffective powder. A piece of work can be done thrice as fast with shot, so that the saving in time makes its use cheaper than to use sand. The wear on the tool is far less also and there is greater accuracy in the cut. A particle of sand is effective in sawing only when it imbeds itself in the blade, to stand there as a small, sharp tooth, which, removed from the stone below it one grain at a time and no more. A shot rolls over and over between the blade and the stone, and as the point of contact is very small, the pressure there concentrated crushes the hardest stone to splinters of appreciable size. Shot of different sizes should be worked together, as the largest tend to escape from under the blade first, then the next in size, and so on, leaving some under the blade to the end of the cut. The durability of the shot is amazing. Under a ring drill steel shot is employed in borings of all sorts in quarrying, etc. In sinking the foundations for the Hudson terminal in New York cores six to eight inches in diameter were thus taken out more economically than was feasible by any other method. This hard shot is also taking the place of sand and emery in grinding and polishing stones, finishing a job far more rapidly than formerly. No special machinery is required and only the simplest of tools. A strip of sheet-iron notched along its edge like a saw with teeth half an inch high and two inches apart will eat its way through a stone by aid of the shot at a rapid rate.

Hands Around the State.

Filmer will have similar control over the patrols.

SETS HALF-HOLIDAY.

In honor of the only open-air performance to be given by the patrols, the great band and the artists, Santa Barbara, the starting point, has declared a half-holiday when business and school work will be at a standstill. Tuesday night the company will leave for San Jose by the valley route, where the following night the first indoor concert will be held. Two days in San Francisco will follow the San Jose performance, and the Shriners company will be one of the brightest features of the Portola festival there. Two more days will be passed in Oakland, and then the company will move on to Sacramento.

At Sacramento one of the most remarkable demonstrations will be seen when the band and patrols march to Sutter's Fort, one of the earliest institutions in California's history. "I Love You, California," "The Star-Spangled Banner" and other patriotic pieces will be sung and played there before a great concourse.

Turning back toward the south the train will touch Stockton, Fresno and Bakersfield, later to appear in Los Angeles, San Bernardino and San Diego, where the tour will end in a tremendous demonstration.

Out over the State the Shriners and their friends are making every man, woman and child acquainted with the coming of the "Hands Around the State" organization, what a potent meaning the tour has to all California, and what the ultimate result of it will be if the plans go through successfully, as they will, of course. Every Shriner is selling tickets to the various performances and it is expected that there will be thousands of patriotic citizens in every community who will do their utmost to make the big tour the financial success it richly deserves to be.

Director-General Silverwood is offering four silver loving cups to the persons who will sell the most tickets for any performance, and this has instilled a competitive spirit into the campaign that is sure to bring results.

TO GREATER THINGS.

While nearly 300 men are giving their time and attention to make this tour a hummer, they are doing so to raise funds for one of the greatest efforts California has ever put forth—to win for San Francisco the 1915 Shriners' convention.

In this respect, then, the State tour is merely the harbinger of a more important event—the lusty forerunner of the greater trip that is already casting its shadow before. The thousand-booster train that is to start next May will be assembled in Chicago, the boosting Shriners from San Francisco, Oakland, Los Angeles and San Diego going East over four lines. Each of the four temples will carry its band and patrol and all the way the bands will play "I Love You, California."

Upon reaching Chicago the fezzed men of the Coast will combine in a great parade, followed by a concert. The start of the special will find an army of Shriners ready to invade the East and the South. Boston, New York, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington and other large cities will be made acquainted with the way things are done in California, and then the boosters will reach Atlanta in time to attend the 1914 session of the Imperial Council.

Through the magnetic call of the Coast, the force of numbers and the originality of their entertainment, the boosters expect to capture the convention and sweep aside all opposition to San Francisco as the meeting place in 1915.

To show the ends to which the brains of the great enterprise have gone in arranging, it need only be said that already the Kimball House, one of the big Atlanta hotels, has been acquired by the Coast Shriners for the convention and will be called "Hotel California," the headquarters of the California Shriners, where will be welcomed every Shriner in North America.

The wonderful resources of the Golden State will be exploited in novel ways, the irresistible claims of California in general and San Francisco in particular for the 1915 convention will be shown to the assembled Shriners, and the staid States of the East will be treated to a campaign which for magnificence of planning and thoroughness of execution has no equal in history.

Wherefore, the coming trip of the 1915 Shriners Concert Tour Company—the presentation of "Hands Around the State," which is the motif of the mighty movement.

THOUSANDS IN HORN.

World Star to Play on Costly Instrument During Tour—Miss Atkins Happy.

Herr Franz Helle, late soloist in Sousa's band, one of the world-noted stars to assist the Shriners in their concert tour, will play on his famous $9000 flugel horn for the first time in America.

The maker of the instrument is dead. Carl Joachim's instruments are at a premium and the flugel horn Franz Helle possesses is the only one of the kind in the world.

Herr Franz Helle has postponed his trip abroad to assist the Shriners.

A like expression is made by Miss Ella R. Atkins, who, strange to say, like Franz Helle, postpones an opportunity abroad to go on the tour.

A telegram from her manager abroad asking her if she will accept a place on the Royal Opera of Madrid was answered yesterday as follows:

"Please have them wait until after I tour California. I may not want to go at all. Happiness to me means more than even a great success in my professional career."

COMMUNITY OPENING.

The formal opening of the Little Ranches of Oakdale Community is being celebrated today. The property is located in the La Crescenta-Canada district adjoining Montrose. The Holmes-Walton company, owners and agents of the property, have provided barbecued meats and other edibles for visitors. One of the features of the opening is the dedication of a rustic open-air pavilion for the use of the residents of the new community.

Mines and Mining in the Great Southwest.

Pulling Together.

MINING MEN TO HOLD THE FORT.

Annual Convention at City of Brotherly Love.

Emphasis Will Be Laid on "Safety" Movement.

First National Mining Exposition Is Feature.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

PHILADELPHIA (Pa.) Oct. 11.—Philadelphia will for the first time in her history entertain prominent mining men of the country in the annual convention of the American Mining Congress, October 20 to 25.

At about the same time Philadelphians will view in Horticultural Hall the first national mining exposition ever given in the United States. The exposition, which is under the auspices of the American Mining Congress, will emphasize in an elaborate manner the "safety first" movement which practically had its beginning in the mining industry, and which has since spread all over the country. From present indications, a majority of the exhibits will typify what has been done in the last few years and what is being done at the present time to reduce the death toll of the mines.

Already mining men from every State in the Union have notified the convention headquarters of their intention to be present, some of them coming in delegations on special trains, especially from the Pacific Coast and the West. There will be a delegation from far-away Alaska to tell the story of the bottling up of the natural resources of that country by the Federal government and the refusal of the Federal government to grant relief. There will be another strong delegation from Chicago. From Denver, Colo., will come D. W. Brunton, president of the mining congress and the leading drainage expert of the world, heading a large delegation.

Washington, D. C., will send a unique trio, consisting of John Hays Hammond, Hennen Jennings and Gardiner Williams, all multi-millionaires, who made their fortunes in South Africa gold and diamond mining. The nation's capital will also send Senators Shofroth, of Colorado, Walsh of Montana, the head of the Senate Committee on Mines and Mining, and Sutherland, of Utah, Representative Foster of Illinois, chairman of the House Committee on Mines and Mining, and the other members of this committee; Secretary of the Interior Lane, if he recovers in health sufficiently by the time for the convention; Secretary of Labor W. B. Wilson, Dr. Joseph A. Holmes, the director of the United States Bureau of Mines, who is now hurrying back from Alaska; Dr. George Otis Smith, the director of the United States Geological Survey, and many others. The sister city of Pittsburgh will be represented by a delegation of the biggest bituminous coal operators of the country, headed by John H. Jones, president of the Pittsburgh-Buffalo Coal Company.

More than fifty of the best-known mining engineers of the country will come from New York, these men representing the great mining corporations of the United States. They will include Dr. James Douglas, dean of the mining engineering profession of the United States; J. Parke Channing, W. R. Ingalls, and others.

The distinguished visitors who are coming and the anthracite operators and mining men generally of Philadelphia are expected to constitute the greatest national rally of mining men ever held in the United States. It will be the first real attempt that has been made to obtain that co-operation in the industry that is deemed necessary for success.

The mining industry is second only to agriculture, with an annual output of $2,000,000,000. It employs directly 1,500,000 men and another million men handle its raw products. The output of the mines constitute 65 per cent. of the freight traffic of the country. An attempt is to be made at this great national gathering to impress upon the country the magnitude of the industry and to show what progress it is making.

The mining exposition in Horticultural Hall, under the direction of Richard L. Humphrey of Philadelphia, will show in a graphic way what is being done by the mining industry to reduce the number of deaths in the mines. Indications now point toward the exposition resolving itself into a safety device congress. The famous oxygen helmet, which permits rescuers to enter mines filled with deadly gases following explosions, will be shown and its use will be demonstrated by a trained crew from the United Bureau of Mines.

The basement of the Horticultural Hall has been fitted up to resemble a coal mine, and in this place the rescuers will demonstrate their life-saving methods. In the coal mine there will be an air-tight room with glass sides. This will be filled with smoke and the rescuers will work in the stifling vapors. The well-known resuscitating device, which is said to be responsible for the saving of more than 300 lives since it was introduced in this country by Dr. Joseph A. Holmes, the director of the United Bureau of Mines, will also be shown and its workings demonstrated by Uncle Sam's crew. Modern safety lamps which have the stamp of approval of the mines' bureau will also be shown.

That these devices have been effective in reducing the number of deaths in the coal mines is seen by a comparison of the death rates between the years 1907 and 1912. The year 1907 was the worst in the history of American mining and marked the beginning of the Federal investigations into the causes of disasters. In 1912 with 40,000 more men employed and an increased production of 40,000,000 tons there were 837 less men killed than in 1907.

At the exposition there will also be continuous motion pictures depicting mining in all its various phases. The films were taken by the Federal government as a matter of education to the miners and will be shown by the United States Bureau of Mines.

The West will be represented at the exposition by a placer gold mine in full operation, with an old-time miner in charge. A carload of gold-bearing gravel from the famous Cherry Creek district of Colorado has arrived in the city and is now being placed in Horticultural Hall. It was at Cherry Creek that gold was first discovered in Colorado while the pioneers were fighting the Indians. The gold obtained from that district in the next few years established the city of Denver and the yellow metal has been taken from the creek ever since.

The gold mine will represent the three original methods of mining this precious metal—first, the miner washing the gold from the gravel in a pan; second, the washing of the gold by means of a rocker or "long tom," and third, the sluice method.

As in the mining exposition, the convention of the mining congress will give its first consideration to the question of safety among the million and a half men employed. There will be a report of the committee on the prevention of mine accidents and discussion by such prominent men as W. R. Ingalls, Dr. James Douglas, J. Parke Channing and J. R. Finlay, all mining engineers of national reputation from New York, and John Hays Hammond of Washington.

Directly connected with this discussion will be the report of the committee on "Workmen's Compensation." The coal operators of the country claim to be the pioneer in this movement which has since expressed itself in legislation in many of the States.

At the time this declaration was adopted by the congress the coal operators suggested a tax of one cent on each ton of coal to take care of the hazards of the industry. With a production of 500,000,000 tons annually, this would have meant a fund of $5,000,000. Before the plan of the operators could be put into use, a number of the States passed laws that rendered the plan unavailable. John H. Jones, president of the Pittsburgh-Buffalo Coal Company, will address the convention on this subject and he will be followed by Senator Sutherland of Utah, chairman of the Senate Committee on Workmen's Compensation. Other speakers on this topic will be Edward T. Bent, Chicago, president of the Oglesby Coal Company; Tom L. Lewis, Bridgeport, O., former president United Mine Workers of America, and David Ross, Springfield, Ill., former secretary of the Illinois Bureau of Labor Statistics.

FIND INCREASED CAUSE FOR JOY.

CAMP RESIDENTS HAPPY OVER A SECOND DISCOVERY.

"Sandstorm" Gets Seams of Ore Yielding Good Assays on Five Hundred' Level—Prospects for Making Producer of Mine Improve. Developments at Lone Star.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

GOLDFIELD (Nev.) Oct. 17.—Residents of this camp had not concluded their praise-offerings for the ore showing on the property of the reorganized Blue Bull Mining Company, before they were called upon to jollify over another condition almost equally potential. Comes now authentic information that seams of ore, exposed in a large vein on the 500-foot level of the Sandstorm-Kendall Consolidated, are yielding good assays and that prospects are greatly improved for making a substantial producer of this property.

Regarding present conditions at the Sandstorm-Kendall, A. H. Howe, secretary and treasurer of the company, after consultation with K. M. Simpson, engineer and general manager of the property, has issued the following statement:

"Development work on the Sandstorm-Kendall is showing more favorable results than at any time since the present operations were undertaken. On account of the large flow of water which occurred in the winze on the 500-foot level, to which reference was made in the company's statement of August 22 last, the sinking of the winze was temporarily abandoned. Both the north and south drifts on the vein were continued, and the main crosscut east on this level was advanced to a point 670 feet east of the Kendall shaft.

"At this point another vein was encountered. This vein has been crosscut for a distance of twenty feet and the hanging-wall has not yet been reached. Seven feet of quartz on the footwall shows values running from $2 to $5. One small stringer lying directly on the footwall assays $44 per ton, principally in gold but carrying some silver and copper.

"This crosscut will be continued until the hanging-wall of the vein is reached. If no better values are encountered on the hanging-wall, the footwall stringer will be prospected. Immediately after encountering this vein on the 500-foot level, the work of crosscutting on the 350-foot level was resumed with a view to cutting the new vein, and should do so in about 105 feet. During the progress of the work on the 350-foot level, various stringers of quartz which show small values in gold have already been encountered."

In addition to its development on the 500-foot level, where drifts and cross-cuts are driven to explore, the Sandstorm-Kendall has been thoroughly sampling the old surface workings and the old dumps with a view to determining whether a milling plant can be operated profitably. The Sandstorm was the first mining location made in the Goldfield, then known as the Grandpa mining district, the discovery being made by Harry Stimler and William Marsh, who had been grubstaked for a trip to the district by Jim Butler, who discovered Tonopah in 1902.

New developments of interest are reported from the property of the Lone Star Consolidated, on the eastern part of which ore of excellent grade has been found lately by lessees and where a large quartz mass has been penetrated that is regarded as a good promise for the discovery of valuable deposits of ore. A statement is now being sent to the stockholders of the company by Secretary J. S. Henderson. It contains an outline of the company's operations and an account of the discovery made by the lessees. The property is located in the heart of the district.

Conditions on the Blue Bull property continue to show well and the management is inclined to be rather cheerful over what the future has in store. Work at the Merger Mines Company property is progressing satisfactorily. The Consolidated is employing more men now than ever before.

Globe.

DEEP MINING ENCOURAGING.

Results Disprove Beliefs of Old-Timers.

"Commercial" and Dominion Testify to Success.

Inspiration Gets New Holdings, Is Rumor.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

GLOBE (Ariz.) Oct. 17.—Most encouraging to the miners of the whole district is the fact that ore is found at depth in a number of the principal properties. This is contrary to the belief of old-timers that the Globe mines were all shallow. The belief was correct regarding silver deposits, but no bottom has yet been found for copper.

Notable testimony along this line has been given on the 1200 level of the Arizona Commercial, where No. 3 crosscut has gone through more than thirty feet of excellent sulphide and where work is to drive at once to a fourteenth level.

At depth also the Old Dominion is proving good, with better, and more ore than ever before known. For years this property has been handicapped for lack of sulphide, its smelter charges being balanced by importation of base ores, to add to the local carbonate and silicious ores. The cost of pumping is now repaid the company by sale of the water to the Miami mill. Last month's product of copper, 2,657,000 pounds, is considered satisfactory, in view of the changes in equipment that have interfered with handling ore.

It is rumored that the Cactus property has been taken over by the Inspiration Company. The property is strikingly similar in geological formation to the Miami section, and there is belief that it will stand exploration by drill.

The Duquesne Company is contemplating erecting a small test mill at its property. A body of concentrating ore has been developed there.

Large pumps are being installed on the Reymert property, southwest of Superior, to handle a flow of water that has been demonstrated permanent. The shaft had been sunk to 230 feet, from 120 feet at the time the property was taken over by the Thompson-Gunn Company.

The Fortuna mine, two miles north of Silver King, has been bonded to Johnson & Marvill, who are running a new 400-foot tunnel intended to drain the upper workings and provide more economical egress for ore.

Plans are laid at Superior for a concentrator for the lower-grade ores of the Magma property, values generally overlooked by reason of the richness of the main ledge. Superior is to have a branch from the Arizona Eastern Railroad as soon as the railroad company can secure authority from the Corporation Commission for the issuance of necessary bonds.

The new reverberatory furnace of the Arizona Copper Company at Clifton is again in operation and is said to be working perfectly. The initial failure is now ascribed to faulty foundations. Dr. L. D. Ricketts, designer of the plant, abandoned a European trip to return to Clifton, on receipt of news of the trouble, but the damage had been repaired by the time he had reached Arizona. He is now making a general inspection tour of the properties and works of the Phelps-Dodge and Cananea companies, in his capacity of consulting engineer for both.

Work is to be started at once on a twenty-five-ton mill at the Twin Peaks property. Five thousand tons of ore are already on the dump there.

The lower levels of the mine are now being cleared of water. After this has been accomplished, a large amount of development work will be started.

On a near-by property, the Clear Lake, is a small mill, which is to be started soon, on Clear Lake and custom ores. Heretofore most of the returns from the Twin Peaks district have been on ore shipped to the Shannon smelter at Clifton.

GET MANY CLAIMS IN CHERRY CREEK.

MAJESTIC-IDOL ACQUIRES MANY VALUABLE HOLDINGS.

Seventeen Claims and Interest in Another Group Are Included in Acquisition—Monarch Property Is Mortgaged to Accomplish Reconstruction of Mill.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

PRESCOTT (Ariz.) Oct. 17.—The Majestic-Idol Mining Company has acquired a great deal of valuable ground in Cherry Creek district, including the Majestic group of six claims, the Etta group of eight claims, three claims of Richard DeKuhn and an interest in still another group. The Etta is a mine with an excellent record of production and upon it the new company will begin operations. It lies only twelve miles from the new town of Clarkdale, where a railroad is reached over a good wagon road.

A $100,000 mortgage has been placed upon the Monarch property, near Wickenburg the money advanced by the Continental Trust Company for the reconstruction of the milling plant, destroyed by fire last year and for further development work. A short run of the mill before the fire showed the ore to be rich and there is no doubt that the deposits are extensive.

A carload of ore that will surpass anything already taken from this camp has been shipped to El Paso from the Humboldt Consolidated property near McCabe. Most of it is from a four-inch streak on the 200-foot level that carries values of over 1000 ounces of silver to the ton, as well as 59 per cent. lead. The mine lately was visited by Dr. C. L. Bowen of Los Angeles, president of the company and the largest stockholder.

Six miles below Copper Basin, Munds & Miller have found copper ore assaying as high as 80 per cent. in a formation heretofore not known in that locality as copper-bearing.

N. H. Getchell has purchased of Frank M. Murphy the old tailings bed of the Crown King mine in the Bradshaw mountains, estimated to contain 20,000 tons. The tailings are to be treated by the Monell slime table method at the Y.-P. mill, where it has been successfully tested already. The Crown King for years was one of the phenomenal producers of this section, though its ores were so base that only a part of the sulphurets could be successfully handled by the milling facilities available. The tailings are rich, but have thus far defied profitable handling, though the experiment has been tried a number of times by different methods of cyaniding and magnetic separation.

An eighteen-inch vein of copper has been cut in Y.-P. ground by drifting from the old Senator tunnel, now operated by the company.

F. W. Wood of Los Angeles is making an inspection of the Swastika property in the Bradshaw mountains.

TO TAKE CARE OF HEAVY DRAINAGE.

JUNCTION MINE TO HAVE BIG PUMP STATION.

Installation Will Benefit Large Area, as Pump Station Will Be Lowest in District—Large Silver Vein Cut in Tigre Mine—Shattuck's Output.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

BISBEE (Ariz.) Oct. 17.—A big pump station is being provided on the 1800-level of the Junction, to which point the concreting of the shaft will be completed within a couple of months. This station will be the lowest in the district, as the Junction shaft collar is much lower than most of the mines of the district. So, practically, the shaft may be considered as draining the whole Warren section, no slight task, and relieving the Copper Queen and Calumet & Arizona mines of most of the pumping work.

It is pleasing to note that in the last 300 feet of the shaft, as well as in the station chamber, sulphide ore of excellent quality has been cut. There seems to be no desire on the part of the management to prosecute deeper exploration at present, as known ground of worth is to be tapped by drifts on the 1600, 1700 and 1800 levels.

A new three-foot vein, carrying from 300 to 800 ounces of silver to the ton, was cut lately in the Tigre mine, south of Douglas. The vein has been developed for more than twenty-five feet and preparations are being made for shipping the ore on motor trucks from the mine straight through to Douglas, thus avoiding transfer to the Nacozari Railroad at Yzabal. The strike was not entirely unexpected, as the vein had been found before by diamond drill.

It is told that in last month's Shattuck-Arizona shipments to Douglas there were about 200 tons of ore that ran over 40 per cent. copper and thirty-five ounces silver to the ton. About 10,000 tons of similar ore is said to be ready for stoping, though it is to be drawn upon gradually, to equalize production. Last month's output was about 1,200,000 pounds of copper.

Imports through the Douglas custom-house the past month were 13,504 tons of ore and concentrates, seventy-two bars of bullion and forty carloads of precipitates. The bullion was from El Tigre and was valued at $100,000. In addition, 211 tons of ore came from the same mine. From Nacozari, mainly from the Moctezuma Company, came 299 carloads of ore and concentrates—11,985 tons.

A test run has been made at the new mill at Commonwealth and the plant is to be in active operation by the first of next month.

The Cananea output for the past month was 6,444,000 pounds of copper, a material gain over the previous month. Of this, however, 3,260,000 pounds are to be credited to Miami concentrates and 664,000 pounds to custom ores. The gross October output will be much larger, as both reverberatory furnaces are to be kept hot the entire month.

Ore averaging 15 per cent. copper is shipped by the Cananea Northern, a property on which fifteen men are working.

CREATING ENORMOUS HEAT.

Iron Can be Made to Boil Like Water at a Temperature of Three Thousand Degrees.

[Kansas City Journal:] For some years past scientific men have been striving to produce heat fiercer than any temperature of which we have experienced in ordinary life. The greatest heat ever developed by the agency of man was obtained by Sir Andrew Noble, who exploded cordite in closed vessels, so that a pressure of fifty tons to the square inch was registered, and a degree of heat never previously recorded.

The highest temperature reached in fuel furnaces for practical purposes is between 1700 and 1800 degrees Centigrade, and at such a heat fireclay and porcelain are melted. Then we come to the flame fed with hydrogen and oxygen, or oxygen and coal gas; by these means a temperature of 2000 degrees Centigrade may be obtained.

A new industry solely dependent upon the employment of great heat is that of melting quartz. This mineral, fused by the oxy-hydrogen flame, is converted into tubes and flasks and other vessels for chemical purposes. These vessels are absolutely inert, and may be heated hundreds of degrees higher than is possible with glass; they may also be plunged at such heat into cold water without injury.

It has been discovered that by whirling a centrifugal wheel at high velocity in the combustion chamber of a furnace the nitrogen is cast to one side, while the oxygen is concentrated, and in this way a brighter flame and greater heat are obtained. A similar appliance used during the combustion of coal in a furnace enabled a firm of paper makers to save 27 per cent. of their coal bill by the elimination of the hydrogen gas formed in combustion.

But most remarkable of all the phases of the utilization of extreme heat is the discovery of the welding material known as thermit. The inventor discovered that aluminum is very much attached to oxygen, and holds it closer than a brother. Therefore, he mixed granulated aluminum with oxide of iron, for the lighter metal wants oxygen, and the oxide of iron has it to give. A small quantity of magnesium filings was placed on top of the mixture, and a storm match applied, and immediately a mass of molten iron was seen boiling at a temperature of 3000 degrees Centigrade—much higher than any temperature in ordinary use.

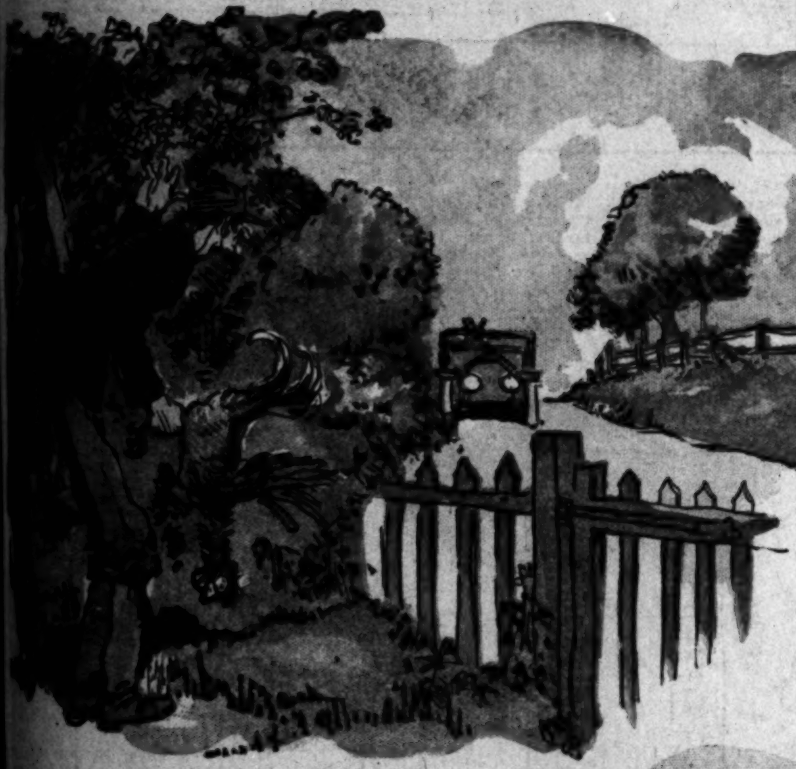
MAZIE THE MOTOR MAID

Verses by Paul West ⊠ Illustrations by J. Norman Lynd

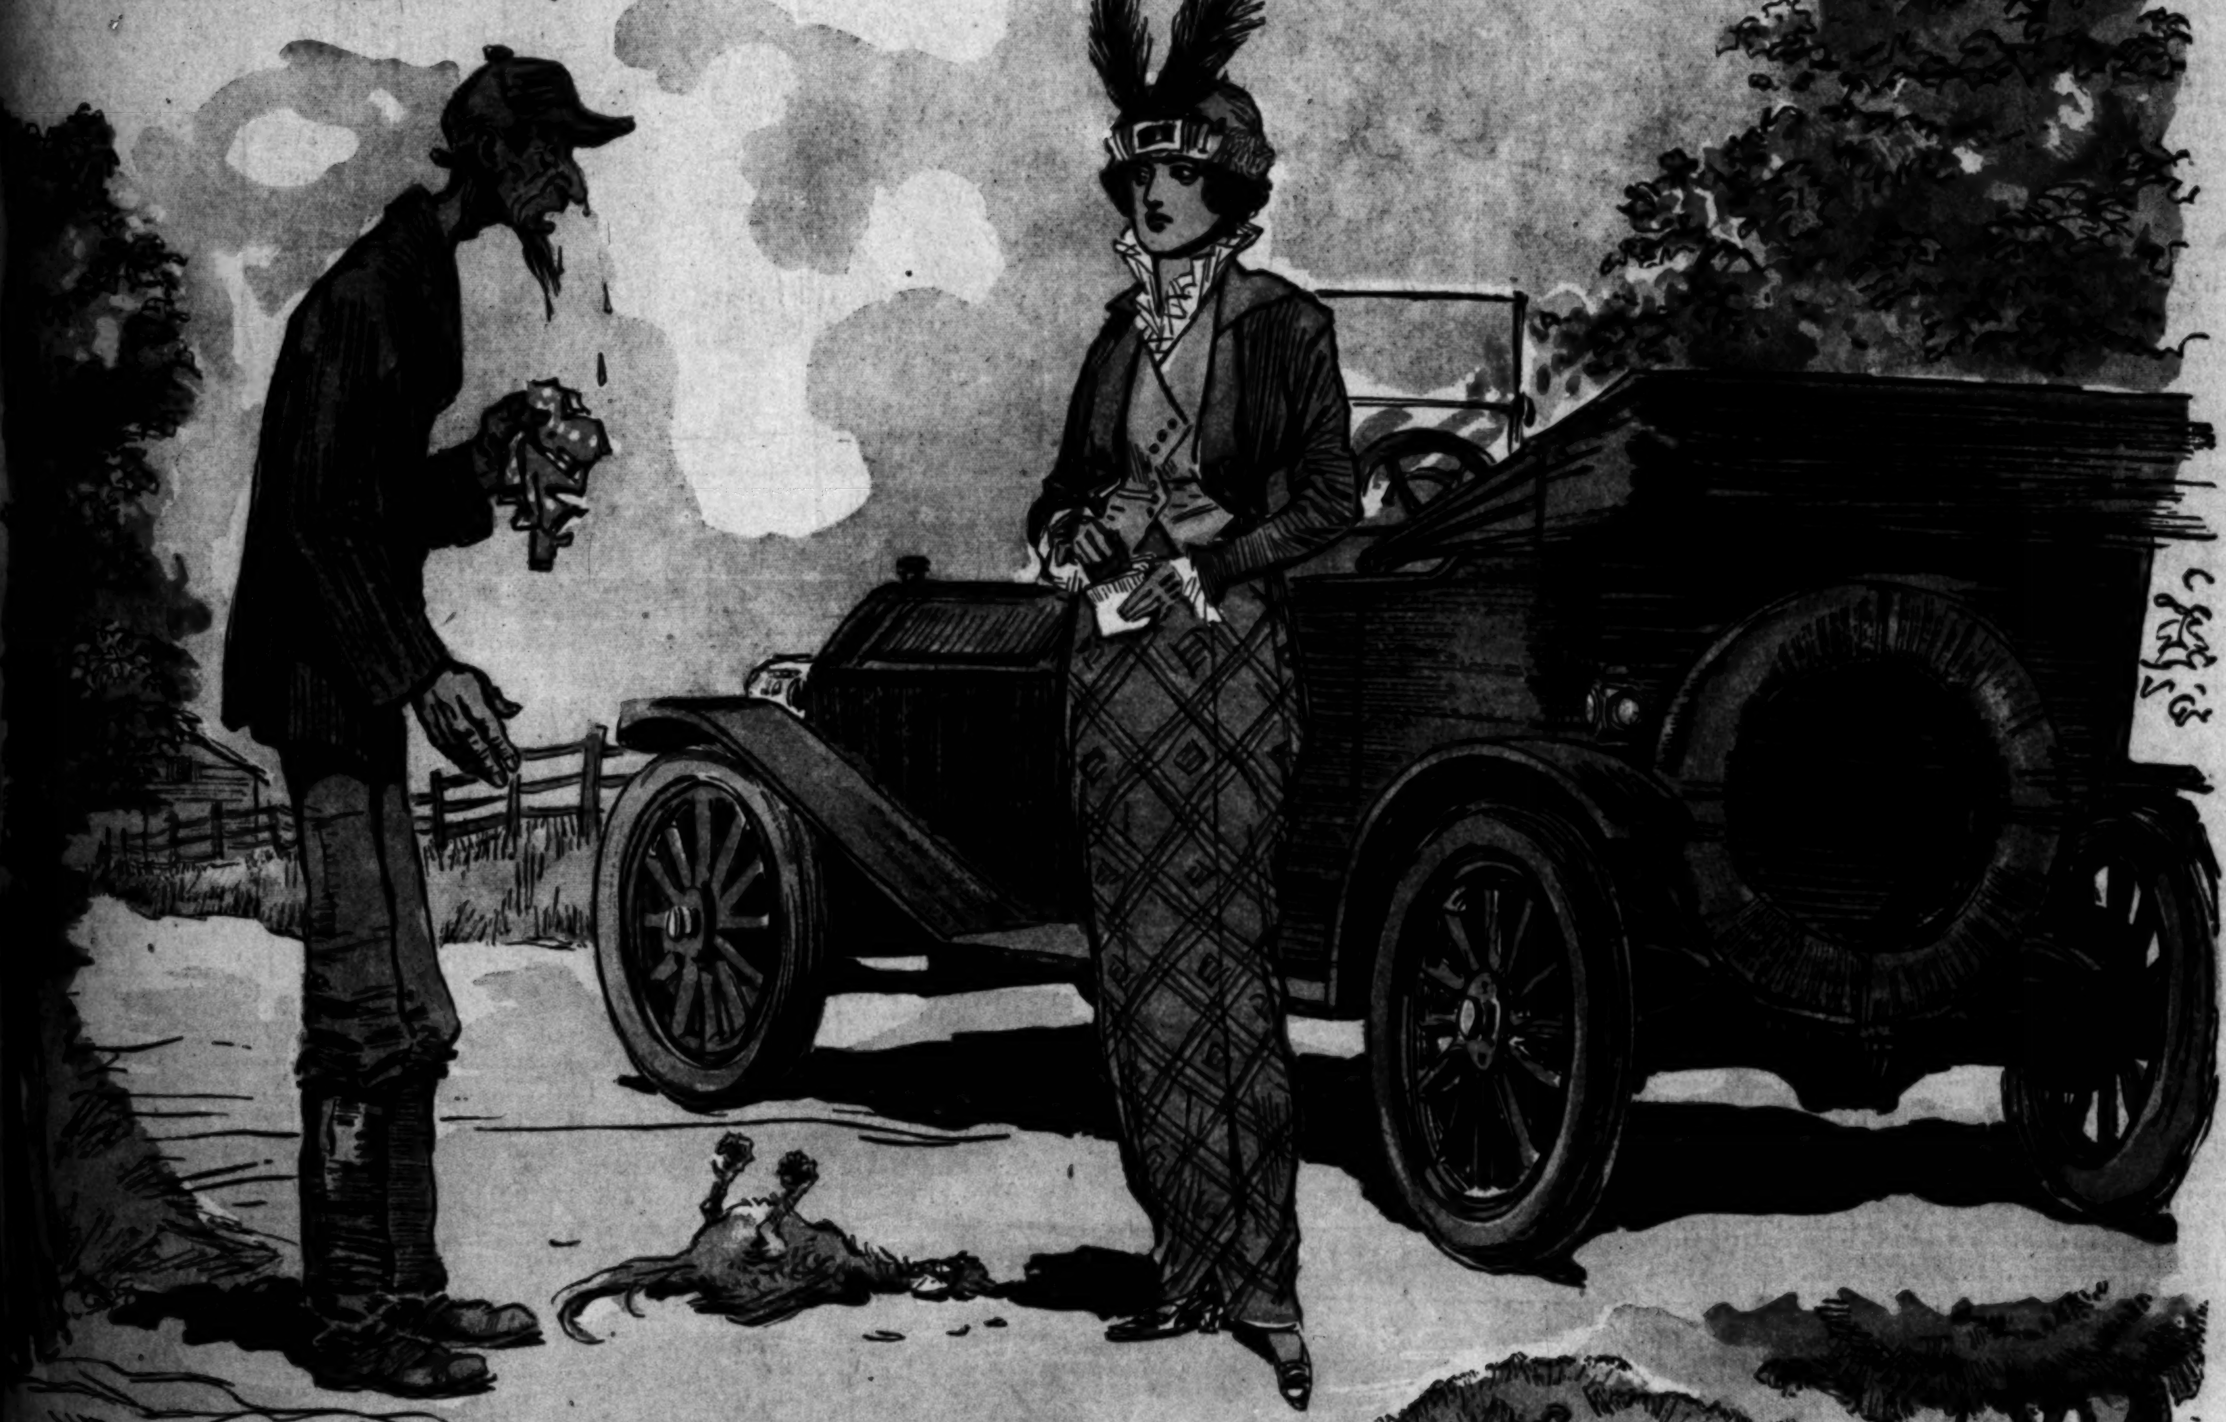


1—One bright autumnal afternoon fair Mázie started out
Through nature-tinted woodland roads to motor round about.
The air was crisp, her heart was light, her car was fine and fit!
No wonder she was tempted just to "let it out a bit!"

2—As swiftly then she sped along, hard by a high-hedged farm,
Out in the road a rooster flopped despite her horn's alarm.
Straight in her path, and then—Kerblip! A loud voice challenged, "Hey!"
And out an angry farmer rushed, demanding she must pay.

3—"How much?" she asked. The farmer wept. "My little daughter's bird!
Five dollars or she'll break her heart!" Cried Mazie, "How absurd!
But since the rooster was a pet—well, here's your money, sir!"
And off she went, five poorer, with a rather angry whirl!

4—Next day she passed the spot again, when, strange to say, another
Wild rooster shot from out the hedge and ended like his brother.
Out rushed the farmer. "Say!" he cried, "this bus'ness is a crime!
You've slaughtered Jimmy's rooster now. Ten dollars, Miss, this time!"



NORMAN LYND.

5—"Well, keep your roosters in the yard," cried Mazie, rightly nettled.
"That makes no odds," the farmer said; "you'll settle!" And she settled.
But as she liked this bit of road she came again next day,
And lo! a rooster crossed her path in just the selfsame way!

6—Out rushed the farmer with his wail! But ah! in vain his trick!
"No, sir, you don't!" cried Mazie, as she stopped her motor quick—
Stopped it before it touched that fowl, which lay there, just ahead,
Undoubtedly, decisively, particularly—DEAD!

7—"Oho! I thought so!" Mazie laughed, and kicked the feathery bundle
"Now you give back my money quick or off to jail you trundle!
I may have killed that rooster once. I've paid you twice, my man!
It's your turn now to settle, just as quickly as you can!"

8—In vain the farmer hemmed and stewed. She made him pay his shot.
"Twill teach your kind a lesson," Mazie laughed, and left the spot.
Then out she took her little book and wrote with angry hands:

"MAKE SURE YOU'VE DONE THE DAMAGE ERE YOU SETTLE FOLKS' DEMANDS!"

COMMON SENSE in the HOME
EDITED by MARION HARLAND

KEEPING THINGS IN THEIR PLACES.

A GREAT many years ago a charming book for girls appeared entitled "A Place for Everything and Everything in Its Place." Probably many of my middle aged readers may have read it and recall the story it told of the disorderly family who kept all their possessions at loose ends and of the reform worked among them by means of visitors of neat habits.

The story is not the subject on which I was thinking as I wrote the heading of this talk. Instead my remarks are prompted by the many letters I receive from the members of our constituency asking for the repetition of recipes which have appeared in our Corner at some time or other. Almost all these requests are accompanied by the same sort of explanation: "I cut out the recipe and meant to keep it, but it has disappeared"; "I laid the paper with the recipe in it to one side, but some one threw it away"; "I meant to keep the recipe, but before pasting day came around some one picked it up and now I can't find it"; "The children got hold of my newspapers and now I can't find the one with the recipe I wanted."

The form of the story differs, but the burden of each is the same. There was not a set place for the recipes or the papers containing them, hence the loss. And every time I read the complaint I wonder again, "Why do not busy housekeepers learn the value of having a place for everything and keeping everything in its place?"

"By the time I have found the things I am looking for I haven't time to do anything with them," moaned a housekeeper to me the other day.

Don't we all know what she meant? Haven't we all sought for a mislaid article until we had no leisure left to use it after it finally came to hand?

Worst Way to Keep Recipes.

We cannot escape something of this sort so long as there are other members of our households who put things out of place, but a certain measure of it we can be spared if we will adopt fixed localities and suffer nothing to interfere with our putting into them the things that belong there.

Take the recipes, for instance. The worst way in the world to preserve them is by leaving them in the paper and trusting to that being left where we put it. A newspaper seems to be looked upon as a possession owned by any one and every one who wishes to take it. To be sure of the recipe it should be cut out at once and put away securely.

"But I can't do that," breaks in one of my readers. "The others want to read the paper and they don't like it if I cut something out before they see it."

Then have a blue pencil at hand and mark the article you wish to clip out. This marking will not only show later readers the paper is to be kept, but will aid you to find your place when you are ready to do your clipping. In my own household there is a hard and fast rule against throwing out any newspaper until it is in the wastebasket and I recommend this to you if you are in the habit of saving excerpts from newspapers.

Card System Best.

Next, take care of the cuttings after you have them. Don't lay them on the table or in your desk or tuck them into a book. If you haven't time to paste them at once have a box or a drawer where they and they alone belong and put them in this the instant you have clipped them.

One of the best ways of preserving recipes is by the card system. Buy the ordinary index cards and keep a package of them at hand. As soon as you cut out your recipe attach it to the card with a sweep of your paste brush, or pin it to the card with a clip if you don't wish to take the time for pasting. Then slip the card into the box; it is there safely until you have time to put it in its classified place in your file. This is really better than pasting the recipes in a book, since the indexed cards are easily found and there is always space to introduce new recipes for the same dish.

But whether you use a file for your recipes or a book, or lay them in envelopes or anything else, be immutable in your custom of having always the one place for them, and put them in it. Until you have tried this plan you have no idea how much time and worry and annoyance it will save you and others.

Recipes are not the only thing for which there should be a place if you wish to have peace and comfort. A busy woman with many cares on her mind can spare herself an incalculable amount by making a fixed rule of invariably stowing certain articles in their own niche, so that she never has to spend time and thought wondering where this special paper or book or pattern can possibly be.

For example, when I go to the country for the summer I send certain valuables to the bank. I also put my furs in storage. The receipts for these always go into a small drawer in my desk, and it is always the same drawer. When I come back to town and when the cold weather arrives I do not have to waste any consideration on my receipts. There they are in that drawer which has held them every summer for years. With them are my savings bank book and one or two similar possessions which are not used every day or every week, but which I want immediately when I want them at all.

Try the same plan in other ways, and you will be surprised at the saving it means to you of thought and worry. I take it for granted that you have a bag or a drawer or a box for your patterns, and another for your pieces—perhaps more than one. I have found that it simplified searching to roll up the different kinds of scraps and pin or tie them and then stow them in a box or a drawer or arrange them on a shelf. When I am looking for a piece of some special kind I do not have to turn a whole rag bag upside down and inside out to find what I want.

On the same principle I mark everything I put up for the summer or the winter. When I have wrapped my woolens in cloths I tag them, attaching the tag bearing the name of the contents of the package to the string with which the parcel or box is tied. When the wrap or the thick frock or the heavy underwear is needed in the fall there is no frenzied hunting through a dozen bundles to find what is in demand. There is its name and address, so to speak, ready to your hand. Likewise I mark the boxes in which summer dresses and undergarments are put away until warm weather comes again. If the articles are packed down in a trunk a list of the things it contains is written out clearly and pasted or fastened with thumb tacks on the inside of the trunk top to tell at a glance what is there.

Saves Work and Worry.

Those of you who have followed this plan, who know the comfort of files for your recipes and receipted bills, of keeping books in their ranks and their own sets on the shelves, will indorse everything I say as to the value of systematic order. Those of you who have never tried the plan are pretty sure to approve of it once they have tested it.

Granted that it is a little more bother at first, doesn't the scheme pay for itself in the long run? I have a friend who goes so far that she not only has hangers on every waist and skirt and frock she owns, but has the habit of invariably putting each one on the same hook in the closet. She is a married woman with children, too—not a spinster.

"You may call me an old maid all you please," she returned placidly one day to some one who was jeering at her "slavery to system." "I would rather be in bondage to a habit which saves me work and worry than to wear myself out by having to hunt up things as some people do. When I want a pair of shoes or slippers I can find them in the dark, because I know in just which pocket of my shoe bag I have tucked them. I didn't have to give myself the task of learning the whereabouts of every article, either. I formed the habit of always putting each thing where it belonged, and my knowledge of its place now is essentially mechanical. I am not obliged to stop and ponder where this or that can be."

Nearly every name has a system kitchen, and can put her hand the caddy with the tea or can reach for the frying pan boiler or the strainer or the sort the need of the Is it much more liness into other parts of the apply it to clothes, cuttings, to books—to it and see.

MARION HARLAND'S HELPING HAND.

"WILL those of our readers who are interested in the higher education for women contribute their silk pieces to another who is endeavoring to help her daughter through college by making and selling silk quilts? Express charges will be paid. I send this letter to your Corner, remembering the material assistance you gave me once before when two of our girls had the misfortune to have all their clothes destroyed by fire. I take the liberty again to appeal to you for coöperation and help. The mother referred to has another means by which she can help her daughter and is eager to offer what assistance she can. When inquiries come to you from girls who are struggling to get a college education I shall be glad to coöperate with you in extending to them a helping hand. I trust that we may work together for the good of deserving and ambitious girls. M. S."

Since the writer of this letter did not give the address of the mother who wishes the silk pieces, I can only append to her request the signature of her letter, and I have no doubt she will furnish the name and address of the mother to any correspondents who wish to send silk pieces. M. S. herself is evidently one of those who loves to help and her offer to answer inquiries from girls struggling to get a college education will probably meet prompt answer. I trust the response with the silk pieces may be equally ready and generous.

Published Three Years Ago.

"Some time ago I think you published an article on 'country tea rooms.' Where may I be able to get a copy of the article? "MRS. C. S."

I did write and publish such an article, but it appeared fully three years ago and I have no copy of it to put at your disposal. I print your request on the bare chance that some one may have a copy of it which she can put at your disposal, although frankly I fear there is little likelihood of it. Still, I will hold your address subject to demand.

Letter Came Back.

"The enclosed letter was returned to me this morning and I am so sorry the woman addressed should not know how much I appreciate her lovely gifts. I am sending the letter to you to do as you think best with it. The wrapper around the box sent certainly had this address on it, so I cannot understand how my letter failed to find its destination. From another correspondent I received a most sweet letter asking me just what I wished to have. I told her that, while I had some silk pieces, what I needed most was material like floss, beads, D. M. C. threads and silks with which to work fancy stitches. How I congratulate you on being able to keep in touch with so many needy ones! L. E. H."

I congratulate myself not only on this but on being associated with so many from whom the announcement of a need of help brings prompt and liberal reply, and with those others who appreciate the generosity and readiness to aid. My correspondence with the needy would be of little value if it were not for the beautiful response brought forth by appeals through these columns. The constituency deserve all the credit which can be bestowed upon them. I am sorry that the letter of thanks sent by L. E. H. was not received by Mrs. H. S. H., to whom it was sent. I have the letter with the full name and address upon it, and if this meets the eye of Mrs. H. S. H. and she will write and give me the correct directions I will gladly put them on the envelope and forward it at once. Meanwhile the expressions of thanks of the one she has aided are given to show that her appreciation was prompt and full.

No Recipes by Mail.

"Three weeks ago today I wrote you asking you to inform me through the Corner of how to make Thousand Island salad dressing. As I have heard nothing from you, although I have watched the paper closely, I enclose self-addressed envelope and would ask you kindly to favor me with recipe if it is at all possible for you to obtain this. M. A. W."

I print this letter because it is a sample of many others I receive and which it is impossible for me to answer as the writers desire. Again and again I have stated in this Corner that I cannot send recipes by mail. If any of you will think a moment the reason for this will be obvious. With a correspondence list of thousands, with hundreds of letters coming to me every week—letters which demand personal replies—it is out of the question for me to attempt to send recipes for the simple reason that the day is only twenty-four hours long. One person's time would be required to answer the requests for recipes sent by post. I know it seems hard, since each one who begs the recipe thinks she is the only person who is in need. But scores of such pleas flow in upon me and I can make no exception without being unfair to the others. I may say, by the way, that the recipe asked for was sent to press some time ago, and I hope before this it has met the eye of M. A. W. When you reflect how many letters are to be printed and that each must take its turn you appreciate that after all three weeks is a rather short time after writing to expect to see the recipe on our page.

Offers Instrumental Music.

"Through your kindness in giving me the address I received some music from Mrs. G. I have lost her address and I want to send her the postage, 16 cents. Can you help me? All the music she sent me is vocal and as I do not sing I would like to pass it on to any one in the Corner who would like it. If at any time you have an offer of instrumental music I would like to have a few pieces. A member of the constituency inquired for a recipe for salt rising bread. I have a good one, but I think it is too long for you to print, as it comes under three heads—yeast, sponge, and dough. I will be glad to copy it for any one who wishes it. MRS. H. C."

I hope that Mrs. G. may see this and send to me for the address of the writer who desires to refund the 16 cents postage. I think there is little doubt some one will appeal to her for the vocal music she cannot use, and I hope some one with the instrumental music she wishes may send for her address. As to the salt rising bread, she is pretty sure to receive requests for her directions. Recipes for more than one mode of making it have already appeared and others will shortly be printed.

Makes Delicious Dessert.

"I inclose a recipe taken from a magazine which we think makes a delicious dessert. I vary it by using different fruits, leaving out the lemon in such cases. I, too, wish C. B. L. would send recipes for dishes containing no meat, as I believe they would prove helpful. You spoke recently of certain recipes appearing in a daily paper and I wonder in what paper. Perhaps other Cornerites would like to know. Here is the recipe for peach trifle of which I spoke:

"Soften one-third of a box of gelatin with one-third cup of cold water and dissolve in one-third cup of boiling water. Add one cup of sugar and when dissolved the juice of one lemon and strain. When cool add a cup of fresh peaches put through the ricer. As it begins to harden add the stiffly beaten whites of three eggs and whip all the while till the mixture is white and frothy. I use only two whites. Turn into a ring mold and serve with sweetened whipped cream in the center of mold. I do not use the cream with it. E. C. H."

Thank you for your recipe, which I hail myself as an excellent addition to my list of fruit desserts. I think it might be still finer if the center of the mold were filled with ice cream, plain vanilla, instead of with whipped cream, although the jelly itself should be good enough if eaten with plain sweet cream. I see the possibilities of this recipe with apples or other fruits, fresh or canned.

The other recipes to which you refer as appearing in other issues of the paper are usually found in the daily edition of the paper, in which we have also a Sunday Corner.

I hope the meatless dishes may be forthcoming before long. There are many of them, and directions for some of them have already been printed here—cheese combinations of various kinds, egg plant, stuffed peppers, and tomatoes, bean dishes, salads, and the like, but there is always room for more.

Free Medical Treatment.

"Could you furnish me with the address of an institution in New York city that makes a specialty of children's ailments free of charge? I happen to know a woman whose circumstances do not permit her to employ a specialist, much as she would like one for her 8 month old infant, whose condition is that of a 2 month old baby. "MRS. T. H. B."

There are fine clinics at most of the large New York and Brooklyn hospitals where a sick child can be treated free of charge. Also there is a child's hospital on Lexington avenue, with a branch on the west side. By referring to the telephone book you can find the address of either of these and by inquiry over the telephone you can secure the information as to the best place to take the sick baby and the hour of the day when attention will be given.

Chain of Helping Hands.

"I want to thank you with all my heart for having given my letter a place in the Corner. I never expected that my appeal for friends, which I made in my desperate need, would be answered from so many places. There seems to be a whole chain of helping hands stretched out to me now. "T. B."

Do our Cornerites recollect the letter of the "lonely woman," which appeared on our page some weeks ago? I print her communication now because the thanks she offers are due to the constituency rather than to me. It helps our view of human nature to know that the cry of need brings such swift and satisfying response.

For the INDUSTRIOUS NEEDLEWOMAN

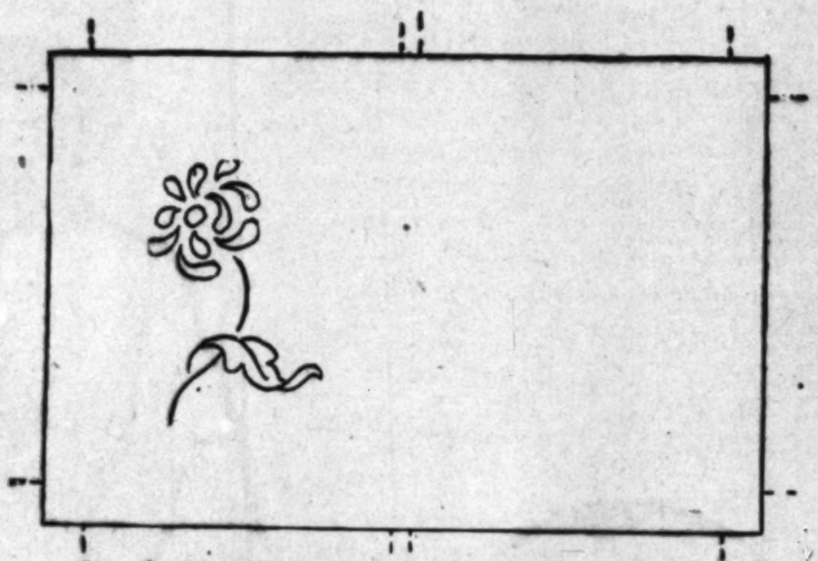
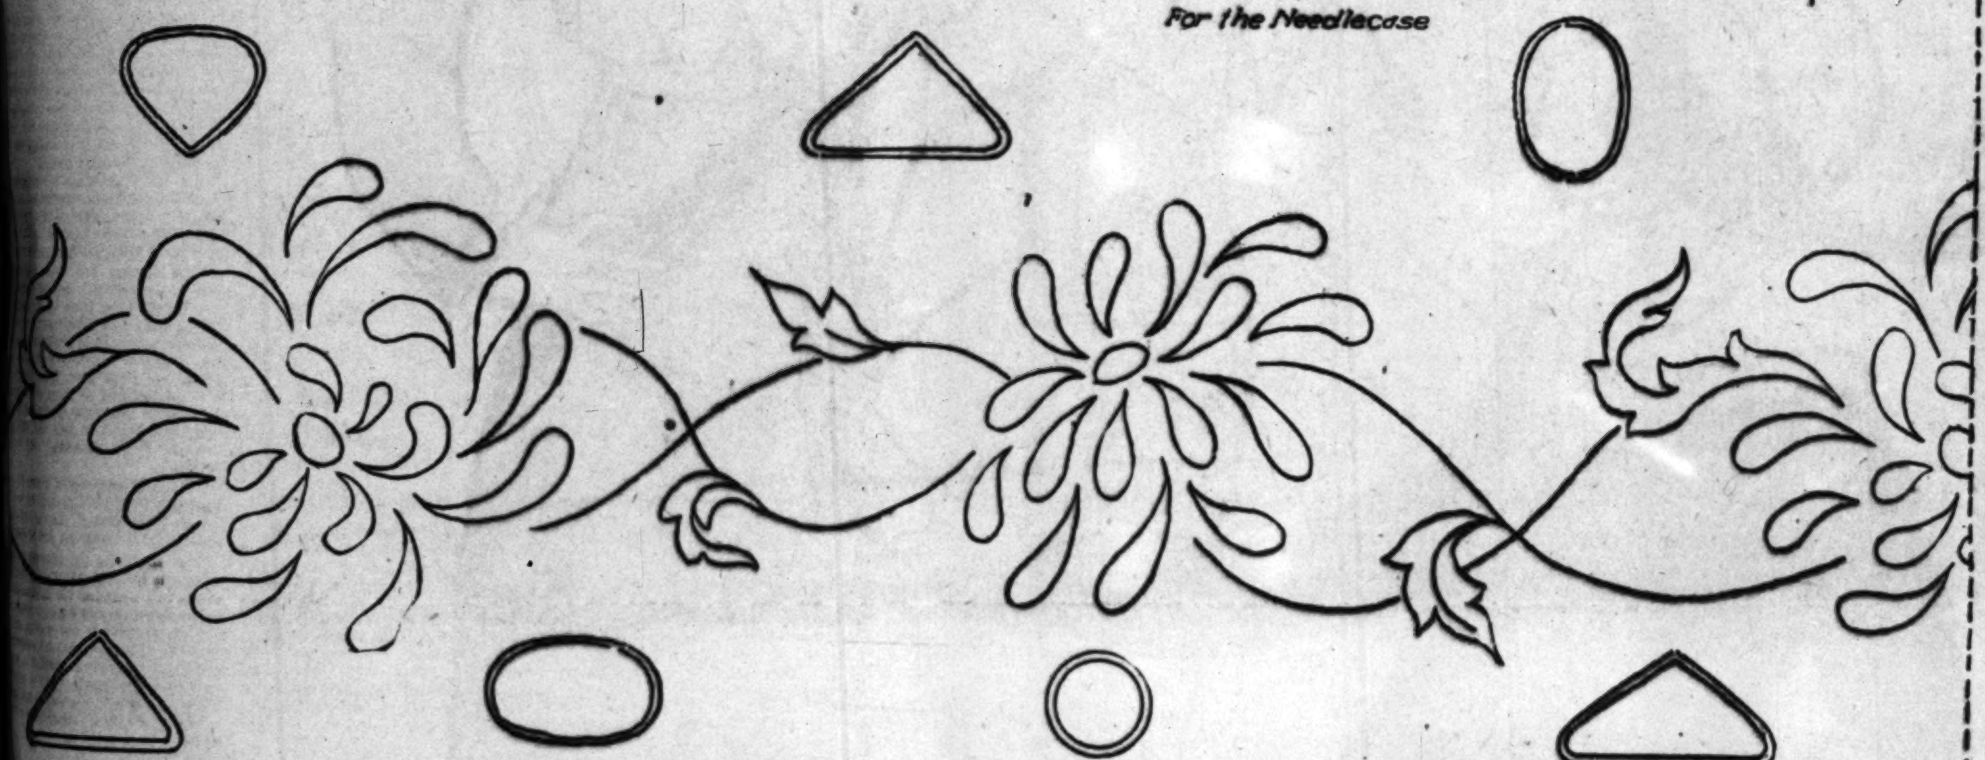
A CHRYSANTHEMUM WORKBAG

Designed by Betty Lynne



For the Needlecase



HOW is that work bag? Has the summer sewing been a little hard on it? If your own fancy bag is in good condition, perhaps one for your sewing companion will not come amiss, and here is the answer to the gift question in a delightful form.

As you look at the little drawing of the completed bag, you will find that the design forms a running border around the middle of the bag. The triangles and ovals give a conventional border of color. You will notice that there is a design for a needlebook to slip in and give a pleasing completeness to the gift.

One-half of the lower design is shown; allow for a piece of linen twice as long as the section here. Choose a linen in natural or gray color and some mercerized cottons of heavy strands. A bright yellow or golden brown would look well on these linens, but there is much leniency in the embroidery field. Use your own color and carry it out in the lining of the bag and needlebook.

Cut a piece of cardboard four inches in diameter, circular, and cover it with a piece of linen on the outside and silk on the inside, whipping the turned edges over the cardboard. After the strip has been embroidered, the lower edge should be turned and whipped to the circular center.

And now for the embroidering.

With the heavy cotton there will be no need of padding, so work the petals in over-and-over stitch and finish the center with solid stitch or French knots. Outline the stem in stem-stitch or heavy outlining, and fill the little leaves with solid work, the stitches going from the midrib to the edges.

Give a touch of color by filling in the conventional forms after padding in the opposite direction. Use a black thread to outline these forms and to give character. A variety of bright colors not in any sequence will be supplied by odd pieces of thread from your workbag.

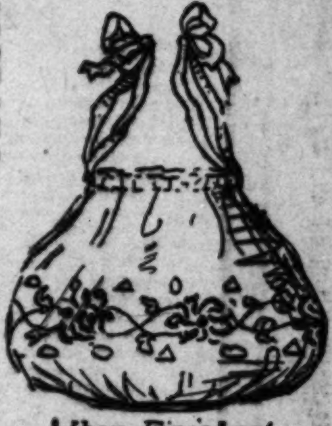
The little needlebook is worked similarly before whipping over a double piece of cardboard. The size given allows for a turned edge of a quarter of an inch around the edge. Add the leaves of flannel, pinked at the edges and stitched down to the book with thread to match the color of the lining.

Attach rings to the outside and run double drawing strings of colored ribbon or silk cord through them.

If you wish to equip the bag more completely, add an emery, another little case to hold ivory tools and a package of papers of needles in assorted sizes.

And if there is still something needed, give a stamped design, with materials to work, to show the owner the embroidery way.

One-half of Design



When Finished

Attractive Coiffure Ornaments

DESPITE the predictions that the bandeaux would no longer confine the tresses, they have been recalled to favor.

The wide "headache" band of satin, beaded net or metallic lace is considered passe, and the oriental turban has also lost favor.

The new bandeau is narrow, frequently consisting of a single strand of brilliants, pearls or gold beads. Grecian fillets composed of three or four strands of graduated lengths and worn across the front and over the top of the head are extremely popular.

To fashion these take three narrow ribbons of the lengths required to form the fillet and on these string the beads. Attach the three strands to a flat disk an inch in diameter, formed of buckram covered solidly with beads. Finish the other side in a similar manner.

A dainty bandeau to wear with the all-white gown is fashioned by taking a heavy cord large enough to encircle the head. About this twist silver gauze ribbon an inch in width and poise a butterfly bow of the ribbon at the left side.

Tulle is in high favor, and a charming coiffure ornament is made by braiding three twisted strands of black maline to form a bandeau. Join the ends over the left ear with a large chou formed of the maline.

The butterfly appears in many phases and is used to adorn a bandeau of white ribbon twisted over a cord.

To fashion the butterfly take a piece of white silk-covered milliner's wire and shape it to resemble a butterfly. Pad the central portion with cotton, winding it tightly with thread until the body is formed, and then cover it with white satin ribbon. Two small pieces of wire wrapped with ribbon form the antennae. The wings are then covered with white maline, two thicknesses being sufficient. Place the butterfly slightly to the left of the front.

White bandeaux seem to predominate, for another charming design is made of wire covered with white satin ribbon and woven together to resemble the links of a chain. This is also ornamented with a butterfly of white tulle. First the wire foundation is made and the body and antennae covered with ribbon. When the tulle is stretched smoothly over the wings, the edges are bound with narrow folds of the satin.

A rose of tulle adorns a bandeau of wire covered with white satin ribbon. The petals of the rose are formed by shaping the wire in loops, which are then covered with white tulle. After this is completed take a narrow fold of white satin and bind each petal. Arrange the petals naturally to form a complete rose. In the center place the yellow stamens, which are purchasable at the millinery departments of the shops. When finished the rose is attached to the left side of the bandeau.

You will find making bandeaux an interesting pastime. Try it and prove this statement.

Jimmy's Hands

WE WILL presume that Jimmy is quite young—if he is past ten, the charm is apt to be less effective—and that Jimmy, despite your constant care, seems to prefer having his hands a darker shade than his face. Don't you ofttimes wonder what to do about it?

But come to think of it, why not offer Jimmy inducements? Inducements in this instance do not mean bribes or rewards. Progressive mothers know that the old-time bribes and rewards did more harm than good. Towels are a part of the inducements Jimmy is to have—small towels for his own particular use and embroidered in a bright color, to please his inartistic eye. You might embroider across one end a border of ducks, waddling one after the other, Indian file. Have the ducks yellow, with red bills, black eyes and red feet. You might have the ducks swimming in blue water, which would be even more appropriate. Brown rabbits make a good border. Scampering dogs, even a football—there are any number of designs to catch a boy's fancy, and one can usually get them stamped ready to work. Don't forget to have one towel embroidered with a sailboat. If you run out of designs, a red "Jimmy" embroidered on one end will answer the purpose.

The next inducement? It is to praise Jimmy's clean hands when they are clean and shut one's eyes to the fact when they are not clean; that is, when possible. Soon Jimmy will be glad to get that word of praise. He'll think, too, that you're acting pretty "square" not to nag at him when his hands are off color. Constant nagging upon this purely boyish fault sometimes arouses a resentment that really prevents him from doing that which he knows would please.

Blue Centerpiece

A QUAINT and pretty centerpiece for the dining-room table, when it is not in use, is of white linen worked in china blues.

Get a centerpiece of rather large size and stamp in cross-stitch design. Work the cross-stitching in several shades of blue and edge the centerpiece with torchon or cluny lace. The blue-and-white is particularly effective if there happens to be a piece of blue-and-white china near to echo the color note.

Covers for the buffet and the serving table could also be made, and further carry out the color scheme.

His Collars

TELL him that the next two-pound box of candy he gives you (it is to be hoped you haven't allowed him to outgrow the pleasant habit) must be round—impress it upon his mind carefully. When the box has been emptied of the sweets, prepare to cover it with cretonne. Cut a long strip to go completely around the box and slightly lap, and as wide as the height of the sides, with about an inch extra for the lapping over on either edge of half an inch. Then cut a circle to cover the bottom of the box and come within an eighth of an inch of the edge. Now make the following paste, which is used particularly for fabrics:

1 cup of whole-wheat flour.

1 cup of cold water.

Boil 5 minutes.

1 teacup of powdered alum dissolved in water.

Strain through cheesecloth and place in uncovered jar.

This paste will keep sweet about ten days.

Take the long strip of cretonne, apply the paste to both the wrong side of the cretonne strip and the outside of the box and cover the sides of the box with the strip, being careful to smooth out all wrinkles. Turn a light fold, as though for hemming at the overlapping end of the strip and paste this down neatly to form an inconspicuous joining. Turn in the edge at the top over the edge of the box and paste down on the inside. The lower half-inch edge should be pasted to the bottom of the box. The circle of cretonne which is to cover the bottom is to be trimmed off neatly and pasted to the bottom of the box without the raw edges being turned under, as the turning in would cause too much bulk on the bottom of the box. If neatly trimmed, the raw edges will not look unsightly. Paste a row of white tape over the raw edge of the outside covering that was pasted to the inside of the box. The collar-box is complete all but the lid. Make the lid by pasting over a circle of heavy cardboard a circle of the cretonne, the overlapping half-inch edges being pasted to the underside of the circle. Another circle of the cretonne, large enough for its raw edges to come within an eighth of an inch of the edge of the lid, should be pasted on the under side—the raw edges to be trimmed neatly and not to be turned under. Punch two small holes about two inches apart in the lid and two corresponding holes in the box. Through these run half-inch ribbons, joining lid and box together and forming satin hinges. The two hinges should be fastened in small bows. Place a flat broad bow of ribbon to match the hinges upon the top. The collar box is now ready for presentation.

USEFUL BORDERED HANDKERCHIEFS

THERE are so many things that can be made from the inexpensive bordered handkerchief that one might very appropriately apply the adjective "versatile" to the useful bit of linen.

For instance, there is the small laundry bag or large handkerchief bag (whichever one wishes to call it) that can be made from two of the handkerchiefs in about fifteen minutes. Place the two handkerchiefs together and stand them on end, as it were, so that they will have the appearance of being diamond-shaped instead of square. Then proceed to sew them together on the machine. The machine-stitching will make them stronger than handsewing could possibly do. Stitch them about an inch in from the edge, so as to leave two little flaps as an ornamental edge. The two lower slanting sides of the diamond are sewed together along their full length. The two upper slanting sides of the diamond are sewed only halfway, the upper halves of the sides being left for the opening of the bag. The stitching on these upper half seams is sloped off as it nears the center of the side, running at last over the edge. The two upper flapping points of the handkerchiefs, which are without stitching, are then turned back and creased and pressed along the turning to make them stay in place. Two pieces of ribbon are then tacked to each end of the opening thus made by the turned-back flaps. The two ends of ribbon are then joined in a bow, forming a hanger for the bag. The ribbon should match the color of the borders on the handkerchiefs.

Bordered handkerchiefs make very pretty sailor collars for wearing outside of the coat or even on the thin white shirtwaist. Simply cut a place for the neck in one side of the handkerchief, face or bind the raw edge thus made, and the collar is complete. The front of the collar may be sloped off into points or may be left square at the ends just as the neck is cut out. Blue-bordered handkerchiefs are particularly pretty when used in this fashion. Cuffs can also be made, but another handkerchief must be used for the purpose. These should be made in points and can be made by clipping a corner for either one from the handkerchief.

Then the bordered handkerchiefs make the dearest little aprons imaginable. Turn one on end again, so that it will be diamond-shaped, clip off one corner. Turn the straight edge thus made on the corner of a handkerchief down to form a hem, which is at the same time the band, put ribbon strings on the ends of the band, stitch the clipped-off point to the side of the apron for a pocket, and you have as pretty a little trifle as you could wish.

There are the dustcaps. Take a large bordered handkerchief and make a casing about the center of the handkerchief for a drawing string or elastic. When the cap is drawn up the four ends should be turned up and tacked to the crown of the cap.

Have you a pink, blue, green, yellow or any other color room? Then you must have one of those pretty handkerchief bureau scarfs to match. These handkerchiefs must be the small, women's handkerchiefs. Take four and join them together with lace insertion. Put a row of the insertion about the entire edge, after the handkerchiefs are joined together, and then whip on to this insertion a lace edge to match. White handkerchiefs can, of course, be used as well as colored ones. If one wishes to further carry out the color scheme, a bedspread may be made of large, men's handkerchiefs of the same color, joined together by insertion. Pillowshams can be made by using four handkerchiefs for each sham, joined together by insertion.

The smaller handkerchiefs make pretty little pincushions. Place buttonholed eyelets an inch or so in length about the inside of the border on each of the two handkerchiefs. Place a square pincushion between the two handkerchiefs and proceed to lace them together with ribbon of a color to match the border. A small bow of the ribbon, which ribbon should be about an inch in width, is placed in one corner of the cushion. A monogram in white or colored thread still further enhances the cushion. Perhaps there is a window seat in that same bedroom that you'd like to make a pillow for. Bordered handkerchiefs make attractive as well as very sanitary pillow covers. When the two edges of two large handkerchiefs are whipped together on the extreme end, or when the two edges are seamed on the machine about an inch in from the ends, the slips are most attractive.

Bordered handkerchiefs make nice oversleeves for either the business girl or the little schoolgirl. One handkerchief will make two sleeves. The raw edge, which is hemmed neatly, is used to go about the wrist. The half of the handkerchief is then folded in two, so that the hemmed edge is at the bottom. A seam is run up the handkerchief so that the sleeve is the right size for the arm. This leaves a little ornamental point at the top, which can be worn under the arm for further protection to the dress sleeve or left on the top merely for decoration.

How to Transfer

HERE are suggestions for transferring the pattern before you to any material before working.

Perhaps the easiest way is the "window-pane" method. This is successful when the material is thin, like linen, batiste, etc. Pin the sheet of paper and the material together and hold them up against the glass of a window. With a sharp pencil draw on the material the design, which can be easily seen through the goods. If one-half of the design only be given, unpin the paper and turn the other side to the fabric.

If you have carbon paper, you should place the sheet between your fabric and the newspaper. The latter is on top. With a sharp pencil go over the outline of the design. The impression will be left in fine lines and will last until worked.

The last way is also easy. On wax paper or ordinary tissue paper trace the pattern before you. When the design is completed, turn over the paper and outline the pattern with a heavy lead pencil. Then place the design down on the fabric and redraw the outline, pressing hard with the pencil. The pattern will be transferred without difficulty.

A Lovely Spread

WOULD you like to own a spread worth $500—a beautiful thing of linen and lace? Of course you would; but, "My!" you say, "what an extravagance!"

In times past, not so many generations from yours and mine, grandmothers, affectionate aunts and fond mothers labored lovingly over bedclothing and household linens for the little girl long before her own childish heart dreamed of the suitor-to-be. A good old custom that was, one that seems to have died out because in this age of hustle and hurry few have time to work and dream so far ahead. And this leads to a question—why not give your own little girl a $500 bedspread for her hope chest? Of course it won't cost you nearly $500, but it will cost all the odd moments that come to you and there will be fewer doilies, centerpieces and other "small fry" embroidered in your household for some time to come. Yes, that's it; you're to embroider and crochet that bedspread!

First there is to be a row of embroidered linen, then a row of crocheted lace, then a row of embroidered linen, then another of crocheted lace, and so on clear across. The strips, both linen and crocheted, are about six inches wide and are whipped firmly together to form the whole large square coverlet.

The linen strips, however, are embroidered before being whipped to the crocheted strips. About the entire edge is placed a band of insertion of the same design as that already in the spread, and a wide scalloped lace to match finishes the edge.

A young woman who made such a coverlet for her own hope chest made both the linen and crocheted strips in butterfly design. The butterflies were large and outspread and gave a beautiful opportunity for eyelet work on the linen through the markings in the butterflies' wings. The butterflies in both linen and lace were about ten inches apart, but were so arranged that they did not form an unbroken line across the coverlet, the crocheted butterflies striking about the center of the space between the two butterflies on the linen strip. Just how long it took the young woman to embroider one linen strip is not remembered, but she made the remarkable record of one crocheted strip in eight hours. She is the fastest of workers, so you need not expect to outdo her record; but the coarse, cordlike thread that is used works up very quickly, and the task of making the beautiful spread is not so long-drawn-out as one would imagine.

IN the GLASS of FASHION

New Suits and Coat-Dresses

AFTERNOON costumes, gauged by the latest models shown, are unusually effective, and at the same time practical. The pegtop silhouette has steadily grown into favor, and there are many charming innovations in line and trimming.

Dyed fur is extensively employed to trim costumes of every variety, and the coat suit of black velvet has bands of canary-yellow fox bordering the collar and cuffs. The lower portion of the jacket is gathered to a yoke effect, and is cutaway in front. A round collar of white duvetine edged with the fur finishes the neck line. Turned-back cuffs, corresponding with the collar, are an attractive addition to the long, close-fitting sleeves.

To the underarm seams are attached strips of black velvet, which are knotted at the back to form a sash.

The small hat closely fits the head and is of sage-green velvet trimmed with a bride of black velvet and a fantaisie of coq plumage.

Dull-blue duvetine is the material used for the handsome costume trimmed with bands of chinchilla fur. A distinctly novel feature is emphasized in this model, namely, the two bands which cross above the waist line in front and extend over the shoulders, resembling the straps of a knapsack. The skirt is slightly draped at the back and over the hips.

A small green velvet turban, with a full crown of chinchilla fur and a fantaisie of coq plumage, completes this costume.

Aubergine—or eggplant purple—is one of the modish colors this season, and the charming costume shown here is of suede cloth in this tone. It is a coat-dress, with a vest of flowered silk, fastening with a single flat button. The bishop sleeves are caught about the wrists with a band of black moire ribbon tied in bows. The same ribbon forms the obi bow at the front of the corsage, and the ends pass over the hips and are tied in a bow at the back.

The two upper tiers of the skirt are scalloped with bias strips of the material.

A medium-sized hat of black velvet, with a pleated frill of yellow chiffon at the extreme edge of the brim and two sprays of paradise poised at the side, is worn with this model.

The two small drawings show a coat suit of dull-green velveteen and a coat-dress of sulphur-colored wool crepe, with a guimpe of sheerest white linen.

Relief Rushed from Mobile on Special Train to Scene of Accident.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MERIDIAN (Miss.) Oct. 19.—Twenty soldiers were killed and about 100 hurt when a special troop train on the Mobile and Ohio Railroad plunged through a trestle near State Line, Miss., this afternoon. The casualty list is given in a report of the disaster by Division Superintendent Pigford, of the Mobile and Ohio, sent to headquarters of the road in Mobile.

Reports from the scene of the wreck are meager because of interrupted wire communication. Most of the dead and injured, it is reported, were taken to Mobile on a special train.

According to the report received here some of the dead are: Joseph Tobin, Ernest Parquette, Clyde Teel, H. S. Bishop, G. C. Burleson, Joseph Provence, W. H. Brim, Goodes, Remson, Grackle, Acres and one body unidentified.

All were privates and members of Company Thirty-nine, Coast Artillery, U.S.A.

It is believed the wreck was caused by the engine plunging through a trestle, but some meager accounts are that the tender jumped the track and that several cars piled up on top of it. As far as known, the wreckage did not take fire.
